REPUBLICANS HOLD LINCOLN DAY DINNER - Several federal, state, and local officials recently attended the annual Lincoln Day Dinner, sponsored by the Garrett County Republican Central Committee. The event was held at the Elks Lodge in Oakland. One of the highlights of the evening was the presentation of the Republican of the Year Award, which recognizes an individual for his or her significant contributions to the Republican Party of Garrett County. Delegate George Edwards was this year's recipient, and is pictured below right as he receives a plaque from Central Committee member Wendell Beitzel. He was chosen in light of his many years of leadership as a Republican. Shown above, left to right (all Republican Central Committee members unless otherwise noted), are Garrett County Commissioner Wayne Wilt, William Crawford, National Committeeman Richard Taylor, Ruth DiPaolo, Congressman Roscoe Bartlett, Ann Groves, Edwards, Arzella Parsons, Congressman Robert Ehrlich, William Skipper, Senator John Hafer, Beitzel, and John Sines.

Friends were received at the Newman Funeral Home, Grantsville. A service was conducted at the Zion Lutheran Church, Accident, on Monday, Sept. 25, with the Rev. Wilfred Karsten officiating. Interment was in Lake View Memorial Park, Sykesville.

Expressions of sympathy may be directed to either the Zion Lutheran Church Building Fund, or the Pilgrim Lutheran Church.

WILLIAM G. WELCH

William George Welch, 57, Morgantown, W.Va., formerly of Oakland, died Saturday, Sept. 23, 1995, at Ruby Memorial Hospital, Morgantown.

Born March 18, 1938, in Cassville, W.Va., he was a son of the late William H. Welch and Mae (Ray) Welch.

He was a retired florist. He was a member of Oakland Lodge 192, A.F. & A.M.; Cumberland Consistory Scottish Rite; and Ali Ghan Shrine Temple.

Surviving are one brother, Norman "Buddy" Welch, Morgantown; and four sisters, Ada Mae Bellay, Susan Welch, and Annie Welch, all of Morgantown, and Kathleen Swartzentruber, Greenwood, S.C.

At Mr. Welch's request, there was no visitation. Funeral services were conducted in the chapel of Garrett County Memorial Gardens on Tuesday, Sept. 26, with the Rev. John A. Grant officiating. Interment followed.

The Durst Funeral Home, Oakland, was in charge of arrangements.

RUSSEL A. MORELAND

Russell A. Moreland, 76, Mt. Storm, W.Va., died Monday, Sept. 25, 1995, in Birmingham, Ala.

Born Feb. 9, 1919, in Oakland, he was a son of the late Dorsey L. and Ina C. (Thompson) Moreland. He was also preceded in death by his wife, Frances F. (Parks) Moreland, in 1982.

He was a retired farmer, and was a school bus driver for the Grant County (W.Va.) Board of Education for more than 20 years. He attended the Mt. Storm United Methodist Church.

Surviving are three daughters, Roberta Moreland, Keyser, W.Va., Barbara E. "Sue" Moreland, Richmond, Va., and Rebecca K. Moreland-Cyree, Panama City, Fla.; two sons, Dr. Larry Moreland, Birmingham, Ala., and R. Stephen Moreland, Middleburgh, N.Y.; three sisters, Beulah Boyle and Helen "Peg" Riley, both of Wheaton, and Mary Hall, Eledo, Ill.; three brothers, Charles Moreland, and Donald Moreland, both of Gorman, and James Moreland, Mt. Storm; and seven grandchildren.

Friends may call at the Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland, from 2-4 and 7-9 p.m. today, Thursday. A service will be conducted at the Mt. Storm United Methodist Church on Friday, Sept. 29, at 2 p.m., with the Rev. William Anderson, and the Rev. Shelba Sisler officiating. Interment will follow in the Oak Grove Cemetery, Gorman.

Friends may call at the church one hour prior to the service. The family requests memorials take the form of contributions to the Arthritis Foundation.

Teen Theater Meeting Slated

The Garrett County Health Department's improvisational teen health theater, Pandora's Box, will hold an organizational meeting Oct. 3 at 5 p.m. in Garrett Community College's continuing education building, room 307.

Any students from Northern or Southern high schools who are interested in participating with the theatre troupe are asked to attend the meeting or call the local AmeriCorps office at 334-0516 or 334-0578 for more information.

Red Cross House Tours Scheduled For December 1-2

"Home for the Holidays," the annual house tours sponsored by the Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross, will be held December 1-2, according to a spokesman for the organization.

The following five Oakland-area houses will be featured on the tour: the country-style English Tutor home of Frank and Amy Custer on Tower Street, Oakland; the Chautauquaera Mtn. Lake Park home of Bill and Tammy Ewing known as the Elberon; the West Liberty Street brick rancher owned by Junior Ferguson, including his antique doll collection; the Victorian-style house of Sheila Reeves along East Liberty Street; and the "bark house" of the 1800s along High Street, owned by Bob and Gretchen Shaffer.

Each of the homes will be featured in The Republican over the next few months.

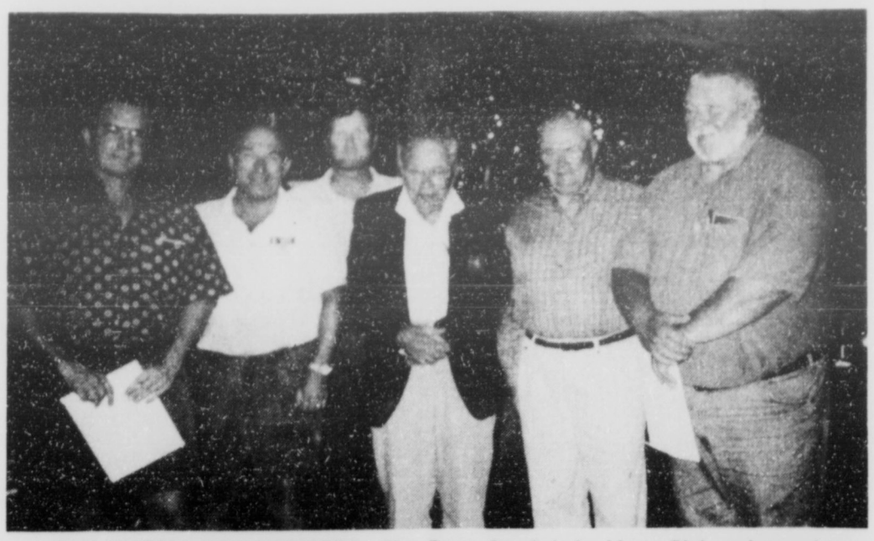
The tours will be held from 4 to 9 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 1, and from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 2.



LIONS INSTALL NEW MEMBERS - The Deep Creek Lake Lions Club welcomed two new members recently in an installation ceremony. The new members are Pat Conroy of American Trust Bank and Dave Wheeler, retired. Both men reside on Deep Creek Lake. Conroy was sponsored by Bob Lohr and Wheeler was sponsored by Tom Frawley. The installation was conducted by Lions District 22-W Official William E. Crawford, member of the Oakland-Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club. Shown left to right are Conroy, Lohr, Jon Thayer, club president; Crawford, Frawley, and Wheeler.

The ticket price will remain at $5 each and will entitle the holder to visit all five homes.

Bloodmobile Has Successful Visit To Grantsville

During the Monday September 25th visit of the American Red Cross to Grantsville, a total of 104 units of blood was collected, according to Elizabeth Huxford, blood services co-chairman of the Garrett County chapter.

Of the 109 persons presenting themselves for the Grantsville bloodmobile, 104 units were collected with six of those units coming from first time donors. The new donors were: John Knox and Carol Harris, Grantsville, Floyd Fisher and Esther Fisher, Salisbury, Pa., Jason Herman, Friendsville, and Cindy Maust, Accident.

Persons receiving one gallon pins were: James F. Stewart, Samuel Kinsinger, David N. Rawe, and Laurie N. Walker.

Other milestones reached were: four gallons by Retha Whorton, six gallons by Susie Peachey, and eight gallons by Donald E. Opel. The top milestone reached at the Grantsville bloodmobile was nine gallons by Jessie C. Shirley.

The bloodmobile canteen was sponsored by the Mt. Zion United Methodist Women.

Volunteers assisting Lela Bender, bloodmobile coordinator, were: Miriam Brenneman, Lula Brown, Phyllis Durst, Melissa Fazenbaker, Debbie Haning, Elizabeth Huxford, Lila Maust, and Maxine Mills. Members of the Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department provided custodial services.

"We wish to thank all of those people who helped with their time and donations in the Grantsville area," Mrs. Huxford said, "and hope to see all of the residents of Oakland and surrounding areas at the Oakland bloodmobile on Friday, September 29th."

YESTERDAY...	TODAY...	TOMORROW...
You can't Ever recapture a Second of any Time that's Escaped - Rather, Deem each moment that you have to be As precious as if it were Your last.	This One moment is yours to cherish Dearly And use wisely for Your God.	Then, should the privilege Of being given one More be yours, Oh, may you Receive it with rejoicing, Remembering the One it is Who has given it to you.

Excerpt from the book "From Strength" by Eileen Luna

Thank you Eileen for allowing us to share your work with others.

Praying also for us, that God would open unto us a door of utterance, to speak the mystery of Christ, for which I am also in bonds;

That I may make it manifest, as I ought to speak.

Walk in wisdom toward them that are outside, redeeming the time.

Let your speech be always with grace, seasoned with salt, that ye may know how ye ought to answer every man.

Your Health
by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Q. About twice a year, I get a sudden twinge of pain in my lower back. Nothing I can do seems to keep this from progressing and within eight hours, I am barely able to move or get out of bed. My doctor calls it lumbago and from then, I'm on my own.

A. Lumbago is a dull, aching pain which is caused by any sudden shift in position or exposure of the lower back muscles to injury or changes in heat or cold.

Actually, lumbago is not a disease. Rather, it is the description of a complaint which is frequently confused with a variety of causes of low back pain. The muscles of the lower back suddenly, and for no reason at all, go into severe spasm. This is nature's cry for rest and heat to prevent the serious complications of neglected chronic low back pain.

There are many drugs that can relax the muscles and free the body of pain. Sometimes, a spray of ethyl chloride is carefully used to relax the spasm. I say "carefully" because ethyl chloride in the hands of someone who cannot handle it may be hazardous to the eyes.

Support of the low back area with girdle and belts often brings great relief.

Even though these attacks come on so infrequently, you would be wise to give yourself the gift of a thorough medical examination. The chances are great that you will be able to track down the reason for your lumbago and reduce the frequency and intensity of the attacks.

Home Tips

MAKE ROOM — My kitchen has limited counter space. I have compensated for this by putting a tray on an opened drawer. My husband also made a laminated plastic board to use when I need more room than the tray provides. Make sure you do this only on a sturdy open drawer.

This works wonders for me in my small kitchen at no cost. Liz D., New York, N.Y.

MAGIC VINEGAR — My favorite vinegar tips are used frequently and consist of using vinegar and salt to clean my copper-bottom pans as well as using vinegar and soda to clean my bathroom drains and my automatic coffeemaker. Marilyn B., Little Rock, Ark.

LOOFAHS — We grew loofahs along the edge of our garden a few years ago. Instead of drying them, which takes a dry, not humid, climate, we boiled them till the "flesh" was loose enough to remove.

For less than the price of one at the store, we had 50-75 loofahs of all sizes and textures.

A wonderful use for loofahs is scrubbing non-stick pans and fiberglass sinks and tubs. Loofahs don't scratch! I use one on my wok all the time! Fran C., Rockaway, N.Y.

POSTAGE-STAMP PHOTOS — I am sending you a tip on what to do with all those postage-size photos people get in the bargain packages of sale portraits, and my family and I hit these quite frequently.

This may not be unique, but I have never seen a tip anywhere on what to do with all these small photos.

This year, I am putting them (using extra-wide transparent tape) in the upper-left-hand corner of any greeting-card envelopes for all my grandkids with my address sticker on the back flap. And for the adults, friends and relatives, I tape one just below my signature on the card.

I think the younger kids will love it because one glance tells them it's from their grandma (or aunt or whoever the kin may be). Betty T., Garden Grove, Calif.

Q. I have several old cast-iron toys I'm thinking about restoring. Would it reduce the toys' value if I repaint them so they would look original?

A. Repainting a cast-iron toy lowers its value by at least 50 percent.

TIP: We had a friend whose pet cougar liked to chew on the legs of her 18th century American chairs. Not good for the chairs. Don't let your dogs or cats near valuable old furniture.

Q. My cast-iron bank is shaped like a building. On the front it says "Flatiron Building Bank." Was there really a building like that?

A. The 21-story Flatiron Building is located in New York City between Fifth Avenue and Broadway at 23rd Street. Built in 1902, it was America's tallest building at the time. Architect Daniel Hudson Bernham's triangular design was prompted by the wedge-shaped plot on which the building stands.

The Kenton Toy Co., which was located across the street from the building, made four different sizes of banks shaped like the Flatiron between 1904 and 1926. In good condition the banks are now worth from $475 to $1,200.

Q. I bought some tiny embossed tin toys that were probably Cracker Jack prizes. How old are they?

A. The embossed tin toys that are Cracker Jack prizes date from 1910 or so.

Most Cracker Jack prizes were marked. Other popcorn companies also put prizes inside their product. Unmarked tin toys are worth less than marked toys. Paper Cracker Jack toys are the most valuable. Tin toys can sell for up to $150.

Q. I collect the small animals by Swarovski. How old is the company?

A. Daniel Swarovski set up his jewelry company in Bohemia in 1895. He developed a machine that cut crystals to be used in the jewelry. The company made new types of grinding wheels, clear crystal glass and lace made with applied crystals.

In 1956, the company developed the Aurora Borealis stone, a cut crystal that shines with the colors of the rainbow. More than 10,000 different shapes and cuttings of the stone have been made.

The company first made small animals in 1976. They were the first items sold to consumers, and not used by other manufacturers.

by Judith Sheldon

NOTHING TO SNEEZE AT: Allergies can be more than annoying; they can be dangerous, especially if you are among the almost two million Americans who have asthma as well as allergies to ragweed pollen, spores, and other substances. When these allergies are triggered to produce symptoms such as itchy watery eyes, sneezing, runny or stuffy and/or itchy noses, the effects may be simply uncomfortable or may lead to dangerous asthma attacks.

While medications can help some people, the best treatment is to avoid or minimize exposure to substances that can trigger allergic reactions. Some suggestions include using your air condition both indoors and in the car. Air conditioning filters out most pollens and other airborne allergens. (Those are the substances that can trigger allergic reactions.) Air conditioning also helps lower indoor humidity which makes life not only more pleasant for you, but also disastrous for most mold spore. They just don't like to reproduce under those conditions.

Forget what Mother told you about opening your window at night. Instead, sleep with your windows and outside doors closed to keep airborne pollen out.

Spend as little time outdoors as possible during high pollen counts. That means if you like to run in the morning, don't. That's when the pollen likes to get around as well.

As much as you may enjoy gardening or tending to your lawn, avoid these activities during the pollen season.

For some people, getting away is often the only means they have to avoid potentially life-threatening attacks. This might be a good time to go on that ocean cruise you've been planning. While there is less pollen produced at the seashore, there's almost none to speak of when you're at sea.

If you have asthma, don't rely on past mild reactions to allergens to indicate future reactions. The smartest and safest thing to do is have a plan of action that includes your doctor's advice on how to adjust your medication doses. Also know whom to call when an emergency strikes and your doctor is unavailable.

Park Friends To Meet October 3

The Friends of New Germany will meet at the Lakehouse at New Germany State Park on Tuesday, Oct. 3, at 7 p.m. Plans will be made for the annual Halloween Social. Anyone interested in assisting with the social or becoming a volunteer is invited to attend. For more information, persons may contact Bill Martin at 895-5453.

Importance Of Radon Testing Detailed By ALA

The American Lung Association (ALA) of Maryland recently issued an announcement to the public about the importance of checking homes for radon.

"You can't see it, taste it or smell it, but this leading cause of cancer may be lurking in your home," said an ALA spokesperson. "Caused by the natural decay of uranium, radon is present in most rock and soil. It enters buildings through cracks in walls or foundations, and is found in all types of homes."

A simple two-day "do-it-yourself" test kit may be purchased for $19.95, by calling the Lung Association Radon Hotline at (800) 445-8436. Included with the purchase are the American Lung Association brochure, "Test for Radon Now, and You'll Breathe Easier," and the Environmental Protection Agency's pamphlets, "A Citizen's Guide to Radon," and "Consumer's Guide to Radon Reduction."

Radon is the second leading cause of lung cancer, the spokesperson added. Smokers exposed to radon have a 10-20 times greater risk of developing lung cancer than non-smokers. Radon is a radioactive gas that comes from the natural breakdown of radium, which is a decay product of uranium. Uranium and radium are both common elements in the soil.

According to the Environmental Protection Agency, as many as one in five homes in Maryland may have an unhealthy level of radon.

Persons interested in more information may call (800) 445-8436.

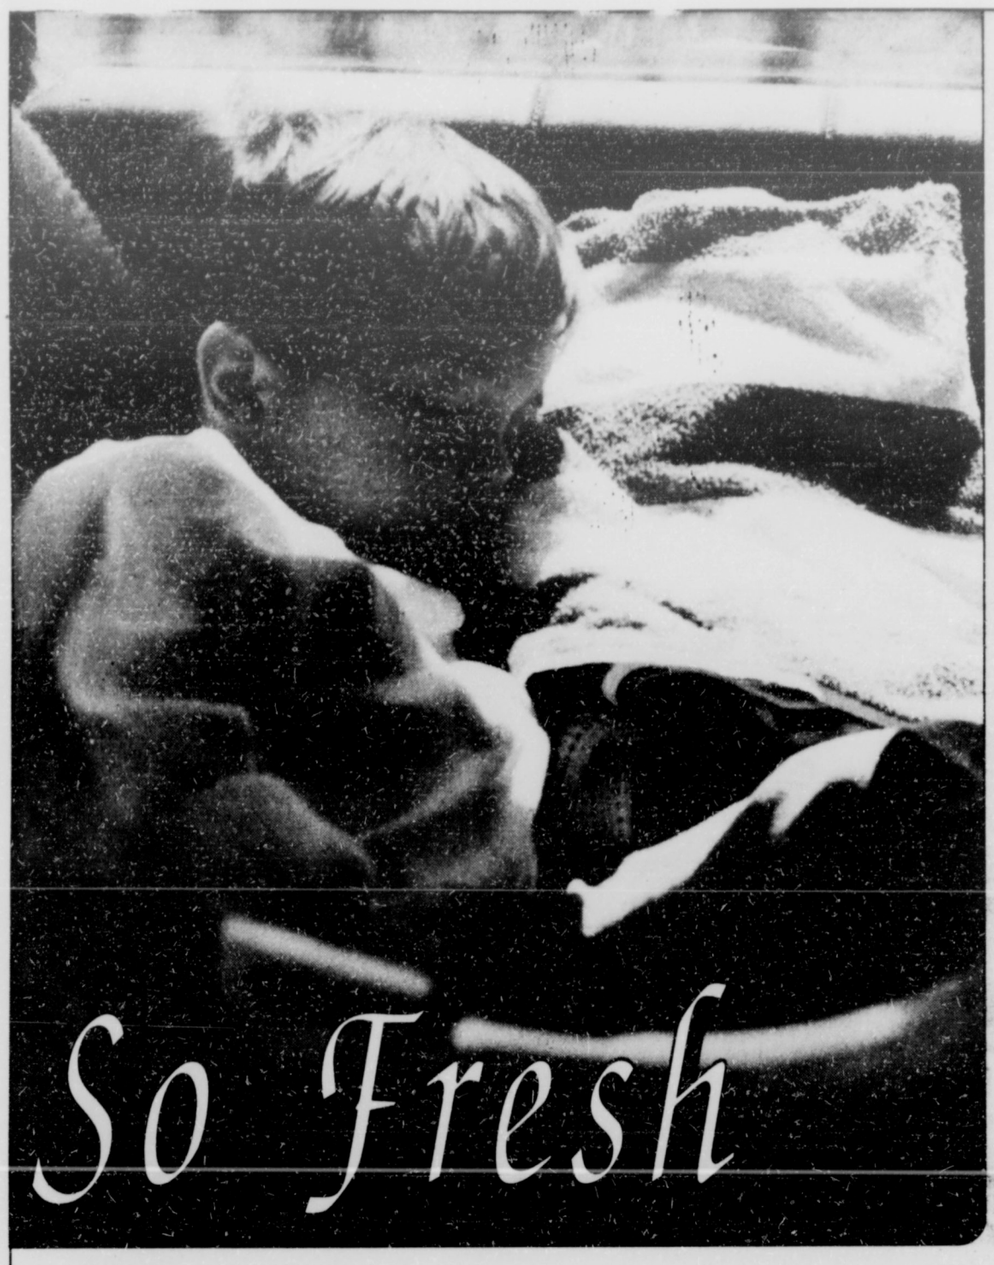
Invite someone to church today.



A child is so fresh...unsoiled by the spoils of society and untouched by dirty fingers of defeat...with a smile as bright as the morning sun and the peaceful sleep of a pure heart.

Yet, as life progresses, we pick up soil and smudges and smiles sometimes dull. The wrinkles in our skin may mirror a rumpled spirit and sleep does not come so easily anymore. Yes...It is time to do our laundry!

Actually, our "laundry" should be done at least weekly, for once soil is "set in" it is all the more difficult to remove. Each week we have an opportunity to refresh our bodies and renew our spirit as we enter God's sanctuary. Experience the cleansing of your soul as the sanctified Word of God washes away anxiety and fear. In John 15:3, we read..."Now ye are clean through the Word which I have spoken unto you."

Worship this week. Begin afresh with God.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE RIGHT CREDENTIALS

October 1, 1995

Background Scripture:
Acts 6:1 through 8:3
Devotional Reading:
Acts 7:54 through 8:3

This may not be the first fuss in a Christian church, but it is the first recorded one: "now in these days when the disciples were increasing in number, the Hellenists murmured against the Hebrews because their widows were neglected in the daily distribution" (6:1).

We've probably all belonged to a church were somebody murmured against someone else for neglect real or imagined. "The young couples of this church are not very well represented on the church administrative board, Pastor!" "Reverend, you must be aware that those of us who have been here for a long time are getting put out to pasture!" Etcetera, etcetera, etcetera.

The first church in Jerusalem was essentially composed of two groups: Greek-speaking Jews (Hellenists) and Aramaic-speaking (Hebrews) followers of Jesus. As the congregation pooled their economic goods and resources and then redistributed them among all the people of the congregation, the intention was to distribute these goods equally. But the Aramaic speaking Jews protested that their widows were not getting their fair share.

SERVE TABLES?

The response of the twelve apostles is a little pompous in my estimation: "It is not right that we should give up preaching the word of God to serve tables" (6:2). Obviously they didn't inherit that attitude from their master, who on one occasion washed the feet of his disciples (John 13:1-12) and on another said: "For which is the greater, one who sits at table, or one who serves? Is it not the one who sits at table? But I am among you as one who serves" (Luke 22:27).

(That reminds me of the Texan who was surprised when his new preacher fell off his horse. He said he figured all preachers were good on horseback, "spending as much time on their high horse as they do!")

The solution to the dilemma was a reasonable one. So that the apostles would not have to supervise the waiting on tables, they appointed seven Hellenists to do just that, commissioning the first deacons in the church. Their job was to look after the needs, not only of the Hellenistic widows, but all the needy of the congregation. (Actually the term "deacon" was not used in Acts, but this passage is often regarded as the beginning of the concept of deaconate. Literally, the Greek word may be translated as "servant," "attendant," or "minister"—one who serves.)

JUST A DEACON

There was nothing wrong with this plan, except that, like most of us, the apostles were a bit arrogant in thinking that by commissioning the seven deacons they had neatly divided the responsibilities into two well-defined divisions: (1) those who preach the gospel, and (2) those who minister to the needy. They had attempted to pour the Spirit of God into a bottle.

It is ironic to me then that, immediately following the account of the special commissioning of the seven Hellenists to take care of the mundane tasks of the congregation and free the apostles for the task of preaching the gospel, the writer of Acts follows with several long passages relating the story of Stephen, the man appointed to serve tables who preaches one of the most important—and dangerous!—sermons recorded in the New Testament! He was only authorized by the apostles to do the work of a deacon—certainly not that of an apostle!—but Stephen was "full of grace and power" and he did "great wonders and signs among the people" (6:8).

Later, the writer of Acts says of his opponents, "But they could not withstand the wisdom and the spirit with which he spoke" (6:9).

Like his master, Stephen did not have the right credentials, but he had the power.

COVER STORY

CMA Awards telecast features Gill, Parton

BY JOHN CROOK

Alan Jackson

After a quarter century of working on the Country Music Association Awards telecasts, as well as other similar bashes, Walter C. Miller has a pretty good idea what makes most awards shows a drag.

Awards.

Miller returns as executive producer of the 29th annual CMA awards special, which CBS carries live (EST) from the stage of the Grand Ole Opry House on Wednesday, Oct. 4.

"One thing that helps us is, we have fewer awards," Miller says with a chuckle, "and more entertainment. We only do about 13 awards. Most of the other shows do 21, 22, 23. The Grammys do, I don't know, 60? It's just awful. That means we have more time on this show to move things along with less talk and more entertainment."

This year's CMA nominations are dominated by Alan Jackson, who earned a spot in six categories, including entertainer of the year.

Two female performers, however, may contribute some of the biggest musical thrills of the evening, the producer adds.

"We've got a new lady on the show, Shania Twain, who hasn't been seen a lot and (will) perform for us," he explains. "And Dolly (Parton) is coming. She always does something special, or makes something special happen."

Miller acknowledges his job is made much easier by the presence of easygoing Vince Gill, who is returning as host again this year.

"He's done two alone, and did one with Clint (Black) and another with Reba (McEntire)," the producer ticks off. "He's great. He pays attention to what's going on, and he does it with a little bit of whimsy. You can't script those things, so he just picks up on what happens and does it.

"It's nice to know you have a host who is paying attention."

"I am surprised that I still get to keep doing it," admits Gill, CMA's reigning entertainer of the year and the all-time CMA awards champ. "When I need to be serious, I can be serious. Hosting is not hard to do because they prepare you so well.

"I'm not afraid to screw up," he adds. "I can laugh at myself and be the first one to say (to myself), 'Boy, you blew that one!' ... My buddies are all out there doing awful things to get me to goof up."

Trying to goof-proof the show means Gill, Miller and many performers face a grueling rehearsal schedule starting at 8 a.m. on the day of the telecast, doing a technical run-through followed by a final dress rehearsal. Still, Miller is resigned to inevitable moments when Murphy's Law prevails.

"I've been doing this too long to have my heart stop, but it (sometimes) beats a little faster," he says. "It jumped around a little when Charlie Rich decided to burn the (winner's envelope). I mean, he just decided to light up the award and burn it. Thank God Charley Pride and Glen Campbell came out and grabbed it away from him so we could find out who the winner was.

"I think Charlie Rich had gotten a little snockered, as we say," he theorizes drily.

The Family Channel brings back the series weekdays starting Monday, Oct. 2.

Landon stars as Jonathan, an angel who is striving for heavenly status. He and his friend Mark (Victor French), a retired policeman, travel around the country, providing guidance to those in need.

Landon served as executive producer and creator of this compelling drama.

Elizabeth Taylor had a tracheotomy days before winning the Oscar in 1960. She celebrated with a cigarette.

Seven of the 20 longest-running network programs still on the air are daytime dramas.

SOAP TALK

Buchanan expecting; Widdoes off-contract

BY CANDACE HAVENS

Jensen Buchanan

A year ago, Jensen Buchanan decided to return to Another World to reprise the role of Vicky.

Buchanan had taken an extended maternity leave after the birth of her first child, and it didn't look like she was going to return.

Then her husband decided to go back to school to study physical therapy, and the actress decided the financial rewards were worth it. Recently, she announced she is expecting a second child.

Don't look for her to exit permanently, even though Vicky's boyfriend, Ryan (Paul Michael Valley), is leaving. But she will take off some time later in the year for maternity leave.

Dear Candace: Is it possible the young woman who plays the part of Julia Santos on All My Children also played the part of young Meggie in The Thorn Birds? –Judy Huelga, Atascadero, Calf.

Dear Reader: As a child Sidney Penny (Julia) did indeed play Meggie on the miniseries The Thorn Birds. She was also in the French feature film Bernadette and was in the movie Pale Rider.

Viewers also may have seen her on Gidget, Jack's Place, The Twilight Zone and St. Elsewhere.

Dear Candace: I was so sorry to hear about the five actors leaving As the World Turns. I met Margaret Reed (ex-Shannon) and Michael Swan (ex-Duncan) in Columbus, Ohio, many years ago, and both of them were very nice to talk to.

If it weren't for Elizabeth Hubbard (Lucinda Walsh) and Larry Bryggman (John Dixon), I wouldn't bother to watch it. I can't understand why the others were fired. –G.B., Marion, Ohio.

Dear Reader: It is hard when favorite actors are forced to leave a show because of a change in executive producers and writers. Unfortunately that is the way it is in almost every aspect of the entertainment business.

If you have been watching the soap closely, you may have noticed the Snyder family is gradually being written out of the show. Even Kathleen Widdoes, who plays Emma, has been taken off of contract status.

It doesn't look like any one is safe. But, things should settle down by the end of the year.

PBS opens season with a wing, a Promise

BY SUZANNE GILL

PBS is the place for variety this week, featuring democracy in action, a flying vet, bananas and more. (Check local listings for all PBS programs).

The American Promise, airing Sunday through Tuesday, Oct. 1-3, celebrates the energetic diversity of this nation. The three-hour series is a collection of shorter pieces, each focusing on citizens in this democratic society. Stories range from a woman who steered graffiti scribblers toward mural painting in Philadelphia to four men in a raft near California's Auburn Dam who agree to disagree for the sake of the environment and political interests.

The People's Plague: Tuberculosis in America, airing Monday, Oct. 2, recalls the decades-long war to bring this infectious disease under control.

On Wednesday, Oct. 4, the season premiere of Scientific American Frontiers takes host Alan Alda to the "Wild West," where he searches for gold in the Sierra Nevada, explores the site of Canada's new "diamond rush" and encounters both rattlesnakes and scorpions.

The Flying Vet, also airing Wednesday, follows Dr. Peter Trembath as he visits animal patients across a 350,000-square-mile section of Australia.

Mystery! starts its 16th season Thursday, Oct. 5, with "Gallowglass." The three-part yarn follows a man whose attempted suicide lands him in the hands of a mysterious schemer who uses him in a kidnapping plan.

P.O.V. concludes another summer season Friday, Oct. 6, with the "cautionary tale" Carmen Miranda: Bananas Is My Business. Despite a happy facade, the Brazilian actress found success bittersweet.

PBS' P.O.V. explores the life of a Brazilian actress in Carmen Miranda: Bananas Is My Business, premiering Friday (check local listings).

TV PIPELINE

BY TAYLOR MICHAELS

Q: Did Paul Reiser of Mad About You play the reporter Rossi on Lou Grant? –L. Zeman, Denmark, Mich.

A: While there is a strong resemblance between the two actors, that was Robert Walden playing Joe Rossi.

Q: Which of the Star Wars guys is older, Harrison Ford or Mark Hamill? –Kim in Norwalk, Calif.

A: Born July 13, 1942, Ford is nearly a decade older than his co-star, who was born on Sept. 25, 1951.

By the way, before George Lucas releases his new Star Wars trilogy around the turn of the century, look for a 20th-anniversary theatrical re-release of the 1977 original, with footage never before seen by audiences. The current digitally remastered video re-release of the original trilogy will be withdrawn after Jan. 31, 1996.

Q: Was Mary Tyler Moore nominated for an Academy Award this year? –April W., Valley, Ala.

A: No. Moore received her lone Oscar nomination to date in 1980 for Ordinary People. She lost to Sissy Spacek (Coal Miner's Daughter).

Q: Where can I find The Shell Seekers with Angela Lansbury on video? –Jayne Curtis, Milford, Maine.

Q: Is the British comedy Tight Little Island on video? –Mrs. Marjorie Thorpe, Comox, British Columbia, Canada.

A: Under its alternate title, Whiskey Galore, Island is available from Movies Unlimited, 6736 Castor Ave., Philadelphia, Pa. 19149. The same is true of The Shell Seekers.

Readers with video inquiries might want to write directly to that company: Their inventory is huge.

Paul Reiser

Q: I've heard there is going to be a sequel to Speed. True? When will we see it? –Christina Evans, Kingsville, Ohio.

A: It's too soon to say. Both Keanu Reeves and Sandra Bullock say they are willing to reprise their roles, but no script has been approved at this point.

Q: Who was the voice of KITT on Knight Rider? –Helen Orchek, San Angelo, Texas.

Q: Is the person singing the theme song on Cybill the actress who plays her best friend on the show? –S.M. of Maine.

A: That's Cybill Shepherd herself, not co-star Christine Baranski, warbling "Nice Work If You Can Get It."

Q: I bet my friends Robin Wright from Forrest Gump played in another movie. There is money riding on this. –A.M., Hillsboro, Ore.

A: In addition to the title role in The Princess Bride, Wright's film credits include State of Grace, Toys and The Playboys, all on video.

State School Supt. Releases Survey Results

State School Superintendent Nancy S. Grasmick has released the results of a 1994 survey of drug use by Maryland young people which, she said, "underscores the need to do more -- not less -- to attack drugs in the state's schools and communities."

Dr. Grasmick said cutting the federal Safe and Drug Free Schools Program, now under consideration in the Congress, would be "unwise and shortsighted." The fiscal 1996 budget proposed by the House would cut $2.8 million from the $5.1 million currently allocated for Maryland -- a 55 percent cut in the support for programs to fight drug use and violence in the state's 1,270 schools.

Results of the 1994 Maryland Adolescent Survey show that young people in Maryland -- like their peers across the country -- are increasing their use of alcohol, tobacco, marijuana and other drugs. Alcohol is the most commonly used drug among youth in the state and in the nation.

"We find the results of this survey highly disturbing," Grasmick said. "But it would be a serious misinterpretation of the data to see Maryland young people in isolation from their counterparts nationally or from the larger adult society. We need to face the hard fact that drugs -- especially alcohol and, increasingly, marijuana -- are a part of our society."

Grasmick cited the recently released National Household Survey on Drug Abuse, which reported that 13 million Americans of all ages (6.2 percent of the nation' s total population) use illicit drugs, including 10 million who smoke marijuana. The national survey found that marijuana use by young people 12 to 17 years old nearly doubled, from 4 percent to 7.3 percent between 1992 and 1994. The Maryland survey found sharper increases at the eighth grade level but a smaller rate of increase in marijuana use at the 12th grade level.

"The use of drugs is a real threat to young people in many different ways," the state superintendent said. "It impedes learning for the individual user of drugs. And, because it is often associated with disruption and violence in schools, it often contributes to a negative learning environment in some schools." Maryland educators have developed a variety of approaches to address the problem of drug use, and the 1994 survey will give them new information for evaluating and strengthening programs. Local school systems will use the survey to identify priority areas that need greater attention. Generally, the survey data suggest the need for more emphasis on programs at the elementary and middle school levels to combat increases in drug use -- especially in marijuana and inhalants -- that show up in the eighth grade.

The survey will also help educators identify programs that appear to be effective and should be evaluated to determine if they should be models for use in other schools or school systems, according to Grasmick. Advertising campaigns aimed at underage drinking and strong peer leadership programs are among those considered especially effective in some school systems.

With support from the Maryland State Department of Education's Drug-Free Schools Program staff, local school systems are working to strengthen parent education, early identification and intervention, training for staff in identifying the early signs of drug use, and general public awareness of the extent of the problem in Maryland's schools and communities.

The survey found a significant connection between students' drug use and their parents style of parenting and perceived attitudes toward drug use. For example, students who use drugs are more likely than other students to believe that their parents and friends approve of their drug use. According to students' survey responses, parents of students who do not use drugs make a greater effort to get them up in time for school every morning, are concerned more about the students' associations with other students, and communicate more with the students -- including talking with them about drugs.

The Maryland Adolescent Survey was conducted last year in each of the 24 subdivisions, involved a sample of 18,205 students in grades 6, 8, 10, and 12. The survey asked students questions about their drug use, problems they have experienced related to drug use, and their knowledge of drugs and their consequences. The report contains data from the 62 survey questions, including data on drug use in all subdivisions but Prince George's County, where student participation was too low for a valid sampling.

PumpkinFest Set For Oct. 6-8 In Confluence, Pa.

Nearby Confluence, Pa., will be the site of PumpkinFest '95, a "fall foliage celebration" set for Oct. 6, 7 and 8.

"PumpkinFest is a festival to celebrate Mother Nature's autumn beauty," said a spokesperson for the event. "Farmers and gardeners from throughout the area will be showing off their prize pumpkins." Homemade pumpkin baked goods will be displayed, and available for purchase. Various arts, crafts, and food booths will display the vendors' products, which will also be on sale.

Some of the activities planned during this year's PumpkinFest include the crowning of PumpkinFest Queen '95, a volleyball tournament, pie eating contests, bed races, a largest pumpkin contest, pumpkin pie and recipe contests, 50/50 Bingo, an antique/street rod/classic auto show, the PumpkinFest Grand Feature Parade, gospel music, a vesper service, square dancing demonstrations, a lumberjack show and competition, live music entertainment, and the "largest, longest, and loudest fireworks display ever in Somerset County."

Confluence, located along Pennsylvania State Rts. 281 and 523, is situated along the banks of Laurel Hill Creek, and the Youghiogheny and Casselman rivers. The village is set between Somerset and Uniontown, Pa., and is a short drive from Cumberland, Morgantown, W.Va., Pittsburgh, and Johnstown, Pa.

For more information about PumpkinFest '95, or to reserve booth space for the arts and crafts displays, persons may call (814) 395-3647, 395-5627, or 395-5080.

Local CPA Firm Has Successful Peer Review

The firm of Katherine B. Zimmerman, CPA, announced this week it has successfully completed a rigorous peer review of its accounting and auditing practice. The reviewer concluded the firm complies with the stringent quality control standards set by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA), the national professional organization of CPAs.

The firm participants in the AICPA Peer Review Program, one of the AICPA-approved practice-monitoring programs. A firm participating in any of these programs must have an independent review of its accounting and auditing practice every three years. The review was conducted under the auspices of the Maryland Association of CPAs following standards issued by the AICPA.

Peer reviews are performed by licensed CPAs who are selected from among the members of the AICPA. These reviews determine whether a public accounting firm has suitable quality control policies and procedures and is complying with them.

The successful review indicates that the firm of Katherine B. Zimmerman, CPA has demonstrated it measures up to the accounting profession's high standards of quality and professionalism. If requested, the firm will provide a copy of the report on the results of the review to all interested parties although not required to do so.

Mrs. Zimmerman, along with professional staff member, Sherry Nazelrod, CPA, serve businesses, individuals, and non-profit organizations throughout the tri-state area. The firm provides a full range of audit, accounting, tax, and consulting services and specializes in individual and business taxes.

The AICPA is the national professional organization of CPAs with more than 326,000 members in public practice, industry, government and education. AICPA members are committed to the highest standards of quality, independence and ethics in their practice. In its continuing efforts to serve the public interest, the organization sets audit standards, upholds the profession's code of conduct, provides continuing professional education, administers peer review programs, and prepares and grades the Uniform CPA Examination.

Pulitzer Prize Winning Poet To Visit FSU

The Western Maryland Writers' Workshop has announced the upcoming visit by Pulitzer Prize winning poet W.D. Snodgrass.

On Sunday evening, Nov. 12 at 7 p.m., Snodgrass will read from his work in the Lane Center Multi-Use Room. A reception and book signing will follow. At 9 a.m. on Monday, Nov. 13, he will conduct a workshop in room 237 of the Ort Library. Both events are free and open to the public.

In The New York Times Book Review, Snodgrass has been praised as "one of the six best poets now writing in English." His most recent collection of poems, The Fuehrer Bunker, explores the final days of the Third Reich as the last of the Nazis reveal their characters through monologues. In the poet's imagination these speakers are self-pitying, banal and frightening. They are also speakers whose ultimate thoughts we probably don't want to know.

For more info on this reading and other poetry events, persons may call the English Department at 687-4221.

FSU makes all of its programs, services and activities accessible to persons with disabilities. Persons may request accommodations through the Office of Student Support Services/Disabled Student Services, 113 Pullen Hall, (301) 687-4481, TDD (301) 687-7955.

GCC Course To Highlight Silk Flower Arranging

A course titled "Silk Flower Arranging" is being offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College (GCC), beginning Oct. 3, and continuing each Tuesday evening until Nov. 7, from 6-8 p.m., at the Deer Park Community Center.

Students participating in this course will be given the opportunity to use silk flowers for the purpose of creating floral centerpieces, and flower arrangements.

Tuition for the course is $16, plus a $4 fee and materials. Students may obtain a list of materials required for the course from Patricia Baer at the Oakland Center of GCC. Registration is limited, and will be taken on a first-come, first-served basis. For more information, persons may call Baer at 334-8304.

RENEW Director To Visit St. Peter's Church

Fr. Joseph Luca, RENEW director for the Archdiocese of Baltimore, will be a special guest for the weekend masses of Sept. 30-Oct. 1 at St. Peter's Catholic Church, Oakland.

The RENEW program is a Catholic community effort to undergo spiritual rejuvenation through faith sharing, a church spokesperson stated.

Fr. Luca has delivered the RENEW message to persons throughout the state and will explain the entire RENEW process at this week's Saturday and Sunday masses.

Immediately following the 6:15 p.m. mass on Saturday, a dessert social with Fr. Luca will be held in St. Peter's basement. Following the 9 a.m. mass on Sunday, doughnuts, coffee, and juice will be served in St. Peter's parish hall.

Fr. Luca will also appear at the Sunday noon mass and following coffee social in Kitzmiller.

Mooreland In Winners' Circle

The Shenandoah Valley Brokers Council recently presented the Winners' Circle Award for the 2nd quarter of 1995 to Libby Mooreland of Century 21 Country Squire Realty.

The award was conferred to Mooreland at the council's recent awards rally in recognition of her production of more than $25,000 in gross closed commissions for the 2nd quarter.

This award is Century 21's highest quarterly award for sales production.

Unger Retires After 21 Years Govt. Service

After working for the federal government for over 21 years, Frederick resident Roberta "Bobbie" Unger, originally of Oakland, retired early this month.

Unger's career included work at the National Institute of Mental Health, the National Institute of Dental Research, and the National Cancer Institute, all agencies of the National Institutes of Health (NIH), Bethesda. During her career, she has received numerous promotions, outstanding performance awards, quality step increases, and cash awards, as well as a special service award.

Unger worked for the past 12 years as a secretary/administrative assistant to the chief of the National Cancer Institute's Laboratory of Molecular Immunoregulation in Frederick.

A retirement luncheon, held in Unger's honor at Frederick's Brown Pelican Restaurant, was attended by professional and technical staff members from the National Cancer Institute, co-workers, friends, and family members including Unger's mother, Virginia Sanders, Oakland, and Unger's son, Glenn Dale "Jay" Unger, Virginia Beach, Va.

During the luncheon, Mrs. Unger's work supervisor, Dr. Jaost J. Oppenheim, commented on her years of service and her accomplishments. Linda Grove, a co-worker who organized the luncheon, also made remarks at the event.

SOME COMMON SENSE WAYS TO DETECT A GAS LEAK.

Even with a system as safe and secure as your natural gas service, a leak could occur. That's why you and your family should learn some basic safety rules.

In cities, towns, or suburban areas.

Your gas company adds a special scent to the otherwise odorless natural gas that's delivered to your home. If you detect this odor:

- Don't use matches or operate electrical switches, equipment or appliances.
- Leave your home, business or building and call the gas company from another site.
- Don't return until a gas company representative arrives.

In parks or rural areas.

Outside some cities and towns, a natural gas leak may not be detectable by scent. In these areas, you may hear a blowing or hissing sound or see dirt blowing into the air; water bubbling or being blown into the air at a puddle, pond, creek or river; brown patches in vegetation on or near a gas line; or fire coming from the ground or burning above it.

If this happens:

- Leave the area and warn others to stay away.
- Call the gas company and the police and fire departments.
- Don't try to extinguish a gas fire or operate any pipeline valves.

Chances are you'll never experience a natural gas leak. But, if you do, follow your senses.

Board of Realtors Honors Grubb For Outstanding Service

The Garrett County Board of Realtors recently awarded Charles "Charlie" Grubb its 1995 Citizen's Outstanding Service Award.

The award is presented to a citizen of Garrett County who "exhibits extraordinary and self-sacrificing acts of public service to the community," said a spokesperson for the board of realtors. "It gives the Garrett County Board of Realtors an opportunity to tell the citizens of Garrett County how it feels about the importance of community service."

Grubb served as a guard on the initial Southern Rams' Football team in 1954, and for 15 years has managed the Oakland Boys' Little League Baseball team. Additionally, he has managed the Boys' Little League Football team for five years, and the Girls' Softball League for the past 11 years. He is a past Lions club secretary, and is currently working cooperatively with the Garrett County "Project Open Space" program for securing funding to purchase land for ballfields for the girls' softball program, and the youth soccer league. He has also played Santa Claus for various area businesses during the Christmas season.

Grubb, who was born and reared in Gorman, currently resides in Loch Lynn. He is employed by Beachy Lumber Co., where he has worked for the past 16 years.

Special Workshop Concerning Sexual Harassment Set

Linda Fike, personnel director at Garrett Community College and member of the State Wide Advocacy Team through the Maryland State Department of Education, will present a sexual harassment workshop Monday, Oct. 9, in Room 307 at Garrett Community College.

Included in the 1 p.m. presentation will be ways to identify harassment and what steps to take once this situation is understood. By learning to recognize and address harassment, a person builds the foundation needed to take control of his or her life, according to Ms. Fike.

This workshop, which is sponsored by the New Dimensions Program, the New Horizons Program, and The Caring Connection of Garrett Community College, is free and is open to the public. For additional information or questions, interested persons may contact Virginia Jeffrey, Intake/Counselor Specialist for the New Dimensions and The Caring Connection Programs, at 387-3103.

The New Horizons programs is jointly funded by the Maryland State Department of Education and Garrett Community College. Grant funds in the amount of $45,000 are made available to the New Horizons Program through the Division of Career Technology and Adult Learning, which is approximately 89.6% of the total program budget with GCC contributing an additional $5,200 which is 10.4% of the total budget. The Caring Connection is 100% funded by the Maryland State Department of Education in the amount of $20,000. The New Dimensions Program is 100% funded by the Department of Human Resources, Community Services Administration, Women's Services Division is the amount of $20,000.

GCC Offering Serger Course

A course, titled "Learn to Use the Serger," will be offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College. The course will be held at the Oakland Center of the college beginning Oct. 3. Sessions will be held each Tuesday from 6 to 9 p.m. for four weeks. (This is a change from the previously announced Sept. 29 starting date.)

Students will learn basic parts, cleaning, etc. Hands-on experience will be the method of instruction, so students must have their own serger. Jane Swauger will be the instructor.

Students may register at the McHenry campus, or the Oakland Center. Space is limited. For more information, persons may call 334-8304.

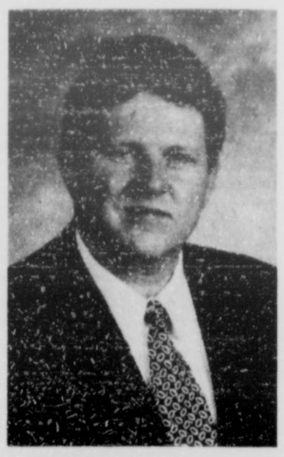
Local Volunteers Sought To Help Arthritis Group

The Arthritis Foundation, Maryland Chapter, is currently seeking volunteers to form a teaching team for the arthritis self-help course, a six-week course designed to teach participants how to manage and cope with their arthritis.

Courses will be offered in the Western Maryland area. One member of the team must have arthritis.

In order to lead the course, volunteers must attend a two and one half day certification workshop. The next workshop begins Thursday, Oct. 26. Interested persons should call Craig Johnson at (301) 663-0303 or (800) 750-9078 for more information.

Coldwell Banker Adds Don Nuce To Sales Staff



Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty announces the affiliation of Donald Nuce as a full-time sales associate.

Nuce received a bachelor of arts degree in industrial education from Fairmont State College in 1976, with two areas of specialization, building construction and woodworking. He was partner in a landscape contracting business for four years in Gaithersburg, and then returned to this area where he has continually resided since 1980.

He has been involved in the local business community for 16 years, with a total of nearly 20 years of marketing experience. He has owned and operated a local home improvement business, and is a registered licensed master plumber for Garrett and Allegany counties. In addition, he is experienced in acquisition, maintenance and management of rental property.

Nuce has volunteered as a referee and an officer with the Mountaintop Soccer Association. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, Oakland Lodge No. 2481 B.P.O.E., and is currently an elected officer and blood donor chairman of Oakland Lodge 192, A.F. & A.M.

In addition to real estate sales, his current business interests also include the management of several properties, in which he shares ownership interest. He owns a franchise for and actively markets Wedge Cor Steel Building Systems, a line of prefabricated steel buildings, in the tri-state area. His duties include identifying potential customers and coordinating with several contract erectors. For five years, he has operated an insurance service specializing in the life and health needs of small businesses. In addition to pursuing a full-time career in real estate, he intends to maintain his other business interests.

"My goal is to provide the highest standard of service and expertise in my insurance and real estate practice," said Nuce.

"Don brings a lot of enthusiasm and experience to the real estate profession," said Robert Huebner, broker and owner of Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty, "and we're confident that he will be a valued addition to our staff of sales associates. It's a pleasure to welcome him to our company."

Nuce resides in the Oakland area with his wife, Marianne, and son, Jason.

Murray Graduates From The School Of Bank Marketing

Richard G. Stanton, chairman of the board, president, and chief executive officer of First United Corporation, has announced that Robin E. Murray, President's Club coordinator and Customer Service Center manager, recently graduated with honors from the School of Bank Marketing in Boulder, Colo.

The School of Bank Marketing is a two-year program sponsored by Bank Marketing Association, which is an affiliate of the American Bankers Association. One week each year is spent on the campus of the University of Colorado. The curriculum covers a wide variety of banking subjects, specializing in marketing and asset liability management. In between the annual sessions, the students are required to complete several at-home study projects.

"Robin has proven to be a very valuable asset to our organization," Stanton said. This additional marketing education will blend effectively with her current marketing experience, as well as with the experience she gained working in administrative services."

A graduate of Southern High School, Mrs. Murray has taken numerous banking classes offered by the bank. She is a licensed agent to sell life & health, as well as property and casualty insurance in the state of Maryland. She is also a recent graduate of the Dale Carnegie course on public speaking.

Mrs. Murray started her First United career in 1977 as a bookkeeper. Since then she has held the positions of customer service representative and deposit administration supervisor in addition to her current position.

Mrs. Murray resides in Mtn. Lake Park with her husband, Dennis, and two children, Jessica and Adam.

Many "Other" Events Slated For Autumn Glory Festival

As part of Garrett County's 28th Annual Autumn Glory Festival, October 12-15, in downtown Oakland and the surrounding area, a wide variety of activities are planned, including a Special Postal Cancellation held all four days of the festival commemorating this 28th annual event.

Scenic chairlift rides will be held from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday, Oct. 13, through Sunday, Oct. 15, at the Wisp Resort in McHenry at a cost of $3.95 per person. A Children's Carnival and Pit Roast Beef Dinner will be held Friday evening, Oct. 13, from 4 to 7 p.m. at the Dennett Road Elementary School playground in Oakland, with pony rides, games, and prizes for all ages, baked goods and pit roast beef meals and hot dogs. Admission to this event is free.

The High Mountain Sports Annual Ski, Snowboard and In-Line Skate Swap will be held 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday at High Mountain Sports on Route 219 at Deep Creek Lake.

The Mountain Fresh Farmers' Market will be open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday in the Oakland Town Parking Lot offering local produce, crafts, baked goods, maple syrup, painted pumpkins, and flowers. The Southern Garrett Band Boosters will host turkey dinners "with all the trimmings" Saturday, Oct. 14, from 3 to 6 p.m. at the Southern High School cafeteria and take-outs are available for those who bring your own containers. Dinner prices are $6 adults and $3.50 for children 12 and under. Turkey dinners will be served at area restaurants throughout the weekend.

The Garrett County Historical Museum & Genealogical Library on Center Street in Oakland will be open Thursday through Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, depicting the history of the county and its people from past to present with local artifacts and a genealogical reference library. Admission is free and donations are appreciated.

The festival has been named one of the Top 100 Events in North America for 1995 by the American Bus Association. For more information or a free festival brochure, persons may contact the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, 200 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550-1581; telephone (301) 334-1948.

Rosson Awarded CRS Designation

Scindra Rosson, realtor, has been awarded the Certified Residential Specialist (CRS) Designation by the Residential Sales Council of the Realtors National Marketing Institute, an affiliate of the National Association of realtors.

Prior to becoming one of the nation's 28,000 CRS Designees, Rosson was required to complete courses offered by the sales council, and had to demonstrate specific expertise in applied residential real estate marketing. Fewer than four percent of all realtors hold this designation, according to a council spokesperson.

Rosson is a sales associate with A&A Realty/Better Homes and Gardens, and a member of the Garrett County Board of Realtors.

Herman, Storck Tell Others About GRIC, Bulletin Bd.

At a recent meeting in Pittsburgh hosted by AT&T, presidents of selected Appalachian colleges heard Dr. Steve Herman and Don Storck of Garrett Community College (GCC) explain the Garrett Rural Information Cooperative (GRIC) and GCC's Bulletin Board system. Representatives of AT&T and Alternate Resource Corporation were also in attendance.

The meeting was designed to focus on the prospects for a national initiative to strengthen telecommunication service to rural America using community colleges as the information hub as in the GCC model.

About the presentation Dr. Herman stated, "I am very pleased that GCC has been recognized throughout Appalachia, and by major corporations in the telecommunications industry as a leader in community colleges' efforts to provide reliable and affordable access for rural communities to the information highways of the world."

Re-Dedication Of Church Set At Spruce Forest

After several months of work, planning and sprucing up, the Village Church at Spruce Forest Artisan Village, formerly the Pleasant Valley Methodist Church, Oakland, will be re-dedicated on Sunday, October 8. Refreshments will be served at 3 p.m. with ceremonies starting at 4 p.m. at the church, located adjacent to Penn Alps in Grantsville.

"This is a dream come true for many, many people who worked hard and long," said Jack Dueck, Penn Alps administrator, who has been intimately involved in the project since its inception early this year. "The church will be used now as an ecumenical place for worship, singing of songs, weddings, and reflection."

Ecumenical also describes the forces at work in placing the church at its new home. The 92-year-old building had been empty and unused for some time when former church member Arletta Bittinger became concerned for its fate, as it had been broken into and vandalized repeatedly. The Pleasant Valley Cemetery had purchased the land for additional space and planned to raze the building when Mrs. Bittinger approached them about the move. Soon funds were being raised to help defray moving costs and on April 19, a group of some 25 Amishmen disassembled the building for removal via flatbed trucks to Spruce Forest.

The forces at work will be reflected in the participants at the re-dedication. Clergy and members of various denominations, including Methodist, Mennonite,Church of Christ, Catholic, and others are planning to take part in the celebration.

Now that the fate of the building has been assured for time to come, the next concern is restoring the building. While some restoration work has been completed, like the authentic stone foundation, electrical system, plank wood ceiling and green tin roof, a lot of work remains to be done, and paid for, according to Dueck.

"Everything from the stained glass windows to the heating system to the very interior walls must be replaced," Dueck said. "We're hoping the community will embrace this church as we have and help to make its complete restoration a reality. We're inviting people to buy a window, a door, or what whatever part they wish. We're also establishing an endowment fund to provide for the church in perpetuity."

Everyone is welcome to attend the re-dedication. For information on helping defray costs of this tax-deductible project, persons may call Sprue Forest Artisan Village at 301-895-3332.

PRINTER DONATED - Advantage Computers, Cumberland, recently donated a computer printer to the Deer Park Volunteer Fire Department, thanks to the efforts to local resident Jason Rush, who is also an employee of Advantage Computers. When it was learned the DPVFD's old printer was unable to be repaired, Rush contacted the company's owners, Earl and Ruth Beeler, to see if they would donate a new printer to the volunteer organization. Rush, left, is shown presenting the printer to Ron Perando, who accepted the gift on behalf of the fire department.

Potomac State Forest To Host Scouting Weekend

The Potomac Council of the Boy Scouts of America is planning its fall Webelos-Ree for October 7 and 8 at Potomac State Forest. The theme for the weekend will be Webelos Olympics. It is being hosted by the Deep Creek District.

Registration for the event will be $4 per scout. Chair for the event is Bob Stephens of Oakland.

The scouts will be performing various skills required for many of their activity badges. Among these will be Outdoorsman, Showman, and Music activity badges. Each Pack needs to bring its own equipment, water, unit flags, and first aid kit.

Scouts can submit candidate patch designs to commemorate the weekend event. The winning design will be chosen there and patches will be ordered.

For more information on the Fall Webelos-Ree, persons may contact Brad Burr, Scout Executive for the Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, and 729-1300.

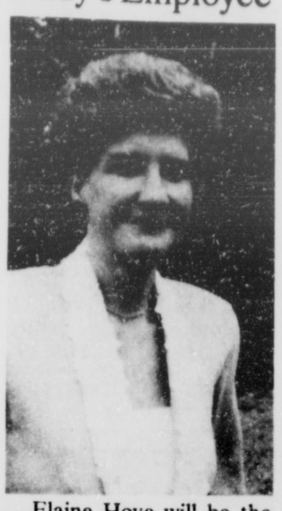
Open House Set For Long-Time Rudy's Employee



Elaine Hoye will be the guest of honor at a special open house at Rudy's Clothing Store in Oakland this Saturday, Sept. 30, from 2 to 4 p.m.

Mrs. Hoye is being honored by store owner/management for her 30 years of employment at the business, a milestone she reached in August. She was hired in August 1965 as a sales clerk by the late Irvin R. Rudy Jr., father of the present owner, I. Robert Rudy. Since that time she has created in-store and window displays and has generally been "a Jill of all trades," Rudy said.

Her primary responsibilities now are in an operational capacity, including the training of new employees, receiving and marking new merchandise, and managing the warehouse which serves the store's two locations.

"Elaine is a valued and trusted member of the store family," Rudy said. "She's been here longer than I have and has seen many changes in our operations as the business has changed and grown. She's always willing to pitch in and do whatever needs to be done. We're very fortunate to have her working with us, and I can't imaging Rudy's without her."

Mrs. Hoye resides along South Third Street in Oakland with her husband, Paul.

The Rudy family and Mrs. Hoye's co-workers, Sheila Rinker and Beth Friend, invite all to attend Saturday's open house at the store on Second Street.

Fall Festival Planned By Friendsville PTO

The Friendsville Elementary PTO will host a Fall Festival on Saturday, October 28, from noon until 6 p.m.

There will be a Fun Factory with games and prizes for all ages, Harvest Baskets, raffles, turkey dinners, and other foods. All food will be available for take-out.

For more information, persons may contact Julia Sines at 746-5100 or 746-5619.

Flea Market Set In Markleysburg

The Mountain Fellowship Center, a non-profit organization located along U.S. Rt. 40 near Markleysburg, Pa., will sponsor its annual Fall Foliage Flea Market on Saturday, October 7, inside and outside, beginning at 8 a.m.

Among the wares expected to be displayed are books, bows, clothing, collectibles, crafts, dolls, herbs, jewelry, pellet stoves, rugs, and several types of handmade wooden items.

People wishing to be dealers are reminded that the Mt. Fellowship Center works toward a "family oriented atmosphere." Dealers inside must make prior reservations, but outside dealers do not need to make reservations.

The lunch counter will be open that day, and off-road parking is available. For more information, persons may call Joanna Bontrager in the evenings at 412-329-8669.

FRIENDSVILLE NEWS

Fred Humberson, Friendsville, celebrated his 91st birthday on Sept. 27. It is requested that his friends remember him by sending him a card. His address is: Fred Humberson, 1637 Old Morgantown, Road, Friendsville, MD 21531.

Open House Set At Willy Wisp Learning Center

An open house has been scheduled at the Willy Wisp Early Childhood Learning Center for October 3, from 5:30-7 p.m., according to Sherry Costa, director. All interested persons are invited to attend.

The center, located at the Wisp Resort on Marsh Hill Road, opened earlier this month and is now in full operation with a staff consisting of Costa, teacher Carol Frazee, and instructional aide Brenda Branthoover. It is being operated as a partnership between Garrett Community College and the Wisp Resort.

Persons who attend the open house will have an opportunity to learn about the Willy Wisp Center's curriculum that tailors educational activities to each child's developmental level, according to Costa. Activities include finger play, graphing, counting and sorting, literature based dramatic activities, and singing.

Ms. Costa stressed the need for the program to be both education and fun. "We want other people to know about our program," she said. "The children enjoy these activities because they are fun. They always want to come back, and those who are here part-time want to come more often."

Persons desiring further information about the Willy Wisp Center or the open house may call Costa at 387-4911, ext. 2149.

Lupus Medication Is Seminar Topic

A program for lupus patients and their families titled Understanding Your Medications will be held at Garrett County Memorial Hospital on Wednesday, Oct. 11, at 6:30 p.m.

Brian Clatterback, a registered pharmacist, will lead the seminar, which is being organized by the Maryland Lupus Foundation Inc. and the Garrett County Lupus Support Group.

For more information, persons may call the foundation at (800) 777-0934.

Nat'l School Lunch Week Set For Oct. 9-13

The Garrett County Board of Education, Food Service Department, will observe National School Lunch Week on October 9-13. This year marks the 50th year of school lunches in the United States. "This is a good opportunity to focus students' and parents' attention on the relationship between nutrition, health, and fitness," a spokesperson stated.

Parents who have youngsters attending school in Garrett County are invited to have lunch with their children any day during National School Lunch Week. The Food Service Department requests that each parent intending to participate notify the school office of the day he or she plans to visit.

Several schools have food catered, and the number of meals served are called in to the preparing kitchen each day. In those schools, unless notification is given, the number of meals requested could fall below those needed.

The charge for adults is $2.90. Children will be charged the same amount as students.

For more information, persons may call the school office.

Cost-Share Cap For Animal Waste Storage Structures Raised

Maryland Department of Agriculture (MDA) Secretary Lewis R. Riley announced that the cost-share funding cap for animal waste storage systems has been raised from $35,000 to $50,000 per project under the Maryland Agricultural Water Quality Cost-Share Program (MACS). A maximum of $65,000 in assistance is now available per farm when animal waste storage systems are combined with other best management practices (BMPs) aimed at protecting water quality in the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries.

"The new funding caps are designed to help farmers offset the tremendous costs associated with building an animal waste containment structure," said Riley.

"These structures are one of the most important tools available to farmers for managing nutrient runoff from large livestock operations. We're pleased to be in a position to help farmers do their part on behalf of the Bay," he added.

The new funding caps apply to animal waste management systems constructed after August 24, 1995. Containment structures completed before this date are ineligible for the new rates. Applications on file at MDA will be adjusted to reflect the new funding levels.

Earlier this year, the Governor's Blue Ribbon Panel on Financing Alternatives for Maryland's Tributary Strategies proposed raising the cost-share cap for animal waste storage systems. The average cost of installing these systems is $55,000, with some systems priced at more than $90,000. Due to the expense involved, the Blue Ribbon Panel found that animal waste storage structures--which can range from a concrete-lined lagoon to a roofed or covered structure--were being cost-shared at a level substantially lower than other agricultural best management practices.

Established in 1983, the Maryland Agricultural Water Quality Cost-Share (MACS) Program is a key feature in Maryland's efforts to protect water quality in the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries. Through the program, farmers are provided with up to 87.5 percent of the cost to install eligible best management practices to prevent soil erosion and control nutrient runoff from farm fields and livestock operations. Grassed waterways, spring developments, and winter cover crops for nutrient uptake are among more than 25 BMPs currently eligible for MACS funding.

Since 1984, more than 7,000 BMPs have been installed under the program, with approximately $38 million in public funds matched by $4.5 million from individual farmers.

Farmers interested in applying for cost-share assistance through the MACS Program should call their local soil conservation district.

FmHA Farm Programs Move To New Agency

The Farmers Home Administration's farm credit programs will move to the new Consolidated Farm Service Agency (CFSA) on October 1, according to Rural Economic and Community Development Acting State Director Jack Walls and CFSA State Executive Director James Voss.

"The Farmers Home Administration will cease to exist as of October 1," Walls said. "However, the traditional FmHA farmer programs, such as farm ownership, emergency and farm production loans will continue as in the past," he said. The only difference is that farmers will now go to the new CFSA office rather than FmHA.

CFSA State Committee Chairman Roger Richardson welcomed the merger of farm credit programs, ASCS and Crop Insurance into one, more efficient agency. "It just makes good sense to put all farm programs in one place so the farmer can go to one office to take care of all USDA business," he said.

The Chief of Farmer Programs at FmHA, William Walmsley, along with 16 other FmHA employees, are transferring to CFSA. They will be responsible for all USDA farm credit programs in Delaware and Maryland.

"We have formed what we call 'Ag Credit Teams' to be sure we have someone at every county office as often as needed," Walmsley said. CFSA County Executive Directors and other CFSA employees will be available to help coordinate the service," he said.

Walmsley, who becomes CFSA's director of Farm Credit on October 1, said each Ag Credit Team will be responsible for covering certain counties. "In the coming months, we will set up a schedule of days that a member of the team will be in each CFSA county office," Walmsley said.

There will be three Ag Credit Teams to cover Maryland. The CFSA County Executive Director and Ag Credit Team contact for Garrett County is: Credit Team Manager, Consolidated Farm Service Agency (CFSA), K. Scott Mullen, 92 Thomas Johnson Drive, Frederick, MD 21702, Phone 301-662-1321; in Garrett County, County Executive Director Michael Kozier, Consolidated Farm Service Agency (CFSA), Court House, Room 208, 203 S. 4th St., Oakland, MD 21550, phone 301-334-1901, or CFSA Assistant Credit Manager Tanya Hadden, Hagerstown, 301-797-0500.

Sorghum Harvest Underway

For the week ending September 24, sorghum harvest was beginning well ahead of schedule. Crop condition varied from very poor to excellent. Soybean development continued to proceed ahead of average. The condition of the crop also varied from very poor to excellent. Field corn continued progressing ahead of schedule. Harvest of grain and silage continued ahead of average as well. The condition of the crop ranged from very poor to excellent with the majority of the crop in fair condition. Apple condition was mostly good to excellent. Harvest continued slightly above the five year average. Pastures were nine percent very poor, 36 percent poor, 49 percent fair, and six percent good. Third and fourth cuttings of alfalfa and other hay continued. Hay supplies were short to mostly adequate.

Topsoil moisture was seven percent very short, 23 percent short, and 70 percent adequate. Subsoil moisture was 27 percent very short, 56 percent short, and 17 percent adequate. Conditions allowed for an average of 4.8 days suitable for fieldwork. Rain over the weekend helped to improve low soil moisture levels.

Maryland's progress for the week ending September 24 was as follows, listing the item, this week's percentage, last week's percentage, last year's percentage, and a percentage for the 5-year average.

Crop progress: Corn, mature, 90, 80, 68, 67; Grain, harvested, 53, 33, 18, 21; Silage, harvested, 84, 81, 50, 62. Soybeans, turning color, 80, 70, 49, 49; shedding leaves, 55, 44, 20, 20. Sorghum, turning color, 80, 73, 76, 83; mature, 62, 45, 16, 48; harvested, 15, 0, 4, 4.

Harvesting progress: Sweet Corn, 98, 96, 99, 99; Tomatoes, 96, 95, 98, 98; Alfalfa Hay: fourth cutting, 82, 81, 81, 63. Other Hay: third cutting, 77, 74, 83, 63; fourth cutting, 45, 44, 40, 22. Apples, harvested, 48, 47, 53, 46.

WEATHER

Maryland weather for the week ending September 22, had near normal temperatures and above normal precipitation. Temperatures averaged 67.7 degrees, 0.2 degrees above the normal of 67.5 degrees for the week of September 16 through September 22. The low temperature for the week was 43 degrees at Hancock. Low temperatures were mainly in the lower 40's to the lower 60's. The high temperature was 87 degrees at Salisbury. Highs were mainly in the 70's to mid 80's. Precipitation averaged 1.90 inch, 0.80 inch above the normal of 1.10 inches.

Dairy Club For Youth Being Organized

An organizational meeting of a 4-H Dairy Club for Youth will be held at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, October 3, at the Arlen and Glenda Maust farm, 13824 Bittinger Road, Grantsville.

This meeting/club is open to any youth between the ages of 8 and 18 that are interested in dairy activities. During the next year, members will participate in judging workshops, fitting and showing clinics, quiz bowl practices, and animal nutrition workshops.

The club will be a part of the Garrett County 4-H Program. Youth may elect to use this as their club for primary membership or retain their membership in a community club and attend the dairy club's educational programs.

For additional information, interested persons should contact Arlen and Glenda Maust at 245-4550 or Alice Bender at 746-8161.

SWINE LEAN PERFORMANCE TESTING -- This year at the Garrett County Fair all 4-H/FFA Market Hogs were scanned to determine body composition using Real-time Ultrasound Scanning Equipment. Using the initial weight (weigh-in weight) and final weight (fair weight), days on test, and scan data, pigs were ranked according to the amount of acceptable lean tissue gained per day on test. Receiving recognition for the ranking of their market hogs were: left to right, Scotti Bolyard, fifth place; Alisa Friend, fourth place; Levi Schmuck, third place; Eric DeWitt, second place; Lori Evans, 1995 Garrett County Farm Queen and Maryland State Farm Queen; Shane DeWitt, first place and trophy sponsored by Maryland Pork Producers Association. The testing was conducted on Friday, August 18, by Dr. Tom Hartsock and Dr. Jerry DeBarth, Animal Sciences Department, College of Agriculture and Natural Resources, University of Maryland at College Park. This was an educational activity and not part of the regular fair classes where the animals are judged for confirmation. Photo by Thomas Holler.

Seal Out Pests Searching For Winter Quarters

Be on the lookout for tiny pests who plan to spend the winter months in your home.

Many insect species overwinter in West Virginia, seeking shelter in or around houses. Common fall invaders include moths, beetles, and spiders.

The best control method is to seal them out in the first place, according to entomology specialists with the WVU Extension Service.

Inspect the perimeter of your house for cracks, especially those at or just above ground level. Tiny pests can slip unnoticed through holes around utility cables. Seal all openings you find.

Besides shelter, some invading insects also are looking for secure nesting sites. To make your home less accessible to them, keep house-hugging shrubs trimmed. Move mulch away from the foundation. Don't stack firewood against the house, and inspect fireplace logs for hitchhiking insects before bringing them in. Inside, keep floors and other surfaces clean and free of possible food sources.

Fall also is the time when mice seek warmer shelter and a guaranteed food supply. The tiny rodents cause damage with their gnawing and spoil food supplies with the droppings. Agile climbers, they can scale vertical surfaces, such as trees and brick walls, scamper across pipes and power lines and squeeze through holes as small as a fourth of an inch in diameter.

Dark, grain-sized droppings in cabinets and drawers are a sign that mice are in the house. Hoarded food piles and nests of shredded paper or cloth are further evidence.

Again, prevention is the best control. Seal all entries into the house. Steel wool stuffed firmly into a small opening makes a good temporary barrier against mice. It's also helpful to limit their potential food sources. Store pet food and bird seed in sealed containers, and clean up spills immediately.

If mice are already entrenched in your house, set traps in areas where the are active--along walls and on ledges. Bait the traps with peanut butter, bacon, or milk chocolate.Then check the trap daily to dispose of the catch and to renew the bate.

Poison-based baits are not recommended for homes. They present a danger to children, and dead mice may end up behind walls or under floors.

Announcement: Compost demonstration brochures are available at the extension office.

Maryland Crop Production Down

The September forecast for both corn and soybean production in Maryland is reduced from earlier expectations.

Based on September 1 conditions, the corn for grain crop is expected to average 105 bushels per acre compared to the August forecast of 110 bushels and the 1994 average of 118 bushels. Precipitation since the first of August has been virtually non-existent in many areas of the state, and temperatures have been unseasonably warm. Soybean development has also been adversely affected by the above normal temperatures and moisture shortages. Soybeans are forecast to average 33 bushels per acre across the state based on the outlook on September 1. This yield, if realized, is three bushels below the 36 bushels per acre produced in 1994. Based on current yield expectations, production of grain corn in the state will amount to 39.9 million bushels. Lower yields and reduced acreage planted to corn both contribute to the reduced output. The corn crop will be down 13 percent from 1994. Soybean production in Maryland will total 17.8 million bushels if current conditions prevail. This output is down 10 percent from 1994 levels.

Corn for grain production in the United States, as of September 1, is forecast at 7.83 billion bushels, 22 percent below the record high 1994 production. The U.S. average yield per acre is expected to be 121.1 bushels per acre. Soybean production is forecast at 2.28 billion bushels, down 11 percent from 1994 record levels. Yield is expected to be 37.0 bushels per acre. This yield is down 4.9 bushels from 1994. Small grains produced in Maryland fared well. Development of these crops was accompanied by adequate moisture and normal temperatures. A complete report of the final results of the small grain harvest will be available on September 29.

CONSERVATION AWARDS AT COUNTY FAIR -- The Garrett Soil Conservation District sponsors a Conservation Exhibit Award each year to encourage 4-H and FFA clubs to consider conservation as the theme for their club exhibits at the Garrett County Fair. The effort is to instill in club members a sense of good resource stewardship and land use ethics. It helps them to become more aware of the benefits of practicing sound conservation principles. The following clubs were selected as winners of the Soil Conservation Awards at the 1995 Garrett County Fair: Country Kids 4-H Club, first; North Glade 4-H Club, second; and North Star 4-H Club, third. KEEP A WATCH ON YOUR SILO!

Each year we have two or three silo fires in the area. I think this year we have increased the potential for silo fires. Due to the dry weather conditions our crops dried down faster than expected; therefore, some of the forage crops may have gone into the silo a little drier than desired. In the conventional silo, the danger point of fire is when the moisture level approaches 50% or less. During the fermentation process, there is considerable heat produced. It is the job of the water in the forage to keep the heat under control. If the water is not available, there is potential of a fire. Also, the practice of putting corn silage on top of haylage can increase the incident of fires.

At this time of the year, there are hundreds of articles published warning farm families of the danger of silo gases. So many times we take these warnings lightly. The most dangerous point of silo gases is that low level exposure may cause any discomfort at the time you come in contact with the gas. Later, a person's lungs could fill with fluid causing quick death. If you smell a bleach-like odor, get out of the area fast. Check the base of the silo for dead flies and sometimes dead birds that have become exposed to the gases. In any case, make sure you use common sense in and around the silo. Use protective equipment when entering the silo.

ARE YOU TEMPTED TO CUT THE ALFALFA?

If you're tempted -- think about something else. Delay that last cutting until we have had a real hard frost. Those alfalfa plants have been working real hard storing up food in their roots for winter survival and to get off to a good start next spring. If you mow off the plant it may start to make regrowth using the stored food from the roots. Also, that young, tender new growth is very susceptible to frost damage. Be patient, we'll have frost soon.

THREE NEW STRAWBERRY VARIETIES

There are three new strawberry cultivars that appear to be very good. They were developed at Beltsville, Maryland and will be released this spring. They are called Mohawk, Northeaster, and Delmarvel. All three are early-maturing and disease resistant. In June, the plants produce firm, tasty fruit for shipping as well as for local fresh markets. Delmarvel appears best adapted to the Mid-Atlantic region. Northeaster is suited for frozen as well as fresh markets, and its name tells where in the U.S. it should grow well.

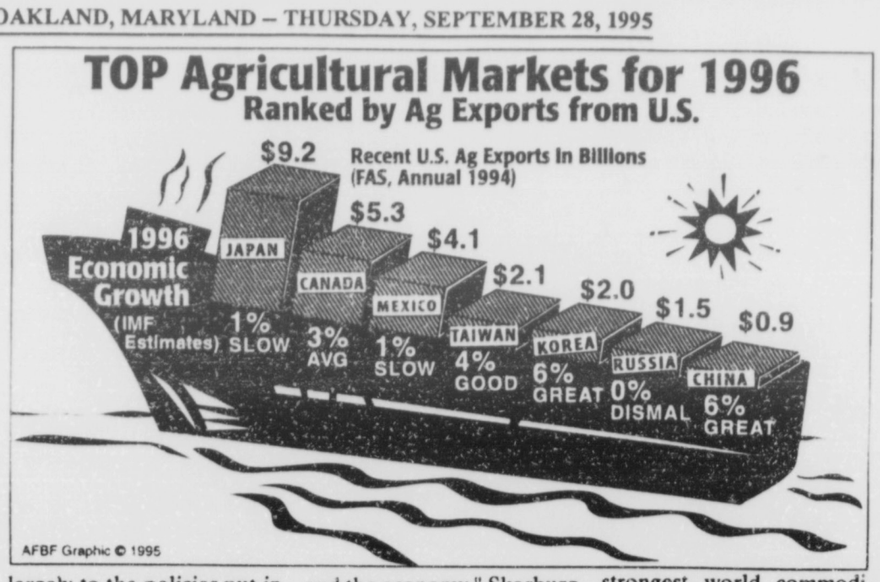
U.S. Ag Trade Prospects May Be Uneven in 1996



The projected economic weakness of several traditional U.S. agricultural trading partners could translate into an uneven market for the U.S. farm exports in 1996, according to the American Farm Bureau Federation.

The International Monetary Fund (IMF) recently projected favorable worldwide economic growth of about 2.5 percent for the next year. However, the U.S agricultural trade picture could be clouded by the economic weakness of two top trading partners--Japan and Mexico, according to John Skorburg, senior economist and trade specialist for AFBF.

"Since these two nations are already in economic difficulty, expect the road for the U.S. agricultural trade there to remain bumpy for the foreseeable future," Skorburg said. "There will, however, be some bright spots to help take up the slack,"

In North America, he said, the United States and Canada are projected to grow slightly faster than the world average, keeping demand high. The same holds true for most of the European Union. In the Far East, the emerging nations--China, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Malaysia, the Philippines, Singapore, South Korea, Taiwan and Thailand--continue to sparkle.

"The Asian nations are the potential star markets for 1996 that could be wide open for world trade," Skorburg said. "That will be especially true if there is strict adherence to NMAFTA and GATT implementation."

On the downside, Skorburg cautions against counting on increased U.S. farm exports to Mexico, Japan, Russia, Venezuela, and Turkey.

"These economies are still in differing states of economic turmoil and may continue to be tough trading markets for American farmers and ranchers during the next calendar year," he said.

Current conditions in Mexico include a second quarter decline in real growth of more than 10 percent, coupled with an inflation rate of around 40 percent.

"Ahyperinflation-depression is in process thanks largely to the policies put in place by the IMF," Skorburg said. "We assume that their world economic projections are better than their policy prescriptions."

Mexico's economic condition, coupled with a much cheaper peso and more expensive U.S. dollar, have made trade difficult for American farmers. Until Mexico can stabilize its monetary and fiscal policies, this predicament will continue, Skorburg added.

Russia's economy continues to cope with hyperinflation as well. First quarter growth was down five percent as inflation continues to rise at a 300 percent annual rate. The IMF noted that this is "disappointing progress." According to Skorburg, Russia's economy cannot sustain consistent growth until a stable currency is achieved.

This leaves Japan as the most noted industrialized casualty for 1996. Japan's economy is expected to grow less than one percent this year and be hit by price declines.

"This no growth/low price trend has placed extreme pressure on the Japanese financial services sector--including the stock market and banks," Skorburg said. "There are reports that the Japanese stock market is currently down 54 percent from its record high. Given that Japanese banks invest heavily in the market, it is no wonder that they too are in trouble."

According to Skorburg, many public policy experts say the economy in Japan needs a real economic stimulus from its government--something it won't soon receive.

"The Japanese government is not yet ready to make the necessary choices, such as trade easements that would generally improve consumer confidence and the economy," Skorburg said. "short-term agricultural trade with the U.S. is not likely to suffer, since Japanese consumers still have solid incomes and the yen is still relatively strong. A sustained period of economic turmoil, however, could hurt agricultural imports late in 1996 or early 1997."

Apart from Japan, the Far East will continue to be the American farmer's best trade prspect. Coarse grains, oilseeds and wheat will continue to be the strongest world commodities for the United States with fruits and vegetables not far behind.

Overall, the AFBF trade specialist said the economics of the world are performing at less than optimal levels due to tax, trade and regulatory policies that create more barriers than growth. With lower taxes, less regulations and fairer trade, he explained, world growth would be consistently between three to four percent and even more beneficial to American farmers.

Study Shows That Crop Protectants Don't Perc

Recent results from a new environmental study by the federal government have good news for farmers in the eastern U.S., according to an article in the September issue of Southern States' Cooperative Farmer magazine.

While traces of crop protectants are showing up in some surface water samples in the Albemarle-Pamlico watershed, "Groundwater sites had significantly fewer detections and very low concentrations," according to the National Water Quality Assessment Program (NAWQA) area chief, U.S. Geological Survey hydrologist Tim Spruill. "Even though it may be only five feet to water or less, and even though it's known that the pesticides are used, they rarely show up at detectable concentrations in groundwater.

"This is kind of surprising; I think a lot of people thought that if you put these (crop protectants) on the ground they must percolate right through, but the southeastern United States is kind of unique in a beneficial way. The soil is highly organic and it has a lot of potential to absorb the material," he explained.

Started in 1991, the NAWQA program is looking over 60 of the nation's largest and most important watersheds, including most major river basins and aquifer systems. The nationwide study will eventually check 70 percent of the country's water use.

The North Carolina-Virginia study Spruill headed is one of 20 units in the research's initial phase. It covers an area of 27,000 square miles which is home to 3.2 million people. While only five percent is developed, half of the area is forested, 30 percent is in agriculture, and 15 percent is wetland. That no severe problem has been found from fertilizers and crop protection products is very good news for crop producers.

Indeed, groundwater in the watershed is much cleaner than many geologists -- and many more farm critics -- imagined.

"As far as nitrate and nutrients to -- and primarily we concentrated on nitrates because most people are familiar with at least some of the potential problems -- the southeast is also in a beneficial situation in that the environment itself tends to mitigate some of the effects of the fertilizer applications," Spruill noted.

"When you have fertilizer applied to the tune of maybe 100 pounds per acre of more -- which is similar to what is applied to corn and soybeans out in the Midwest -- we do not have very high concentrations in general. We have less than a tenth of a part per million of nitrate as our average concentration, even under (working) fields. It's very low," he noted.

"Where we looked at wells that were dug in undeveloped areas where there is no targeted land use, versus those areas that had wells placed under fields where corn and soybeans are cultivated, we found no difference in the nitrate concentrations," he said. "That's good news for groundwater."

Meanwhile, a University of Maryland-USDA study of the environmental fate of chemicals seems to indicate that no-till farming -- which requires herbicides to kill the ground cover that holds top soil in place -- is not a threat to groundwater. While herbicides seemed to show up more quickly in samples taken one meter below the surface of no-till fields at the Southern Maryland research facility near Upper Mariboro, the chemicals all but disappeared at two meters down.

"You can actually have no-till systems which allow the pesticide to move quickly through old root channels and worm holes and things like that and get down to the (first) samplings very quickly," according to Dr. Tim Gish, a USDA hydrologist involved in the study.

"So you think no-till is bad for water quality. Here we find a different scenario. What happens is that while the water may Initially move more rapidly, the organisms and the carbon sources break that compound down," he said. "In conventional tillage situations, the water moves more slowly, but pesticides are not broken down nearly as fast."

While saying how the NAWQA data is used will be up to others, Spruill suggested how regulators might view the results.

"For example, you might consider a ban on some pesticide or fertilizer; without the information to support that kind of action, (a ban) may not be all that useful.

"Each of the 60 study units in the NAWQA is designed to start with a period of high-intensity sampling. The amount of monitoring is scaled down for a period of five or six years and then they scale up again," he explained. "The idea is to keep a continuous monitoring of what is going on in the environment, biologically and chemically.

"We try to get this information out as soon as we can so that people can use it, particularly farmers or municipalities. This program is important in that it provides a lot of information that has never really been provided on a large scale before. It is one thing to talk about a potential problem, but then to go out and measure something, and to have data in your hand saying, yes, we did find it, or, no, we didn't -- I think that's a big step."

Gail Herman To Head Storytelling Class At GCC, SHS

A creative storytelling course designed for education majors, recreation majors, Head Start professionals, elementary teachers, childcare workers, and grandparents will be taught by Dr. Gail Herman on Wednesdays, from 3:45-4:45 p.m., beginning Oct. 4 in the interactive video labs at the McHenry campus of Garrett Community College, and Southern High School.

According to Dr. Herman, students at both locations will be able to interact with one another as they explore the telling of folk and family stories to be used in the classroom, place of business, or even around the campfire.

The course may be taken for one college credit, or as a non-credit offering. Registration is still open, and further information may be obtained by calling the Student Assistance Center at 387-3044, or the Continuing Education office at 387-3069. Tuition will be waived for persons 60 years of age or older.

RENEW Events Underway At RC Churches

The third of five multi-week sessions of the RENEW spiritual growth program is currently underway in local Roman Catholic churches, with sign-up weeks for the semester titled "Empowerment by the Spirit" at St. Peter the Apostle Church in Oakland, Immaculate Conception Church in Kitzmiller, and the gathering of Catholics and friends in the McHenry United Methodist Church.

The on-going segment of the program, designed to help parishioners "become more committed and more open to God," will begin October 8.

The new leadership for RENEW, under the direction of Mary Wachter, is busy developing new small study groups as well as renewing those from past sessions. The group design can include single individuals, couples, teens, widowed and/or divorced persons, and senior citizens.

Nationally, over 100 dioceses have gone through the RENEW process, Wachter said, which has increased parish involvement by 13 percent.

The commitment for participants is one meeting per week for six weeks. Groups meet at various times, such as in the evenings, during the daytime hours, on Sunday mornings after church services. Times vary to accommodate as many participants as possible.

"One does not have to be Catholic to enjoy the fellowship of the group activities," Mrs. Wachter said. Persons of all denominations are invited to call her at 746-7025 for more information about the program.

EARLY LEARNERS - Garrett County children between the ages of two and four were the main audience at two recent School Readiness Fairs. Grantsville Elementary School hosted a fair on Sept. 9 featuring numerous agencies and community members to educate and entertain visiting children and their parents. A fair was held on Sept. 16 at Broad Ford Elementary School. Pictured above, Lara Beitzel tries her hand at the 5-A-Day bean-bag toss with Community Outreach Team member Pam Braskey. The game is intended to remind children to eat five servings of fruits and vegetables daily. Pictured below, Keith Spiker creates a tower of building blocks as Carol Bass of the Garrett County Health Department watches. During the fairs, health department workers provided information tables on immunization, highway and bicycle safety, nutrition and healthy snacks, home safety, tobacco use prevention, and child development.

Computer Literacy Course Offered

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College will offer a Computer Literacy course on Thursday evenings beginning October 12. The class will meet for six sessions through November 16 from 6:45 to 9:30 p.m. at the McHenry Campus.

The course is designed to teach the basic concepts in order to understand and use the microcomputer. The course will include microcomputer terms loading and saving programs, basic language, work processing, and information about types of microcomputers available on the market.

Enrollment is limited. For additional information and registration, persons may contact the Continuing Education Division at 387-3069.

Read. Then Recycle.

Registration Still Available For GCC Computer Courses

Several courses in the new recently approved Computer Applications Certificate program at Garrett Community College are still open for registration this fall semester, according to a college spokesperson. Formal approval of the program as a Directed Technology Certificate was recently received from the Maryland Higher Education Commission.

The program contains courses designed to train students in various computer applications for specific business needs or interests. Courses have been scheduled during late afternoons, evenings and weekends at different times during the fall semester for the convenience of the business community. Courses that have not yet started are open for registration.

Computerized Database: Microsoft Access (CA 186) is offered Monday and Wednesday evenings from 6:30 - 9:30 during the month of November, beginning Nov. 1. Integrated Computer Applications: Microsoft Office (CA 260) is offered on Fridays, Dec. 1 and 8, from 5-10 p.m., and on Saturdays, Dec. 2 and 9, from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m.

Personal Computer Operating Systems MS/PC DOS (CA 112) will be given on Fridays, Nov. 3 and 10 from 5-10 p.m., and Saturdays, Nov. 4 and 11, from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. Computerized Spreadsheets (CA 184) will be offered on Mondays and Wednesdays from 6:30-9:30 p.m. during October, beginning Oct. 4.

Each of these courses can be taken for two college credits or as a non-credit offering, the spokesperson said. Students may register at the Student Assistance Center, 387-3044, or at the Continuing Education office, 387-3069.

In addition to these computer application courses, the Internet workshops scheduled for Sept. 29 and Oct. 6 are still open for registration. On both dates, two introductory sessions are scheduled, from 8:30 a.m. until noon, and from 5:30-9 p.m., and one Doing Business on the Internet, from 1-4:30 p.m. Interested persons may call 387-3069 for further information.

CAC Seeking Youth Interested In Babysitting

The Community and Emergency Services Department of Garrett County Community Action Committee, in conjunction with the Beacon Project, is searching for Garrett County students age 13-18 who are interested in participating in a babysitting project, titled "Operation Child Care."

Fifteen students will be selected for the program through an application and interview process. Those students will then be enrolled in a child care class sponsored by Garrett Community College.

C&E Services will pay for the cost of tuition and a small transportation stipend. In exchange, each member of "Operation Child Care" will be asked to volunteer a minimum of 30 hours of time for the Head Start program, participate in an evaluation process weekly, keep a journal, and attend team building activities.

"Our goal is to inspire students to explore the personal enrichment of volunteerism while they are learning a valuable skill that will prepare them for a particular community service need," said Linda Green, director of C&E Services.

Assignment of "Operation Child Care" members to particular volunteer sites will be by preference of each member from among the six Head Start centers. These centers are located in Accident, Crellin, Friendsville, Jennings, Kitzmiller, and Oakland.

Karen Ray, of the Garrett County Board Of Education advises that the 30 hours of volunteer time in the Head Start centers will count toward Service Learning hours, a necessary requirement for graduation.

"One of the pluses of 'Operation Child Care' is that it will provide an excellent environment for students to experience the child care setting first hand. For this reason, it is our hope that students who are interested in a career in a field that involves child care will seriously consider applying to the program," Green said.

Students accepted to and completing all aspects of the "Operation Child Care" program will be awarded a certificate.

Applications can be obtained from the C&E Services Department located at the Garrett Community Action Center, 104 E. Center Street, Oakland, or persons may contact Tina Sumpter or Jeannie Frazee at: 334-9431 ex: 118 to receive an application in the mail.

The deadline to apply is October 20 at 4:30 p.m.

AURORA/EGLON NEWS

ZION QUARTET

The Zion Quartet from Tucker County will present an evening of song Sunday, at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren beginning at 7 p.m. The public is invited.

TO CELEBRATE

The 50th wedding anniversary of Stanley and Eloise (Fike) Harsh of Amboy will be celebrated Sunday, October 1, with an open house at the Aurora fire hall from 2 until 4 p.m. Their children and their families invite all to attend, or bring or send a card, but to please omit gifts.

IN APPRECIATION

Union Ambulance Service notes its appreciation to Clyde Harsh for making the oak glider which was recently used for a successful fund-raiser. It was won by Dick Knotts of Horse Shoe Run.

They also noted that several persons have made recent donations in memory of Tiney Wotring and Elmer "Pete" Stemple.

HOMEMAKERS MEET

"Heritage Night" was the theme of the September 19 meeting held in the home of Delores Douglas by the Aurora Extension Homemakers. For devotions the hostess read, "What Will You Give?" and she followed devotions with the lesson, "Putting Pizazz in Your Organization." For the fun activity, each member was asked to bring a picture of herself as a baby and these were passed for identification.

The club has postponed the purchase of a sign for the town billboard until after Fall Conference when a vote on name change for the organization is taken. The Buckwheat exhibit has been completed and the club will be selling car tickets at the festival. County Craft Day is October 24 at 1 and at 6 p.m. at St. Sebastian's Catholic Church, Kingwood, and Achievement Day will be held November 30 in the Kingwood Community Building, with registration at 9:30 a.m. Fall Conference at Jackson's Mill is October 10-12. A county-wide Christmas party is planned for December 8.

The craft committee asked each member to make items to be sold at the November 4 Christmas Bazaar sponsored by the Rebekahs. Deloris Slawter and Ruby Kemphfer each had 500 volunteer hours to report.

Martha Bolyard was elected president; Delores Douglas, vice president; Opal Myers, secretary; and Ressie Conrad, treasurer. A Homemaker of the Year will be selected at the October meeting.

Mrs. Douglas displayed a friendship quilt, made in 1932 and belonging to her grandmother, Jessie Elsey, as her special feature. She used silver and china belonging to her aunt, Lucy Elsey Park, to serve refreshments to the 11 members present.

The October 17 meeting will be held at the home of Anita Lantz.

Pain Relievers: Aspirin Alternatives

Aspirin is one of the most useful all-purpose nonprescription pain relievers available. The drug has been used in the U.S. for almost 100 years to reduce fever, inflammation, and pain. The biggest drawback is the gastrointestinal upset many people experience when they take plain aspirin. Adding burrers and special coating to aspirin tablets eliminates the upset stomach for many persons. But there are other limitations to the use of aspirin. The drug should not be used by persons who have a history of a bleeding disorder, ulcers, asthma, or uncontrolled high blood pressure. Sometimes an alternative to aspirin is a better choice:

Acetaminophen: Although this medicine does not provide faster or better pain relief, it is easier on the stomach and reduces fever in children without the risk of Rye's syndrome.

Naproxen: This nonsteroidal antiinflammatory drug is especially useful for the pain and inflammation of arthritis.

Ibuprofen: This medicine is considered beneficial for the pain associated with toothache and menstrual cramps. Ibuprofen is frequently prescribed for the pain that occurs following dental surgery.

The Zions To Be At Maple Spring Church

The Zions, a gospel group, will be at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren on Sunday, Oct. 1, at 7 p.m.

A free-will offering will be taken that evening, according to Daniel A. Hammel, pastor.

Two Computers Donated To TA Public Library

Maurice Rafferty, Alpine Lake, recently purchased and donated two Zenith computers to the Terra Alta Public Library.

Byron Sines will install the computers in the library, and library staff are currently developing a time-sharing system for patrons wanting to use the computers.

BOOK SALE

The library will hold a book sale from Oct. 31 through Nov. 10. Children's and adults' fiction and nonfiction books will be available for purchase at prices ranging from $.10 to $3.00. The library's 10th annual Book Out event will be held Nov. 13.

FILM DAYS

The library will show film strips and movies on Wednesdays, and a schedule of topics and titles can be obtained at the library. Film schedules will also be displayed on posters in local schools and in local newspaper listings. Classes or groups may contact the library to request that a special film or movie be shown.

BORROWING POLICY

According to a new policy recently adopted by Terra Alta Library Board of Trustees, all new and current library patrons age 17 or younger must present the signature of a parent or guardian to obtain a borrower's card. Also, each patron will be asked to read and sign a borrower's agreement.

Also, the fine for late books has been raised to $.10 for each library business day the late book is kept past its due date.

"This policy is protection for the patron as well as the library," a library spokesperson stated. "The rising cost in new reading material for our patrons can be kept down to a minimum with the return of all material coming back in on time."

DONATIONS

Patrons recently donating books or magazines to the library have been Mary McLaughlin, Lori Himelrick, Eve Rafferty, Barb McCartney, Judy Huffman, and Angie Freeland.

Annual Bike Race Among Festival's Sunday Activities

For several years, the Heritage Day Classic Bike Race has been an adjunct to the Buckwheat Festival's Sunday activities. This year's race is host to the culmination of the Mountain State Road Series, according to a spokesperson for the event.

Organized two years ago, the Mountain State Road Series consists of 12 races. Bikers will use their best cumulative scores from six of the 12 events to vie for the series awards.

The route of the Heritage Day Classic promises to be an interesting one, with an uphill finish, the spokesperson said. Racers start at Preston High School, Rt. 26, just outside of Kingwood. From there they will be escorted to the bottom of Caddell Mountain, where the race actually begins.

The racers will take Rt. 72 into Rowlesburg and through town, then back to Kingwood, up Showerbath Road to Rt. 26, and then back to the entrance to Preston High. The course makes for a demanding mile-and-a-half uphill finish, the spokesperson added.

At post race ceremonies, Heritage Day Classic prizes will be awarded to the top three female, and the top three male finishers in numerous age classes. Cash prizes are awarded to the top three qualifiers in the expert class. This year an added bonus will be awarded to the first racer to reach the Scott Ford Mercury Sprint Spot, an area designated on the course, thus providing a "race within a race."

Seneca Rocks Trip Planned

"Walking the Backbone of the Earth: The Mystique of Seneca Rocks" is the fall excursion of the Frostburg State University English department's Sacred Geography Series. This field trip will take place on Saturday, October 14, and will be led by Dr. Eira Patnaik, professor of mythology at Frostburg State University, and Jack Slocomb, adjunct faculty in environmental education at the University of Maryland System's Appalachian Environmental Laboratory.

The program will focus on mythology, geology, and ecology related to the Seneca Rocks region as well as to the autumn season of the year. Patnaik will share legends, myths, and stories of many cultures, and Slocomb will offer complementary natural science commentary.

"Seneca Rocks is a spectacular landmark which embodies the raw and wild spirit of the Ridge and Valley region of the Allegheny Mountains," Slocomb said. "American Indians established village sites and a trading center there as long as 8,000 years ago, perhaps because of the inspiring view. The stark geology of Seneca Rocks offers the visitor an 'inside view,' of mountain building processes which began over 600 million years ago, as well as provides a unique and wonderful outdoor classroom for learning about the ecology of the Alleghenies.

Participants are to meet at Denny's Restaurant in Keyser, W.Va., at 9 a.m. on Oct. 14. After breakfast, the group will proceed to Seneca Rocks and climb the trail to the crest. At the summit, Patnaik and Slocomb will conduct an outdoor learning experience which will weave mythology and legends together with regional ecology and geology.

Following the walk, participants will view a film at the Seneca Rocks Visitor's Center about Seneca Rocks and the Allegheny Mountains. The group will then eat supper at the Front Porch Restaurant, located at the Mouth of Seneca.

The cost of the trip is $12. Breakfast and dinner are not included. Participants should bring their own lunches and dress appropriately for the season. Hiking shoes or boots are recommended. The walk is moderately stressful, but rest stops will be made as needed. Children are welcome, but those under 18 year of age must be accompanied by a responsible adult. Teachers who are interested in developing interdisciplinary learning activities which link humanities and sciences are especially welcome to attend.

To register, persons may send a check or money order for $12 to Dr. Eira Patnaik, 76 Locust Street, Frostburg, Maryland 21532. For further information, persons may call Patnaik at 301-689-5187 or Slocomb at 301-777-8810. Reservations will not be confirmed, so registrants should call if they wish confirmation.

QUILT TO BE AWARDED -- Mineral County Extension Homemaker and Quilt Show Chairperson Grace Staggs displays the door prize quilt to be given away at the Burlington Old-Fashioned Apple Harvest Festival, to be held this Saturday, Sept. 30, and Sunday, Oct. 1. A variety of handmade quilts will be displayed throughout the festival. Visitors to the show will be registered for the door prize quilt to be drawn from the one-dollar admission tickets. The door prize was quilted in the monkey-wrench pattern by area homemakers. Homemaker Priscilla Suter pieced the quilt top in deep red and brown calico reminiscent of the dark coloring of Amish style quilts. The Apple Harvest Festival grounds will be open from 10 a.m. until dark Saturday and from noon until dark Sunday.

Beacons Slated To Perform At Corinth Church

The Beacons, a Southern gospel singing group based in New Creek, will perform at the Pentecostal Holiness Church, Corinth, on Sunday, Oct. 8, at 7 p.m.

Members of The Beacons include Kevin and Petula Staggs, Denny and Carla Brown, and the Brown's son Ryan. The group has recorded six albums of music on cassette. The latest one, titled In His Name, was recorded at R&R Studios, Fairchance, Pa.

Rev. Rex R. Coffman, pastor of the church, has announced that the public is welcome at this event.

Read. Then Recycle.

NOTICE OF HEARING

The Garrett County Board of Education will hold a public hearing regarding the staff recommendations for the FY 1997 Capital Improvement Program. This hearing will be held Wednesday, Oct. 4, in the planetarium classroom at the Board of Education Office in Oakland and will begin at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

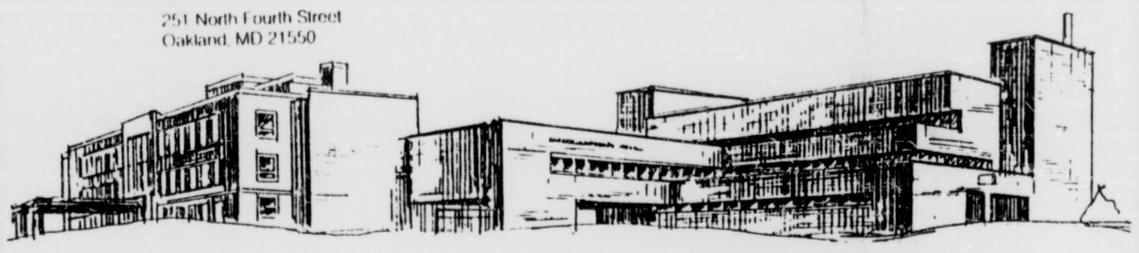
HELP YOUR HOSPITAL

GARRETT COUNTY MEMORIAL HOSPITAL FOUNDATION

251 North Fourth Street
Oakland, MD 21550



An Invitation To Join Partners in Health

Garrett County Memorial Hospital was founded by people whose vision included a high quality medical facility capable of meeting the healthcare needs of its community. To assist in this goal, the GCMH Foundation was created. Since its organization in 1988, the Foundation has shared a commitment to this vision.

There will always be a shortfall between what the hospital is able to generate through its state-controlled funding mechanism and the ever-increasing costs of delivering high quality health care.

That's Where We Come In!

All gifts to the Foundation help provide the necessary funds for acquisition of vital equipment and development of new services needed to keep pace with rapid advancements in health care.

Here's Where You Come In!

Partners in Health membership fee is $100.00 or more per family. This membership is renewable on an annual basis. Membership benefits include:

- A special reception each year in your honor
- Invitations to a series of lectures on health care and related topics
- Annual recognition gift
- Placement of each member's name on the Wall of Honor in the hospital's lobby
- Subscription to the Foundation Forum, our quarterly newsletter
- Invitations to special events sponsored by Partners in Health and the Foundation

The greatest benefit of membership is, of course, the deep sense of pride in having done your part in helping our community achieve our goal of quality health care for all.

Buckwheat Fest. Lamb Dressing Set For Friday

The Preston County Buckwheat Festival's annual lamb dressing contest, slated for Friday, Sept. 29, at 4:30 p.m., will be held on the Central Preston Junior High School football field this year to accommodate the large crowd of spectators expected to gather to watch local youths put comedic costumes on indignant lambs.

The popular contest, in which teams of young people attempt to dress often-uncooperative lambs in humorous costumes, has been held during past years in the festival's Cow Palace. However, in response to increasing attendance, the contest site has been moved across the fairgrounds to the CPJHS athletic field.

Competitors design their lamb costumes to conform with the contest theme, which is different each year. This year's theme is "Famous Women."

During a recent festival when the contest centered around a rhyme theme, the winning team dressed its lamb as a golfer and called the creation "Puttin' Mutton." Another year, when the theme was "Famous Dogs," the four team members dressed themselves as characters from The Wizard of Oz and the lamb as Toto.

In the event of rain, the lamb dressing contest will be held in the Cow Palace.

Admission to the contest is free.

The festival officially gets underway tonight in Kingwood, and will conclude on Sunday. (For a complete schedule of festival events, see the special advertising supplement in the A section of this week's Republican.)

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Navy Petty Officer Second Class Gary A. Baker, son of Steven W. Baker, Terra Alta, W.Va., has departed for a six-month overseas deployment while serving aboard the amphibious assault ship U.S.S. Wasp, which is the lead ship of the U.S.S. Wasp Amphibious Ready Group (ARG).

Baker is one of more than 2,000 sailors and marines aboard the ship, which departed Norfolk, Va. Equipped with a Marine landing force, helicopters, Harrier attack jets, high-speed assault hovercraft, armored vehicles, and landing craft, the Wasp will provide area commanders with a wide range of capabilities.

Baker spent the past year training for a variety of situations the group may encounter during the deployment. The sailors and marines are replacing the U.S.S. Kearsarge ARG, which had been operating in the Mediterranean and Adriatic seas near Bosnia-Herzegovina.

Baker will travel approximately 25,000 miles during the six-month voyage and will spend a majority of his time at sea. He will work with various foreign military units as they train in combined exercises.

A 1989 graduate of East Preston High School, Baker is married to Julie Lewis Baker, daughter of Thomas and Linda Lewis, Eglon, W.Va. Baker joined the U.S. Navy in September 1990.

U.S. Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Bryan C. Hoffman, son of Carl C. and LaDonna D. Hoffman, Route 1, Terra Alta, W.Va., is currently halfway through a six-month overseas deployment to the Persian Gulf aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Vella Gulf.

Hoffman is one of 415 sailors aboard the ship who departed Norfolk, Va., in June for the trip to the Middle East. So far, Hoffman has traveled approximately 15,000 miles and has been helping enforce the no-fly zone over Southern Iraq. Using its sophisticated air tracking radar, Hoffman's ship has controlled fighter jets from the aircraft carrier USS Abraham Lincoln and has tracked other friendly aircraft operating over the southern part of Iraq. Hoffman and fellow shipmates also have been working in support of the ongoing maritime interception operations designed to prevent ships from smuggling prohibited materials to and from Iraq. So far, Hoffman's ship has stopped and searched several vessels suspected of transporting contraband.

While spending most of the deployment at sea, Hoffman and fellow sailors have also visited Bahrain, Israel, Spain and the United Arab Emirates. While in Dubai, United Arab Emirates, sailors from Hoffman's ship volunteered their free time to repaint classrooms at a local school. In Haifa, Israel, Hoffman and fellow sailors delivered medical and health supplies to a local orphanage.

Hoffman also served in the recent mobilization exercise designed to show support for Jordan, Kuwait and Saudi Arabia. The exercise was conducted as a prudent response to Iraqi aggression in the area, and involved the rapid deployment of thousands of U.S. men and women from all branches of the service.

Hoffman's ship is one of the Navy's newest high-tech combatant ships and is equipped with sophisticated radar, sonar, weapons and communications systems. USS Vella Gulf also has two helicopters which can be used for long distance ocean reconnaissance, search and rescue or anti-submarine warfare. With its Tomahawk cruise missiles, USS Vella Gulf provides a formidable forward presence in the Middle East and is capable of traveling nearly 700 miles a day.

The 1987 graduate of Central Preston Senior High School of Kingwood, joined the Navy in July 1990.

FRANTZ VOWS

Donnie and Heather Beckman Frantz renewed their marriage vows before family and friends in a formal ceremony conducted by the Rev. Daniel Hammel on Saturday, September 23, at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren.

The bride is the daughter of Vickie Beckman, Baltimore, who presented her daughter for the ceremony, and of Richard Beckman Sr. of Swanton. Donnie is the son of Donald Sr. and Neva Frantz of Eglon. The couple resides in Dover, Del., where he is assigned to Dover AFB.

Attending the bride was her cousin, Jenny Beckman, and bridesmaids, Melissa Frantz, Angie Berg, and Jeannie Lucas. The best man was the groom's brother, Melvin Frantz, and Mark Harsh, Don Berg, and Robbie Frantz served as groomsmen. Carroll Joe Hartsell was an usher.

Allen Hartsell was the ring bearer, and Lori Frantz, the flower girl.

Mary Norwish provided pre- and post-nuptial music at the organ. Krista Nayes and Brenda Hartsell sang You're My Inspiration and The Lord's Prayer with Mrs. Hartsell singing, The Colour of My Love.

A reception in the church social room followed the ceremony.

PERSONAL MENTION

Donnie, Heather, and Wyatt Frantz of Dover, Del., were guests this weekend of his parents, Don and Neva Frantz, Melvin and Missy, at Eglon.

Ruth Rogers of Ohio and her daughter, Beth Rogers, of Waukegan, Ill., were guests last week of Hilda Frantz, Eglon. Mrs. Rogers was brought here last weekend by Neva Frantz and Rose Ina Harsh to coordinate the wedding and renewal of vows for Donnie and Heather Frantz and was joined on Thursday by her daughter. They returned Sunday to their homes.

Eldean Poling, Wilda Harsh, and Pat Stemple, all local, joined Dan and Elaine Stemple of Morgantown and seven others from that area for a trip to Charlotte, N.C., where they attended a Bennie Hinn Crusade Thursday and Friday last week. One of the 12 who made the trip was Carol Roth, wife of Dr. Jack Roth of Morgantown and formerly of this area.

Mrs. Dee Kight was taken from her Silver Lake home to Garrett County Memorial Hospital last Friday morning where she remains a patient for tests and observation.

Bonnie Douglas of Ashland, Ky., spent two days last week with her mother, Mrs. Maxine Hauser, Stemple Ridge.

Cecil Lewis was transferred last week from the Clarksburg VA Hospital to Dennett Road Manor nursing home in Oakland.

Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Winters, Eglon, were Jim and Lucille Saylor of Cumberland.

Recent guests of Roscoe and Ruth Teets, Eglon, and helping Mrs. Teets celebrate her September 19 birthday also, have been Maynard and Bonnie, Kirk, Anita and Becky, Mark, Chris, Jordan, Josh and Bethany Lantz, Aurora; Julie Adams, Oakland; Rick, Traci, Marissa and Zach Bachtel, Aurora; Jesse, Elsie and Charlie Harsh, Oakland, Bruce, Mary, Melinda, and Tracy Teets, John, Mary and Billy Allman, Chris and Sue Yost, Pastor Dan Hammel, Bessie and Barbara Heckert, Jane Harsh and Debbie Paugh, Ron and Avenell Parsons, Betty Bolyard and Flemmie Stultz.

Weekend guests of Lewis and Hazel Durst, Amboy, were their daughter and grandson, Carla and Travis Summers, of Morgantown.

Hobart and Betty Vought of Kearns, Utah, visited recently with Mrs. Vought's sister and brother-in-law, Joyce and Bill Dixon, Amboy, and with other area relatives and friends.

Floyd Bolyard of Lantz Ridge was returned last week to a Morgantown hospital when he encountered difficulties following a heart catheterization.

John Parsons, Dennis Wotring, and Wilma Rembold, all of Aurora, spent three days last week with Carl and Jan Shaffer at Grove City, Ohio. The men also attended an agricultural equipment fair while there.

Weekend guests of Homer and Marguerite Myers in Aurora were Mrs. Myers' niece and husband, Mary and Al Watson, Clinton, N.J.

Sharon Hammel of Eglon received word that her father, Harry Albright, is a patient for tests and observation in a Pennsylvania hospital.

BOOST FOR HOSPICE - Nanny's Day Care, Oakland, recently presented a financial contribution to Hospice of Garrett County. The funds were proceeds from a refreshment booth operated by Wendy Warnick, owner of the day care center, and her husband, Delmos. "This is one way we can help Hospice serve the terminally ill in Garrett County," Mrs. Warnick said. Accepting the check in the above photo from Mrs. Warnick, left, is Brenda Butscher, executive director of Hospice.

Accounting I For Small Business Begins Oct. 12

A class designed to help small business owners understand their financial position will be offered at the McHenry campus of Garrett Community College, beginning Oct. 12. The class, titled Accounting I, will meet for five consecutive Thursday evenings. It is designed for those who do the bookkeeping and accounting for small businesses.

Participants in the class will learn about the fundamentals of accounting, effective problem solving techniques for accounting, and ways to develop and use financial statements. It will also cover various aspects of analyzing, classifying and recording transactions, and payroll and depreciation. The class will meet from 6:30 until 9:45 p.m. on Thursday evenings, from Oct. 12 through Nov. 9.

The classes will be taught by Rita Miske, who has earned degrees in accounting and management from Frostburg State University. She and her husband own and operate The Paintworks Store, Inc., located at the Dry Dock Plaza. Miske also provides personal accounting services to local businesses.

Persons wishing to register for this class, or those interested in additional information, may call Julie Yoder or Sandy Major in the Small Business Development Center at 387-3080. Registration may be made through the Continuing Education Division.

Wilt, Marple; Kuhn, Marple Wed In Combined Double-Ring Ceremony

During a double wedding ceremony, April 8, at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, Aurelia Werdebaugh Wilt and David M. Marple II, and Marjorie R. Kuhn and John Paul Marple were united in marriage. The Rev. Doyle Payne performed the pair of double ring ceremonies.

Aurelia is the daughter of Sheila Sweitzer and Harry Werdebaugh, both of Oakland. Marjorie is the daughter of Dave Kuhn, Cambridge, and the late Patricia Kuhn.

The grooms are the sons of John and Elaine Marple, Deep Creek Lake.

Organist for the ceremony was Cindy Carr. Jeff Kuhn on the guitar, and Linda Kuhn on the cello, were accompanied by Ms. Carr as they sang, Not Like You.

The brides, both wearing tea-length gowns, were escorted to the altar by their fathers. Each carried a cascading bouquet of white, pink and rose-colored flowers.

Serena Cedars and Kathleen Copus served as maids of honor. Bridesmaids were Amy Waddell, Johnna Carr, Dawn Tichnell, and Phyllis Furr. The attendants were attired in tea-length, rose-colored lace dresses.

John Paul and David served as each other's best man. Serving as groomsmen were John Kaylor, Jay Carr, Wesley Wilt, Jeremiah Wilt, Michael Lynagh, Scott Reed, John Dankulich, and Barry Livengood.

Guest book attendants were Ruchell Werdebaugh, Jeffrey Collins, and Larry and Melissa Miller.

A reception, held at Brodak's Private Mtn. Lake Resort, followed the ceremony. Janice Hutchinson and Nancy Covington cut and served the wedding cake. Music was provided by Dan Daniels, D.J. Videotaping the wedding and reception was Spencer Graham. Photographs were taken by Matthews Photography. Flowers for the wedding and reception were designed by Carol Cervi, McHenry.

John Paul and Marjorie honeymooned in Antigua, and David and Aurelia traveled to the Bahamas.

Aurelia is employed as a rehabilitation loan coordinator with Garrett County Community Action. David is a criminal investigator with the Maryland Natural Resources Police. They currently reside in Oakland.

Marjorie is employed by the National Institutes of Health as a secretary. John Paul works for Johns Hopkins Applied Physics Laboratory as an electrical engineer. They have established their home in Rockville.

Jackie Michaels, Gary Hawk Joined In Marriage Sept. 9

Jackie Lyn Michaels, daughter of Linda Gordon, Bayard, W.Va., and Gary Allen Hawk, son of DeWayne C. and Rebecca S. Hawk, Mt. Storm, W.Va., were married on Sept. 9 at the Mt. Storm United Methodist Church in a ceremony officiated by Rev. William E. Anderson.

The bride is a 1992 graduate of Southern High School. The groom is a 1988 graduate of Union High School, Mt. Storm, and is currently employed as a certified public accountant at the firm of Rodeheaver and Associates, Oakland.

Given in marriage and escorted to the altar by her brother, Sam Michaels II, the bride wore a white satin sheath gown with a fitted bodice; Queen Anne neckline; long sleeves with cutouts trimmed in lace, pearls, and sequins; and a keyhole back closure with dangling pearls. The semi-cathedral, detachable train also featured cut-outs.

Stephanie Henline, friend of the bride, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Evelyn Hawk and Diana Junkins, sisters of the groom. Flower girl was Ashley Rohrbaugh, friend of the bride.

Carl Hawk, brother of the groom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Jay Lunsford, friend of the groom, and Kenny Hawk, cousin of the groom. Ring bearer was Randy Junkins, nephew of the groom.

Julia Streets, Hartmansville, served as pianist.

The wedding cake was a three tiered satellite cake accented with a working fountain.

After a honeymoon in Warm Springs, Va., the couple took up residence in Mt. Storm.

Local Man Cited For Leaving Scene Of Car Accident

An Oakland man was cited by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office last week for allegedly leaving the scene of a one-vehicle car accident. Timothy J. Snyder, 28, was also ticketed for failure to control speed to avoid a collision.

Snyder apparently wrecked his 1985 Dodge at 2:30 a.m. at the intersection of Hoyes-Sang Run Road and Oakland-Sang Run Road, hitting a tree, a stop sign, and coming to a stop in a private yard. The vehicle was abandoned at that location, according to the report, and the sheriff's office was notified of it.

After a short investigation, Snyder was identified as the owner of the vehicle and was found at his residence. The officers noticed that he had facial injuries as well as cuts on his arms. He told officers that he had not known what to do about the accident and had simply gone home.

He was cited for the two traffic violations at that time, according to the report.

Sen. Hafer Named To Committee On Econ. Development

District 1 State Senator John J. Hafer has been appointed by Senate President Thomas V. "Mike" Miller to serve on the Joint Committee on State Economic Development Initiatives.

This committee will seek to explore what tools are available to improve the economic climate in Maryland, to maintain the businesses that currently operate in the state, and to attract more businesses to Maryland.

"I am pleased to be asked to participate with this very important joint committee as the state of the economy and economic development initiatives are critical to the future of Western Maryland," stated Hafer. "Casino gambling is not the answer. We need more viable economic opportunities conducive to safe family living for a better quality of life."

The first meeting of this committee, held Sept. 19, featured presentations by various speakers on Maryland's economy and economic development programs, including a comparison of Maryland's economic programs with those of other states.

The committee will conclude its agenda and provide recommendations to the General Assembly prior to the 1996 session.

Miller has also recommended to Governor Parris Glendening that Hafer be appointed as one of two senate representatives on the Task Force on Maryland's Dairy Industry.

Meet Garrett County's NEW TEACHERS

MICHELE WILSON-SMITH

One of the 12 new professionals joining the staff of the Garrett County Board of Education for the 1995-96 school year is Michele Wilson-Smith, a counselor who has been assigned to Southern Middle School to fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Nancy Learey.

Although she is considered a new employee this year, Wilson-Smith was previously employed by the Garrett County school system as a counselor at Southern High School during the 1993-94 school year.

Following her resignation due to a family emergency, Wilson-Smith worked for the North Central West Virginia Community Action Committee, an organization which serves families in several counties. Her varied experiences with that agency led her back to the field of education and back to Garrett County.

Wilson-Smith holds an undergraduate degree in family resources and a master's degree in guidance and counseling from West Virginia University. A native of Marion County, W.Va., she currently resides in Morgantown, W.Va., with her husband of three months, Martin Smith.

At Southern Middle School, Wilson-Smith works closely with the other counselor, L. Randy Paugh, to provide guidance services to students in sixth through eighth grades.

Stuck Inducted Into Bethany Hall Of Fame

Richard Stuck, Waynesburg, Pa., will be inducted into the Bethany College Athletic Hall of Fame during the colleges' Homecoming Festivities, Sept. 22-24, for his achievements as a Bison athlete.

Stuck attended Southern High School, where he earned several athletic honors. He was captain of the football, basketball, and baseball teams and was "All Conference" in each sport. Stuck was the co-winner of the Most Outstanding Senior Athlete.

Stuck, a 1965 graduate of Bethany, was co-captain of the football and baseball teams as a collegiate athlete. He was the co-winner of the Francis O. Carfe Scholastic Award and the senior athlete with the highest academic average.

Stuck received his degree in education with a specialization in mathematics. He was a member of the college's Honors Program. Stuck owns and operates two Exxon distributorship, one in Waynesburg, Pa., and the other in Oakland. He was a member of the Exxon marketing department for 13 years and was twice elected to the Exxon National Advisory Board.

Surface Coal Miners Offered Free X-Rays

The Mine Safety and Health Administration is offering free chest X-rays to currently employed surface coal miners or related surface coal miners who have worked in northern West Virginia, Maryland, or Ohio.

The X-rays will be taken during the month of November at Ruby Memorial Hospital, West Virginia University, Morgantown, and they will be read by the National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH), Morgantown.

The information collected will be used to determine the effect of protections provided by Parts 71 and 72 of the Code of Federal Regulations. The results of the X-rays will be given to the individual participant and will remain confidential. The number of participants will be limited to 250.

For further information, persons may contact Lincoln Selfe at (304) 291-4277 by October 30.

Grantsville Man Cited For Hunting Out Of Season

Four citations were issued Monday to a Grantsville man accused of hunting out of season. David L. Wilt, 37, was charged by the Maryland Natural Resources Police (NRP) after a search of his home revealed evidence of the crimes.

The NRP seized a bear mount from Wilt, according to the report, and the defendant did not have tags or documentation of the bear kill. Sixty-one large jars of deer meat were confiscated, as well as numerous sticks of deer bologna that were marked with information about when the deer was killed.

Wilt was issued three citations for possession of deer during a closed season and one for possession of turkey during a closed season. According to the report, each charge carries a maximum fine of $520.

Defendants

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to secure the foreclosure of all rights of redemption in the following property, situate in Election District No. 6, Garrett County, Maryland, sold by the Collector of Taxes for Garrett County and State of Maryland to JAMES P. TASKER and DONNA L. TASKER, his wife.

1.51 acres more or less, situate in Election District No. 6, Garrett County, Maryland, and being the same as described in a deed from Franklin W. Peters, Wendell Beitzel and Ruth Beitzel, to Ganesh S. Prahbu and Ramola G. Prahbu, his wife dated July 16, 1985 and recorded in Liber No. 459, folio 761, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The Complaint states, among other things, that the amounts for redemption have not been paid, although more than six months and one day from the date of sale has expired.

IT IS THEREUPON, this 18th day of September, 1995, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, ORDERED that notice be given by the insertion of a copy of this Order in some newspaper having a general circulation in Garrett County, once a week for four successive weeks before the 13th day of October, 1995, warning all persons interested in the said property to be and appear in this Court by the 20th day of November, 1995, and redeem the property and answer the Complaint, or thereafter a Judgment will be rendered foreclosing all rights of redemption in the property and vesting in the Plaintiffs a title, free and clear of all encumbrances.

UNITED STATES MARSHAL AD

UNDER and by virtue of an ORDER OF SALE, issued by the United States District Court for the District of Maryland, in mortgage foreclosure proceedings by the United States of America, on behalf of its agency, Rural Economic and Community Development, U.S. Department of Agriculture, as the suit of UNITED STATES OF AMERICA v. NEVIN E. UMBEL AND CAROL L. UMBEL, CIVIL NO. MJG-95-1059, notice is hereby given that I, George McKinney, United States Marshal, as Trustee, will sell for cash at public auction sale. DATE OF SALE: October 17, 1995 TIME: 12:00 p.m. LOCATION: Route 1, Box 81, Friendsville, Maryland 21531 (State Route 42 North) PROPERTY DIMENSIONS: FEE SIMPLE PROPERTY, 260.3 acres total in two parcels located six miles from Friendsville, Maryland off MD State 42, just north of Asher Glade on both sides of Route 42. Parcel 1 contains 28.3 acres and parcel 2 contains 232 acres. The U.S. Government holds first mortgage (Liber 455, Page 815) as recorded on April 29, 1985. There has been five out conveyances since that date as follows: 1. 0.746 acres +/- on 7/14/86 to Eric D. and Belinda L. Benedict; 2. 11.21 acres +/- on 10/17/86 to Eric D. and Belinda L. Benedict - Liber 487 Page 303; 3. 24.74 acres on 6/19/87 to Marlin Sisler - Liber 496 Page 113; 4. 28.648 acres +/- on 6/19/87 to William J. Umbel - Liber 496 Page 113; 5. 7.189 acres +/- on 7/8/87 to Donald Harbaugh - Liber 496 Page 598. The property has 75 acres tillable, 84.3 acres of permanent pasture, 100 acres woodland and balance in farmstead. Water sources are a hand dug 25 well, several springheads and 2 streams on the property. There is a 2 story frame remodeled dwelling of approximate 1800 square feet, bank barn with loafing shed attached, 3120 square feet machine shed, all these are adding approximate $35,000.00 in contributory value. All structures are currently in fair condition. LEGAL DESCRIPTION: Liber 455 Page 815 &c and Liber 458 Page 853 &c, Garrett County Land Records. The property will be sold subject to all conditions, prior liens, restrictions and agreements of record affecting same, if any. Rural Economic and Community Development, U.S. Department of Agriculture will enter a bid in the amount of $134,878.00. TERMS OF SALE: A deposit of 15% of the purchase price shall be paid at the time and place of the sale. The deposit shall be paid in the form of cash (or certified or cashier's check made payable to the Treasurer of the United States c/o U.S. Marshal). The balance of the purchase price shall be paid in the form of cash (or certified or cashier's check made payable to the Treasurer of the United States c/o U.S. Marshal) within ten (10) days after final ratification of said sale by the United States District Court for the District of Maryland. Interest at the rate of 5.25% per annum will accrue on the unpaid balance of the purchase price from the date of sale to the date of settlement. Taxes, water and sewage charges to be paid by the purchaser subsequent to the date of sale. All other public charges and assessments payable on an annual or periodic basis, including but not limited to, sanitary charges, shall be paid by the purchaser subsequent to the date of sale. Responsibility and cost of all conveyancing, recording, revenue stamps, documentary stamps, transfer taxes, document preparation, title insurance and other expenses of sale shall be borne by the purchaser. The property is being sold in an "as is" condition with purchaser responsible for any and all outstanding housing code violations. Any maintenance whatsoever, improvements, winterization or caretaking of the property, is at the cost, expense and risk of the purchaser; any and all costs expended by the purchaser are not reimbursable by the United States of America or any of its agents or employees, regardless of whether the property is ultimately conveyed to the purchaser. If the property is occupied upon or after the conveyance of the property by the Trustee to the purchaser; the purchaser is responsible for the eviction of the occupants, at the cost, expense, and risk of the purchaser; any and all costs expended by the purchaser are not reimbursable by the United States of America or any of its agents or employees. In the event of default by the purchaser, the property shall be resold at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser, to wit, the 15% deposit shall be withheld by the United States of America as liquidated damages and is not refundable.

NOTICE
OF APPLICATION FOR STRIP MINE PERMIT

Notice is hereby given that BUFFALO COAL COMPANY, P.O. Box 310, Bayard, WV 26707, has submitted an application to the Maryland Bureau of Mines for a surface coal mine operations permit. The proposed operation is to be located near Mountain Lake Park, Maryland.

The proposed operation occupies a 94 acre tract on the north side of Laurel Run, 6.3 miles southwest of Mountain Lake Park, Election District 8, Garrett County; 518,000N / 97,500E. Access to the site will be from Kempton Road, 0.6 mile northeast of Kempton.

Surface of the area to be mined is owned by Western Pocahontas Properties, P.O. Box 2827, Huntington, WV and the mineral is owned by Western Pocahontas Properties, P.O. Box 2827, Huntington, WV. The permit area is within the U.S. Geologic Survey Davis, WV/MD quadrangle. The location of the proposed permit area is indicated on the accompanying vicinity sketch.

The application includes plans to construct 2 ponds to control sediment and stormwater on the mining area. The ponds will be located within the proposed mine permit area. In addition to a surface coal mining permit the construction of the ponds will require a separate small pond approval from the Bureau of Mines.

A copy of the mine permit application, which includes the pond plans for the small pond approval, is available for public review during regular office hours at the Bureau of Mines office and the Soil Conservation District Office at the Garrett County Courthouse, Oakland, Maryland. Questions concerning any aspect of the application may be directed to Robert Dugan, c/o Dugan Associates at (301) 689-1568 or the Maryland Bureau of Mines, Permit Section (301) 689-6405.

A public hearing will not be held on the proposed activity unless requested. Written comments, requests for a public hearing, and requests to be included on the interested persons' list regarding this application, will be received until November 11, 1995, by the Director, Maryland Bureau of Mines, 160 South Water Street, Frostburg, Maryland 21532.

Further notices about this application will be provided only by mail to those persons that submit comments, request a public hearing or request to be included on the list of interested persons.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners will conduct a public hearing on October 10, 1995 at 9:00 a.m. in the commissioners meeting room (courthouse Annex, Oakland). The Commissioners will review a proposal made by Mr. James Railey, Jr. on behalf of Railey Realty to amend the provisions of section 801A of the Deep Creek Watershed Zoning Ordinance (Enlargement of Nonconformities) to allow the expansion of nonconforming uses by removing the existing six year time restriction as follows:

801 Enlargement or Extension

A. A use of land or use of structure which does not conform to the regulations of Article 3, Use Regulations may be enlarged by extension, alteration, reconstruction or other change provided that application for a zoning permit is approved and further provided that:

1. Such enlargement shall not exceed thirty-five percent (35%) of the floor area of a nonconforming structure; and

2. Such enlargement shall not exceed twenty percent (20%) of the land area actually occupied by a non-structural nonconforming use.

Interested citizens are welcome to attend.

SWANTON NEWS

A birthday dinner for Mike Woodbrey was held at his home in Sky Valley Sunday, Sept. 24. Attending were: Elissa and Emily Woodbrey, Ellis and Mary June Harvey, Sandy, Brian, Ellida, David, and Richard Schofield, and his friend Renee.

The 21st Evans reunion was held Sunday at the home of Alma George. Thirty-five family members and friends from Florida, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Maryland attended.

A family gathering at the home of Linda and John Fleming on Sunday celebrated the birthdays of Orval Teets and Lawre Virts and the ninth wedding anniversary of Randy and Lawre Virts. Others attending were Steve, Lucinda and Amber Davis, Richard Gerlach, and Mareva Teets.

Lee George celebrated his 10th birthday on September 25.

Orval Rounds is at home after being released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital last Tuesday.

Mary Louise, David and Holly Wilson motored to Frederick on Sunday to visit Joni Wilson, a student at Hood College.

Orval and Mareva Teets visited Jim Teets, Bear Creek, Sunday afternoon. On Thursday they attended the Retired Railroaders' picnic at Constitution Park in Cumberland.

OTTERBEIN U.M. CHURCH NEWS

The Administrative Council met Tuesday evening.

Rev. Hatcher, Orval Teets, Ted Metcalfe, Ellis Harvey, Richard Gerlach, Harley Wildesen, and Vernon Sweitzer attended the Brotherhood breakfast in Grantsville last Saturday.

SHARE sign-up will be October 3 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Community Center and October 4 from 5:30 to 7 p.m. at the church.

People from the church who worked at Burlington Home last week in preparation for the Apple Harvest to be held Sept. 30 and Oct. 1 were: Mareva and Orval Teets, Lynn, Mary and Timothy Beckman, Wanda Maphis, Freda Teets, Mary June Harvey, Joan Riley, and Joe and Dorothy Hatcher.

"Exercise With Music" Course Offered At GCC

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College (GCC) is offering a course titled "Exercise With Music." The course will begin Tuesday, Oct. 3, and will be conducted on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6:30-7:30 p.m. at the Friendsville Elementary School.

The cost of the course will be $16 plus $4 registration fee, and interested persons may register at the McHenry campus, or the Oakland Center of GCC. For more information, call Patricia Baer at 334-8304.

County Board Will Not Fund Women's Group

In response to a recent plea for operational funding from the Garrett County Commission for Women (GCCW), the Garrett County Board of Commissioners this week officially denied the request.

Garrett County Commissioner John Braskey stated on Tuesday that County Attorney Gorman "Mike" Getty has advised the board that the county is not legally empowered to provide operating funds to the GCCW.

"Mr. Getty has informed us we do not have the authority to fund the Women's Commission," Braskey remarked.

Braskey explained that Maryland counties which operate under charter home rule or code home rule systems of goverment have the power to fund groups such as the GCCW. However, he added that counties such as Garrett which operate under a commission forum do not possess such funding authority.

GCCW Chair Phyllis Trickett came before the commissioners last week to ask for $2,500 in operating funds to keep the Women's Commission up and running until the group can obtain grant funding from other sources.

In an interview yesterday, Trickett expressed her concern over the commissioners' decision and voiced her hope that the county board will find a way to fund the GCCW.

"If the county commis-

Salute To War Years Planned At Canteen Party

A salute to the war years, designed to bring together veterans, their families, and friends is planned at Southern High School on Veterans' Day, Nov. 11, from 8-11 p.m.

Sponsored by the Garrett County American Red Cross, "the party will feature a USO canteen, similar to those used by the military, which were set up to help soldiers forget abou the fighting, and the homesickness, while enjoying food and pretty hostesses," said a spokesperson for the event. This event will climax the 50th anniversary observances of World War II.

Along with songs from the '40s, the evening will feature canteen girls, and American GI's anxiously awaiting to dance with those without escorts, the spokesperson added. Every veteran who wears his or her uniform, past or present, to the party will receive a token gift, and each is asked to be prepared to share a memorable event from the era he or she served, whether it be World War II, Korea, Vietnam, or Desert Storm.

"This is an evening of nostalgia, an evening to visit and reminisce," the spokesperson said. "It's an evening for the community to remember those who fought and died, and honor those who served from Garrett County, and across the

Problem Black Bear Euthanized On Shillingburg Farm Tuesday

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Wildlife Division confirmed that two sheep were killed by black bear at the Lee Shillingburg property in southern Garrett County on October 3. DNR Wildlife personnel with the assistance of Ernest Schrock and his dogs chased the offending black bear sow and her three cubs up a tree where they were sedated.

DNR officials say that upon examination, an identification tag was seen in the sow's ear, and it was verified that she had been trapped before as a nuisance bear. Officials said that because the bear was seen attacking the sheep and because of her prior nuisance history, it was determined that she should be euthanized.

The captured sow was euthanized by DNR Wildlife personnel as provided for by Maryland's existing policy regarding serious black bear depredation to livestock, according to Patty Manown of the DNR Public Communications Office.

Two of the cubs were removed from the Shillingburg property and relocated in Savage River State Forest, Garrett County. For safety reasons, the third cub could not be captured. Manown states that research has shown cubs separated from their mother at this time of year have a high rate of survival. The cubs were ear-tagged as a part of DNR's on-going black bear study.

The Shillingburgs, according to Manown, have a history of sheep depredation problems by packs of free ranging domestic dogs, coyotes, and black bears. DNR Wildlife officials confirmed losses of two sheep within this past week.

"Handling nuisance bear problems effectively and professionally is an important aspect of Maryland's black bear management program. Reduction of bear/people conflicts is paramount if bears are to continue to receive public support and tolerance," said Manown.

Recently, DNR held three Black Bear Task

Garrett Polls To Receive New Voting Machines

In a two-to-one vote, the Garrett County Board of Commissioners have decided to purchase new voting machines for the county.

The new system, priced at $175,000, will use paper ballots which voters will mark by hand in traditional voting booths. The marked ballots will then be fed into electronic vote counters, one of which will be located at each polling place.

After the polls close, a memory unit will be removed from each vote counter and brought to the courthouse, where a computer will compile all the election results.

Commissioners Roger Glotfelty and Wayne Wilt voted to purchase the new machines, while Commission Chairman John Braskey dissented, stating that he is satisfied with the voting machines currently in service in the county.

The three commissioners are currently deciding how to finance the purchase of the new system, which is currently in use in some other Maryland counties.

"I've wanted new machines for years," commented Wilt. "I think last year taught us a lesson."

On last year's primary election ballot, the location of the names of candidates for the Garrett County Board of Education possibly caused numerous voters to miss voting in the board race. In the general election two months later, difficulty in setting up a voting machine caused the poll at Loch Lynn to open 15 minutes late.

Wilt added that the company selling the machines will maintain and update the equipment, will

Commissioners To Vote On Amended Development Plan

After meeting with the Garrett County Board of Commissioners and reviewing spoken and written comments from the public, the Garrett County Planning Commission approved a few notable changes to the proposed update for the Garrett County Comprehensive Development Plan last week.

The county board will vote on the revised plan on Oct. 10 or 17. The existing development plan has not been amended since it was adopted by the county in 1974. If approved, the updated plan will seek to protect rural and agricultural areas of the county by limiting construction density.

The first draft of the updated plan was discussed in detail at a public hearing held at Garrett Community College in mid-September.

In a follow-up meeting last week, the planning commission removed from the proposed update a recommendation that the Deep Creek Lake Watershed Zoning Ordinance be amended to include architectural and aesthetic guidelines.

Gov. Glendening Will Be Festival Parade Marshal

The Honorable Parris N. Glendening, Maryland's 59th governor, will participate as Grand Marshal of the 28th Annual Autumn Glory Festival Grand Feature Parade, which begins at 1 p.m. on Saturday, October 14, in downtown Oakland.

Governor Glendening was born in Bronx, N.Y.; and graduated from Florida State University, where he received a bachelor's degree and master's degree, and became the youngest student in FSU history to receive a Ph.D. in political science. That same year, he joined the University of Maryland College Park, where he taught for 27 years until his election as governor. His textbooks on government and politics have been used in more than 400 colleges, and he has earned a national reputation for his expertise in government finance. The governor began public service in 1973 as a city councilman in Hyattsville. He was elected to the Prince George's County Council in 1974 and twice served as council chair; in 1982, he was elected county executive of Prince George's County and became the only one in Maryland history to serve three terms, (1982 - 1994). During his tenure, the county was awarded national recognition in 1986 as the "All American City" by the National Civic League and he was recognized in 1990 as the "Most Valuable County Official" in the nation by City and State Magazine.

Governor Glendening has been active with numerous professional associations throughout his career, including the National Association of Counties, as past president of the National Council of Elected County Executives, former

Purchase Of Deep Creek Lake Considered By Land Owners

In response to increased dock fees and uncertainty about the future ownership and management of Deep Creek Lake, a group of lake property owners has proposed that the lake bottom and surrounding buffer strip, which is currently owned by Pennsylvania Electric Company (Penelec), be purchased by lake watershed property owners.

To accomplish this goal, planners have already drafted a 16-page bill which would empower the estimated 2,500 landowners in Garrett County Tax District 18 to elect a board of governors which, in turn, would purchase the lake bottom and buffer strip with state-backed bonds. The state of Maryland would continue to own the water in the lake.

These bonds would be retired by an ad valorem tax levied only on District 18 land owners. According to one estimate, the debt could be retired in 20 to 30 years.

Mike Belmonte, president of the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners' Association (POA), a group composed of some 1,200 members, is in the forefront of the move to buy the lake and commented that he hopes to have the bill ready in time for the upcoming session of the General Assembly, slated to begin in January, 1996.

"The lake has been a great benefit to the county and it's not too far fetched

Commissioner Is Injured In Fall At Mill

Garrett County Commissioner Roger Glotfelty was injured last Friday, Sept. 29, in a fall from a scaffolding at his lumber mill.

After the fall of approximately eight feet, Glotfelty, apparently believing himself uninjured, traveled to the Buckwheat Festival in Kingwood, W.Va., where he began to experience significant pain. He visited Preston County Memorial Hospital where he was admitted and spent the night. He returned home the next day and is following a regimen of bed rest.

In the fall, Glotfelty suffered a dislocated wrist and a severe bruise on his hip, as well as contusions to his shoulder and chest, stated commissioners' office secretary Pat Vetter.

Glotfelty is expected to return to the commissioners' office in five days to two weeks, she added.

Dog Survives 67 Hours In Auto's Trunk

Shongo, the 28 pound mixed-breed dog of Janna Naylor, Oakland, spent approximately 67 hours in the trunk of Naylor's car last week and lived to bark about it.

During his almost-three-day ordeal in the metal compartment, Shongo traveled to Deep Creek Lake, Frederick, and even into West Virginia without making any noticeable noise. All the while, Naylor looked feverishly for her missing pet.

Naylor commented in an interview yesterday that she hopes Shongo's story will serve as a reminder to other pet owners to check their car trunks and other potential pet traps for animals before closing them.

The unusual episode began on the afternoon of Wednesday, Sept. 27, when Naylor returned home from work at 3 p.m. to run an errand. At this time, Naylor remembers seeing and speaking to Shongo, who was sitting on the patio of her house. After completing her business at home, Naylor closed her car trunk and returned to her office.

Naylor first noticed something was wrong when she returned home at 5 p.m. and was not greeted by Shongo. Naylor drove from REUNITED - After being locked in a car's trunk for almost three days, Shongo the dog is glad to be free and back with his owner, Oakland resident Janna Naylor. During the 67-hour drama, Naylor, pictured in her office with Shongo, drove her car to McHenry, Frederick, and even to West Virginia, never knowing that her lost dog was silently riding in her car's trunk. After being discovered, Shongo made a bee-line for his water bowl, but apparently suffers no lasting ill effects from his ordeal.

MARYLAND'S MOST BEAUTIFUL - The Garrett County winner of the Maryland's Most Beautiful People program (formerly known as the Maryland You Are Beautiful program) is Oakland resident Brad Steward. Following a three-page curriculum vitae of Stewart's activities and accomplishments, Stewart's nominator, Oakland Phyllis Trickett, commented, "Throughout his entire teenage and adult life, he has devoted himself to his community and the people in it." Runners-up in this year's program are Twila Mae and Harold Fike, Avilton, and Jerry Beachy, Grantsville. Pictured left to right are the Fikes, Beachy, Stewart, and Garrett County Commissioners John Braskey and Wayne Wilt.

Record Enrollment Achieved At GCC

Another record-breaking year for fall semester enrollment has been achieved by Garrett Community College this year, according to Deloris Edgar, registrar.

A total of 735 students are currently enrolled in credit classes, an increase of 23 over last year's fall enrollment. Of these, 412 are full-time students, and 323 are part-time, accounting for a full-time equivalency of 246.87.

"Most of our increase has come in the part-time student category," said Joan Crawford, director of enrollment development, "and we feel that the new computer applications courses have accounted for much of it."

Of the students now enrolled, 476 are from Garrett County, 120 from West Virginia, and 81 from other states.

Blaze Damages Fire Department Officer's House

A one-story house owned by the captain of the Deer Park Community Volunteer Fire Department was seriously damaged by fire early Sunday morning while the officer was with an investigator of the Maryland State Fire Marshal's Office at the scene of another blaze.

Deer Park and Oakland fire fighters were summoned to a vacant, wood-frame structure along Boiling Springs Road south of Deer Park at 11:50 p.m. Saturday. The blaze was quickly extinguished, but ruled suspicious in nature.

Deer Park Captain Kenneth W. Collins was among those responding to the fire and, when he returned to his house, also located along Boiling Springs Road, he found fire and smoke throughout much of the structure. Deer Park and Oakland firemen were contacted at 1:52 a.m. and were successful in saving the house, but smoke and fire damage was substantial.

While the first fire has been ruled suspicious and remains under investigation, fire investigators have ruled that the blaze at the Collins home was accidental in nature. The fire in the vacant structure resulted in an estimated $1,000 damage, while the fire at the Collins house caused approximately $20,000 damage. It was the second fire at the Collins residence in the past year.

There were no injuries reported in either incident.

Pam Ashby's Book Of Essays Now Available

Dreamers Have Dirty Elbows, a collection of essays by the late Pam Ashby, is now available for purchase at several area locations. The first shipment of the book arrived early this week, according to family members.

The 134-page compilation includes Ashby's numerous anecdotal, philosophic, humorous, or observational columns that appeared in The Republican newspaper for several years in the form of her Our Turn and The Mind Wanders columns. Some of her other writings are also included in the collection, as well as a foreword by her sister, Sherry Frantz.

The book, priced at $12.95 plus tax, is now available at the following locations: The Book Mark'et, Proudfoot's Pharmacy, and Deep Creek Pharmacy. Persons may also order the book by contacting Colleen Mouyard at The Republican office, telephone 334-3963. For these mail orders, the shipping and handling fee is $2.50.

The money raised through the sale of the book will first cover printing costs, and will then benefit Mrs. Ashby's family. The writer had prepared several of the columns to publish in book form when she was killed in a car accident on January 11, 1994. Her family, friends, and co-workers then carried out her wishes by proceeding with the publication of her work.

GCHD Notes 13th Case Of Rabies For '95

The 13th confirmed rabies case for 1995 was announced this week by the Garrett County Health Department. A raccoon submitted to the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene laboratory was confirmed positive for the disease on Sept. 29.

The animal apparently approached a Deer Park residence on Sept. 28 and fought with a dog. The property owner shot the raccoon and contacted the health department. The pet had a current rabies vaccination and was given a booster shot. It will be monitored for 90 days.

Persons are reminded to avoid handling their pets if the animals have had contact with wild animals. The rabies virus is transmitted through the saliva of the infected animal and can survive on the fur coat of a pet for up to two hours.

Jones Donates Vacant Land To Town Of Oakland

Oakland Mayor Asa McCain announced this week that the remaining property on Second Street left vacant after the February 13, 1994, fire has been given to the town by owner Marvin R. Jones. Jones has given the land in memory of his wife, Etheline "Bootie" Jones.

"This gift gives the town the opportunity to seek support for the re-development of retail businesses for the property," McCain said. "The property is a vital link in the on-going enhancement of the downtown business area."

Jones apparently made the donation several months ago, but time was needed to complete the legal paperwork and details.

The fire of 1994 destroyed two buildings, one owned by Jones and the other by Gonder Insurance. The insurance company has since rebuilt, but the lot on which the Jones building stood has been vacant since the blaze. One portion of the building, which was once part of a restaurant and contains a large fire place and hardwood floors, is still standing.

"On behalf of the mayor and town council of Oakland, I would like to express heartfelt thanks to Mr. Jones for his gift," McCain said.

Frostburg Woman Injured In Wreck; Cited For DWI

A Frostburg woman was injured in a single-vehicle car wreck last Friday on Avilton-Lonaconing Road near the Interstate 68 underpass. Jil-Anne Bailey, 28, was later cited for DWI by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

Dep. C. Warnick discovered the Bailey vehicle lying on the driver's side at approximately 3:30 a.m., and made contact with the Northern Garrett Rescue Squad as well as the Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department. The rescue units worked for 40 minutes to extricate the woman from the wreckage.

She had apparently been traveling southbound on Avilton-Lonaconing Road when she lost control, hit a cement pylon, and rolled the car onto the driver's side. Bailey reportedly sustained a broken ankle and other undetermined injuries. She was transported to Cumberland Memorial Hospital.

After a short investigation, the sheriff's office charged the defendant with DWI.

VIETNAMESE MUSIC SET AT GCC - Nguyen Dinh Nghia and family will be featured in a free workshop and concert of traditional Vietnamese music at the Garrett Community College Auditorium on Friday, Oct. 6. The workshop/demonstration is scheduled for 2:30 p.m., and the public concert will be at 8 p.m. Nghia is considered Vietnam's premier flutist and master of the bamboo xylophone. He has performed at Carnegie Hall and the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York and at the National Museum of African History and the Kennedy Center in Washington. The GCC performance is offered in conjunction with Garrett Community College's "Cultural Diversity" theme for the 1995-96 school year with funding by the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council's Touring Residency Program. For more information, persons may contact the Arts Council at 387-3121.

MSP Investigate B&E, Theft At Bill's Marine

Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, are currently investigating the breaking, entering, and theft of two all-terrain vehicles (ATVs) from Bill's Marine Service, Deep Creek Lake.

According to a report filed by Cpl. Bryan Davy, a 1995 Polaris Sportsman 4x4, Model 400, olive green with a black seat, and a 1995 ATV, Model 300, 4x4, dark green with a tan seat, were stolen from the storage lot at Bill's Marine Service, sometime between 7 p.m. on Oct. 2, and 7:50 a.m. on Oct. 3. Police said the culprits possibly used an enclosed, box-type truck to transport the vehicles.

Anyone with information about this incident is asked to call the local state police barrack at 895-1101.

CASH, LIQUOR STOLEN FROM BAR

State police are currently investigating a breaking, entering, and theft at Razberry's Sports Bar, McHenry, where an undetermined amount of cash and liquor was reportedly stolen.

According to a report filed by Tfc. Lemay, unknown persons broke into the bar sometime between 2 a.m. and 8 a.m. on Sept. 30, where they stole the cash and liquor, damaging the building and three cash registers in the process.

THEFT REPORTED

State police are also looking into the report of the theft of a prophylactic machine from a restroom at Hartman's Amoco Station, Accident.

The machine, owned by Pete Miller Vending Co., Tridelphia, Pa., is valued at $300, and at the time it was stolen, contained approximately $75 in quarters. Police said the person or persons involved in the theft, entered the restroom, and forcefully removed the machine from the wall.

Tfc. D.W. Broadwater is continuing his investigation.

Greater Gortner Airport Fly-In Slated Oct. 15

The 11th Annual Greater Gortner Airport Fly-In will be held Sunday, October 15, beginning at noon, at the Gortner Airport five miles south of Oakland. The event is part of Garrett County's 28th Annual Autumn Glory Festival.

The fly-in offers entertainment for the whole family, including an airshow with aerobatics performances by Clancy Speal from Pittsburgh, Pa., featuring the low level roll on take-off, four and eight-point vertical hesitation rolls, tail slides, the Lomcevak and the knife edge.

Skydiving, an airplane candy drop for children, airplane rides all day, aircraft and helicopter displays (including MD Trooper 5 and WVU Healthnet Medevac), live entertainment by local groups, Shriner clowns and exhibits will be featured. There will also be displays of antique engines and equipment by the Maryland Army National Guard, concessions, and drawings for prizes by local merchants. Admission to the fly-in is $3 for adults and free for children under 6.

For information, persons may call Jane Simms at 334-3541.

Four Arrested For Drugs At Swallow Falls

Maryland Rangers arrested four individuals at Swallow Falls State Park on Saturday after inspecting two campsites. Those arrested were from Pennsylvania, California, and Annapolis.

The first arrest occurred at 12:30 a.m., according to the report, when the rangers entered a campsite in response to a noise violation. A short investigation led to the discovery of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) and paraphernalia. Arrested on possession charges were Jeffrey L. Jones, 30, Annapolis, and Richard J. Jones, 44, Shingle Spring, Calif.

J. Jones was released on his own recognizance, and R. Jones was initially held on $500 bond, according to the report.

The second arrest took place at approximately 11 p.m. Saturday when rangers again responded to a noise complaint. A campsite occupied by Thomas E. and Dana M. Miller, ages 35 and 34 respectively, was investigated and a quantity of a CDS was apparently discovered.

The Millers were both charged with possession of CDS and paraphernalia and bond was set at $500 each, according to the report.

Task Force Cites Two For Having Marijuana Plants

The Garrett County Narcotics Task Force arrested two men this week after officers executed a search and seizure warrant at a Grantsville residence. Arrested were Eric S. Tyler, 25, Northan, Calif., and Mark A. Swarner, 25, Somerset, Pa.

Inside the Guthrie Lane home, police reported the discovery of five three-foot-tall marijuana plants. Some drug paraphernalia was also found, according to the report.

Both men were charged with the manufacture of marijuana, possession of the drug, and possession of paraphernalia.

SEAPLANE LANDS ON DEEP CREEK LAKE - A Lynn Haven, Fla., pilot was issued a warning last week after he landed his seaplane on Deep Creek Lake, "because landing and/or keeping an aircraft on waters of Deep Creek Lake, without first obtaining written permission, is prohibited," said Patty Manown, Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) spokesperson. She said the warning was issued to Jonathan B. McMinis, 71, by Natural Resources Police (NRP) Officer James Clise. McMinis and his wife were reportedly headed to Boston to visit their daughter, and were unaware of the lake's seaplane regulations. "It is the pilot's responsibility to check with the FAA on any special regulations that may apply to waters he or she is unfamiliar with, before landing the seaplane," Manown stated. The plane, docked near Point View Restaurant, was towed back into deeper water by Officer Clise, and McMinis lifted the plane into the air, and on to his destination. (Photos by Craig Phillips)

Drug, Traffic Cases Dominate In Circuit Crt.

Numerous criminal cases were heard in Garrett County Circuit Court last week, with the honorable Judge Fred A. Thayer presiding over all proceedings. Cases involving illegal drugs and/or traffic violations dominated the court calendar. Other cases involved telephone abuse, theft, and a matter involving a horse that ended in a mistrial.

A Friendsville man who was convicted in August of two counts of marijuana and drug paraphernalia possession was sentenced last Thursday. Russell E. Coy, 36, received a jail term of one year and 30 days, with 215 suspended. He was also fined $500 plus court costs, and will be on two years of supervised

Education Board To Hold Regular Meeting Tuesday

The Garrett County Board of Education will meet for the regular monthly session at the board office in Oakland on Tuesday, Oct. 10. Numerous issues have been placed on the agenda for the board members' consideration.

The session will begin at 3 p.m. with the opportunity for public comment. The meeting will then enter the executive (closed) session until 5 p.m., when the public portion is to begin.

Administrative concerns will be first, with information items including the 1995 audit, custodial services concerns at Southern Middle School and Dennett Road, the pupil transportation handbook, and the fiscal year 1997 capital improvement program.

Board concerns are to be addressed at 6:30 p.m., beginning with appreciation to be expressed to the ad hoc committee that studied outcome-based education. A revision to the board's meeting procedure will be acted upon, as will the list of education board goals.

Public comment will be heard at 7 p.m., followed by instructional concerns. The "Education that is Multicultural" committee will give an update on its activities at approximately 7:15 p.m., followed by a revision to a policy regarding the confidentiality of student records. The school activity review and evaluation committee will offer a report at 7:35 p.m., followed by a report from the health advisory committee. Approximately three other items will follow, with adjournment tentatively slated for approximately 8:45 p.m.

The public is invited to attend any or all of the public session. The complete agenda is available at the board office. For more information, persons may contact the office at 334-8900.

St. Police Arrest W.Va. Man On CDS, DWI Charges

A Nitro, W.Va., man was arrested last Thursday evening, and charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS), and driving while intoxicated (DWI).

Roger Scott Riddle, 19, who was operating a 1989 Chevrolet pickup truck, was charged with those offenses after he was stopped along I-68 for speeding (79 mph in a 65 mph zone). Tfc. M.S. Clapper was the arresting officer.

According to the trooper's report, while Riddle was looking for his license and registration card, he noticed a faint odor of suspected marijuana, and alcohol coming from inside the truck, and noticed, in plain view, a metal smoking device containing suspected marijuana residue. A subsequent search of the vehicle also revealed two suspected marijuana seeds, several additional pieces of drug paraphernalia, an open can of cold beer, and a cold 12-pack of beer, with several cans missing.

DRIVER CHARGED

The operator of a small tanker truck that overturned on Interstate 68 early Monday morning was charged with failure to control speed to avoid a collision.

Tfc. E. Derham, the investigating officer, said Dylan J. Mullenix, Terra Haute, Inc., was traveling east on I-68, near the Lower New Germany Road, when he lost control of the truck, causing it to hit an embankment, and overturn

Deputy Arrests Oakland Man For Fleeing, Battery

A 32-year-old Oakland man was arrested by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office this week after he allegedly fled from a deputy who was pursuing him for a traffic violation. Larry G. Wilson remains incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail in lieu of $5,000 cash bond.

Dep. C. Warnick was on patrol on the early morning of Sept. 30 when he saw a 1973 Chevrolet Suburban with a defective tail light. The officer attempted to pull the vehicle over, but the driver, Wilson, allegedly eluded the deputy and drove to his Mason School Road residence. After parking the vehicle, the defendant reportedly ran from Warnick for a short distance.

The deputy caught Wilson and a slight physical altercation ensued, according to the report. Wilson was charged with assault and battery, fleeing and eluding a police officer, resisting arrest, driving while intoxicated, and other traffic violations.

In other sheriff's office news, an Oakland man was

Friendsville Man Sentenced To Six Months For VOP

A Friendsville man was ordered to spend six months in the Garrett County Jail, after being found guilty of violation of probation. That decision was handed to Duane A. Garlitz, 27, in last week's Garrett County District Court proceedings, by Judge Ralph M. Burnett.

Garlitz, who received a suspended sentence in January after he was convicted of obstructing and hindering an officer during an investigation, reportedly failed to abstain from alcohol and/or illegal drugs, possessed and/or used narcotic drugs, failed to submit to alcohol/drug evaluation, testing, and treatment as directed by the court, and failed to complete an alcohol treatment program, all conditions of his probation, ordered by Judge Burnett. The defendant's probation was immediately revoked, according to court records, and the six-month sentence reimposed.

Garlitz had been arrested on the above offense on Oct. 27, 1994, after he initiated a domestic dispute with Patricia Atwood at Closing Arguments...

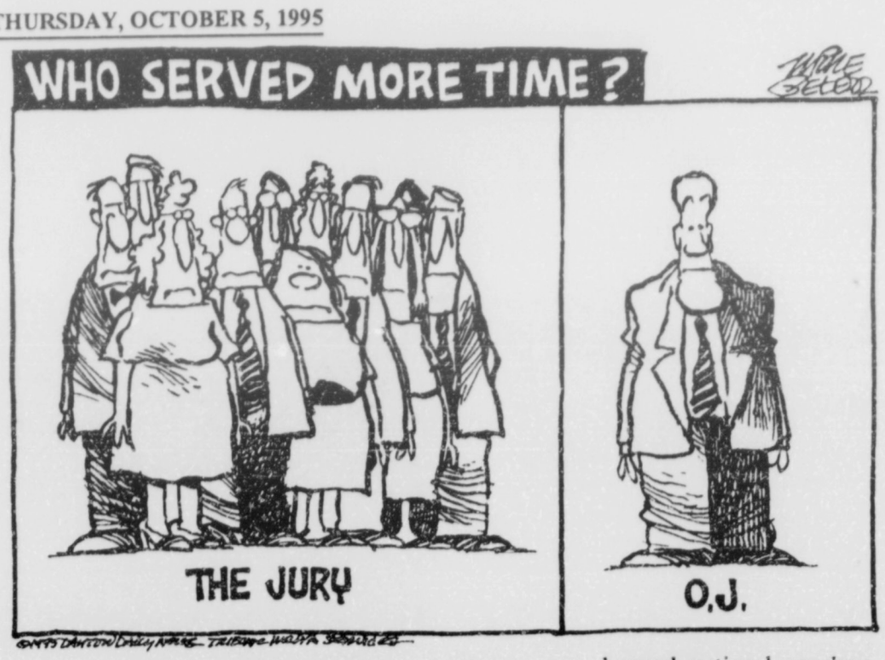
While we, like most of America, are sick to death of the O.J. Simpson trial and thrilled that it is finally over, we can't help making some closing conclusions/remarks about the case. Because of the celebrity status of the defendant and his high-powered team of attorneys, there is no denying that the trial has had, and may yet have, a significant effect on the country and its judicial system.

Among our conclusions is one we mentioned some time ago - it is an absolute fact that money has an enormous effect on the outcome of criminal cases. If O.J. had been some poor, unknown indigent, who would have been assigned a public defender, or even a middle class individual who was able to afford representation, the chances of acquittal under the same circumstances as the Brown/Goldman murders would have been virtually nil. Simpson was fortunate to be able to afford the likes of Bailey, Shapiro, Sheck, Cochran, and many others, who obviously did a masterful job and were successful. This leads us to assume that there are certainly some poor, but innocent, people sitting in jail today, and some affluent, but guilty, persons walking the streets.

A second conclusion that is both sad and disappointing is that, regardless of how far we think we have progressed in race relations, we are apparently not much farther ahead in our attitudes and feelings than those of people in pre-Civil War days. Conditions are certainly better for minorities today, but primarily because of changes in the law, and not so much because of changes in people's perspectives. Race should not have been an issue in the Simpson case, but it absolutely was. Ironically, it was the bigotry and untruthfulness of Mark Furhman that really wrecked the case for the prosecution.

As to whether or not Simpson is truly innocent of the crimes committed, we find ourselves thinking much like one of the jurors, who said that she really did believe that he was guilty, but that the defense attorneys were successful in instilling reasonable doubt. This, perhaps, should be a red flag that suggests that our legal system may need some revision.

In order to put all of this behind us, we suggest utilizing the following philosophy: If O.J. Simpson is indeed innocent, thank God that the jurors have set him free; if he is really guilty, then he will someday have to answer to a much higher authority who knows, beyond all doubt, the absolute truth.



Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Upon my return from an extended trip, I was very sorry indeed to read in The Republican of Ben Rosenthal's resignation as president of GCMH.

I've known Ben for 14 years, three of which I was proud to serve as his assistant. The hospital--all of us--have lost a fine, sincere, hard-working employee. Ben introduced many innovative ideas to help maintain the health and well-being of our hospital. The board will be hard-pressed to find another person for the job who is as dedicated, competent, and caring as Ben Rosenthal.

Good luck, Ben. We'll miss you.

To the Editor:

In 1922 the National Fire Protection Association urged President Warren G. Harding to proclaim the second week of October as National Fire Protection Week. Every year during this week we are reminded to take time out and polish up our fire safety habits in the home, in the school, and in the workplace.

National Fire Protection Week is a fitting time to take a moment and consider all of the firefighters and emergency service providers in our community and appreciate the job they do for us 24 hours a day, rain or shine, every day of the year. The citizens and guests of the state of Maryland are blessed with some of the best fire and rescue services and emergency service personnel in the nation. Although several areas in our state are served by career fire and rescue providers, the bulk of emergency service personnel in our tri-state area are volunteers.

In many areas of Maryland volunteer and career providers work together as teams to provide fire and rescue services of unrivaled quality. In Maryland career and volunteer emergency services personnel are fortunate to share the same quality training and are also required to maintain the same professional certifications. Volunteer or career, training for emergency services personnel is provided statewide by the University of Maryland's Fire and Rescue Institute and the Maryland Emergency Medical Services Systems and supported by organizations including the Maryland State Fireman's Association. These training classes are provided across the state and serve as models of quality emergency training that is emulated by other systems across the United States.

In Garrett and Allegany county, with the exception of the fine career firefighters of the Cumberland City Fire Department, all fire, rescue, and ambulance service providers are volunteer. This means that, in addition to their regular jobs, these providers are on call night and day, each and every day of the year. These providers could be your neighbors, friends, work mates and relatives. These unselfish people could also just as easily be complete strangers. These men and women risk their lives and face some of life's most unpleasant situations and ask for very little in return.

Fire and rescue related tragedies in our tri-state and across the nation during the past year remind us of the dangers the men and women of the fire and rescue community face every time they respond to an incident. The 1994 Statistical Report of the Maryland State Fireman's Association tells us that last year alone, Maryland's emergency services providers, whose ages range from 16 years old to age 60-plus, have unselfishly spent over one million, 900 thousand, manhours fighting fires and performing technical life saving rescues in the state of Maryland. Ambulance and medic teams spent well over one million manhours providing basic and advanced life-saving services to the citizens of Maryland. These men and women combined spent over 600 thousand man hours participating in fire, rescue, and emergency medical training and re-training activities.

These folks spent 400,000 manhours cleaning their equipment, their community meeting halls, and fire station engine rooms. Fire and rescue members also spent 200,000 manhours preforming vehicle maintenance. This same group of dedicated volunteers spent over one million manhours raising the funds desperately needed to enable them to provide the life support and property-saving services for the citizens of Maryland. Due to this selfless dedication, the services our fire and rescue members perform are provided to every guest and every cit-izen in the state for little or no charge. Additionally, these folks also found the time to spend over 60,000 manhours spreading the word about fire and personal safety to the children and the general public throughout the state.

Take some time out this week to stop and say hello to your neighborhood firefighters and emergency medical volunteers and talk to them about what it is they do. Then, thank these folks for spending quite a lot of their personal time, volunteering just for you.

Sincerely,
Jim Crabtree, instructor,
Maryland Fire and Rescue Institute

If you haven't walked the trail behind the hospital, you're in for a pleasant surprise. You'd never believe that pond is so long and so lovely!

Let's all help maintain it. I suggest: 1. Step on a weed; 2. Clean up after your pet; 3. Remove all trash.

Enjoy the beautiful leaves of the trees around the trail.

P.S. You can reach it from Pythian Street, too. The steps from the Community Services Building are towards the Medical Building.

To the Editor:

There is no question the whole world is in great difficulty. The U.S.A. has more major problems than ever before in our history. The Bible says, "Know the truth and the truth shall made you free." Our great nation has grown and prospered to an empire like has never been before. The reason is because it was founded on Judo-Christian principles which are now being ignored, scoffed at, and attempted to be enilated. Our prosperity has brought about an attitude that we don't really need God any more. The news media in general has degraded God and pushed Him aside. Christians and conservatives are targeted and being classed as criminals because they oppose the liberal non-Christian philosophies. The Christian Collation is an organization attempting to return our nation to God. They publish a "congressional scoreboard" that every citizen should have a copy of. It tells how your elected officials have voted on various issues. Whether you are a liberal or a conservative you will find it very informative, unbiased, and nonpartisan available from Christian Coalition, P.O. Box 430, McHenry, MD 21541, or call (301) 746-8491 or (301) 334-5848 or Main Office, P.O. Box 1900, Chesapeake, VA 23327.

It seemed to hit a responsive cord with your paper which operates under a conservative name. I would like to remind you that your paper refused coverage on the John Wilson crusade. There was no opposition to it by any religious group though the attempt was made to read something into the situation. This was a public nonprofit Christian Assembly in a public building attended by thousands admission free. Some years back I ran free videos in Mtn. Lake Park town hall, they compared current events to Bible prophecy by well-learned national speakers. The only coverage I could get was by paid advertising, which was placed in the least read parts of your paper. The liberal segment of our educational system has had your applause.

Yours truly,
Homer Mellott

To the Editor:

Good for you for your editorial of 28 September unmasking and denouncing a phoney letter writing campaign mounted by religious zealots in our midst.

Though they deny it, my unshakable suspicion is that the ultimate goal of these people is the establishment of their particular brand of religion as the state religion of the United States.

Whether I am right or wrong, let the rest of us never forget that history teaches, over and over again, that when state and church are one it is hell on earth for non-conformists and non-believers.

Sincerely,
Walter D. Sutton

For those individuals not familiar with FCE, we are a non-profit, dues-paying organization formed in 1936. Our goal is to promote a healthier and better life for individuals, families, and communities. Our clubs are spread throughout the United States. The letters "FCE" stand for Family and Community Education.

Garrett County (GAFCE) joined the organization in 1954 and its members take pride in the many accomplishments made by them throughout the years, not only on a local level, but statewide, nationally and globally. In cooperation with the Maryland Cooperative Extension Service, program materials have been provided to our clubs pertaining to family, health, community, environmental, civic, and global matters. The extension agents are always willing to help us. Guest speakers are invited to our meetings, whenever possible, to share their knowledge with us. We strive to make our world and especially our county a healthier and better place to live.

GAFCE invites anyone interested in joining our organization to call our membership chairperson at 334-3837 or extension office at 334-1990.

To the Editor:

My husband and I were involved in a one-vehicle accident yesterday (Sept. 30) at approx. 12:10 p.m. Our car lost its brakes and something had happened to the steering. It overturned going around a turn. We had to crawl out of the driver side window and, thanks to God, we escaped with only headaches and being really shaky.

But the reason for this letter is to express our appreciation to everyone who assisted us. We thank my husband's employer, The Guards, Les, Betty, Dorsey, Wanda, and family -- for their kindness for letting us use their phone to call 911 and their support at the scene of the accident; the Friendsville Fire Department, Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad (including H.B. Martz, teacher at Northern Garrett County High School, who was on the rescue squad that day), and all others who stopped and offered to help.

We also thank the gentleman who stopped to see if we were all right and asked if we need a ride to a phone. (He was driving a blue pick-up truck.)

Also, we thank the employees at the Garrett County Hospital Emergency Room for their care.

Most of all, we thank God for sparing us in that horrible accident in which we could have been injured severely or killed. Even though our car was totalled, we were blessed enough to still have each other and that's the most important thing.

Finally, even though this next person is listed as a thank-you last, it's because he seemed more like a friend than a Maryland state trooper. We dearly thank TFC Gregory Becker. He was really caring and concerned of our wellbeing and, in our eyes, is the best trooper in the state of Maryland. We need more troopers like him, who actually show their concern instead of just wanting to hand out tickets. It is men and women like these who put their work ahead of other things that make such a good community.

May God bless you all and thank you so very much.

Sincerely,
Harvey and Tamala Huse
Friendsville

P.S. Also thanks to the G&P towing in Grantsville for towing our car.

To the Editor:

I was sorry to hear of the decision to fire Ms. Hayhurst from her position as a Biology teacher. For the past 3 years, she was considered an excellent teacher at Southern High School.

Where is the evidence of her cavalier attitude? Where are the complaints about her being undermined when it came to teaching about drugs?

I called Ms. Hayhurst to find out what she taught about drugs. She taught what the affects are on the human body of anything other than water and food. No personal opinion, nothing positive about drugs, only the biological facts. Facts are an effective teacher.

The members of the Board of Ed that voted to fire her are basing their decision on a moral issue. Since the school can not teach morals, how can they make this kind of decision? Can all three members say that they have never partaken in any substance use, either legal or illegal, past or present?

I do not think that Ms. Hayhurst's ability to teach is at issue here. The true issue is drugs. Does this make her a bad persons? No. Did she make a mistake? Yes. Has she paid the consequences? More, than we'll ever know. Did it ever affect her teaching? No. Will it affect her future teaching? No. How do I know this? Her past teaching was not affected. I need to know from the three Board members, where's the proof that her teaching will be affected? What policy has been violated?

Let's talk about this comment that the three Board members find offensive equating drugs to tobacco and alcohol. Is alcohol and tobacco bad for you? Yes. Are drugs bad for you? Yes. Are tobacco and alcohol addictive? Yes. Are drugs addictive? Yes. Are there teachers in school who have been charged with alcohol related incidents? Yes. Were they fired? No. Are there teachers who smoke? Yes. Were they fired? No.

The only difference as to why someone is not fired for alcohol or tobacco is that they are legal. Something seems wrong with this. Alcohol and tobacco are just as dangerous (if not

. . . And Into The Light

by Herb Sutcliffe

No man is an island, entire of itself; every man is a piece of the continent, a part of the main; if a clod be washed away by the sea, Europe is the less, as well as if a promontory were, as well as if a manor of thy friends or of thine own were; any man's death diminishes me, because I am involved with mankind; and therefore never send to know for whom the bell tolls, it tolls for thee. .... John Donne 1625

Aldus Grinnley was the oldest of six children. He learned at a very early age that survival was easier if he did what his mom and dad asked and he listened carefully every time his father said, "Son, I want you to remember that the greatest rewards in life come from helping others!" Aldus believed his father and he decided to seek the greatest rewards.

By the age of 5, Aldus was bottle feeding his third brother. He already knew how to change diapers. He was now learning to wash dishes, vacuum the carpets, and help-mom make the beds. At the end of the day when dad came home from work and mom told him all the things Aldus had done, dad would say, "Grinnley, your the best little helper in the world. What would we do without you?" And Aldus would light up with a big grin because he new his dad was very proud of having such a helpful son. Brothers four and five arrived. Aldus, now affectionately called, "Grin," ran home from school everyday to pitch in. The harder Aldus worked, the more his five brothers could play. But Aldus didn't mind. He had already decided to seek the greatest rewards and he grinned as he watched his brothers have fun.

When Aldus was 40 years old he didn't grin anymore. He could barely keep up with his teaching job because he wasn't sleeping very well. He also felt like he had an empty hole in his tummy. One of his close teacher friends noticed the worry lines on Grin's face and suggested a shrink and so Grin dragged himself to see a psychotherapist who suggested a physical exam and some anti-depression medication then come back to another visit. Grin did so and started to work. It wasn't easy at first but as trust in the therapist grew he opened up more and more...

During one of the visits the therapist said, "Aldus, how long have you been called Grin?" The flood gates opened and Grin started to cry as thought he were 5 years old. He cried for all the lost years as a child, as a teenager and as a young man who never learned it was ok to play and do thing for himself as well as for others. How could this be? And then he recalled the abundant praise he received whenever he helped others but was never recognized for just being Aldus. Later, when he stopped crying he realized that the hole in his tummy had to do with identity and to fill the hole he must learn who he really was. This would not be easy. The therapist suggested that he first find out what he would like to do with is time instead of using it all to help others. And this is where Aldus is today. He has finished grieving for Grin and the past and if you see him driving his new corvette, notice he does not grin anymore, he smiles. And if John Donne had known about neuro-transmitters, modern medicine and psychology, he would agree that the bell is not tolling for Aldus Grinnley... it is ringing, unless of course, Donne was depressed when he wrote those words...

If you feel the bell is tolling for your call The Alliance for Mental Health: 895-5366; The Lighthouse: 334-9126; The Health Dep't: 334-1216; or D.R.A.D.A.: 334-3457.

Mental Illness Awareness Week

(The following column was submitted by the Garrett County Health Department.)

Depression, one of the more common mental illnesses, affects over 17 million Americans each year, according to the National Institute of Mental Health. With the continuing need to develop and maintain good mental health among all members of the population, the first week in October has been designated as National Mental Illness Awareness Week.

Mental health has to do with how a person thinks, feels, and acts. In general, people in good mental health have a positive attitude, look forward to challenges in life, feel good about themselves and others,and act responsibly in their work and relationships. In many ways, mental health is like physical health. A "down-in-the-dumps" feeling can happen now and then, just like a cold. Every emotional upset cannot be prevented, just as every illness can not be prevented. But there is a definite difference between feeling blue and being depressed.

Depression is a mood disorder that affects the body and the mind of a person. Feeling down because of stress or tension is natural for most everyone, but prolonged feelings of sadness and loneliness, withdrawal from people and activities, loss of pleasure and enjoyment of life, and physical discomfort, fatigue, and sleep disturbances may signal clinical depression. Four types of depression exist, including major depression, dysthymia, bipolar depression, and seasonal affective disorder.

In addition to depression, manic-depressive illnesses, schizophrenia, eating disorders, and anxiety disorders are all classified as mental illnesses.

Learning to cope with stress as a fact of life and handling it in a positive way, can help a person stay mentally healthy. If stress is prolonged for any reason, wearing down of both the physical self and the psychological self can be harmful. Organizing one's time, talking with others, and learning relaxation techniques can all help in coping with stress.

Self-esteem, or how a person sees him or herself, can be a key to good mental health. When self-esteem is high, finding satisfaction in life, setting goals, and establishing healthy relationships seem to follow. Low self-esteem makes a person feel out of control, overwhelmed by stress, and expection of failure. Building self-esteem takes being honest with oneself, being willing to improve, setting goals, and doing the best one can.

Occasional complaints of lack of energy, changes in sleep patterns, and irritability or moodiness are not unusual among the general population. When symptoms are severe or long-lasting and begin affecting relationships, jobs, school, and physical health, seeking help is the thing to do. Garrett County's Community Mental Health Clinic is located at the Garrett County Health Department to meet local health needs. More information is available by calling 334-1216.

International Sales Meeting Held At Phenix Technologies In Accident

Phenix Technologies, a company located in Accident's Central Garrett Industrial Park, held a sales conference last weekend, Sept. 28-30, with guests attending from as far away as Australia and New Zealand. The company has sales representatives all over the globe, and in attendance at the conference were 42 individuals from 17 states, Puerto Rico, and 16 other countries.

Event organizer Kevin Margroff explained that Phenix has a direct sales force in Accident, but that the company sells its products through a network of manufacturers' representatives in all 50 states and in most foreign countries. The local Phenix salespeople are responsible for training and supporting the sales activities of these agents.

In addition to Australia and New Zealand, countries represented last weekend included Argentina, Brazil, Canada, France, Germany, Greece, Hong Kong, Indonesia, Japan, Korea, Mexico, Spain, Sweden, and Taiwan.

The conference opened Thursday afternoon with a session at the Royal Oaks Inn, McHenry. Rudi F. Kremer, vice president for engineering, addressed the group about the engineering challenges the company will face over the next few years. Frank J. Vitez, vice president for manufacturing, outlined the company's expansion plans. Additional sessions on Friday and Saturday took place at the factory in Accident.

Founded in 1975 as American High Voltage Test Systems, the company's name was changed in early 1989 to Phenix Technologies. It has become one of the world's leading manufacturers of high voltage, high current, and high power test systems and components. All major components of the company's products are manufactured at the 22,000 square-foot facility in Accident.

Margroff noted his and the company's appreciation to the Royal Oaks Inn, as well as other local businesses that provided services for the international visitors. He had high praise for the Garrett Transit System, which provided transportation for the group. Other local businesses providing services included Silver Tree Inn, Point View Inn, Goehringer's Country Restaurant, Master-Craft Printers, Personally Yours, and the Accident Garage.

PHENIX TECHNOLOGIES WELCOMES INTERNATIONAL REPS - A sales conference was held at Phenix Technologies in Accident last weekend with 42 of the company's representatives in attendance. These representatives came to the facility in Central Garrett Industrial Park from 16 countries, Puerto Rico, and 17 states, according to Kevin Margroff, event organizer. Phenix does maintain a direct sales forces in Accident, but the company sells its products through a network of manufacturers' representatives in all 50 states and most foreign countries. Pictured above center is Phenix employee Joe Thomas as he leads one of the several groups of representatives through the facility last Friday. See story.

Both County H.S. Bands Compete At Frankfort High

Both Northern and Southern Garrett marching bands competed last Saturday in the Frankfort High School Invitational at Short Gap, W.Va. and again performed well in their respective groups.

Southern competed in Group II against Berkeley Springs and Westmar and the local group came in second with a score of 76.25, fewer than two points behind Berkeley. Westmar took third place with a score of 75.15.

Southern was awarded Group II specialty trophies for best percussion and best drum major.

Northern marched unopposed in Group I, scoring a 68.05. All specialty awards were given to the local band.

Northern Garrett will host its own competition this Saturday at the high school's athletic field. Southern will compete in Group II, and Northern will march in exhibition.

Persons of all ages are welcome to attend the party. Costumes from the '40s, or clothing featuring red, white, and blue are recommended. Music will be provided by the John Hawkins Quintet from Keyser, W.Va. Musical surprises, and dance demonstrations are also planned during the evening.

Light canteen-style refreshments will be provided. Tickets are $10 per person, and may be purchased in advance at Naylor's Hardware Store, or Flinn's Family Store, in Oakland; Reel Video, Deep Creek Lake; or G.W. Lumber, Accident. Tickets may also be purchased at the door, but at an increased cost.

Proceeds from the event will remain in the county, the spokesperson said, and will be used to help disaster victims, including single-family fire victims, and to assist military families in need. For more information, persons may call the Garrett County Red Cross director, Sandi Bucklew, at 387-2570.

ASI Executive Council Meets; Plans Activities

At the meeting of the Executive Council of the Adventuresports Institute, (ASI) held before last month's national forum, members heard about the Adventuresports program at Garrett Community College, (GCC) and other activities being planned by the institute for the coming year.

Council chairperson John Bambacus conducted the meeting held at the Wisp Resort, which was attended by council members from colleges and agencies throughout Maryland and nearby states.

Mark Spencer of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources reported on his research regarding the cost of construction of an ice rink related to a National Center for Adventuresports, and the possibility of snow making equipment for cross-country ski trails.

Mike Logsdon, director of the Adventuresports program at GCC, reported that there are currently 38 students enrolled in the program from six different states, and that two students who have already graduated have received job offers from companies in Colorado. Because of additional monies allocated to the program, a climbing wall will be built in GCC's gym, and other equipment will be purchased for the use of the students. An inflatable raft and an Olympic rowing scull have recently been donated to the program. Logsdon announced plans for GCC to host an intercollegiate adventure competition next spring that would include mountain biking, white water paddling, rock climbing, orienteering, and rescue.

A new activity of the ASI, Adventure Direct, was explained by Mike Erickson, director of Mike Erickson Associates of Medford, N.J. Referring to the new venture as an "electronic yellow pages," Erickson told how it will link adventure sports sites and suppliers into a full service network on the World Wide Web of the Internet. Consumers will have updated information about adventure news, lodges, outfitters, teachers, and participants at their finger tips.

Still other proposed activities of the ASI were reported by Don Storck executive director. According to Storck plans are being made to hold a national canoe race on the Savage River in the spring, pending approval of water release and a meeting will be held to discuss organizations of a western Maryland Cycling Association.

In closing the meeting, chairman Bambacus complimented the staff of the Adventuresports Institute for their efforts that had brought 17 presenters, 18 sponsors, and about 150 registrants to the Wisp for the first National Adventuresports Forum.

Lake Purchase

to say it's the county's greatest asset," Belmonte commented in an interview this week. In the past 30 days, Belmonte has met with District I State Senator John Hafer, District 1A Delegate George Edwards, and the Garrett County Board of Commissioners to discuss the lake buy out plan.

This week, Commissioner John Braskey commented that the group seeking to purchase the lake should determine whether District 18 property owners support the plan before proceeding with the lake-purchase strategy.

The preamble of the lake-purchase bill summarizes the philosophy behind the proposal.

"An important natural and public recreational resource such as Deep Creek Lake should be publicly owned and controlled for the protection and preservation of this natural resource for the benefit of the citizens of this state and of Garrett County," the preamble states.

Following a September, 1991, order by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) which ruled that Penelec was not required to obtain a new federal license to operate the Deep Creek Lake hydroelectric facility when the company's existing license expired on Dec. 31, 1993, FERC withdrew its regulatory control over the Deep Creek Lake project effective Jan. 1, 1994.

With the expiration of this license, Penelec was no longer required to permit recreation on the lake. However, the company entered into a five year agreement with the Maryland Department of Natural Resources which allowed the continuation of DNR's management of the lake for the benefit of both Penelec and the citizens of Maryland.

"We are pleased that we were able to reach an agreement with the State of Maryland so that users of Deep Creek Lake can continue to enjoy all of the recreational activities available," commented Penelec President Robert L. Wise at that time.

However, the lack of a permanent recreational mandate at the lake and the prospect that dock fees may rise again are causes of concern for Belmonte and his associates. He asserted that if the lake could be purchased by the property owners of District 18, continued recreational access to the lake could be assured and fees could be kept down.

Members of the POA and the lake business association met Sept. 20 to discuss the current proposal to buy the lake.

This week, though, Braskey commented that he is doubtful that the lake purchase legislation will be ready in time to reach the General Assembly this year.

Dog Survives

her home to an evening class at Garrett Community College and returned later that night, once again, to an empty yard.

Naylor called for her pet many times every day, and even rose at night to call for Shongo to come home.

Naylor drove her car to a meeting in Frederick on Thursday, and traveled to Kingwood, W.Va., to visit the Buckwheat Festival on Friday, all the while wondering about the whereabouts of her lost dog.

Naylor designed a "missing dog" poster and decided to have copies of the poster made in town on Saturday. However, when she opened her car door that day, a strange smell drew her attention. She looked throughout the interior of the car to find the source of the smell, but the search was unsuccessful.

Naylor walked to the back of her car and opened the trunk lid, and Shongo immediately jumped out. After touching noses with Naylor's pet cat, Shongo headed for his water bowl for a drink.

To help make amends with her long lost pet, Naylor brought Shongo along to her office every day this week.

AUTHOR PRESENTS BOOK TO RUTH ENLOW LIBRARY -- Bernice Kepple, of Oakland, presented a copy of her book, Treasured Memories Of My Grandma, to the Ruth Enlow Library this week. Kepple donated the book in memory of her father, Kenneth C. Walters, who died August 28, 1994. The book tells stories of the author's childhood on the farm and the influence her grandmother had on her life. It's a nostalgic look at the way things were done in the past with a tender reflection of love and family. Kepple will hold two book signings during Autumn Glory Weekend, one Friday, October 13, from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Oakland branch of the Ruth Enlow Library, and one on Saturday, October 14, from 10 a.m. to noon at Gregg's Pharmacy in Oakland. Pictured above is Sheila Hughes (left), assistant library director, accepting the book from Kepple for the Ruth Enlow Library.

Man Sentenced

their residence in Friendsville. When the state police, and sheriff's deputies arrived on the scene, Garlitz was reportedly uncooperative, and hindered the officers' attempts to investigate the incident. He was later arrested, and continued to be uncooperative while the officers attempted to photograph him and get his fingerprints, according to court records.

In other district court news, a pre-sentence investigation was ordered for Sandra K. Harvey, 33, Swanton, who was found guilty of driving while intoxicated. The conviction stemmed from charges filed by the Maryland State Police, after a Harvey was involved in a single-vehicle accident, May 3, on the Sand Flat Road. Additional charges of negligent driving, and failure to drive right of center were not prosecuted by the state's attorney. One count of possession of a controlled dangerous substance ended in a not guilty verdict for the defendant.

According to district court records, Harvey was critically injured in the accident, that also sent a passenger, Robbyn McConaha to the hospital. When the investigating officers arrived on the scene, they reportedly found a small container, containing suspected marijuana, in the defendant's purse, and learned alcohol was a factor in the accident.

During a sentence modification hearing for James H. Radford, 29, McHenry, Judge Burnett granted him probation before judgment on an earlier conviction for battery. The defendant had been charged with the offense on Sept. 12, 1994, after he reportedly spanked his 4-year-old child with a belt, causing bruising to her upper leg.

Two counts of harassment, filed against Cathy McDonald, 19, Oakland, were placed on the stet docket at the request of the complainants, Christine M. Terrant, and Jamie Bowers, who filed the charges after an incident that occurred between June 10-14.

Charges of violation of probation, filed against Donna L. DeWitt, 29, Oakland, ended in her probation being continued. The judge also ordered her to submit to mental health evaluation. DeWitt was convicted in December, 1994, of malicious destruction of property, after an April 13, 1994 incident when she used a key to scratch, and write obscenities on the side of a car, owned by Cynthia Sanders, causing approximately $1,500 damage to the vehicle.

Charles S. Friend, 24, Morgantown, W.Va., paid a $290 fine, plus $20 in court costs, after he was found guilty of killing a deer in closed season. He was charged with the offense by Ranger T. McMillan on Sept. 9.

DWI CASES

The following DWI (driving while intoxicated) and DUI (driving under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) cases were heard in recent district court proceedings.

William Paris Clemons, 35, Md., pleaded guilty to one count of DUI. He was fined $150, sentenced to 30 days in jail, with all of the sentence suspended except 48 hours, and placed on one year of supervised probation. Conditions of his probation state he must complete 40 hours of community service, attend a 26-week alcohol treatment program with his local health department, and a one-year alcohol restriction was placed on his driver's license. His arrest for the offense was on April 23.

Patricia Hoffman Leonard, 40, Pa., was convicted of one count of DWI. She was fined $350, sentenced to a 30-day jail term (suspended), and placed on 12 months of supervised probation. She was also ordered to attend an eight-week alcohol treatment program, and a one-year alcohol restriction was placed on her driver's license. She was charged with DWI on May 27.

Michele Ann Turgeon, 27, N.H., pleaded guilty to DUI in Judge Burnett's court. She was fined $150, handed a 30-day suspended sentence, and placed on one year of supervised probation. Conditions of her probation also state she must complete 20 hours of community service, attend an eight-week alcohol treatment program, and a one-year alcohol restriction was placed on her driver's license. She was arrested for DWI on April 22.

Dewayne Emerson Ashby, 42, Oakland, was found to be in violation of his probation, stemming from an earlier DWI conviction. The judge opted to reimpose a 20-day jail term for the offender.

"Bark House" To Be On Red Cross Christmas Tour

Among the houses included in this year's "Home for the Holidays" Christmas tours, which will be held Dec. 1 and 2 to benefit the Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross, is the home of Robert and Gretchen Shaffer, located on High Street, Oakland.

The house, originally called the "bark house," was built in the late 1800's or early 1900's by William R. Stull. Gilmore S. Hamill purchased the house in 1911, and five generations of the Hamill family occupied the home. Gilmore's father, Judge Patrick Hamill, was a founder of Garrett County, and a large portrait of him hangs in the dining room.

The original house had a large porch across the front, facing High Street, and a second-story sun-room that jutted out over the driveway. The house was covered with heavy bark that served as shingles; hence the name "bark house."

One of the more unique features of the original house was a self-contained reservoir system that served the bathrooms and kitchen. Two large metal storage tanks were built into a third-floor crawl space, and were filled from the well by a hand pump or gasoline pump. The tanks are still in place, according to the Shaffers.

The owners said the house "is not fancy," and does not have elaborate interior trimming. However, it does feature a spiral staircase to the second floor. The rooms on the first floor are large, with 10-foot high ceilings.

The downstairs hallway contains a tall mirror from the old Oakland Hotel, which was built by the B&O Railroad in 1876. There are two large bedrooms and two smaller ones on the second floor, as well as a sewing room and two full baths. The third floor consists of a large game room and three small rooms.

The house will be fully decorated for the Christmas season, with several trees. The decorations will include a collection of Annalee Christmas dolls, the Shaffers said.

The tours will be held from 4 to 9 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 1, and from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 2. The ticket price is $5 per person, which entitles the holder to visit all five homes on the tour.

"BARK HOUSE" TO BE PART OF CHRISTMAS TOUR - The "Bark House," owned by Robert and Gretchen Shaffer and located on High Street in Oakland, will be a part of the Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross Christmas House Tours. This home was built in the late 1800's or early 1900's by William R. Stull, and was purchased in 1911 by Gilmore S. Hamill. Five generations of the Hamill family occupied the home. The house was originally called the bark house, not because of the canine pictured in foreground, but rather because the home was covered with heavy bark that served as shingles. See story.

Oakland Man Arrested By Cumberland PD

An Oakland man was arrested Tuesday evening in Cumberland, after the police there responded to the report of a suspicious person in the vicinity of Maple Street.

Danny A. Stemple, 41, was charged with indecent exposure, and possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS), following the 6:06 p.m. incident, Cumberland Police said.

The responding officers arrested Stemple after they found him, partially clothed, and inhaling a suspected glue from a plastic bag.

Stemple was being held Wednesday in the Allegany County Detention Center, in lieu of $3,500 bond.

Three Sustain Minor Injuries In Car Crash

Three people were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital Tuesday following a two-car pile-up at the intersection of Rts. 219 and 135. All individuals transported sustained only minor injuries and were treated and released, according to a report from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

Ruth A. Gaither-Holm, 30, St. George, W.Va., was operating a 1988 Plymouth Reliant southbound on Ninth Street when she allegedly went through a red light and hit an eastbound 1989 Subaru being driven by Tina L. Rodcheaver, 24, Mtn. Lake Park. Rodeheaver and two passengers - Vicki Harvey, 21, and Timothy Schmidt, 2, both of Mtn. Lake Park - were all transported to the hospital by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad. The baby had been secured in a child safety seat, according to the report, and sustained no injuries.

Gaither-Holm was cited for failure to obey a traffic signal, according to the report. The accident was reported at 5:40 p.m.

Bloodmobile Nets 167 Pints During Oakland Visit

Last Friday's visit of the American Red Cross Bloodmobile to Oakland yielded a total of 167 pints of blood to exceed the 150-pint goal for the visit, according to Elizabeth Huxford, coordinator.

There were 175 persons who presented themselves to donate, with eight being deferred for various reasons. Six responders were first-time donors: Lorene Upperman, Cathy Ford, and Georgia Cheshire, all of Oakland; Suzanne Ryan, Loch Lynn; Veronica Brewster, Mtn. Lake Park; and one who wished to remain anonymous.

Donating their eighth pint of blood and thus reaching the one-gallon level were Jason Rush, J. Scott Rush, and Marlon George. Lloyd Petersheim and Carolyn Tichinell reached the two-gallon level, Ernest R. Shiffy and Wilma Petersheim became four-gallon donors, and Roger Shaffer and Marilyn Kight reached five gallons. The top milestone reached was seven gallons (56 pints) by Harold Bittinger.

The canteen for the visit was sponsored by Oakland Masonic Lodge #192. Volunteers assisting Red Cross personnel were: Rosalie Baker, Beverly Beard, Ethel Cosner, Carol Dearden, Shonna DeWitt, Artie Dixon, Becca Harvey, Wanda Kutchman, Patricia Morfoot, Ginger Paugh, and Mrs. Huxford.

"The response to the bloodmobile was overwhelming," Mrs. Huxford said.

The next visit by the bloodmobile to Oakland will be December 15. The Post 71 American Legion home, located along Memorial Drive, will host the visit.

Increased Access Now Available To GRIC Consumers

Several benefits to consumers of the Garrett Community Network (GCNET), Garrett County's "electronic gateway to the world," have been implemented as a result of decisions made by the Board of Directors of the Garrett Rural Information Cooperative (GRIC) at a recent meeting. According to Don Storck, project director of GRIC, the changes are an outgrowth of the board's commitment to provide affordable access to residents and businesses in this rural community.

One of the changes resulted in an increase in the amount of network time permitted for daily use by residential users from two to four hours per day, according to Storck. Both business and residential subscribers will also be able to purchase additional, unlimited on-line time at the rate of 50 cents per additional hour.

Another new benefit to subscribers is the addition of a "Grantsville" 895 exchange for the Garrett Community Network. All residents, businesses and organizations within Garrett County and adjacent areas in Maryland and Pennsylvania can now access local, national, and world-wide information and telecommunications services through a local phone call. The numbers to access the network are now 387-0050, 895-4162 or 245-4035.

At the meeting, board members also heard an update of GRIC activities during of the Garrett County Network's first month of operation. According to Storck, there are now over 100 accounts on the network.

Dr. Steve Herman, chairperson of the Garrett Rural Information Cooperative announced that the annual meeting for GRIC general membership has been scheduled for November 9, from 7-9 p.m. at the college. It is open to the public.

Persons interested in further information about the Garrett Community Network may call the GCNET Help Desk at 387-3048.

Daniel Beachy Family Book Now Available

The history of a local family has been published in book form, and is now available for sale, according to its authors, M. Marie and Paul H. Yoder, Grantsville. The Daniel Beachy Family of Aurora, West Virginia, is a 280-page geneaology and family history of Daniel and Elizabeth Beachy's descendants.

The authors of the book have compiled, in chronological order, a story about Daniel Beachy (1820-1897) and Elizabeth Yoder (1825-1892), from their births throughout their youth and marriage, using journals, old records, and letters preserved through the years.

Daniel and Elizabeth Beachy were married Oct. 10, 1847, and lived for a time in the Flatwoods area (now Accident). They later moved to Aurora, where Daniel served as an Amish minister and bishop. They had 14 children, and numerous grandchildren, who married into the following families: Bender, Brenneman, Hershberger, Lichty, Lohr, Maust, Miller, Orendorf, Schramm, Stutzman, Swartzentruber, Taylor, and Yoder. Glimpses into the life and personality of each of the children are provided from journals, diaries, and letters, as well as stories and memories "handed down" through the generations.

"The family stories are delightful, and make the reader really feel as though they are sitting beside the family members as they read excerpts from their journals and/or letters," one author noted. "The history value of this book will not only be appreciated by Beachy descendants, but also by historians and genealogists."

Each book is $14.50 (which includes $2.50 for shipping), until 1996, at which time the cost will be raised to $15.50, and may be ordered from M. Marie and Paul H. Yoder, 507 Hemlock Drive, Grantsville, MD 21536. Maryland residents are asked to also include a 5 percent sales tax. It is also available at Valley View Country Store, Pleasant Valley; Yoder's Fabric Shop, Gortner; Grace's Crafts on the Joni Miller Road; or at Yoder's Country Market, Grantsville.

AUTHORS PAUL H. AND M. MARIE YODER, Grantsville, are pictured here with copy of their recently-published book, The Daniel Beachy Family of Aurora, West Virginia, a geneaology and family history of the Daniel and Elizabeth (Yoder) Beachy. The book is available for sale from the authors, or at local locations throughout the county. (See story)

HAIR HELD HOSTAGE - After placing second in the state in last year's National Multiple Sclerosis Society U.G.L.Y. Bartender Contest, Kim Sears of the Oakland Elk's Club, pictured above, has set her sights on the number one position this year. Sears and fellow Elk's bartender Rhonda Harsh raised almost $8,000 to place second in the state in last year's contest. This year, Sears hopes to raise $17,000 for the MS society before Halloween night, and has promised to shave her head if she reaches that goal. Last year's state winner, Marie Solowski of Kelly's, Baltimore, set the high water mark of $17,000, a total which Sears hopes to top in the next month. To achieve this goal, Sears has planned a month of fund-raising events for the club, including an indoor miniature golf tournament which will tee-off tonight at 7 p.m. and the Elk's annual Red Neck Olympics which will be held Saturday afternoon. To draw participants to these and other events, Sears solicited 200 local businesses for prizes to be given to contest winners. Sears has slated numerous other events, including a mini walk-a-thon, a Karaoke Halloween party, a boxer short contest, and a pie throwing event, all aimed to raise funds for the MS Society.

Local Schools Using "JumpStart" Library Program

Three area elementary schools - Grantsville, Route 40, and Salisbury (Pa.) - recently joined a reading incentive program titled "JumpStart," which is sponsored by The Prudential, in conjunction with Friends of Libraries U.S.A. (FOLUSA). JumpStart is a nationwide program that encourages parents and teachers to bring children (first through third graders) to their local libraries during the month of October to receive their first library cards.

"JumpStart is a wonderful program for bringing together a new partnership of parents, schools, libraries, and businesses on behalf of children," said Kim Lishia, branch manager at the Grantsville library.

The schools have been given JumpStart packages, which include a 10-page newsletter for parents and a classroom poster and stickers for the children. The newsletter offers tips to parents on motivating children to read and explains how the library and librarians can help children acquire the skill of reading early in life.

The newsletter also contains a "temporary" library card that the student can take to the library and exchange for an official card. The temporary card then becomes an entry into a sweepstakes with the grand prize of a $50,000 contribution to a child's college expense fund. Other prizes include MacIntosh Performa computers, World Book encyclopedias, and Childcraft resource libraries. Participating public and school libraries are eligible to win cash and other prizes, according to a spokesperson from The Prudential.

For more information about this program, persons may contact Terry M. Hillegas at 814-662-4354.

Living In The Country - New TV Series To Be Launched At TV-3

TV-3 in McHenry will launch a new television series by Jorn Bramann later this month. The title of the series is "Living in the Country" and will consist of half-hour video essays, interviews, reports, and philosophical reflections dealing with living outside the metropolitan areas. Bramann will interview area residents, collaborate with local writers, and record political discussions while providing footage reflecting the physical aspects of the Appalachian region, according to Jim Garner, owner of TV-3.

Presenting the arts of the area will be of particular importance, Garner said. Bramann spent many weeks videotaping the flora and fauna of the mountains, interviewing painters and musicians, and covering panel discussions of such projects as Corridor H, the proposed new super highway that is to cut across the Monongahela National Forest.

TV-3 is presently carried by the SRW cable system, servicing Deep Creek Lake and areas further south through Swanton. The channel is to appear on the TRIAX system between this month and December, Garner reported.

Bramann works in the studio of TV-3, but also receives assistance from Frostburg State University's Instructional Technology Center and its staff. Bramann expects that locally licensed cable systems will become increasingly receptive to the work of local independent video producers. He maintains that there is a lot of local talent that has not yet been tapped: musicians, writers, actors, and videographers among others.

Bramann is an associate professor of philosophy at Frostburg State University, but has also worked as an independent video producer for several years. He has published two screenplays and has produced several small pieces for television.

One of Bramann's main collaborators is Jim Ralston, an instructor of creative writing at Shepherd College, and a columnist for the Charleston Gazette in Charleston, W.Va. Ralston will provide many of the texts for "Living in the Country," as well as co-host some of the discussions. Ralston recently had a screenplay published by Nightsun Books.

Bramann can be reached through the philosophy department at Frostburg State University, or through TV-3, Box 810, McHenry, Maryland, 21541; telephone 387-2080.

Medicines Used for Heart Disease

Heart disease continues to be the leading cause of death in men and women. Heart attacks, which are one potential result of heart disease, occur annually in approximately 1.5 million Americans. An astonishing one-third of all heart attack victims die. Recently, the focus of health experts has been to emphasize 4 risk factors of heart disease that can be changed (high blood cholesterol, high blood pressure, physical inactivity, and cigarette smoking). Life-style changes and certain medicines can help reduce the incidence and devastation of heart disease. Medicines commonly identified for prevention and treatment of heart disease include:

Beta blockers block adrenaline-like stimulation of the heart. They reduce oxygen demands on the heart during periods of physical activity or excitement.

Calcium channel blockers block passage of calcium into the muscle cells that cause heart and blood vessel contraction. This keeps the heart and vessels relaxed and blood pressure reduced.

Anticoagulants inhibit the clotting of the blood. Blood thinners such as aspirin interfere with the "clumping" or binding of blood platelets.

Heart vessel dilators relieve angina pain by reducing the oxygen demands of heart muscle.

THANK YOU!

The Dennett Road Elementary School P.T.O. would like to say Thank You to the following businesses and parent volunteers for donating materials, labor, time and thoughtfulness into making our playgrounds a much more enjoyable area to play. Without your kindness, major improvements at our school would not have been possible.

Sincerely,

Duckworth Wins For Huskies

Rams Flatten All Foes In Area Cross Country Meet

Total dominance of the area's high school cross-country competition by the Southern High School teams continued this week, as the Rams' varsity and junior varsity teams, both boys and girls, coasted to victory in the Area Meet, held Tuesday afternoon at Allegany Community College in Cumberland.

The results left the Southern boys' varsity, coached by Carl Booth, with an incredible record of 34-0 for the season, while the Southern girls' varsity, coached by Louis Newcomb, upped its record to 35-2.

The Southern boys, who are the two-time defending 1A state champions, placed five runners among the top 10 finishers to finish with 30 team points and a victory over the eight other teams in the event, while the Southern girls placed three in the top 10 to win the 10-team competition with 51 points.

Fort Hill placed a distant second in the boys' race with 70 points, followed by Allegany with 78, Hampshire with 99, Frankfort with 110, Keyser with 162, Beall with 182, Northern with 195, and Westmar with 259.

Allegany's Justin Taylor, who surged past Southern's Todd Howard down the final stretch to the finish, was the fastest runner of the day, as he set a new course record of 15 minutes, 50 seconds for the 3.1-mile course. Howard's time, which also broke the previous course record, was 15:57.

Southern's Kevin Andrews finished sixth in 16:50, Dan Sincell placed eighth in 16:59, and Mike Bittinger was ninth with a time of 17:03.

Leading the Northern boys' varsity was Mark Shawley, who finished 27th (18:16). Scott Bowser was 37th, Jason Artice finished 41st, Aaron Hordubay was 42nd, Matt Kauffman placed 48th, and Matt Thomas was 57th.

Placing second in the girls' varsity race was Frankfort with 80 points, followed by Northern with 92, Keyser with 96, Hampshire with 107, Allegany with 112, Fort Hill with 120, Westmar with 247, and Beall and Mt. Savage with incomplete scores.

Leading the Rams was Lauren Newcomb, who placed third with a time of 20:30. Meghan Dabney finished sixth in 21:20, Amy Snyder was seventh in 21:23, and Andrea Devens placed 12th with a time of 21:54.

Northern's Kendra Duckworth won the girls' race with a time of 19:58, second fastest ever recorded by a female runner on the ACC course, while her teammate Stacy Dolan placed 11th in 21:40.

Other Northern runners and their order of finish were: Rachel Gosnell, 24th; Stephanie Dolan, 30th; Janel Hordubay, 32nd; Megan Sines, and Chrissy Umbel.

Keyser's Courtney Taylor finished second with a time of 20:15.

In the junior varsity boys' race, Matt Sincell led four Rams to the top four finishes, as he won the race with a time of 18:10. Todd Gibson placed second in 18:38, while Justin Hershman and Sean Conroy finished side by side in 18:41.

Four of the top five finishers in the girls' junior varsity race were from Southern, as Jennifer Pariseau won with a time of 24:02 and was followed by Erika Durst in 24:08 and Rachel Robinette in 24:11. Mariah McBee finished fifth with a time of 24:55.

Southern also won the girls' freshman race with a score of 24, followed by Capon Bridge with 31 and incomplete scores by Frankfort and Keyser. Keri Strubin led the Southern girls with a second place finish in 24:23, while Nicole Frazee and Jody Bowser finished sixth and seventh, respectively. Capon Bridge's Corrie Largent won the race with a time of 23:57.

The boys' freshman race was won by Romney Junior High; however Southern's Casey McBee was the individual winner of that event, recording a time of 18:42.

The Rams will race again this Saturday in the annual Frostburg State University Invitational, to be held at Rocky Gap State Park. Southern will then host Preston County next Tuesday in a 4 p.m. race. The Huskies will not compete again until Oct. 21 when they host the WMIL Conference Meet.

POISED FOR A BLOCK of a shot on goal by Southern's Joey DiSimone is Northern keeper Matt Fritz, who excelled in Tuesday's contest between the Rams and the Huskies at the Cove, a match that was won by Southern in the closing moments of the game, 3-2. DiSimone scored one goal for the Rams, as did Dan Nelson, pictured far left background. Other Huskies in the photo are: #11 Derek Berger, #6 Matt Fletcher, and #10 Joe Weimer. Below, Southern's Meghan Dabney looks somewhat like a bull ready to charge, as she heads the ball over Northern defender, Derek Berger. In the background is Southern's Steve Goralski. The Huskies held a 2-0 lead until the final 15 minutes when the Rams erupted for three goals to improve their record to 3-4. The Husky line-up sustained a major loss when Jim Warnick went down with a broken leg. See story.

Late-Game Surge Leads Rams Past Huskies, 3-2

In one of the area's most exciting high school soccer matches so far this season, the Southern High Rams rallied from a 2-0 deficit in the final 15 minutes of the game Tuesday night at the Cove to record a 3-2 win over the upset-minded Northern Huskies.

It was the third win in seven games for the Rams, while the Huskies are still working to record their first victory. Northern's outstanding effort against Southern was similar to that demonstrated against a strong Fort Hill team last Thursday night in a match that the Huskies lost 4-2 (see separate story).

Foreign exchange student Gus Karlburg gave the Huskies a 1-0 lead with his goal on a direct kick at the 28:39 mark of the first half, as the ball careened off the fingers of Southern keeper Justin Helbig.

The score remained 1-0 the rest of the first half and it wasn't until the 29:25 mark of the second half that Karlburg repeated his effort with another direct kick goal. Helbig again got his hands on the rain-soaked ball and again could not control it.

Fifteen more minutes expired from the clock and, just when it was beginning to appear that the Huskies would record not only their first win, but a win over their Garrett County rivals, a shot by Southern's Danny Nelson off an assist by Steve Pariseau cut Northern's lead in half and kept the Ram hopes alive.

The score was tied less than five minutes later when Southern forward Joey DiSimone broke through the Northern defense and pushed a gentle shot past the arms of Northern keeper Matt Fritz.

With just over two minutes to play and an overtime period looking more and more likely, Danny Nelson scored the winning goal for the Rams off an assist by Chad Lovett.

An even greater loss for the Huskies was in the form of a serious injury to Jimmy Warnick, who sustained a broken leg near the end of the game and will be out of action for the rest of the season.

Fritz played an outstanding game in the goal for the Huskies, as he finished with 25 saves, while Helbig recorded 17 for the Rams. Southern finished with a 28-17 advantage in shots on goal and a 2-1 edge in corner kicks.

It was the eighth loss in as many starts for the Huskies, who will play again this evening at home against Westmar while the Rams will be hosting Salisbury.

The Rams will entertain Bishop Walsh next Tuesday.

Huskies Drop 4-2 Decision To Fort Hill

The Northern High School varsity soccer team is still working to record its first win, an effort that fell just short not once, but twice this past week, as the Huskies dropped a 4-2 decision to visiting Fort Hill last Thursday and were then edged by county rival Southern Tuesday night, 3-2 (see separate story on Southern match).

Although Fort Hill came to the Cove as a heavy favorite, having lost only one match this season (5-1), the Huskies weren't about to lie down for the Sentinels.

It was at the 22:07 mark of the first half that Brian Hallam gave the Sentinels a 1-0 lead with his goal on an assist by Jason Ward.

The Huskies responded just over six minutes later with a goal by foreign exchange student Gustav Karlburg on a free kick.

Ryan Alam recorded an unassisted goal for Fort Hill with 11:44 remaining in the half, but once again the Huskies knotted the score at 2-2 when John Durst nailed an unassisted goal early in the second half.

The Sentinels took the lead for good on a shot by Brett Silber off an assist by Danny James. With less than three minutes left in the game, Hallam crossed the ball to Ryan Fletcher who re-directed it into the net for an insurance goal.

Fort Hill finished with a 28-10 advantage in shots on goal and a 5-2 edge in corner kicks.

Northern keeper Matt Fritz was credited with 16 saves, while Ryan Sawyers had seven for Fort Hill and Jason McCoy recorded two.

Rams Rip Trojans, 39-0, For Fourth Straight Win

The Southern Rams scored all the points they would need on their first play from scrimmage Friday night, as they coasted to a 39-0 victory over the visiting Hampshire High Trojans and upped their season record to 4-0.

Hampshire took the opening kickoff, but had to punt on the fourth down, setting up the Rams' first of five touchdowns on the evening.

Junior running back Aaron Newcomb received the nod on that off-tackle play, broke through the center of the Hampshire defense, and sprinted 57 yards to the end zone. Joel Uphold ran for the extra two points to give the Rams an 8-0 lead.

After the Trojans failed to move the ball again on their next possession and punted the ball away, the Rams' first play in that series looked like an instant replay of the first scoring run, as Newcomb carried the ball on the same play and the same route through the Hampshire defense, but this time ran 73 yards for his second touchdown of the evening. Howard Crosco's successful run for the two-point conversion put the Rams up 16-0 still early in the first quarter.

The Trojan coaching staff and players then made some adjustments that shut down the Ram offense for the rest of the first quarter and most of the second period, but in the meantime the visitors' offense remained unable to move the ball effectively against the tenacious Southern defense.

It was at the 1:56 mark of the second quarter that the Rams capped another drive with a four-yard touchdown run by Crosco, followed by a two-point conversion pass from Andy Woods to Dave Stephens, giving Southern a 24-0 halftime lead.

The Rams kept the momentum into the second half and put 16 more points on the board in the third quarter. A drive that featured a 42-yard pass from Woods to Uphold culminated with a three-yard touchdown run by Uphold. Nathan Rickman hauled in a deflected pass from Woods for the two-point conversion to give Southern a 32-0 advantage.

The final points of the evening were recorded by Uphold on a two-yard carry late in the third period. The opportunity was set up by an interception by Danny Compitello. Uphold booted the extra point.

As in the previous game against Keyser, Coach Tom Woods utilized his second and third team personnel throughout the fourth quarter.

PICKING UP YARDAGE on the ground for the Southern Rams against the Hampshire High defense is senior quarterback Andy Woods, who has guided his team to its current 4-0 record. Throwing a block on the play is Aaron Newcomb, #29, who scored a pair of touchdowns in the early moments of the contest. The Rams coasted to a 39-0 victory and will go after win number five this Friday at Northern. Friday's game was also Homecoming for Southern, and crowned homecoming queen and king were Hillary Garris and Kevin Andrews, pictured at left with school principal Art Refosco.

Newcomb finished with 152 yards on nine carries, while Woods gained 50 yards on four attempts and Crosco had 45 yards on 10 carries.

The Rams finished with 333 yards of offense, with 284 of that on the ground, while the Trojans managed just 136 yards.

Spearheading the Ram defensive unit were Crosco, who had five tackles, and Justin Steyer.

"We played very well in the second half," noted Coach Woods. "Usually when you score so early in a game it means that it's going to be a landslide, or you will go a little flat. Our kids got a little complacent until the second half, and then they played with great enthusiasm and executed very well. Overall, we were extremely pleased."

Woods said his greatest concern going into the game was the enthusiasm with which Hampshire has played all year. "They have a good base of talent and they never quit," he said.

The Rams will be a heavy favorite again this week when they travel north to tangle with their county rivals the Northern Huskies, an experienced team that, for reasons unknown even to their coaches, is struggling. After opening with a win over Keyser, the Huskies have dropped three straight games, at least two of which they were favored to win (Tucker County and Westmar).

"We consider Northern a team that has great potential," Woods said. "They have a lot of seniors and eight or nine starters back on both sides of the ball. Inconsistency has really haunted them. They play real well and then, for whatever reason, they go into a lull.

"All of us (coaches) have had teams that have experienced that, and it's really frustrating," he said. "I know that it's been frustrating for Tom Vent (Northern's coach). But we also know that Northern will be, as always, emotionally prepared for this game against us, and they will be well prepared from a coaching standpoint."

Woods believes that Vent has made a wise decision in recently altering his offense to a split-back veer and moving sophomore John Snelling (5-10, 165) to quarterback. "Snelling gives them a strong running threat from the quarterback position," he said.

Woods is also impressed by senior running back Brian Heslop (6-0, 184), calling him "one of the premier backs in the area," and junior back Zack Leverenz (5-11, 151).

The up-front people whom Woods considers among the better in the area are senior tackle Dave Schofield (6-5, 257) and junior center Doug Sines (6-2, 216).

"They can also throw against you with Tim Sines (senior split end, 5-10, 145) and Andy Brenneman (senior tight end, 6-1, 163)," Wood said.

"They are a lot like us offensively; their bread and butter is just driving the ball behind a big line with several experienced backs carrying the ball," he said.

Defensively, the Huskies have moved from a 6-2 to a 5-3 formation, which again Woods believes "better suits their personnel."

The Huskies are led defensively by senior tackle Bill Spicher (6-1, 231), Heslop at linebacker, senior corner Matt Umbel (5-11, 150), and junior lineman Brandon Baumgardner (5-8, 177).

"Our fear is that it will be this Friday night that everything gels for the Huskies," Woods said. "They are definitely not out of the playoff picture yet and a win over us would really propel them toward a potential 7-3 finish. They have everything to gain."

Woods never has a problem giving his team an example of what overconfidence can do to a team. It was in 1984 that the Huskies were 2-7 and the Rams were riding a 9-0 mark, and Northern came to Oakland and defeated the Rams.

"Mathematically that year we were a 96-point favorite in that game, and we lost," Woods said, "and it has been a great lesson that I have shared with every team since then."

Woods referred to the Northern game as "the most important game on our schedule; even more important than the playoffs."

"This is a great rivalry between kids who are good friends off the field," he said.

Missing from the line-up this week for the Rams will be Dale Shoch, who sustained a knee sprain in the Hampshire game. He is expected to be back in action next week.

Woods also noted that the Southern junior varsity will host the Northern jayvees this Saturday at 10 a.m.

Friday's kickoff at Husky Stadium is set for 7:30 p.m.

Huskies' Frustation Climbs With Defeat By Westmar

Frustration continued Friday night for the Northern High School varsity football team and its coaches, as the Huskies saw their record dip to 1-3 with a 24-8 loss to visiting Westmar.

Granted, the Wildcats came into the game as one of the area's undefeated teams (3-0); however, the caliber of competition in their first three outings was somewhat suspect. The Huskies are also one of the most experienced teams in the area, but a team that has "shot itself in the foot" repeatedly since recording an opening-season victory over Keyser.

Big senior fullback Wes Ours (6-1, 240) basically had his way with the Northern defensive unit, as he powered his way to nearly 150 yards rushing and a pair of touchdowns. Westmar finished with 352 yards of offense, of which 277 was on the ground, while the Huskies managed just 155 yards of offense.

A tackle by Westmar's Justin Smith in the Huskies' end zone for a safety early in the first quarter, which gave the Wildcats a 2-0 lead, seemed to set the stage for the game. Before the final buzzer, the Huskies would fumble the ball eight times, and although they lost only one of those fumbles, each time the mishandling cost them yardage in their drives. They also had a drive stalled by a Wildcat interception.

Ours put the visitors up 8-0 later in the first quarter with a three-yard touchdown run. The pass for the extra two points was incomplete.

Westmar doubled their score in the second quarter when Joey Langham connected with Ed Andrews on a 37-yard touchdown pass and Aaron Wilt ran successfully for the two-point conversion.

The Wildcats basically put the game out of reach for the Huskies in the third quarter when Ours recorded his second TD of the game, this time on a seven-yard run, and Wilt again ran for the two-point conversion, giving Westmar a commanding 24-0 lead.

The Northern offense averted a shutout in the fourth period when Brian Heslop scored a touchdown on an 11-yard run and Nick Mitchell passed to Heslop for the conversion.

"I'm really not sure where we're headed right now," stated a frustrated Tom Vent, head coach of the Huskies. "I still believe we are a better team than this. Right now it's really difficult to assess just how good we are."

Vent was quick to give credit, however, to the Westmar team. "The Ours boy is a real 'legitimate' football player who would excel on any high school team, no matter how big the school is. He really controlled the game for Westmar.

"But we continue to be our own worst enemy," he continued. "We just keep making mistakes that are costing us ball games. We work and work in practice on these things, but we are really having trouble putting our finger on just what the problem is."

Nevertheless, Vent says his team will be "ready and anxious" to play again this Friday night, even though the Huskies will be facing what most believe to be the toughest opponent on their schedule - cross-county rival Southern.

"The Rams are without a doubt one of the best teams in the state overall, and I believe they are the single best 1A team in the state," Vent said.

The Northern coach said that his staff is "very impressed" with the offensive line of the Rams, that has been successful in opening holes against the defensive units of teams such as Allegany and Musselman.

"But besides that, they have so many weapons," Vent said. "Aaron Newcomb (running back) has been doing a super job for them, but they are also getting excellent games from their other backs: (Joel) Uphold, (Howard) Crosco, and Andy Woods.

"Offensively, it is a typical Tom Woods/Southern football team," he continued. "They just keep hammering you with basically the same stuff they have always used. About the only change this year is that they are using some wing-T, although it's a little different from ours."

Defensively, Vent knows that Southern's first-team unit is allowing only about three points per outing, again against some strong opposition.

"Southern is a very good team on both sides of the ball," he said, "and they know how to win. We tip our hats to them for their success."

However, Vent said his team will "definitely show up" this Friday and "doesn't plan to quit."

"I still believe that we have a good team, and no one should count us out yet," he said. "We plan to pull out all the stops. The pressure is really more on Southern than on us at this point.

"If we can't get motivated for this game, then our problems are a whole lot more serious than we thought," Vent said. "We're going to do everything we can to win."

The kickoff at Husky Stadium is slated for 7:30 p.m.

LOOKING FOR AN OPENING in the Westmar defense is Northern running back Brian Heslop, who found the going difficult against the undefeated Wildcats. Westmar won the contest, 24-8, dropping the Huskies to 1-3 on the season. The Huskies will face another stiff challenge this week when they host the Southern Rams (4-0), the third undefeated team in four games on the Northern schedule. Other Huskies in the photo above are #51 Todd Smith and #32 John Snelling.

Jets Roll Over Steelers, 28-14; Still Unbeaten

The Oakland Jets upped their Mountaintop Football League record to 4-0 on the season with 28-14 win over the Northern Steelers Saturday evening at Northern.

The Jets' first touchdown was set up by a 53-yard dash by Jordan Uphold to the one-yard line. Josh Bosley capped the six-play, 65-yard drive. Bosley's kick was good and the Jets led 8-0.

The teams traded possessions before Steeler running back T.J. Snelling broke loose on a 54-yard jaunt on the first play of the second quarter. The conversion attempt failed and the score was 8-6.

Starting at their own 35-yard line, the Jets methodically moved the ball down the field behind the running of Bosley and Uphold. On the 11th play of the drive, Uphold broke free on a 16-yard scamper for the TD. The PAT failed and the Jets led 14-6 at the half.

The Steelers took possession of the ball to start the second half and proceeded to drive the ball deep into Jet territory. On the 9th play of the drive, Snelling broke free for a 24-yard touchdown run. The PAT kick by Snelling was good and the score was tied 14-14.

The tie didn't last long, as on the third play of the Jets' next possession, Uphold bolted 56 yards for his second touchdown of the game. The PAT failed.

The teams again traded possessions and, after a punt by the Steelers, the Jets had possession of the ball on their own 37-yard line. The ensuing nine-play drive was capped when Justin Liller found Christian Warfield wide open in the Steeler secondary for a nine-yard scoring strike. Bosley booted the two-point conversion to end the scoring.

Uphold had 178 yards on 20 carries and Bosley recorded 64 yards on 14 carries. Snelling carried 18 times for 167 yards for the Steelers.

Snelling, Nathan Resh, P.J. Workman, Ryan Savage, and Ryan Brenneman excelled on defense for the Steelers. Jonathan Browning, Bosley, Uphold, John and Jeremy Hayhurst, Brad Palmer, and Larry Bernard led the Jet defense. Jason Rohrbaugh and Jeremy Hayhurst had fumble recoveries for the Jets.

The Steelers, now 3-2 on the season, will be idle this week. The Jets, 4-0, will be back in action this Sunday at home against the Parsons Vikings. Game time is 3:30. The Oakland Raiders will also return to action on Sunday as they play the Davis-Thomas Rams in the 1:30 contest at the Southern field.

Laker Netters Win Three Of Four Matches

The women's volleyball team of Garrett Community College recorded victories this past week over three opponents and lost to one to up its season mark to 10-3 overall and 4-1 in the Maryland JUCO rankings.

The Lakers, coached by Margaret Quinn, topped host Prince George's CC on Friday, 3-1, defeated Cecil CC on Saturday, also 3-1, and stopped Prince George's again in a tri-match at Hagerstown Junior College yesterday, 2-0. They lost to Hagerstown, 3-0.

Nikki Meyers led Garrett against Prince George's on Friday, as she recorded 19 service points, including seven aces, made good on 33 of 35 attacks with 17 kills, and had four blocks. Garrett won the first game, 15-8, lost the second, 15-9, and won the next two, 15-0 and 15-3.

Lynn Wiles was perfect in serving (15 of 15) with one ace, Becky DeWitt was successful on 45 of 46 sets and had 24 assists, and Amanda Tikey was 17-for-17 in serves and 32-for-35 in attacks with 11 kills. Klarissa Wiles recorded 18 service points with five aces.

Meyers again led the way on Saturday in the win over Cecil, as she racked up 23 service points with seven aces and had 16 kills.

The Lakers won the first two games, 15-7 and 15-10, lost the third, 15-11, and won the fourth, 15-8.

Tikey finished with 16 service points, 13 kills and 15 sets, while Lynn Wiles recorded 14 points and DeWitt had 12.

The Lakers were dominated by Hagerstown last night, 15-3, 15-6, and 15-4. Tikey had eight service points, was 10-for-16 in receptions, and 16-for-20 in attacks with six kills. Meyers went 19-for-26 in attacks with eight kills.

In the 15-9, 15-8 win over Prince George's, Lynn Wells led Garrett with 18 service points, including two aces, while Tickey added nine points with three aces and was five-for-eight in receptions.

Meyers went 19-for-22 in attacks with 11 kills, Klarissa Wiles had one kill in a five-for-seven effort, and Tikey went eight-for-10 with four kills.

The Lakers will play again this Saturday in the Catonsville tournament.

Huskies Record Victories Over BW And Beall

The girls' varsity volleyball team at Northern High School upped its record to 5-3 this week with victories over visiting Bishop Walsh on Monday and over Beall last night, also at the Cove.

Leslie Buckel and Chelsea Frickey combined for 25 service points in the 15-7, 15-12, 15-8 win over Bishop Walsh, with Buckel recording 13 and Frickey, 12. Lea Stanton and Mindy McCarty each had six kills for the Huskies, while Nikki Elliott added three.

Pacing BW was Allison Konczyk with eight points.

The Northern junior varsity continued its unbeaten streak with an easy 15-2, 15-0 win in the preliminary match. Amy Hinebaugh and Jennifer Stephens each recorded seven service points for the Huskies, while Brooke Brenneman had four kills.

Buckel led the way again last night for the Northern varsity in a 15-6, 15-13, 15-2 win over Beall, as she recorded 18 service points, including four aces. Stanton added eight points with three aces, McCarty finished with nine kills, and Elliott had four kills.

Leading Beall was Diana Pryor with six points.

The Northern jayvees upped their mark to 8-0 with a 15-6, 15-7 victory in the second match. Karena Layman and Laurel Wolf recorded 10 and eight points, respectively, for the Huskies, while Jesse Dotson had five for the Beall jayvees.

The Huskies, coached by Vonda and Bob Yunker, will play again next Wednesday when they host Hyndman.

Ram Netters Defeated By Beall, Westmar

The Southern High School girls' varsity volleyball team continued to struggle this week by dropping a 3-1 decision to host Beall on Monday and then falling to visiting Westmar, 3-0, last night.

The losses dropped the Rams to 1-7 on the season.

Southern won the first game against Beall on Monday, 15-5, but then dropped the next three, 15-8, 15-13, and 15-9. Alison White led the Rams' scoring with 12 service points.

Beth Ballases recorded 12 points and four blocks for the Mountaineers, while Sara Barnes had 11 points and four blocks and Amy Patterson recorded 11 points and eight kills.

It was the second win in eight starts for Beall.

The Southern junior varsity topped the Beall jayvees, 15-4, 14-16, and 15-7 behind a 10-point effort by Rachel Lane. Amber Ballases led Beall with seven.

The Rams were topped by Westmar last night by scores of 15-9, 15-9, and 15-6, as Angie Robertson led the visitors with 12 points and Mandy Morton had nine.

Sindy Niner and Jenny Panther each recorded six service points for the Rams.

It was the fifth win in seven matches for the Wildcats.

The Southern junior varsity edged the Westmar jayvees in the other match, 16-14 and 15-13, with Lane again pacing the Rams with 10 points and Alicia Dixon adding eight. Mindy Fazenbaker recorded 12 points for Westmar.

The Rams will play at Oldtown next Wednesday.

League Seeks Coed Teams

The Mountain Top Volleyball League is looking for teams and players interested in playing in a coed league this fall.

Games are played on Wednesday evenings at the Southern Middle School gymnasium. Team slots are available and some teams are still looking for players. Persons interested in entering a team or interested in playing are asked to call Dave Towers at 387-8503.

Oakland Driver Wins UMP Race At Elkins Track

Greg Tressler, of Oakland, was the winner in a spectacular finish of the U.M.P. Modified feature at Elkins Motor Speedway last Saturday night. In the Coca-Cola U.M.P. Modified feature, great concern arose on the first lap when 1995 track champion, Ron Parrish, hit the front straight concrete wall hard. Emergency crews had to cut him from the car as a precautionary measure to neck injury. Parrish was later released from the hospital.

When racing resumed, Jeff Thomas led Roy Gibson, Jr. to the green flag restart but was soon challenged by Tressler who passed Gibson on lap six. Tressler remained hot on Thomas' tail and on the last lap, the two came out of turn four side-by-side. Fifty feet from the flag stand, their wheels touched and Tressler spun backwards under the checkered flag for the snapshot victory. Willie Mallow, in the first time out in 1995, finished an impressive third while Shawn Davis and Phil Harris were fourth and fifth, respectively.

A packed field of 34 semi-late speedsters roared into Elkins Motor Speedway Saturday night for the first-ever Mountaineer 1000. Top prize was $1,000 for the victor in a 50-lap race.

Four heats of hard charging semi-lates opened up the event with Kevin Hamrick, Steve Booth, Sonny Conley, and Tim Harsh taking the checkered flag honors uncontested. Twenty of the heat racers went on to the feature event, and the top four B-Main finishers led by Danny Bismark filled in the final four spots for a 24-car field.

When the feature line-up rolled onto the track, a dense fog rolled over the track. Then, minutes after the green flag dropped, the fog lifted and underneath appeared Conley and Hamrick battling for first. For Conley this was his first time at EMS in 1995, but he sped around the dirt oval as if he'd been there all year, stretching out his lead to nearly a half-track distance by the 25th lap midway point.

But, as he has done so often throughout 1995, track champion, Scott Miles, patiently gained ground on Conley, moving from an eighth position start to second place by lap 42. By the time the flagman signaled five laps remaining, Miles was on Conley's bumper.

Conley remained tough and unintimidated, and maintained his lead for the victory. Rounding out the top 10 were: Rick Strickler, Donnie Dotson, Kevin Hamrick, Steve Booth, Chris Smith, Tim Harsh, Robbie Scott and Kelly Cooper.

In the pure stock feature, Denny Sandy held off points champion John Smith, Jr. for the victory. Tommy Pennington led all four cylinder stock feature laps and took the checkered ahead of Dan Stalnaker.

This Saturday night is Elkins Motor Speedway's grand finale: The 30th Annual Mt. State Forest Festival Bank One Late

BAGGING A BUCK last week with his bow was David Stanton of Grantsville, who stalked and killed the animal off Rt. 495 near Grantsville. The buck was carrying a rack of nine points with a 19-inch spread. The accomplishment was nothing new for Stanton, who said he has harvested "25 or 30" bucks with bow and arrow.

Food For Thought

Here's how to turn stuffed pasta like raviolini into warm cocktail nibbles. Boil until barely tender, then toss with butter. When slightly cooled, spread onto a foil-lined baking sheet, sprinkle with parmesan and bake 8 minutes in a hot oven, turning once.

Form burgers around chunks of bleu cheese before grilling. The cheese will melt deliciously as the meat cooks. Serve on toasted buns with lettuce and tomato.

Add a touch of sophistication to home-made brownies with a tablespoon of instant espresso coffee in the batter.

Cutting back on fat or no, Americans eat about 28 pounds of cheese a year, more than twice what we ate back in the late '60s. Cheddar is the top favorite, with mozzarella number two.

Taste fruit salad before you serve it. Depending on the ripeness of the fruit, you may want to add sugar--or a drop of lemon juice.

You'll appreciate the delicious food we serve at

Women Golfers Elect Officers Make Donations

The last meeting of the Women's Golf Association, of the Oakland Golf Club for 1995 at a luncheon at the clubhouse on September 28.

Officers for 1995-96 are: president, Roberta Seward; vice president, Marion Boehmer; recording secretary, Marianna Naylor; corresponding secretary, Loretta Pernell; and Treasurer, Rita Humberson.

The membership of the Association approved allocating $400 to the Southern High School golf team if needed, donated $200 each to House of Hope, Terra Alta Santa Claus, and the Shelter for Battered Women, and $100 to Hospice. Members singed up for the committees for 1996. Certificates were awarded to the tournament winners and runners-up, and golf balls were awarded for birdies and "gobbles." Weather permitting, members may still gather for golf Thursday mornings.

SUNDAY SCRAMBLE

The team of Marianna Naylor, Dave Martin, and Dave Davis won first place October 1, scoring 63. Carding 66 and taking second place honors was the team of Jr. Shillingburg, Bobbie Seward, Nellie Inskeep, and Julia Sines. Tying for third place with 67 were the teams of Jim Hetrick, Roger Zanitsch, Sherry Grant, and Fran Bell; and Pepper Inskeep, Annis Colaw, Will Bell, and Harry McIntyre.

If the schedule and weather permit, there will be an 18-hole scramble on Sundays at 1:30. Participants should sign up by 1 p.m.

To Vote On Plan

County Attorney Gorman "Mike" Getty recommended in June that the board of commissioners not adopt aesthetic zoning measures. In a letter to the county board, Getty asserted that, while the county may have authority to regulate signs, structures, and land used for commercial purposes, the county may lack the authority to rule on issues of aesthetics.

"Where regulations are based solely on aesthetic grounds," Getty commented, "it is a dubious use of police powers of the political subdivision and it is doubtful that such actions are a valid exercise of a legitimate police power . . .

"It is my opinion that the signs can be regulated to a great extent but that aesthetic limitations would not, as proposed, be enforceable," Getty concluded.

The planning commission also moved last week to reduce the width of the proposed buffer strip around Savage River State Forest and along portions of the Potomac and Youghiogheny Rivers from 1,300 to 500 feet.

In an interview this morning, John Nelson, director of the planning commission, stressed that this buffer strip will not prohibit construction, but will rather just limit the density of construction in these "rural resource areas" to one residential unit per each three acres.

The original proposal presented at GCC recommended that construction density in these areas be limited to one unit per each five acres. Last week, however, the planning commission increased the proposed density in these areas to a ration of one unit per each three acres.

Coy was arrested in April of this year as a result of a sting operation by the Maryland State Police. The defendant was reportedly found to be in possession of a bag of marijuana, a pipe, and rolling papers.

A Friendsville couple faced Thayer and a jury on charges of possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia with intent to use. John W. and Amanda D. Weeks, ages 30 and 27 respectively, both made motions for judgements of acquittal to the charges. Mr. Weeks's request was denied while Mrs. Weeks's request was granted as to the paraphernalia count.

The jury's verdict for Mr. Weeks was guilty of possession and not guilty of the paraphernalia charge. He was sentenced to the Garret County Jail for one year. Mrs. Weeks was found not guilty.

The two were arrested following the execution of a search and seizure warrant at their home. The police action took place on Aug. 26, 1994, and officers of the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force reportedly found evidence of marijuana and rolling papers.

Three men from Washington, D.C., faced controlled dangerous substance charges (CDS) last week. Coy R. Whittingham, 21, James E. Terry, 23, and Richard E. Rousseau, 22, all pleaded guilty to the count of possession of marijuana, according to the court document. The pleas were accepted by Thayer.

Whittingham was sentenced to one year in the local jail, with all but 30 days suspended. He will also be on one year of probation. Terry and Rousseau were both sentenced to five days in the local detention center.

The three were arrested in March of this year when the vehicle Whittingham was operating was stopped on Interstate 68 by a Maryland State Police officer. The other two men were passengers in the car, and all three were found to be in possession of the CDS, according to the report.

An Oakland man pleaded guilty to the charge of DWI (driving while intoxicated) last week and was sentenced for the offense. Curtis R. Friend Jr., 30, received a 60-day suspended jail term as well as a $500 fine plus court costs. Charges of negligent driving and driving too closely to another vehicle were not prosecuted.

Friend was charged on Sept. 18, 1994, after being stopped on Rt. 219, south of Sand Flat Road, at 2:18 a.m. A state police officer effected the arrest.

A man from Boynton, Pa., faced various traffic charges incurred over a year ago on Interstate 68. Robert E. Getty Jr., 22, was originally charged with speeding, driving a motor vehicle with a revoked license, and displaying a revoked license. He pleaded guilty to the second offense, and Thayer accepted the plea.

The judge then sentenced Getty to one year in the local jail, suspended. The defendant was fined $500 plus court costs. He will be on one year of probation as well.

The state police made the arrest last August, according to the report.

A Swanton teenager appealed a sentence given to him in Garrett County District Court for the charge of misdemeanor theft. Wendel E. Hartman, 19, had been found guilty in district court of the offense and was sentenced to 18 months in jail with all but six months suspended. He was also to be on two years of probation and perform 40 hours of community service.

In circuit court, Hartman pleaded guilty to the misdemeanor and Thayer gave him an 18-month suspended sentence and fined him $500 plus court costs.

The defendant was arrested last year after he allegedly stole a video cassette recorder and a vacuum cleaner from Richard Lawrence.

A 29-year-old Mtn. Lake Park man was found guilty of telephone abuse. Rodney G. Guthrie is accused of repeatedly telephoning the home of Sarah Rhodes over several days in March. Guthrie made a motion for a judgement of acquittal, but the motion was denied by the judge.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered and bail was continued.

A mistrial was declared in a case involving a Swanton woman and a horse she is accused of intentionally attempting to injure. Madeleine Dorsey, 50, was originally charged with battery and reckless driving, and had been found guilty of the violations in district court. She was fined $180, according to the report.

Dorsey appealed the verdict in circuit court, requesting a jury. The jury could not reach a verdict in the case and a mistrial was declared.

The defendant is accused of intentionally hitting a show horse with her car on Oct. 3, 1994. The owner of the horse is Deborah K. Brown, who was apparently riding the horse at the time of the incident.

Mullenix escaped injury in the 2:30 a.m. mishap, according to the report. Also responding to the scene were volunteers from Northern Garrett Rescue Squad, and the Grantsville fire department.

TWO INJURED

Two people were taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital following a single-vehicle accident on the Friendsville Addison Road, near Mill Run Road, Saturday afternoon.

Police said Tamala Smith, 30, and Hank Huse, 20, both of Friendsville, were transported to the hospital by Northern Garrett Rescue Squad, after their vehicle overturned at approximately 12:25 p.m. Neither was listed as a patient Saturday evening.

The Friendsville Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the scene.

REAR-END COLLISION

An Oakland couple was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital following a two-vehicle accident Tuesday morning, at the intersection with Rt. 135 and B Street in Mtn. Lake Park.

According to a report filed by Tfc. G.A. Seaman, Stanley J. Eggleston, 31, operating a 1992 GMC van on Rt. 135, was attempting to make a left turn onto B Street, when his vehicle was struck in the rear by a 1988 Ford Ranger, operated by 81-year-old Donald M. Evans.

Evans and his passenger, Gladys M. Evans, 80, were both injured in the 10:15 a.m. mishap. They were transported to the hospital by Southern Garrett Rescue Squad, where they were treated and released. Eggleston reportedly received only minor injuries, and did not required transportation.

Single Mom Tells Of Challenges And Joys Of Life With Triplets

by Patti Grose

Every mother can relate to the challenge of caring for a newborn, but few have experienced the demand of caring for more than one -- and even fewer can even imagine the overwhelming task of adjusting to three infants all at once. And for Kitzmiller resident Brenda Paugh, being a single parent extended that challenge one step further.

"It's rough," she said when asked what life with triplets is like. "At my age, very rough. It took a while to adjust to the realization that I was going to be a single parent. I was only 22 when I found out I was pregnant, and I wasn't ready for one, not to mention three."

She described her initial feeling as "total devastation." Dr. (Patricia) Gotsch told her there might be more than one baby, because just 15 weeks into the pregnancy, her uterus was higher than normal. "We might have twins here," the doctor told Brenda, and although she tried to convince herself that she was just farther along in the pregnancy, a sonogram confirmed the doctor's suspicion...and a little more. "We have a third bambino," Brenda remembers hearing.

"Brenda was shaking and crying," said her mother, Carol Paugh. "She cried, there's three of them! And I just kept saying, 'it's okay; it's okay.' But I didn't know how she was going to handle three by herself. The whole situation was so unexpected."

Getting used to the reality of bringing three new lives into the world, though difficult for Brenda, finally culminated on September 25, 1994, just 33 weeks into the pregnancy, when three tiny girls were born at Ruby Memorial Hospital in Morgantown. "One of the team of doctors who delivered the babies (by Caesarean section) told us they were all girls," Brenda said, "I kept hoping there was a boy tucked in there somewhere; but he was right."

Hannah Elizabeth, the first to arrive, weighed in at three pounds, 15 ounces. She was followed by Brittney Jordan, at three pounds, nine ounces, and finally Chelsea Amelia, a mere three pounds, five ounces. The babies were all taken to the neo-natal intensive care unit immediately after birth, and Hannah was in the nursery by the next morning. Brittney and Chelsea were soon taken to the step-down unit, where Brittney remained for about a week, and Chelsea a week and a half, before they were reunited with their sister. Unlike many premature babies, the triplets experienced no respiratory problems at birth, according to their mother.

But, because they were preemies, and they were initially fed with tubes, the nurses put pacifiers in the girls' mouths to help them learn to suck. "I didn't want them to have pacifiers," Brenda said, "but when we got them home, and found out how well those things worked, we let them keep their 'binks.'"

When Brenda and her instant family were ready to go home, only little Chelsea hadn't gained enough weight to be released. She was transferred to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where it took a week for her to reach the acceptable four-pound minimum.

"My dad (Leon Paugh) went to the hospital every day to feed her," Brenda said. "We had each picked a baby before they were born -- they stayed in one place during the entire pregnancy, so it was easy to keep track of them. Dad picked Chelsea, and she's been a 'Pappy's girl' ever since."

The first six months at home were the most hectic for the Paughs. "We had two babies on Apnea monitors," said Carol. "The machines monitored the babies' heart rates and respiratory systems. If the straps weren't on right, the alarms went off -- and everyone hit the floor." The monitors, according to Brenda, were used as a precaution, because many premature babies have underdeveloped lungs. There were three family members knowledgeable in CPR...just in case. Thankfully, though, except for an occasional alarm for a misplaced strap, the monitors remained silent.

A large support group of family and friends "camped out" at the Paugh home during those first months, enabling mother and grandmother to get much needed sleep. Brenda noted she has also called on Betsy and Jerry Herpel for advice and support. The Herpels are the parents of triplets (two boys and a girl) who are now in pre-school.

The babies' father, Chris Wiltison, is also very involved in his daughters' lives. "He comes by every day," Brenda said. "He is a full-time student at Frostburg State University, where he is majoring in environmental science, and he also works after school. But he spends a lot of time with them, and is very supportive." The girls also visit their other grandparents, Ron and Virginia Wiltison, Swanton.

Hannah, Brittney, and Chelsea are "natural, spontaneous" triplets (which means no fertility drugs were used), and according to The Triplet Connection, a non-profit support organization for parents of multiple births, one birth in 40,000 resulted in triplets before fertility drugs were used. "And now, with the use of those drugs, the odds are one in 10,000 births, Carol said." And of the three, Brittney and Chelsea are identical, having come from the same egg.

When asked how alike the girls actually are, Brenda said they all love bananas, but other than that, each is different in her own way. Chelsea and Brittney do a lot of things the same, however. "They sound alike, and cry alike, and have the same funny way of holding their pacifiers." Hannah, the "ham" of the bunch, has a more outgoing personality, and is about two weeks ahead of the other two, growth wise, her mother said. "I really want them to have their own identities, though. I dress them alike for special occasions, and when we go out in public, but they need to be themselves."

The girls are right "on cue" for year-old triplets. At their last checkup, Hannah was still leading the pack at 19 pounds, six ounces. Brittney weighed in at 18 pounds, three ounces, and Chelsea is still the smallest, at 16 pounds. "And she eats the most," her mother said.

A typical day in the Paugh household starts between 7 and 8 a.m. (8:30 if they're really lucky), and usually ends at about midnight, when the last of the triplets is finally in bed for the night. Brittney is usually the first to bed, and the other two follow later. But, Brenda adds, it's never all three at once. "When you think you're going to get a chance to sit down, it doesn't happen," she said with a sigh. "Rarely, when they are napping at the same time, I can't rest, knowing they'll soon be back up anyway."

"The past year has been wonderful," Brenda said. "If I could go back, I would do a lot of things differently, but I could never give up my girls. There is never a dull moment. It's busy...constantly busy." And sometimes frustrating, she added, but the support of family and friends allows her time for herself. "I have a better situation than many," she said. "I'm very lucky."

Will Not Fund

sioners do not have the authority to give us at least $2,500 per year, who does have the authority to fund us?" she asked.

Trickett went on to say that she hopes the commissioners will investigate how they may be able to obtain the authority to fund the GCCW.

In recent months, Trickett explained, the GCCW received county funding to purchase three award bowls which were presented to inductees in the newly-formed Women's Hall of Fame. The GCCW also received county funds pay for printed materials for the hall of fame program. The county also paid the GCCW's phone bills and postage fees from 1992, when the group was formed, until the end of the last fiscal year, she added.

These monies came from the county's contingency fund.

Until last month, the GCCW had maintained a phone and answering machine on a table in the Private Industry Council office, located in the Western Maryland Consortium building, Oakland, Trickett commented. At last week's meeting of the board of commissioners, Trickett stated that this phone was disconnected when the GCCW ran out of money.

Despite this week's decision by the county commissioners, the local Domestic Violence & Sexual Assault Resource Center, (DVSARC) Inc., will continue to receive $20 of each $30 marriage license fee collected in the county. Of each $20 share collected by the center, $15 is used to support the center's programs while $5 is earmarked for the domestic violence shelter fund.

According to DVSARC Director Francis Callis, state law provides that any marriage license revenue over $5 per each license must be directed to a group providing services to families experiencing domestic violence. She added that the domestic violence center and the GCCW are separate, distinct organizations which operate independently of each other.

The GCCW receives no revenue from the marriage license fees.

The governor's other memberships include the Board of Visitors for the University of Maryland's School of Public Affairs, the National Forum for Black Public Administrators, and the Board of Trustees with Partners for Livable Places. The governor's plan to "move Maryland forward" includes creating and maintaining good-paying jobs, improving public education, and making Maryland's communities safer. In his first legislative session, he cut the state's budget $235 million and eliminated five business taxes to stimulate the state's economy and bring businesses to Maryland. Governor Glendening and his wife, Frances Anne, an attorney with the Federal Elections Commission, continue to live in University Park, with their teenage son, Raymond, a student at DelMatha High School. The governor will be accompanied in the parade by Mrs. Glendening.

Nat'l Respiratory Care Week Noted By GC Officials

The nation's respiratory care practitioners are currently celebrating National Respiratory Care Week, Oct. 1-7, according to the American Association for Respiratory Care (AARC).

The AARC is the professional association for respiratory therapists and technicians and others involved in pulmonary and respiratory-related fields. Respiratory care practitioners work with patients in hospitals, the home, sub-acute care centers, rehabilitation facilities, and nursing homes.

"National Respiratory Care Week gives the AARC an opportunity to increase awareness of the respiratory care profession and the importance of respiratory health," said Sam Giordano, AARC's executive director. "This year we are focusing on all the various roles that respiratory care practitioners play in helping people breathe easier."

The AARC has for many years been active in supporting programs and issues that deal with respiratory health promotion and disease prevention. The AARC was instrumental in the successful passage of legislation banning smoking in all domestic airline flights. More recently, the Association's Peak Performance project has brought respiratory care practitioners into schools across the country to help teach nurses and school administrators on ways of more effectively managing students' asthma problems.

In addition to the public health issues the AARC is focusing on this week, many respiratory care practitioners are using this opportunity to recognize and reflect on the work that respiratory care practitioners do across the country.

"Today's respiratory care practitioner is a valuable allocator of health care resources in any of the health care settings where they practice," said Eric Tribbey, director of cardiopulmonary services at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

AARC is a professional membership association for respiratory therapists and technicians. Respiratory care practitioners work under the direction of physicians and assist in the diagnosis, treatment, and management of patients with pulmonary disorders. The AARC provides educational programs for the respiratory care community and works to promote the art and science of the respiratory care profession.

RESPIRATORY CARE WEEK PROCLAIMED - The Garrett County Board of Commissioners have proclaimed this week, Oct. 1-7, as Respiratory Care Week. The local observance is in conjunction with National Respiratory Care Week, which was announced by the American Association for Respiratory Care (AARC). These practitioners work with patients in hospitals, the home, various care centers, rehabilitation facilities, and nursing homes. See accompanying article. Pictured above, seated left to right, are Commissioners Wayne Wilt and John Braskey. Standing in the same order are Dan Gaither, Randy Crabtree, Fred Callis, all respiratory health professionals at Garrett County Memorial Hospital; and Eric Tribbey, director of cardiopulmonary services at GCMH.

Hospice Slates Training Days For Caregivers

Hospice of Garrett County, Inc., will sponsor a two-day training class for Hospice volunteer caregivers. These classes will be held Saturdays, October 21 and 28. The classes are designed to teach new volunteer caregivers how to deal with the challenge of being a Hospice volunteer caregiver, according to a Hospice Spokesman.

Topics scheduled for October 21 include: "What is Hospice," by Brenda Butscher, Executive Director; a class in "Listening Skills," taught by Rev. G.S. Cummings, pastor of The Apostolics of Oakland Church; and "Bereavement," taught by the bereavement coordinator, Jane Sealing. The class will visit the Stewart Funeral Home to learn the "Funeral Home Skills." "Working With The Volunteer" will be presented by Ida Maust, volunteer coordinator. Chris Shafer, R.A.E., will give a class on "AIDS Awareness."

The class will begin on October 28 with Mari Vaughn, physical therapy assistant at the Allegany Rehabilitation Associates, teaching "Physical Therapy." "Legal and Financial Planning" will be taught by Shirley Fitzwater from the First United National Bank & Trust. "Universal Precautions," "Infection Control," and "Home Safety" will be taught by Marie Noecker-Sines, BSN, RNC., Rev. Edith Wilson, spiritual counselor, will present an overview.

Brenda Butscher, executive director of Hospice, stated "Hospice extends an invitation to you to become a volunteer caregiver. You will find working with the terminally ill and their families is most rewarding. As I have said many times, doing good for others is doing good for yourself."

To register or for more information, persons may call Hospice at 334-5151.

Geoffrey Simon To Present Free Organ Concert

Dr. Geoffrey Simon, renowned organist and conductor, will present a free organ concert at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland, on Friday, Oct. 13, beginning at 7:30 p.m. The concert is part of the 28th Annual Autumn Glory Festival and is being sponsored by St. Mark's, as well as by the arts councils of Maryland and Garrett County. The program will be performed on the church's Allen digital computerized organ.

Simon will open the concert with J. S. Bach's Passacaglia and Fugue in C Minor, followed by Chorale Prelude with double pedal by Karg-Elert. Works by Handel and Bach will also be included in the first half of the program.

The second part of the concert will begin with Requiescat in Pace, composed by Leo Sowerby, followed by a piece written by Louis Vierne. Prelude on the Old 100th by Henry Purcell will also be performed. The audience will then be invited to stand and join in the singing of a hymn.

A free-will offering will be made.

Recognized as one of Washington, D.C..'s, leading church musicians, Simon has appeared as organist or conductor throughout the United States and in Europe. His recitals and performances of Baroque, romantic, and contemporary choral works with orchestra have met consistent approval from critics and the concert-going public alike.

Dr. Simon holds a doctor of musical arts degree from the Peabody Conservatory of The Johns Hopkins University and is a fellow of the College of Church Musicians. He currently serves as cantor (organist and choirmaster) at the Lutheran Church of the Reformation on Capitol Hill. He is also the conductor of the Library of Congress Chorale.

more) because they are legal and readily accessible. Should the three Board members be asked to step down because of past or present substance use? That is what they did to Ms. Hayhurst.

The message I get from these three Board members is, if it's alcohol or tobacco, that's okay, because it's legal. If it is marijuana, that's not okay because it's illegal. It doesn't matter that they are all bad for you, that they can kill you, or you can become addicted to them; the legal ones are all right. That makes perfect sense to me; doesn't it to you?

The three Board members made a big mistake on this one. We lost a good teacher based on their values and feelings, not one fact is there to validate their fear of her inability to teach.

To the Editor:

Two months ago, the United States established formal diplomatic relations with Vietnam.

On Friday evening, October 6, the Garrett County Arts Council and Garrett Community College will present a free concert of traditional Vietnamese music at the GCC Auditorium, beginning at 8 p.m.

This is a rare opportunity for local residents and visitors to experience the musical traditions of a society with which we've had troubled and tragic relations.

A public workshop/demonstration, beginning at 2:30 p.m. at the GCC Auditorium, will provide additional opportunity to explore the musical heritage of the Vietnamese culture.

The month of October is designated National Arts and Humanities Month in recognition of the contribution of multi-cultural arts to our shared American culture. In addition to the Vietnamese music concert and workshop at GCC this Friday, the local arts calendar for the month includes the following: a classical organ recital, an evening of story telling, and a tall tale liars' festival, the Annual Garrett County Autumn Glory Festival, and the GCAC Heritage Craft Festival, several artists receptions and showings, bagpipe concerts, clogging demonstrations, the "Official" Maryland State Banjo and Fiddle Championships, demonstrations by the Society of Workers in Early Art and Trades, the rededication of an historic church, a local author's book signing, and the Western Maryland Tournament of Bands.

Many of the sponsors for the events listed benefit from public funding.

A glance at the local arts calendar reminds us of our cultural diversity, of our social heritage, and of the vibrant contribution of the arts to our lives in Western Maryland.

Two years ago, the Board of Garrett County Commissioners formally recognized the Garrett County Arts Council as "the official arts agency for the county." Acting in this capacity and in accordance with its mission since 1989 "to aid, encourage, advance, and coordinate activities dedicated to the promotion of cultural arts in Garrett County and to integrate such activities into the life of the community," the Arts Council allocated nearly $50,000 in public funds to sponsors of local arts programs in the past fiscal year. The council awarded a total of 37 arts grants to Garrett County organizations and schools last year.

The purpose of this letter is to suggest that October, National Arts and Humanities Month, is an appropriate time for involved citizens to contact their elected representatives, local, state, and federal, to recognize them for including the arts in our public budgets.

The Garrett County Arts Council (at P.O. Box 930, McHenry, MD 21541) welcomes copies of such correspondence. Membership donations from the community are also instrumental in making our work possible, and are much appreciated.

Sincerely,
Steve Schlosnagle
Administrator, GCAC

To the Editor:

Last week's editorial "Send Them to Dan" (The Republican 9-28-95) registered concern over the fact that their office had received over two dozen copies of the same "letter to the Editor," a printed post card, complaining that, as a supporter of the Christian Coalition, the anti-Christian bias of the news media was relentless. Dan Rather of CBS News was cited as an example, among others, as allegedly describing conservative Christian's as "hate mongers."

Rising to the bait the editorial stated: "we don't print 'canned' letters"; we have no control over Dan Rather; and, continued discussion about how "coverage of Christians" was not unfair in what is published.

Welcome to "Astroturf lobbying," the creation of artificial grass root support, the purpose of which is to take advantage of money and technology to exaggerate the public concern about an issue. Two months ago angry members of the U.S. Congress complained they had been showered with "constituent telegrams" against a telecommunications bill. Plastic bags stuffed with telegrams arrived on Capitol Hill, each telegram bearing the name of a constituent and urging a vote against the telecommunications bill. At least one telegram was sent by a Chicago man who had been dead for months.

An expert in this field in NTS Marketing, Inc., Lynchburg, VA, retained to generate 615,000 telegrams against the telecommunications bill. From a room in Lynchburg, NTS operators called people and read a script; if the answer was yes, they were asked if a telegram could be sent in their name without charge. NTS actually printed up the messages and trucked them directly to Congress. It is estimated 495,000 messages in the names of 141,000 people were sent of which over 8,000 were never contacted at all.

LOCAL 4-H PROGRAM CLEANS UP AND RECEIVES $800 - The Garrett County 4-H program recently received an $800 payment for cleaning up the Garrett County Fairground on the Sunday following last month's agricultural fair. Perry's Solid Waste Disposal, a firm headquartered in Mtn. Lake Park, won the contract for the job and hired the local 4-H'ers to pick up the festival trash. In the bargain, the county club also picked up a check for $800. THE DERELICT

Storm-tossed and driven, hither and yon;
Sails black and riven, the rudder gone;
Smashed at the side, swept by the wave,
Borne by the tide, with none to save;
No crew at hand, no pilot near;
Far from the land on waters drear;
Fixed to the mast flag of distress;
All beauty past, all usefulness;
Past voyages, gone the conflict,
The sport of seas, a derelict!

Out from the night into the morn,
Gleaming with light, like gull up-borne,
A man-of-war, strong, brave and free,
Come from afar, over the sea;
A hawser strong made taut and fast;
A cheer and song, a whistle blast;
Off and away, steamer and ship,
Through night and day on homeward trip;
A harbor vast, a hull remade,
A reset mast and sails relaid;
Out on the seas, beauteous in form,
Borne by the breeze, fearless of storm;
Made all anew, fit for conflict;
No one e'er knew the derelict!

Antiques

"Close counts only in horseshoes and hand grenades."

That familiar saying remains true in the world of collecting. Many times, a collector has something "almost like" a high-priced auction item that receives newspaper publicity.

Iron banks have been rising in price for the past 10 years. The Home Bank was patented by J&E Stevens in 1872. It was an iron building painted green, with a red roof. There was a slot in the roof for the coins. Several versions and sizes were made. A rare 5½-inch version, which says "Home Bank" above the door, sold at auction for $4,675.

A similar 3-inch-high bank with just the word "Bank" above the door is worth about $400 — a good price for an iron bank, but not close to the price of the rare example.

TIP: Brushed aluminum furniture such as chairs popular during the 1950s can be cleaned with a paste silver polish or metal cleaner such as Nevr-Dull.

Q. My oak chair has a scene carved on the back. It depicts a Gibson girl leaning forward to kiss a gentleman caller. The chair has a horsehair seat.

A. Pressed-back chairs were popular between 1890 and 1910. They were made by pressing the wood in a mold to create a raised pattern. The chairs were mass-produced and sold at low prices.

The name "pressed-back" now often refers to similar but more-expensive, solid-wood chairs that have been carved.

The Gibson girl design adds value to your chair, which is worth about $200.

Q. My aunt left me a 21-inch-high painted metal electric lamp with a small bulb. It's an elaborate scene of a nude woman lying on a bed surrounded by pillows, tapestries and fans. The bottom is marked "Nam Greb, Austria." I know it's fairly old. Is it valuable?

A. Nam Greb is the name used by the Franz Bergman Foundry. Bergman turned his last name backward and divided it to make his foundry sound as if it were Oriental.

Intricate bronze night lights were popular in the early 20th century. The Austrian lamps were made with tiny bulbs hidden in domes or tents or under awnings to light the scene below. The lamps are hard to find in good condition. They sell for about $3,000.

Household Help
by John Amantea

Q. The kitchen cabinets in my home are as old as the house itself (28 years) and have finally shown some wear. I am not the original owner, but the surface condition of the cabinets is remarkably good. However, the major problems that exist are sagging shelves, loose joints and a couple of drawers that are hard to open. I feel that with the high prices of replacing or even refacing the cabinets, I'd rather repair them. Do you have any helpful hints on how to bring back my cabinets to a good and sound condition?

A. You are certainly correct that replacing or even refacing kitchen cabinets can almost lead one to take out a second mortgage on your home! Fortunately, you will not have to take that extreme a measure because of the condition of your cabinets.

Let's begin by addressing each problem in the order in which you have written. Sagging shelves are usually a result of too much product weight on too long a shelf. Of course, the most reasonable thing to have originally constructed was to add several partitions to the shelf itself. Often, if the shelf can be removed without causing any superficial damage, proceed in doing that. You could flip this shelf over and resecure it if it is not heavily warped. If badly warped, purchase replacement shelves of good quality from your local home decorating center and cut them to size.

Next, loose joints definitely play host to sagging shelves because the ends have either popped free or simply warped, too. If the joints are very loose, you'll need to strengthen them first before you fix the sagging shelves. One excellent method of repair is to use bar clamps (if you happen to have them handy). These convenient items extend long enough to secure both ends of an average size kitchen cabinet. This repair is not possible if all your cabinets are one unit.

Finally, hard-to-open drawers can be as simple a fix as merely lubricating the wooden guides or applying an all-purpose silicone spray on the metal channels. The culprit can once again be warped cleats or guides in which case, you'll need to replace them.

Your Health

Q. I am an ex-alcoholic. Rather, I am an alcoholic who has stopped drinking for the past four years. Are there special tests that can be done to tell me if my liver has been permanently damaged?

A. The liver is one of the most remarkable structures in the body and is responsible for an enormous number of vital functions that determine total health. There are virtually dozens of intricate studies that can be made from blood specimens that reflect the health of the liver. These tests are always included in what is referred to as a "liver profile." The evaluation of these tests can give an exact portrait of the liver's health. Then, when extra special studies are necessary, they can be carefully chosen.

The absence of any unusual findings will bring you a great deal of assurance.

Michigan Univ. Prof. To Return To GC College

Dr. Martha Bilotti-Aliaga, Department of Statistics, University of Michigan, will be the featured presenter for the USDE Grant participants at Garrett Community College (GCC) on Saturday, October 7. The public is invited to attend the 9 a.m. to noon portion of the program which will occur in room 307 of the Continuing Education Building.

This will be Dr. Aliaga's fourth visit to the campus. She will demonstrate activity-based statistics to be used with her new Prentice Hall text, titled "Interactive Statistics." Both Garrett Community College and Northern High School are piloting her new book this semester.

Dr. Aliaga has been with the University of Michigan since 1988. She is currently director and instructor for the Summer Institute for Mathematics Enhancement at the University of Michigan. This program was funded by the National Science Foundation to prepare minority students for college calculus, according to Dr. Nancy J. Priselac, director of Mathematics at GCC. In 1992, Dr. Aliaga received the LSA Excellence in Education Award at the University. She was able to demonstrate a high level of student learning as her students successfully completed Calculus I, graduated and obtained positions in the business, legal, medical, and engineering professions.

She received her B.A. in Mathematics at the University of Buenos Aires, Argentina, her M.A. in Statistics from Cienes, University of Chile, and her Ph.D. in Statistics from the University of Michigan. She has been identified as an outstanding teacher at the university level in both statistics and calculus, Priselac concluded.

SHS Teachers Attend Workshop On Mathematics

Diana Marks and Wade Grove, two teachers at Southern High School, attended a "math modeling" weekend at Mount Saint Mary's College, Emmitsburg, on Sept. 29-30. The project, sponsored primarily by the National Science Foundation, was designed to show high school math teachers from the tri-state area how to improve the classroom teaching of mathematics and science.

The Math Modeling grant is based on the premise that math is better learned through the application of analytical and problem-solving skills than by rote memory. Teachers were given the opportunity to apply modeling principles themselves during the weekend session, which was led by three faculty members from the college.

The three faculty members who coordinated the program were Dr. John E. August, associate professor; Dr. Frederick Portier, associate professor; and Nancy W. Lewis, adjunct lecturer in the college's math and computer science department.

Participating vendors are: Almost Heaven Cream Butter Fudge, Berkeley Springs, W.Va.; Apostolics of Oakland; Boardwalk Shaved Ice, St. George, W.Va.; Bobby Kam, College Park; Bradley's Concessions, Westernport; Calvary Tabernacle, Accident; Church of God of Prophecy, Oakland; Colebrook Catering, Hanover, Pa.; Dellinger Balloons, York, Pa.; Fawcett's Funnel Cakes, Grafton, W.Va.; Garbatela Friendly, Richmond, Va.; Gorman Church of God, Gorman; Gortner Union Church, Oakland; Hog Heaven, McHenry; The King's Wagon, Irwin, Pa.; Oakland Rotary Club, Oakland; Sue Rossiter, Erial, N.J.; Royal Siam, Alexandria, Va.; and Royal Vendors/Radcliffe's, La-Vale.

The Deep Creek Lake Lioness Club will provide food during the Contemporary Craft Show at Dennett Road on Saturday and Sunday, and the Parents Club of Fraley's Gymstrata will provide concessions during the Maryland State Banjo Championships Friday evening and the Maryland State Fiddle Championships Saturday evening at the Southern High School Gymnasium outside Oakland.

Local Designer Completes Seminar

Lisa (Roderick) Brenneman, owner of Unique Decor, Oakland, along with her husband, Steve, recently completed an "Excellence by Design" seminar in McLean, Va.

Seminar topics included design and installation techniques, as well as the latest innovative window coverings, color, and fabric fashion trends. Alternatives for dressing specialty windows, such as arch, bays, bows, etc., were viewed, along with coordinating hard window coverings (horizontal and vertical blinds, and cellular shades) with a range of soft fabric fashions, including draperies, top treatments, bed coverings, and fashion accessories.

According to the Brennemans, the seminar provided them with many new and creative ideas, and an expanded knowledge in custom window, wall, and bed covering techniques.

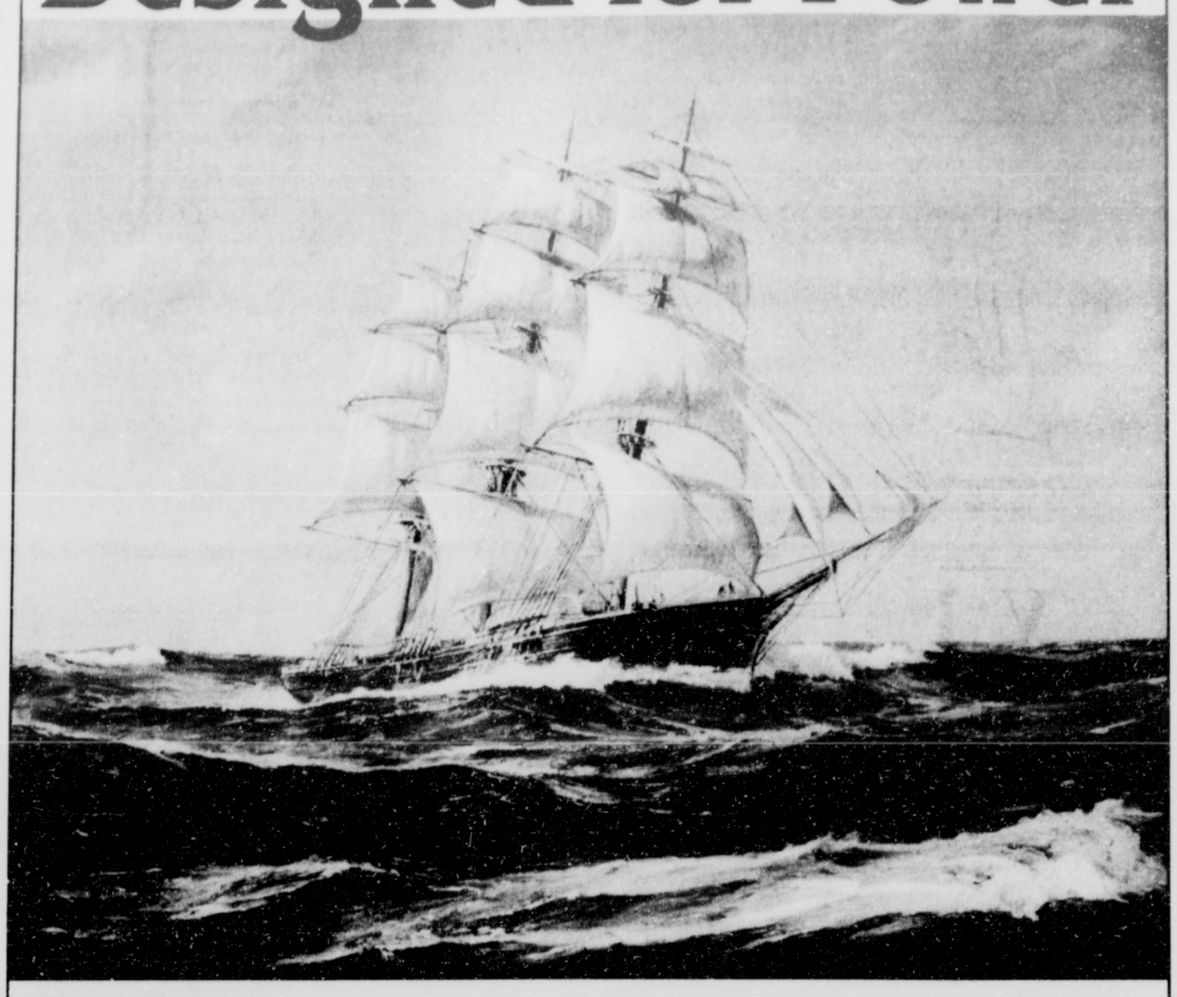
Designed for Power



In the annals of sailing there have been few to surpass the clipper. She plied the seven seas and helped a new nation become a world power.

But wnat was their formula for success? God's power and man's design making fullest use of it. You don't have to count the sails or study the rigging to know that.

Is it any different when we employ steam, electricity or nuclear power? These are sources of power God has provided. We design the craft and machinery to put them to use.

Try that formula for everyday living. The power comes from God, you put it to the best use. That's what religion is about!

They were wise and skilled Americans who designed the "clipper." They are wise and skilled, likewise, whose week begins with the worship of God, and whose days put his Power to Christian use.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

A MAN NAMED SIMON
October 8, 1995

Background Scripture:
Acts 8:4-40
Devotional Reading:
Acts 8:9-22

"So there was much joy in that city. But there was a man named Simon..." (8:8, 9).

There is always someone like Simon in or near the community where we live. The Simon of New Testament times was a magician, the writer of Acts, tells us. Whether he actually performed magic or only magical tricks, we do not know. Whatever he did, it amazed, not only the people of his own city, but the whole "nation of Samaria." The writer tells us, "...they gave heed to him, because for a long time he had amazed them with this magic" (8:11).

The Simons of today are more likely to be politicians, entertainers–including some television evangelists–or sports celebrities. People often seem almost hypnotized by the power of these people. They pay enormous sums to hear and see them and their every move is closely chronicled in the press.

In the days of the early church the apostles preached with a power that also captured the attention of the public. When Philip went to Samaria preaching about the kingdom of God, apparently large numbers of people responded to the gospel. Simon had amazed the people with his feats; Philip, by contrast, brought them the good news of the kingdom of God and baptism. In fact, so powerful was Philip that "Even Simon himself believed..." (8:13).

BIRTH OF SIMONY

Acts tells us, "he was amazed." But he would be even more amazed when later he witnessed the descent of the Holy Spirit through the laying on of hands by the apostles. It is understandable that Simon, freshly converted, made a response which was appropriate from the perspective of the life he used to live: "Give me also this power, that any one on whom I lay my hands may receive the Holy Spirit" (8:19).

Of course, we all know that Simon was wrong, but don't many of us bring some unsanctified attitudes along with us into the church? Over the years I've seen some of these attitudes and values gain unquestioned acceptance: the most successful church is the biggest one; the most important members are the most prominent or wealthy ones; a program is successful if lots of people attend; etc. There's a lot more of Simon in the church than we may realize.

Simon has left his mark on the church. The historic practice of permitting people to purchase church offices–particularly during the Middle Ages–either by the payment of money or some other sordid consideration is called simony (SIM-oh-knee) and it was one of the issues which both Protestant and Roman Catholic reformers sought to correct. Simony in the strictest sense is no longer an issue today, but that doesn't mean there are not times when the church is not "for sale!"

SELLING THE GIFT

We need to give Simon credit, however, for, when Peter reproaches him sternly, "Your silver perish with you, because you thought you could obtain the gift of God with money!" Simon responds to his challenge to "Repent" with contrition: "Pray for me to the Lord, that nothing of what you have said may come upon me" (8:24).

Now, you may protest that Simon is only trying to escape the judgment that Peter has laid upon him but there are some of us who, even when we are caught red-handed, don't have the presence of mind to repent. Instead–and Simon could have tried this–we brazen it out, justifying our unsanctified acts and attitudes. Give Simon credit for knowing when to admit his sin and ask for God's forgiveness.

COVER STORY

Marsalis' musical love hits high note in special

BY AMY HIBBERT

Yo-Yo Ma

Since he was very young, multitalented Wynton Marsalis has had a love of music.

This passion for the art has influenced Marsalis to educate others in music appreciation while sharing the joy he has found in music.

His dedication is clearly visible in his four-part series that teaches the fundamentals of classical and jazz music. Marsalis on Music, debuting Monday, Oct. 9, on PBS (check local listings), explores all aspects of music – from music theory to the history of jazz bands. Presented by Thirteen/WNET, the show continues Mondays, Oct. 16, 23 and 30.

"I wanted to bring the joy of music to people and their kids and make it as painless as possible," Marsalis says.

He also wanted a show that would "make people more aware of music, what it is, what goes into playing it and make listening to it more fun."

In Part 1, "Why Toes Tap: Marsalis on Rhythm," the musician teaches music theory elements and brings terms such as tempo and syncopation to life through examples.

"Sometimes you have to do something – not to compromise the material, but to give people something else to catch on to that will lead them into a greater understanding of what you're saying," the musician says.

Marsalis uses such innovative graphics as a basketball and a skyscraper to illustrate these technical points.

"The best way to talk about music and bring it to those who are not musicians is to draw good analogies," he adds.

Marsalis also uses variations of the same music to show how different rhythms create distinct sounds, such as the music from Tchaikovsky's ballet The Nutcracker, and Duke Ellington's jazz variation.

With conductor Seiji Ozawa leading the Tanglewood Music Center Orchestra and Marsalis conducting his jazz band, viewers are able to hear the differences and understand the ideas the program conveys.

Cellist Yo-Yo Ma also joins Marsalis in the final episode to talk about the importance and benefits of practicing.

Since he was a boy, Marsalis has been surrounded by music, both at home and at school.

His father, a dedicated musician, was a positive role model for Marsalis and his siblings as they were growing up. Marsalis' teachers were good influences as well.

"I had many really good band directors and trumpet teachers who really took a lot of concern with me as a student," he says. "I never had to feel that they were looking at their watch. And they opened the world of music to me."

Marsalis gained an interest in educating others about music, not only from his teachers, but from his father as well.

"Always being around my father, seeing him teach classes and trying to help teach youngsters," he says, "that always gave me the feeling for education in music."

Marsalis has grown into a gifted performer, a composer and an educator. That's a lot of hats to wear, but Marsalis looks at the positive side.

"You never get rained on," he says.

Kris Kristofferson made his film debut in 1971's The Last Movie – a film he also wrote the music for.

Candice Bergen's father, Edgar, was the first president of the original Academy of Television Arts and Sciences.

William Katt (Greatest American Hero) is the son of Bill Williams (Kit Carson) and Barbara Hale (Perry Mason).

June Allyson made her film debut in 1943's Best Foot Forward, a movie loosely based on a Broadway show.

TV-PIPELINE

BY TAYLOR MICHAELS

Lucy Lawless

Q: I am an avid fan of Hercules: The Legendary Journeys, and I have heard there will be a spin-off this season with Lucy Lawless as Xena, Warrior Princess. Who is Lawless and where can I write to her? –Duke Dusendschon, Sturgeon Bay, Wisc.

A: Lawless' portrayal of Xena in a three-episode story arc on Hercules last season generated such torrid viewer response she was given a series of her own. Prior to that, she appeared in the series as Lyla, a centaur's bride, and as the menacing Lysia in the Hercules and the Amazon Women TV movie.

Nearly 6 feet tall, Lawless is a native of Mt. Albert, Auckland, New Zealand, where her father was mayor the year she was born. Following graduation from high school, she took off for a period of traveling in Europe, then moved to Australia to work in a gold-mining company. She married there and returned to Auckland, where her daughter, Daisy, now 8, was born.

Her professional acting debut came in a New Zealand TV comedy troupe called Funny Business. Though she is a natural athlete of sorts, she was a novice at martial arts until she landed the role of Xena.

Write to Lawless c/o her new series at The Lippin Group, 6100 Wilshire Blvd., Suite 400, Los Angeles, Calif. 90048-5111.

Q: Can you please identify the singer of the lovely song that was featured at the close of the last episode of Northern Exposure? –H. Peterson, Jackson, Mich.

A: I got dozens of letters on this subject! Yes. Go to a good music store and tell the clerk you are looking for Iris Dement's 1992 Warner Bros. CD called Infamous Angel. The song is called "Our Town."

Q: Did Patrick Swayze play the cadet who committed suicide in An Officer and a Gentleman? –J.B., Erie, Pa.

A: No. That was David Keith, who played Jim Bowie last year in the TV adaptation of James Michener's Texas.

Q: I think Sliders has been canceled, but my mother thinks it has been renewed. Who's right? –Mary Vickerly, Ogden, Utah.

A: Mother knows best. Many critics reported the show had been canceled when it did not appear on Fox's fall schedule. It returns later in the season.

Q: Would you please settle a longtime disagreement between my boyfriend and me? He claims Linda Purl and Linda Blair are one and the same actress. I say no way. Your comment, please. –Pat S., Ainsworth, British Columbia, Canada.

A: Your boyfriend needs his eyes examined. These are two totally different actresses.

SOAP TALK

LeClerc leaving Loving; Brooke getting her due

BY CANDACE HAVENS

Jean LeClerc

The latest news from the Loving camp is Jean LeClerc is leaving his role as Jeremy.

LeClerc, who is anxious to move on to other things, made the choice to leave. LeClerc fans can take heart: There is a good chance that, after a run in theater, the actor may return to daytime, possibly as Jeremy's evil twin, Gilbert.

The friction between Luke (Anthony Geary) and Laura (Gene Francis) will not get better any time soon.

It looks like Francis will be leaving General Hospital to spend more time with her husband, Jonathan Frakes, and her baby. Word is Laura will not be killed off and the door is open for Francis to return at any time.

In other news, after becoming seriously ill twice in the last year while traveling abroad, Paolo Seganti (Damian, As the World Turns) might be expected to stay home for awhile.

Seganti was traveling in Mexico recently when he contracted a serious illness. ATWT was forced to shoot around the popular actor, who is in a frontburner story line with Martha Byrne (Lily).

Earlier in the year Seganti suffered from food poisoning while visiting Italy. Michael Galardi was called in to temporarily replace Seganti.

This time, however, the show was able to reschedule some of the other actors to film their scenes in order to give Seganti time to heal.

The actor is back at work, but when contract time comes up he may find a new clause in it that states he must have a food taster when he travels.

Dear Candace: I agree 100 percent with what you said recently about Brooke and Prince Omar on The Bold and the Beautiful.

I think Brooke should have gone back to Morocco with the prince, as they are two of a kind. With all the things she has done to Ridge's family I can't believe Ridge would choose her over Taylor. Also, how can Brooke expect Ridge to be little Rick's father? Has she forgotten Ridge and Rick are brothers?

As long as Ridge stays with Brooke, I won't be watching. –Jacqueline Kay Neal of Indiana.

Dear Reader: Don't stop watching now. Brooke is getting her comeuppance, and it isn't pretty. Stay tuned.

Mothers share journey of hope in NBC movie

BY AMY HIBBERT

Although they are almost completely different, two mothers have one thing in common: their children are missing.

Trail of Tears, debuting Monday, Oct. 9, on NBC, is a compelling drama based on a true story about two women who join forces to search for their missing children.

Katey Sagal (Married... With Children) sheds her bouffant hairdo to star as Annie Cook, a blackjack dealer in Reno, Nev., separated from her husband and raising two sons.

Pam Dawber portrays Cheryl Harris, a loving Nebraska mother of two who also is having marital problems.

Tragedy strikes both women when their children are taken by their husbands. This is common, according to the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children: Each year, more than 350,000 children are abducted by a parent.

Cheryl, wanting to help the search for her children, decides to go to places where they were last sighted. Joining forces with Annie, the women start a journey filled with tears, joy, hope and disappointment.

Although they don't have a lot in common (Cheryl likes show tunes and Annie prefers blues music), they nevertheless build a bond of friendship that is a platform of support for each other during their travels.

Sagal and Dawber deliver poignant performances as the mothers. The women's hardship is apparent, but equally visible is the strength and determination they gain while on the road.

And while the film shows their physical journey, it clearly emphasizes the emotional voyage these mothers take as well.

Katey Sagal and Pam Dawber (from left) play mothers who journey cross-country in search of their missing children in Trail of Tears, debuting Monday on NBC.

34. Instructions for two of the three on To Tell the Truth
35. The __ ; 1982 Richard Pryor film

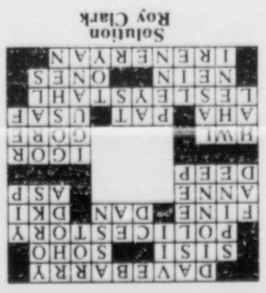
Solution
Roy Clark



The first "new wave" was the work of French directors such as Francois Truffaut and Louis Malle in the 1950s.

Restored copies of 1933's King Kong contain scenes originally deemed too shocking for the general public.

William Devane (The Monroes) and his sons operate Devane's Italian Restaurant in Indio, Calif.

What a dog knows: In the canine nostril, identical twins have the same scent, while fraternal twins do not.

Henry Fonda and James Stewart played singing pals in 1948's On Our Merry Way.

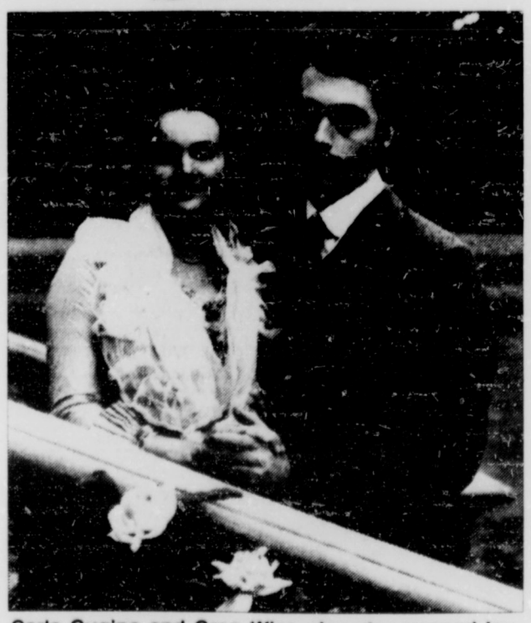
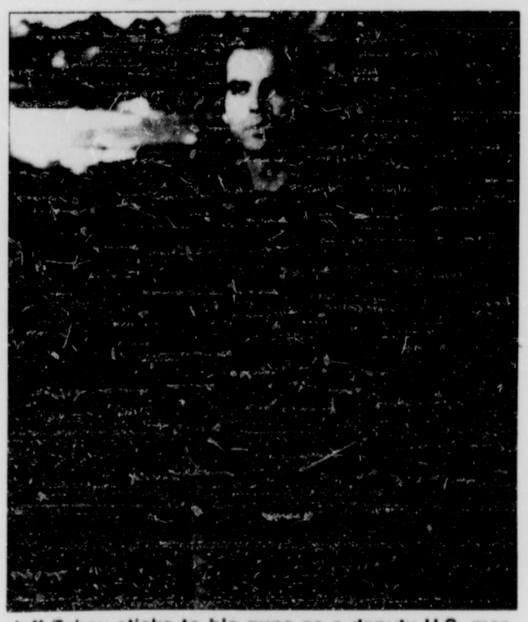
The Bible has inspired hundreds of films. Fans include Pope John Paul II, who saw TNT's Abraham last year.

SUNDAY



Carla Gugino and Greg Wise play star-crossed lovers in The Buccaneers Sunday on PBS (check local listings). It continues Monday and Tuesday.

MONDAY



Jeff Fahey sticks to his guns as a deputy U.S. marshal who must defy odds and take risks to uncover fugitives in The Marshal, Mondays on ABC.

THURSDAY

Author Gore Vidal shows his "purr"-sonal side in A&E Network's In Bed With Gore. Debuting Thursday, the show examines his public and private life.

IN FOCUS

Kerry Fox (left) and Courtney Vance star as a couple who break the rules to share forbidden love in The Affair, premiering Saturday, Oct. 14, on HBO.

Vance portrays a black American soldier during World War II who longs for combat action. Instead, he finds himself working in the mess kitchen.

There he meets Maggie (Fox), a war-effort volunteer and married Englishwoman. They fall in love and conduct a secret love affair, until her husband discovers them.

IN FOCUS

Sean Patrick Flanery takes to the skies in Young Indiana Jones and the Attack of the Hawkmen, debuting Sunday, Oct. 8, on The Family Channel.

Soon after joining the French army, Young Indy (Flanery) finds himself thousands of feet in the air as a photographer with a flying squad. This experience lands him face to face with pilot Manfred von Richthofen, a.k.a. the Red Baron.

Indy also journeys behind enemy lines to snap shots of the latest military aircraft.

IN FOCUS

Al Pacino returns as Don Michael Corleone in The Godfather, Part III, airing Sunday, Oct. 8, on CBS.

The movie stars Pacino as the aging head of a fictional Mafia family. Feeling guilty for his criminal activities, the patriarch turns to the Catholic Church in an effort to absolve his sins.

He discovers, though, the religious brotherhood is even more corrupt than his own.

Director Francis Ford Coppola's daughter, Sofia, portrays Michael's daughter.

Rep. Bartlett Named To CYLC Advisors' Board

District VI Congressman Roscoe Bartlett has become a member of the Honorary Congressional Board of Advisors of the Congressional Youth Leadership Council (CYLC).

This board, composed of legislators from across the nation, was established to further the CYLC's mission of recognizing and inspiring the country's young leaders.

"Representative Bartlett is an excellent addition to the board. His service to the district as a public official combined with a strong and active interest in today's youth make him an ideal member of the board of advisors," commented John Hines, executive director of the council.

The CYLC, a non-profit, nonpartisan, civics and leadership education organization founded in 1985, offers high school students who have demonstrated leadership potential and scholastic merit the opportunity to participate in hands-on learning activities in Washington, D.C. To date, over 55,000 young people representing all fifty states, the American territories, and many foreign countries have participated in CYLC's programs.

Cumberland resident Barbara Turbin; Ellicott City residents Brandon Fitchett, Anita Kattakuzhy, Stephanie Lin, Laura Nelson, and Taylor Watkins; Frederick resident Megan Frahm; and Sykesville residents Wesley Griffen and Jesse Loskarn are students from Maryland's 6th District who have recently participated in programs offered by CYLC.

"A recent national survey of college freshmen paints a picture of growing political apathy among our next generation of potential leaders," Bartlett remarked. "This is a trend which must be reversed. In many ways, the future of our country depends on the interests and abilities of today's young people. I am pleased to support an organization so focused on developing today's youth as tomorrow's leaders."

Mrs. Garrett Co. Contenders Sought

Mrs. Maryland International officials are currently seeking married women who live in Garrett County, and who are interested in becoming the next Mrs. Garrett County. The woman selected will receive her banner, and will have the opportunity to represent Garrett County at the 1996 Mrs. Maryland International Pageant, which will be held in the spring of 1996.

"The Mrs. Maryland International Pageant is an official preliminary of the Mrs. International Pageant, a system which recognizes the virtues of professional, family, and community involvement among married women," said Michelle Cahill, pageant director. Contestants compete in three categories, with 50 percent of their scores achieved in the interview category, 25 percent in the aerobic wear category, and the remaining 25 percent gained in the evening gown category.

Partial proceeds from the 1996 pageant will benefit the Epilepsy Foundation.

Interested women who meet the above qualifications may call (410) 849-3413, or write: P.O. Box 503, Sherwood Forest, MD 21405, for more information.

First Federal Earns Rating Of "Outstanding"

First Federal Savings Bank of Western Maryland, the subsidiary bank of First Financial Corporation of Western Maryland has announced that its primary regulator, the Office of Thrift Supervision, has rated the bank "Outstanding" in a recently issued report of examination of the bank's compliance with the provisions of the Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) of 1977, as amended. The evaluation represents the agency's current assessment and rating of First Federal's community reinvestment performance based on an examination conducted as of June 12, 1995. The purpose of the CRA is to encourage each financial institution to help meet the credit needs of the communities in which it operates. Access to credit is considered critical to the growth and development of businesses, increasing employment opportunities and improving the quality of life in local neighborhoods.

The rating of "Outstanding" represents the highest rating given by federal bank regulators for a financial institution's effort and effectiveness in meeting the credit needs of the communities it services. An institution in this group has been rated by its primary regulatory agency as having an outstanding record of, and is considered a leader in, ascertaining and helping to meet the credit needs of its entire delineated community, including low-and moderate-income neighborhoods, in a manner consistent with its resources and capabilities.

Patrick J. Coyne, chairman of the Board, president and chief executive officer, stated that the bank has made a continuing comprehensive effort to identify and meet the financial services needs of the local residents. In addition, he stressed the bank's ongoing support of the community development efforts and participation in various civic and community activities throughout the area.

First Federal Savings Bank of Western Maryland is a federally chartered, FDIC-insured savings bank which conducts its business through 11 offices located within the greater Cumberland area, Hagerstown, Hancock, Frostburg, Oakland, and Westernport.

Kevin Liller Receives GCBR Service Award

Oakland resident Kevin D. Liller of A&A Realty/Better Homes and Gardens recently received the 1995 Realtors Community Service Award from the Garrett County Board of Realtors (GCBR).

"This award is presented to the realtor who exhibits extraordinary and self-sacrificing acts of public service to the community," a GCBR spokesperson stated.

"Kevin has been very active in youth basketball, football, and baseball as a chaperon, organizer, and coach," the spokesperson said. "He has also been active with the American Heart Association and has served as a member of the Town of Oakland Planning Commission. He has also achieved a two-gallon donor status with the American Red Cross."

Seafood MADE SIMPLE

Does the prospect of cooking a seafood dinner at home make you want to abandon ship?

If so, you'll be glad to know that preparing a delicious seafood meal can be a snap, thanks to a tidal wave of surimi seafood products now available in supermarkets across the country.

What's surimi? It's a seafood alternative that's been swimming in popularity since it was first developed in Japan about 1100 A.D. Basically, it's fish—most often Alaskan pollock fillets, a lean, white-fleshed fish very similar to cod. Within just a few hours of being caught, the fish is cleaned, filleted, minced, washed, and then flavored and shaped to resemble such seafood favorites as crab, lobster and scallops.

Surimi seafood is precooked, pasteurized and ready to eat straight from the package, which makes it extra easy to incorporate into a wide variety of dishes, both hot and cold. Surimi's mild, slightly sweet flavor blends well with many other foods, so you can use it in your favorite salads, soups, sandwiches and stir-fries with great results. It's also the perfect complement to pasta dishes and tastes equally delicious with red, white or other sauces. You can use surimi seafood in just about any recipe that calls for fresh seafood.

SURIMI TIPS

- Substitute surimi seafood in any of your shellfish dishes. It works well in salads, tacos, pasta dishes, fajitas, sandwiches, soups, stir-fries, quiches, omelets, dips, spreads, casseroles, and on pizza.
- Remember that surimi seafood is already cooked. It's ready to go into cold dishes. For hot dishes, just heat and serve.
- Unopened surimi may be kept for up to two months in the refrigerator. Once opened, it should be used within four days.

So how does surimi seafood stack up nutritionally? With today's emphasis on low-fat, low-cholesterol foods, surimi is a healthful and economical choice. Surimi is low in calories, low in cholesterol and high in protein. Surimi is also low in fat—in fact, the Louis Kemp® Delights brand of surimi is totally fat free.

Surimi has a few other advantages over fresh seafood that you should keep in mind. First of all, there's no waste with surimi, and it costs much less. Simply said, you get more—a lot more—product for your money. Second, while some types of fresh seafood can be found only at certain times of the year, surimi is readily available all year long. And finally, surimi can be stored unopened in the refrigerator for as long as two months, which means it's easy to keep on hand for preparing quick, healthy, great-tasting meals.

So the next time you're ready for seafood, toss your fears overboard, and get out the surimi. You'll have a perfectly delicious meal in no time. Use the recipes featured here, and see how quick and easy a seafood meal can be.

CREAMY TWO-CHEESE SEAFOOD LINGUINE

1 package (8 oz.) Louis Kemp® Fat Free Crab Delights® or Lobster Delights® Flakes or Chunks
6 to 8 ounces linguine or other favorite pasta as desired
2 large garlic cloves, minced
1 teaspoon dried oregano, crushed
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 medium tomato, chopped
½ cup whipping cream
½ cup sliced green onions with tops
½ cup Swiss or Bleu cheese
½ cup Parmesan or Romano cheese

Cook pasta according to package directions; drain. While pasta is cooking, cook garlic and oregano in butter in saucepan, stirring frequently, 1 minute. Add tomato; continue cooking, stirring occasionally, 3 minutes, or until tomato is cooked through. Add remaining ingredients; mix well. Cook over medium heat, stirring frequently, until cheese is melted and sauce is hot. Place hot cooked pasta on serving plate; top with sauce. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

SCALLOP PASTA

1 package (8 oz.) Louis Kemp® Fat Free Scallop Delights™
1 pound angel hair pasta
2 tablespoons olive oil
1 medium onion, chopped
1 small green bell pepper, chopped
1 garlic clove, minced
1 teaspoon dried oregano
2 cans (16 oz. each) diced tomatoes
Salt and pepper to taste

Cook pasta according to package directions; drain. While pasta is cooking, combine oil, onion, bell pepper and garlic in a skillet. Sauté until vegetables are tender. Add tomatoes, oregano, salt and pepper; bring to a boil for 1 minute. Reduce heat; simmer for 10 minutes. Add scallops and simmer 3 minutes. Serve warm sauce over pasta. Top with grated Parmesan cheese, if desired. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

SEAFOOD STIR-FRY

1 package (8 oz.) Louis Kemp® Fat Free Crab Delights® Flakes
1 tablespoon oil
1½ cups oriental-style vegetables
½ teaspoon garlic powder
½ teaspoon ground ginger
2 tablespoons soy sauce or seasoning packet from vegetables

Heat oil in skillet. Add Crab Delights and vegetables and stir over medium-high heat for 2 minutes. Add seasoning. Stir well. Cook 1 minute more. Serve immediately. Makes 3 servings.

HOLIDAY SEAFOOD DIP

2 packages (8 oz. each) reduced-fat cream cheese
1 package (8 oz.) Louis Kemp® Fat Free Crab Delights® Flakes
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
4 to 5 drops hot pepper sauce
¼ cup finely chopped walnuts
Paprika

Stir the cream cheese until slightly softened. Blend in remaining ingredients except walnuts and paprika. Spread mixture in a 9-inch pie plate. Top with walnuts and sprinkle with paprika. Bake uncovered at 375°F for 25 minutes until lightly browned. Makes about 4 cups dip.

LOBSTER OCEAN BISQUE

1 package (8 oz.) Louis Kemp® Fat Free Lobster Delights® Chunks
1 can (10¾ oz.) condensed cream of potato soup
1 can (8 oz.) whole kernel corn, undrained
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley

Combine all ingredients except parsley in 2-quart saucepan. Heat on medium about 5 minutes or until heated through, stirring occasionally. Sprinkle with parsley before serving. Makes 4 (1 cup) servings.

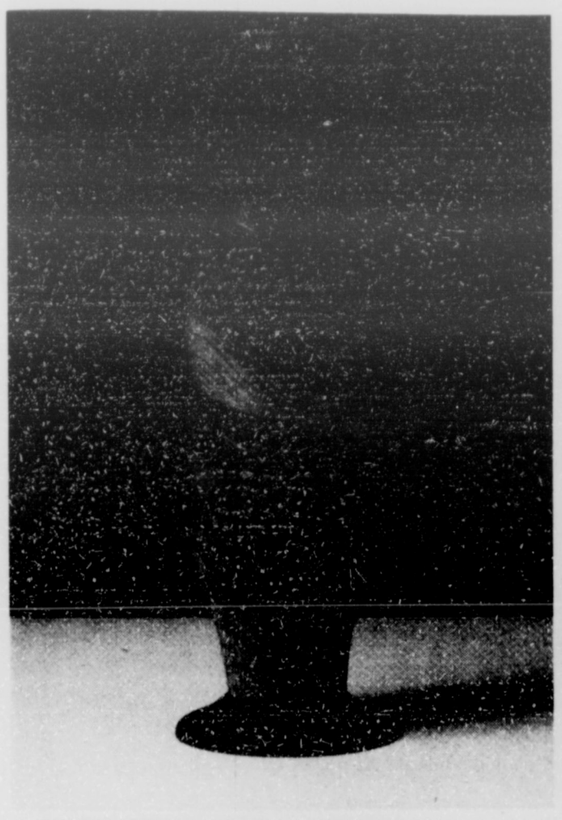
QUICK SEAFOOD-SPINACH DIP

1 package (8 oz.) Louis Kemp® Fat Free Crab Delights® or Lobster Delights® Flakes or Chunks, shredded
2 garlic cloves, minced
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
½ teaspoon dried basil, crushed
¼ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
⅛ teaspoon ground red pepper to taste
1 package (12 oz.) frozen spinach, thawed and drained
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Cook garlic in butter in saucepan over medium heat for 1 minute; stir in basil and peppers. Add remaining ingredients. Heat through, stirring frequently. Serve warm with crackers or Melba toast. Makes about 2½ cups dip.



PHOTOS AND WOODEN SCULPTURES of two local artists will be on display at the Windrush Gallery, Friendsville, until Nov. 15. The exhibition opens this evening with an artists' reception at the gallery from 7:30 to 10 p.m.

Show To Feature Local Woodworker And Photographer

Local fine art photographer Crede Calhoun and woodworker Myki Messer will combine their talents in a show that opens tonight at The Windrush Gallery, Friendsville.

The show will feature works by both artists and will run until Nov. 15. A public reception to meet the artists will be held this evening from 7:30 to 10 p.m. Food and refreshments will be served.

"I strive to reveal the extraordinary in the ordinary," Calhoun commented of his photographs. "I seek subjects that I hope will leave the viewer with a greater appreciation of the beauty that surrounds them. It is my goal to infuse a sense of urgency in the viewer to save the earth, to protect our environment, to work towards leaving the world a better and even more beautiful place for generations to come.

"I feel grateful and extremely privileged to have been able to capture these images," he added.

Calhoun's work has been published in magazines such as Audubon, Ski, Paddler, MidAtlantic Country, Tee Time, and several others. He has also worked as a photographer for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Sierra Club Books, and National Parks magazine.

His work has been featured in shows in Maryland, West Virginia, and Ohio.

Two of Calhoun's photos of Garrett County were recently installed in Baltimore Washington International Airport. One photo, measuring four by six feet, features a kayaker on the Savage River. The second picture, measuring an immense nine by 27 feet, depicts rafters on the Upper Youghiogheny River in Friendsville.

Calhoun operates Vision Quest Studios, a commercial photography studio, along with his wife, Carol.

Messer, who was raised in the Washington, D.C., area and now lives near Albright, W.Va., has been creating innovative artwork for sixteen years. Each of his pieces is unique - the result of painstaking craftsmanship and extensive experience in woodworking.

Messer's works range from meticulously arranged compositions of layered wood to singularly extraordinary burls that have been turned to a smooth finish.

"I find inspiration in the piece first, and then use my lathe to follow what I see," Messer explained.

Messer's work can be found in fine art galleries and private collections across the United States and Canada, an event spokesperson stated.

Lately, Messer has also ventured into fine furniture making.

Storck Tells LWV About County's Information Co-Op

The Garrett County League of Women Voters (LWV) met recently at Pizzeria Uno for their first "information breakfast." Guest speaker Don Storck, project director for the Garrett Rural Information Cooperative (GRIC), told the group how this "public information utility" is designed to bring telecommunications access to Garrett County in an equal, and affordable manner.

GRIC, a non-profit organization, re-invests the revenue generated as new subscribers sign on to the network, to upgrade and improve the electronic pathways. The objective, according to Storck, is to link the community together electronically in the health services, public schools, libraries, businesses, residences, and national and international networks. Interested persons may learn more about the GRIC by calling 387-3048.

The league will host a second "information breakfast" at the Mary Browning Senior Center, Center Street, Oakland, on Saturday, Oct. 21, beginning at 10 a.m.

Membership of the League of Women Voters is open to all United States citizens who are 18 years of age and older. For more information about the organization, persons may call President Virginia Grove at 334-8269.

First United Corp. Declares Dividend

The Board of Directors of First United Corporation, a multibank holding company headquartered in Oakland, declared a cash dividend of $.12 per share at its board meeting on September 27. The dividend will be payable on November 1, 1995, to shareholders of record as of October 23, 1995.

First United Corporation has two banking subsidiaries: First United National Bank & Trust and Myersville Bank. The banks operate a network of community offices located in Garrett, Allegany, Washington, and Frederick counties in Maryland, as well as Mineral, Hardy, and Hampshire counties in West Virginia. As of August 31, 1995, the corporation posted assets of $479 million.

Music To Again Be Highlight Of Autumn Glory Festival

A wide variety of musical entertainment is scheduled throughout the 28th Annual Autumn Glory Festival, set for October 12-15, beginning with the Fireman's Oktoberfest Celebration featuring a 16-piece German-style "Oompah" band at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, October 12, at the Oakland fire hall on Third Street, following the Oktoberfest Meal and Fireman's Parade. Admission is free.

Friday afternoon's "Celebrate the Glory" festivities at the Mountain Fresh Pavilion in the Oakland Town Parking Lot will feature the Country Dock Cloggers of Prince Frederick, the Crellin Assembly of God Church gospel concert, Jim Hollis & The Boys fiddle and country music, and performances by Hammers & Strings. Friday evening's entertainment will feature an organ recital at 7 p.m. at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland by Dr. Geoffrey Simon and the "Official" Maryland State Banjo Championship including bluegrass concerts by The New Coon Creek Girls. Admission to this event is $6 for adults and $3 for children under 12.

Bagpipe concerts will be performed by the Garrett Community College Pipes & Drums on Saturday at 10:30 a.m. in front of the Grand Feature Parade reviewing stand on Second Street, Oakland, and at 9:30 a.m. Sunday, October 15, at St. John's Episcopal Church on Route 135 in Deer Park. Admission is free to both concerts.

Also on Saturday, in front of the parade reviewing stand, the Pleasant View Baptist Church outside Oakland will host a gospel concert from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., and the Country Dock Cloggers will perform at 3:30 p.m. or immediately following the parade in front of I.C. Electronics on Liberty Street in Oakland, with free admission to these events. Saturday evening will feature the Western Maryland Tournament of Bands at 6 p.m. at the Southern High School football field and the "Official" Maryland State 5-String Fiddle Championship and a concert by the Buffalo Run Country Band at 7 p.m. at the Southern High School Gym outside Oakland. Admission is $6 for adults and $3 for children 12 and under.

The Mt. Top Promenaders will offer a Western Style Square and Round Dance Demonstration on Sunday, October 15, from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Southern Middle School cafeteria outside Oakland, with free admission.

The "Official" Maryland State Banjo and Fiddle Championships are sponsored by First Federal Savings Bank of Western Maryland and funded in part by a grant from the Garrett County Arts Council, Maryland State Arts Council.

For more information or a free festival brochure, persons may contact the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, 200 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550, telephone (301) 334-1948.

Goodwill Home Receives Food Service Award

The 13-member kitchen staff of the Goodwill Mennonite Nursing Home recently received a Quality Food Service Award from the Garrett County Health Department.

The kitchen was judged on food handling practices, overall cleanliness, and the personal hygiene of workers, as well as on inspection results.

The Goodwill Mennonite Nursing Home, located on Dorsey Hotel Road, Grantsville, has been in operation since 1959. The current kitchen was built in the mid-1970's when a new section was added to the original structure. The food service facility currently provides food for 89 clients, 10 independent living units, and a staff of 30 daytime and 12 evening employees.

Recently, the kitchen staff (at that time 11 persons) completed the State of Maryland Food Service Sanitation Program, a 16-hour course encompassing all aspects of food handling.

"After working their normal day, these women would take three hours of classroom lecture twice a week, and independently study for much longer," a GCHD spokesperson stated. "The test for the food handler's certification course was successfully completed by all who attended the class. It is quite an achievement for an entire food service facility staff to succeed, as has Goodwill Mennonite Nursing Home."

NICK DROBAC

Although the resignation of a previous technology education teacher came late in the hiring season, the Garrett County Board of Education has been fortunate to be able to employ Nick Drobac as the new technology education instructor at Southern High School.

Drobac, a native of Aliquippa in Beaver County, Pa., earned his undergraduate degree at the University of Pittsburgh with a major in vocational education. His master's degree in industrial safety was completed at the University of Southern California. He has taken numerous additional courses, including work in counseling and guidance at Eastern Michigan University and work toward a MBA at Robert Morris College.

Drobac has served as an instructor at both the Community College of Beaver County in Monaca and at the Community College of Allegheny County in Pittsburgh.

Currently residing in Oakland, the teacher will also be serving as the golf coach for Southern High School. He said he is working with a young team which he feels has a great deal of talent and should be competitive this season.

"Southern High School is a great high school," Drobac said. "The students have a lot of potential and ability."

GCC Class Will Help Participants Build Confidence

A class designed to help build confidence, personal power, and supervisory effectiveness, by learning to communicate assertively, will be conducted in the Continuing Education building of Garrett Community College's McHenry campus on three consecutive Wednesdays, starting Oct. 18, from 6:30 until 9:45 each evening.

"Strengthening Your Assertiveness and Communication Skills," will be taught by Sandy Major and Julie Yoder, and will be specially designed to help business managers and supervisors learn to assess and strengthen assertiveness skills, use motivational techniques, focus on listening to understand, give and get positive feedback, and coach and counsel. "It will help participants build skills in communicating effectively to build trust and to empower others," Major said.

Space for this class is limited, and interested persons should register immediately. For more information about this class, or any GCC-sponsored business class, call the college's Small Business Development Center at 387-3080.

Garrett County AARP To Meet

Garrett County Chapter #779, AARP, will meet at the Mary Browning Senior Center on Wednesday, Oct. 11, at 1 p.m.

Prior to the meeting, Jim Comings, District 1 director, will meet with all local officers at Denny's restaurant at 11 a.m. He will discuss concerns, and answer questions about insurance, long-term care, the 55 Alive driving class, as well as other items pertinent to the meeting.

All members are encouraged to attend the meeting to learn what programs are available to all senior citizens through the AARP.

PEARL HARBOR SURVIVORS REUNITE - Two local men were among the more than 100 people attending a picnic in Sykesville, Sept. 9, honoring the survivors of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor during World War II. James Jackson, Mtn. Lake Park, and Richard Sweeney, Deep Creek Lake, met with 43 other Pearl Harbor survivors and their families during the outing that has occurred every year for more than 40 years. Above, the 45 vets pose for a group shot, and below, Jackson is pictured, second from left, as he and his young partner participate in a water balloon toss.

'95 Md. Charity Campaign Begins

The 1995 Maryland Charity Campaign (MCC) officially began today, Oct. 5, according to an announcement issued this week by Governor Parris N. Glendening, campaign chairperson. The theme of this year's campaign is "Helping People Who Need Help, Give Through MCC."

The goal of the 1995 campaign is to raise $2,300,000, to be used for 568 charitable organizations in Western Maryland, including the Garrett County Appalachian Parent Association, Inc., Garrett County Habitat for Humanity, Inc., Garrett County-Maryland Community Action Committee, Inc., Hospice of Garrett County, Inc., the Boy Scouts of America - Potomac Council 757, Maryland Salem Children's Trust, and Tressler Lutheran Services.

The official kick-off event began at noon today in Baltimore, with John Merrill, an employee of the Department of Social Services, Oakland, representing Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties, present for the opening ceremonies.

In Loving Memory of Sally Duckworth Coddington
9/25/44-11/26/87
who went home to be with her Lord Thanksgiving Day, November 26,1987.
Because of her faith and trust in the lord Jesus Christ,. she now spends eternity in heaven.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore.
As time goes by, we miss you more
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.

We cherish the memories of her smile and laughter, and the contentment she had in life.
Each time we see your picture, you seem to smile and say, "Don't cry; I'm only sleeping. We'll meet again someday."
Loving and remembering her.
The Family

met at the home of Mary Frantz with 18 members present.

Plans were made for awards dinner, to be held Oct. 13 at Sand Spring Church social hall.

The lodge will go to the nursing home at Grantsville on Oct. 25. Everyone should meet at Rt. 42 intersection at 6 p.m.

The group will pick up garbage on the highway on Oct. 9. Members are to meet at Blooming Rose Church at 4:30 p.m.

A covered dish dinner was shared.

State Park Programs

"Fit For Fall" Walking Sessions Planned At DCLSP

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR), State Forest and Park Service, will host walking for fitness sessions at the Deep Creek Lake State Park on Tuesdays and Thursdays throughout the month of October. The walkers should meet at the park at 9 a.m.

This "walking club" is being started to help residents find others to walk with and develop a healthy lifestyle, a spokesperson said. Additional walking days will be added if participants are interested.

The walks will be led by park naturalists, and fitness tips and healthful diet information will be included in the program.

For more information, persons may contact Diane Miller at 387-5563.

POTOMAC STATE FOREST

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources will host a hike on Saturday, Oct. 7, at 10 a.m. The three and a half mile hike will begin at the Potomac Forest Headquarters and will follow Lostland Run to the North Branch of the Potomac River.

The hike will feature the Cascade Falls, a newly constructed swinging bridge, and the Potomac Overlook.

A four-wheeler tour through the Backbone Mountain area of Potomac State Forest will be offered on Sunday, Oct. 8. Interested riders are to meet at the intersection of Rt. 135 and Swanton Hill Road at 1 p.m. The group will return there at 5 p.m.

Each person must have his or her own ATV and helmet.

For more information on these events, persons may contact the Potomac-Garrett State Forest Office at 334-2038.

FRIENDSVILLE

TRICK OR TREAT

Mayor Spencer Schlosnagle and the Friendsville Town Council will sponsor a door-to-door trick or treat activity for local children, ages 12 and younger, on Tuesday, Oct. 31, from 5:30 until 7 p.m. A responsible adult is asked to accompany costumed children. Residents who plan to hand out treats will have their porch lights on.

Regional AHEC Info Network Accepts Award

An information network program launched by the Western Maryland Area Health Education Center (AHEC) with the help of the Garrett County Health Department and Garrett County Memorial Hospital has received national recognition.

The Access Computer Technology/Information Outreach Network (ACTION), a program spearheaded by the Learning Resource Services (LRS) of Western Maryland AHEC, recently received the Recognition of Excellence in Learning Resources Award, one of five national awards presented by the National AHEC Center Directors' Association and the Recognition of Excellence Committee.

ACTION is a health information clearinghouse program which serves health practitioners and students in a nine-county, tri-state area of Western Maryland, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia. Through this system, persons can obtain health information from more than 3,600 medical journals.

In setting up the ACTION network, AHEC placed 19 computer work stations in "medically underserved" health and education facilities, an AHEC spokesperson stated. The program also provided training and support services needed to initiate the electronic network.

GCHD, GCMH PARTICIPATE IN AWARD-WINNING PROGRAM - The Western Maryland Area Health Education Center (AHEC) was recently honored for a program which was launched with the help of the Garrett County Health Department (GCHD) and Garrett County Memorial Hospital (GCMH). Shown above, center, is Ann Roggenbuck, chair of the National AHEC Center Directors' Association Steering Committee, as she presents the Recognition of Excellence in Learning Resources Award to Executive Director Donald Spencer of Western Maryland AHEC, left, and Director Kathleen Lese of the Western Maryland AHEC's learning resource services, right. The award was presented during a luncheon at the 1995 National AHEC Workshop held in Chicago.

"At present, 36 institutions are linked electronically to regional and national health information services. Through the past four years, the program has introduced and educated more than 4,500 people about using computers in medicine," the AHEC spokesperson said.

"The network has evolved into a consortium of institutions referred to as the Western Maryland AHEC Health Information and Resource Network," the spokesperson added. "It continues to provide the means for health professionals, students, and other members of the community to obtain health information and resources."

ACTION received funding through a National Library of Medicine grant and was supported by the Southeastern/Atlantic Regional Medical Library and the University of Maryland at Baltimore Health Sciences Library.

There are currently 141 AHEC Centers in 36 states with active programs.

Quality Customer Service Course Offered At GCC

A class, titled "Building Quality Customer Service," will be offered at the McHenry campus of Garrett Community College, on two consecutive Tuesdays, Oct. 17 and 24, from 6:30 until 9:45 p.m.

"Making all customer contracts positive is the key to service excellence," said Lynne Glotfelty, instructor for the class. "The way your employees deal with customers is critical to the success of your business. While customers are seeking quality products, they also want to be treated well, and will do repeat business with companies that emphasize service. The lifeblood of any company is repeat business."

Quality customers service that brings customers back can only be delivered when both managers, and front line employees possess skills and knowledge in customer service, Glotfelty added. This class is designed to equip managers and front line employees with the skills they need to build a business that values customers, and delivers customer-centered services. Some of the skills taught will focus on: how to build and keep customer goodwill, using actions that build trust, improving communication and phone skills, and dealing calmly with difficult people.

Space is limited, and persons interested in these classes should register immediately. For more information about the class, or any other business classes, call Julie Yoder or Sandy Major at 387-3080.

SWANTON NEWS

Luella Baker and Mary June Harvey visited Pearle Campbell on Sunday.

Bob and Fannie Rizer called on Mareva and Orval Teets Friday evening.

Jennifer George, daughter of Marlon and Sandy George, attended a party at the Will O' the Wisp where she won a prize in a pumpkin decorating contest.

The Garrett County Branch of A.A.U.W. met Sept. 26 at the home of Gail and Steve Herman in Swanton to greet guests and new members. Present at the dinner were: Kam Gillespie, Hallie Gillespie, Elizabeth McComas, Janice Hutchinson, Mary Beckman, Hallie Snyder, Nina and Permode Kapour, Edith Brock, Marge Lauver, Jeff Tomcsick, and Becky Boncella. Plans were made to support scholarships for Garrett Community College women for the Autumn Glory Tall Tale Liars' Festival, and for Senator Mikulski's visit to Harley Farms Bed and Breakfast on October 3. Sen. Mikulski will have appeared on a local cable TV show on Tuesday, produced by Kam Gillespie.

Snowy Creek Power Equipment
13812 Garrett Highway
Oakland, MD. 21550
(301) 334-6477

Hello,

We would like to take a minute of your time to let you know that Becorp has a new name and location. We are now known as Snowy Creek Power Equipment and we are located on Rt. 219 north of Oakland next to Battery Warehouse.

Our business is expanding thanks to customers like you who have trusted us to service your lawn and garden equipment in the past.

Snowy Creek Power Equipment is a full service power equipment dealer currently open for parts and service on any brand of equipment. We have factory trained mechanics and years of experience in the lawn and garden business. In the very near future we will be adding several high quality lines of new lawn and garden equipment to serve a need that has been missing in the Garrett County area for several years.

We are currently running some service specials which you may be interested in. For the wood cutter, we are again running our chain saw service special where we will perform 10 essential services including sharpening for just $15.00. It is also time to think about winter. If you have a garden tractor that takes winter attachments, we will pick up your tractor, remove the mower, install your winter attachments, deliver your tractor back and we will store your mower deck for the winter and have it sharpened and serviced for the spring. If you have a walk-behind snow thrower, now is the time to get it ready before you're left out in the cold with a machine that won't start or throw snow.

We want to be the people you think of when it comes to new lawn and garden equipment or service on any brand you may now own. Call us today or stop by and visit to discuss your lawn and garden equipment needs.

Our store hours are 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday; Wednesday and Thursday nights we are open until 8 p.m.; we are closed Saturday and open Sunday from 9:30 a.m. until 2 p.m. (Sunday, October 15, we will be closed to take our church youth group camping.) Free coffee and doughnuts are offered every Sunday morning, so stop by and visit.

Thank you,
Tom, Diane, Jason, Heather, Erin, and Evan

Farmers Asked To Make Nominations For Committee

"Farmers and other eligible voters are asked to nominate candidates of their choice by October 30 for the county Farm Service Agency (FSA) committee election ballot," said Kenneth R. Bachtel, chairperson of the Garrett County FSA Committee. The FSA committee was previously known as the ASC county committee.

The FSA county committee election will be conducted from November 24 to December 4 by mail ballot. FSA, an agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, administers farm commodity, crop insurance, and conservation programs for farmers and makes farm ownership and operating loans.

Garrett County farmers have the opportunity to nominate persons they feel would best serve their farm community on the FSA county committee. Farmers may request and receive nominating petition forms from the county office.

Bachtel reminded farmers that to be valid petitions must be limited to one nominee each, must include written certification that the nominee is willing to serve, if elected, and must be signed by at least three eligible voters. Also, the petition must be received in the FSA office by the October 30 deadline.

Eligible voters may circulate or sign nominating petitions for as many candidates as they choose. Anyone wishing to nominate a farmer for the county FSA committee election may contact the county office for details, including eligibility requirements.

Farmers should petition for and elect those individuals they feel would do a good job as an FSA committee member. "FSA committees are essential in the administration of farm programs," Bachtel said, "and we welcome all valid petitions."

4-H. . .More Than You Ever Imagined

National 4-H Week October 1-7, 1995

The Republican proudly salutes 4-H for its efforts in teaching youngsters skills and a sense of responsibility which they carry with them the rest of their lives.

Small Grain Seeding In Full Swing

For the week ending October 1, small grain seedings were in full swing as barley was over 30 percent planted and rye was over 20 percent planted. Wheat seedings were just beginning. Soybean development continued at an above average pace. The condition of the crop also varied from very poor to excellent with the majority in fair condition. Field corn continued progressing ahead of schedule as most of the crop has reached maturity. Harvest of grain and silage continued ahead of average as well. The condition of the crop ranged from very poor to excellent with the majority of the crop in fair to good condition. Sorghum harvest continued ahead of schedule. Crop condition varied from very poor to excellent. Apple harvest continued. Pastures were one percent very poor, 29 percent poor, 46 percent fair, 23 percent good, and one percent excellent. Third and fourth cuttings of other hay continued as well as fourth cuttings of alfalfa. Hay supplies were short to mostly adequate.

Topsoil moisture was one percent very short, 35 percent short, and 64 percent adequate. Subsoil moisture was 15 percent very short, 60 percent short, and 25 percent adequate. Conditions allowed for an average of 5.6 days suitable for fieldwork.

Maryland's progress for the week ending October 1 was as follows, listing the item, this week's percentage, last week's percentage, last year's percentage, and a percentage for the 5-year average.

WEATHER

Maryland weather for the week ending September 29, had below normal temperatures and below normal precipitation. Temperatures averaged 60.8 degrees, 4.2 degrees below the normal of 65.0 degrees for the week of September 23 through September 29. The low temperature for the week was 32 degrees at Oakland. Lows were in the 30's to low 50's. The high was 83 degrees at College Park. Highs were mainly in the 70's to low 80's. Precipitation averaged 0.67 inch, 0.10 inch below the normal of 0.77 inch. Precipitation ranged from 0.04 inch at Oakland to 1.02 inches at Chestertown. Regional rainfall averages were: Western, 0.28; North Central, 0.74; Southern Maryland west of the Bay, 0.55; and Eastern Shore, 0.87 inch.

MDA Seeking Hay And Straw Producers

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Lewis R. Riley has announced that the Maryland Department of Agriculture will put out a new Maryland Hay and Straw Directory in November.

"I urge all Maryland farmers who will have hay and straw for sale this winter to contact the Maryland Department of Agriculture's Marketing Services Office or a local Cooperative Extension Office to request an application to be listed in the directory. The deadline for applications is October 13," Riley said.

The Maryland Hay and Straw Directory is published as a service to buyers and sellers of hay and straw. The directory will be available to livestock producers, horsemen, contractors, and others who are trying to locate a source of hay or straw. The directory will also be mailed to more than 300 licensed horse stables throughout Maryland.

A free copy of the directory may be obtained by writing: Hay and Straw Directory, Maryland Department of Agriculture, Marketing Services Office, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, MD 21401, or calling (410)841-5770.

For a listing in the directory or for additional information, interested persons should contact Lester Jones, Marketing Services at (410) 841-5770.

STATE FARM QUEEN SPEAKS -- The Allegany and Garrett County Farm Bureaus met September 21 for their annual Policy Development Meeting. The session was moderated by Garrett County Farm Bureau President Gary Fratz. Lori Evans, 1995 Maryland Farm Queen, thanked the members for the opportunity to promote Maryland's leading industry, agriculture. She also encouraged the members to get involved with Farm Bureau. Norman Astle, Public Affairs director with the Maryland Farm Bureau, updated the 60 Farm Bureau members about key issues affecting agriculture. Some of the issues included the International Fuel Tax Agreement (IFTA), Maryland Endangered Species Task Force, Maryland Dairy Task Force, gambling and environmental standing. Valerie Greene, assistant director of national affairs with the Maryland Farm Bureau, gave an update on the 1995 Farm Bill, the Delaney Clause Reform, the Budget Reconciliation Act (Budget Bill), and the Federal Endangered Species Act. For additional information concerning the issues discussed, or membership in Farm Bureau in Garrett and Allegany counties, call (301) 746-8484 (Garrett County) and (301) 724-1984 (Allegany County). To have 1995 Maryland Farm Queen Lori Evans speak to groups and organizations, contact the Garrett County Farm Bureau at (301) 746-8484. EVALUATE THE ALFALFA STAND THIS FALL

After a few years, an alfalfa stand may no longer be economically productive. Winterkill, insects, diseases, and machine damage can thin the plant population to the point that economic yields are not practical. Thin stands invite weeds to move in the open spaces, thus decreasing yields and quality of the forage.

You should be scouting this fall to calculate actual plant counts per square foot, evaluate individual plant health and the overall condition of the stand, taking into consideration yields obtained this season. By building a simple one-foot square frame and randomly tossing it in various areas of the field, stand counts can be taken. Make at least one random toss and stand count for each acre in the field. Average all of your stand counts to determine the average number of plants per square foot. If the stand contains less than five plants per square foot, you should grow another crop such as corn next season. The field should have an abundance of nitrogen in storage.

You can judge the health of the plants by digging up several plants and evaluating the roots. Slice the plants vertically with a knife and check for brown areas within the roots. If you find a lot of brown areas, this means the plant roots are diseased. The plants may make some growth next spring but will not be vigorous throughout the season. In fact, many of them will die.

PRIVATE PESTICIDE APPLICATOR'S LICENSE WORKSHOP AND EXAMINATION

If you need to obtain your pesticide applicator's license, mark the following dates on your calendar. On November 6, at 7:30 p.m., at the extension office, I will be conducting a workshop in preparation for the pesticide examination which will be given by MDA on November 13, at 7:30 p.m., at the extension office. At the workshop I will be covering materials that may be associated with the examination. This workshop is not a requirement for the license, just an opportunity to be better prepared for the test. There are study manuals available upon request.

FIRST BEEF ROUNDTABLE WAS A SUCCESS

Although the group of beef producers was small at Frostburg, I think they enjoyed and benefitted from the beef roundtable that was held over the interactive video network. The producers shared their herd health concerns and experiences with other beef producers across the state. Also, we have experts on hand to answer questions on herd health problems and corrective management practices.

The next roundtable will be held Wednesday, November 1, from 7:15 to 9:15 p.m., at Frostburg State University. During the first 45 minutes of the program, Dr. Scott Barao, livestock extension specialist, and Dr. Douglas Carmel, extension veterinarian, University of Maryland, will present timely information regarding the management of weaned replacement heifers. The remainder of the program will be open forum for questions and comments from the audience. For directions to the video lab and additional information, interested persons should contact my office at (301) 334-1990.

A Birthday Remembrance

In Loving Memory of our mother

Opal V. Friend

who would have celebrated her 85th Birthday, Oct. 11, 1995

We think of you in silence and make no outward show.
So what it meant to lose you
no one will ever know.
Our hearts still ache with sadness.
Our eyes shed many tears.
God knows how much we miss you.
As we face the lonely years.

Forms to File and "EFC"

A financial aid form (FAFSA) and in some cases, new this year, a profile form will have to be filled out for the Federal Government as well as the colleges to determine eligibility for financial aid. No form-No aid. Many applicants find the form intimidating and confusing. If you do, get help. There is no need to forgo aid because you are frustrated with the form.

A critical component of the financial aid equation is the student's expected family contribution (EFC). The EFC is what the student and the parents are expected to contribute. College Cost-Minus EFC = Demonstrated Financial Need.

Fire Prevention Week Observance Is Announced

Maryland State Fire Marshal Rocco J. Gabriele has announced that Fire Prevention Week will be observed in Maryland Oct. 8-14. The theme for this year's statewide fire safety observance is "Watch What You Heat! - Prevent Home Fires." The theme stresses the importance of proper fire safety behaviors in the area of cooking, heating, and smoking in the home.

Governor Parris N. Glendening has proclaimed the observance of Fire Prevention Week for Marylanders upon the request of Fire Marshal Gabriele. An official governor's proclamation was issued and delivered at the Governor's Fire and Burn Safety Conference last month.

The history of National Fire Prevention Week has its roots in the Great Chicago Fire which occurred on October 9, 1871. The conflagration killed approximately 300 people, left more than 100,000 homeless, and destroyed more than 17,000 buildings in Chicago.

Every year since 1925, the president of the United States has issued a proclamation announcing a national observance for fire prevention in the nation.

Gabriele is urging all Marylanders to take the opportunity during National Fire Prevention Week to increase their awareness of the top three risks - cooking, heating, and smoking - for residential fires and to learn how to avoid the incidence of fires that are often associated with them.

"Simply staying alert and, specifically, watching what we do in our homes can prevent the majority of residential fires that occur each year in our state," Gabriele said.

According to the Maryland Fire Incident Reporting System (MFIRS), there are approximately 8,000 structure fires each year which account for millions in property damaged or destroyed. Last year, more than 100 people died as a result of fires in Maryland. Approximately 90% of all fire deaths occurred in residential properties.

The Office of the State Fire Marshal offers the following fire and life safety tips to help improve fire prevention in the home:

*Install and maintain smoke detectors on each level of the home.

*Stay in the area of the stove when cooking.

*Use portable space heaters, woodstoves and fireplaces in accordance with the manufacturer's instructions. Remember, a three-foot safe distance should be maintained between all heating equipment and anything that can burn.

*Careless smoking is one of the highest casual factors of fire deaths. Insure that smokers use proper ashtrays for the disposal of their smoking materials and ashes.

*Watch where matches and lighters are placed and keep them away from the reach of young children.

"If our citizens would follow these simple instructions and use good common sense, we could all see a significant reduction in the incident of home fire," Gabriele said.

4-H Club News

NORTH GLADE 4-H
by Bobby Schmidt, reporter

The regular meeting of the North Glade 4-H was held Sept. 13. There were 10 members and eight adults present.

The club members talked about what they did at the Garrett County Agricultural Fair and which awards they received. The club received second place in conservation and a blue ribbon on the booth. The members also won second place with their float. The club will do Adopt-A-Highway on Sunday, Sept. 17, at 2 p.m.

Beef tickets were passed out.

Friend's Building donated two market lambs to be raffled off. Tickets for this were also passed out. All tic-kets are due at the next meeting.

Demonstrations were done by Megan Bernard on cats and Allison Hamilton on dogs.

Next month's meeting will be on Oct. 11 at 7 p.m.

Cultural Events Planned At GCC

Two events planned by the Student Government Association of Garrett Community College, in conjunction with the college's cultural diversity theme, have been scheduled for the near future. Both events are open to the public.

Internationally-known storyteller Shindana Cooper will perform in the GCC auditorium on Tuesday, Oct. 10, at 8 p.m. In the African-American tradition of oral history, Ms. Cooper tells stories from the ancient African culture as well as incidents from the lives of Sojourner Truth, Mary McLeod, and the frightened slave woman "Who Walked with Harriet." Her stories take place in a small African village, on a slave plantation and in a safe house on the underground railroad. Admission to the performance is free.

A trip to the Smithsonian Institute and National Museums in Washington, D.C. has been planned. Charter buses will leave the GCC parking lot on Friday, Oct. 20, at 6 a.m., returning about 10 p.m. The trip is open to the public at a cost of $15 per person. Interested persons should contact Ron Skidmore at 387-3024.

The Homemakers Corner

by Joan Schultz
Public Relations Chairperson

The Garrett Association for Family and Community Education (formerly Garrett County Extension Homemakers) wish to thank Sunnyside, Casselman Valley, Bloomington, Accident and Meadow Glade clubs for donating their time and efforts in hosting our booth at the fair and also for the variety of demonstrations they presented. Many compliments were received on the handmade items displayed and the demonstrations given.

Summer is now behind us and the fall schedule begins with our annual Christmas Workshop being hosted this year by the Bloomington Club on Tuesday, Oct. 17, at the Bloomington Methodist Church. Registration will be $2 and it will begin at 9:30 a.m. There will be music, door prizes, and hands-on activities. Those attending are asked to bring a covered dish, place setting, canned good for House of Hope, cleaning products for Community Action, and if they wish items for show and tell. Everyone is invited.

A special planning meeting for the Holiday Treats Workshop will be held on October 24 at the Extension office at 10 a.m. Anyone wishing to participate is welcome to attend.

GCC Offering Basic Caligraphy Course

A basic calligraphy course is being offered at the Oakland Center of Garrett Community College. Offered by the Continuing Education Division of GCC, the course will begin Oct. 17, and sessions are scheduled to be held each Tuesday from 6:30 until 8:30 p.m., for a total of six sessions.

"After learning this art of beautiful handwriting," said a GCC spokesperson, "students may use their skills for poster lettering, writing notes, or addressing cards and invitations."

The cost of the course is $21 tuition, plus a $4 registration fee. Students will need a basic calligraphy pen set to use during instruction. For more information, persons may call 334-8304.

DISTRICT GOVERNOR VISITS - The Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club recently hosted District 22-W Governor David Smith, Rawlings, in his official visit to the local club. Smith, pictured above right with club president Mike McHenry, noted that October and November are membership months, when all clubs should be recruiting and retaining new members. He also reported on the Lions' International Convention held in Korea in July, where he learned that "Lions in the U.S. are held in very high esteem because of the things our clubs do to help throughout the rest of the world." He invited members to the District 22-W Social, slated for October 7 at the Venice Motel in Hagerstown, and asked for support for Lions Candy Days, Oct. 13-14, with proceeds to aid the Lions' Vision Research Foundation. McHenry announced that club members W. Porter Welch and Paul Shockey were honored for their fund-raising for and participation in the recent Walk for Cancer.

GRANTSVILLE

CWF MEETS

The 28th Area Christian Fellowship was conducted recently at St. John's United Church of Christ, with nearly 50 people in attendance.

Members of St. Ann's Catholic Church presented the program. Eleanor Benedict provided a musical program with her violins, and then gave a brief history of each instrument.

A memorial program was led by Margie Menges, and a floral arrangement was placed on the altar in memory of deceased members.

Following the program, Sue Beachy conducted a business meeting. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Menges. A committee to plan next year's dinner meeting was appointed.

HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Mars Hill Homemakers gathered recently for dinner at Glisan's Restaurant, near Uniontown, Pa.

The group's next meeting is slated for Tuesday, Oct. 10, at 10 a.m. at the Jennings United Methodist Church.

Accident Elem. Students Honored For '94-95 Efforts

Accident Elementary School held its annual awards assembly on June 8. Students from all grades received recognition and awards for various accomplishments and successes throughout the 1994-95 school year.

(Editor's Note: Although several pictures were apparently taken of the award recipients by the school staff, the photographs did not turn out. And in an effort to give credit to these students, The Republican staff conceded to running the article despite its lateness.)

DAR (Daughters of the American Revolution) essay winners were Erin Neil, fifth grade, first in state competition; and Micah Plevyak, fifth grade, third in Garrett County. All participants received certificates for their entries, and Micah and Erin were given plaques for their achievements.

Math League Contest - Landon Southerly, fourth grade, first place; and Jordan Halsig, fourth grade, runner-up. These students received plaques for achievements. Honorable mentions were awarded to Kristin Hoffman, Allen King, Elizabeth Long, Christopher Schmidt, Rachel Turski, and Brandi Wagner.

Spelling Bee Winners - In fourth grade, Landon Southerly, second place; and Jordan Halsig, first place. In fifth grade, Eddie Clemons, second place; and Micah Plevyak, first place.

The annual Woodman of the World Plaque was presented to fifth grader Todd Foley for outstanding interest and achievement in the area of history.

Perfect Attendance Awards for students who did not miss any school days went to Michael Pickrel, Trisha Beitzel, Chad Carr, Duane Rice, Christopher Schmidt, and Benjamin Williams.

Micah Plevyak was the school and county winner for the "Maryland You Are Beautiful" contest. His award winning essay was titled "Drug Free School... You Can Make It Happen." He received a plaque for his accomplishment.

The Uma Krishnaswami Reading Award for perfect reading was given to Lyndsi Butler for always completing her "Reading Calendar."

The President's Award for Educational Improvement was awarded to Jason Anderson, Kristopher Knox, Jasmine Friend, Bryan Lenhart, Joseph Lynch, and Tracy McKenzie.

The Presidential Academic Fitness Awards for outstanding academic achievement were presented. In order to receive this recognition, students had to score 85% or better in the areas of math and reading on their third grade standardized achievement test. Students had to earn a grade point average of at least 90% for grades fourth and fifth. Those students presented with the award were Amanda Bell, Todd Foley, Mark Bergstrom, Rebecca Friend, Brooke Butler, Amanda Hahn, Edward Clemons, Steffanie Kahl, Tom Crozier, Micah Plevyak, and Mark Roberts.

Each student voted for one student from his or her class for the citizenship award. Those chosen and their grade level are as follows: Zach Brosnihan, pre-K; Christopher Speicher, first grade; David Beitzel, kindergarten; Robbie Harding, first grade; Richard Fike, fifth; Corey Carr - kindergarten; Eric Bowman, second; Anna Karsten, third; Esther Schmuck, first; Devon Harman, second; Lydia Maust, third; Lacie Berkebile, fourth; Micah Plevyak, fifth; Brandi Wagner, fourth; and Jamie Wilt, fifth.

Fifth grade students who accumulated the highest grade point averages throughout grades four and five were given certificates for their accomplishments. Those receiving this award Todd Foley, top winner; Micah Plevyak, runner-up; Amanda Bell, third place; Brooke Butler, fourth place; Mark Bergstrom, fifth place; and Steffanie Kahl, sixth place.

unteers to help with the Food for Preston application process. As a result of her plea, there were four who volunteered their time.

Lunch was served to the 17 members present and Dorothy Hauser, president, presided. Adrian Cocran gave a reading. It was decided to retain the 1994-95 officers for the 1995-96 term of office.

Jeannie Estep, R.N., was present to do blood pressure readings and Betty Martin of the county center was also present.

"Nutrition and the Heart" was the subject for the lesson brought to the group courtesy of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital and the Garrett County Health Department through their Wellness project. A door prize of a cookbook went to Mable Wilhelm. The group expressed appreciation to those who were responsible for the program.

PERSONAL MENTION

Annette Sisler attended a hair show which featured new techniques in hair care and styling on Monday, Sept. 25, in Monroeville, Pa. Annette, the daughter of Nancy Sisler of Aurora and George Sisler of Terra Alta, opened a hair and tanning salon in Aurora in July following her graduation in April from the Morgantown Beauty School. As her number is not listed in the present directory, those who wish an appointment with her may call 304-735-6003 to do so.

Harold and Shirey Doolittle of Randolph, Ohio, were weekend guests of her brother-in-law and sister, Lorain and Mary Jane Hanline, Aurora, and also attended the 50th wedding anniversary celebration of her brother and sister-in-law, Stanley and Eloise Harsh, on Sunday, October 1.

Mrs. Dee Kight of Silver Lake underwent surgery at Memorial Hospital in Cumberland recently and remains a patient there.

Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. C.R. Winters, Horse Shoe Run, included his granddaughter, Kathy, and Larry Atha and family of Bridgeport, and Mrs. Winter's new great-grandson, Daniel Kenneth Parsons, and his father and mother, Leonard and Tammy Parsons, of Aurora.

Accompanying a Central Cab "mystery tour" this weekend were Marie Mullenax, Gertrude Stemple, Frank and Wilda Stemple, and Clifton and Grace Bachtel, all of the local area. The tour took them to Abingdon, Va., for the play, Forever Plaid, to Roanoke where they saw the Farmer's Market, to the Natural Bridge, and included a stop at Pence Springs, where the former Alderson Federal Women's Prison has been turned into a hotel.

Fred and Dortha Forman of Amboy had Saturday visitors, J.D. "Sonny" Switzer and Donald Gardner, both of Charleston, S.C.

Lawrence and Peggy Donham of Stewartstown, Pa., were Wednesday to Monday guests of Jackie

"TRADITIONS PAST COME ALIVE IN '95" is aptly depicted in this float, sponsored by One Valley Bank, that displays school jackets, letters, and mascots from Preston County high schools that closed, one by one, and eventually joined together to form one countywide school.

A COMFORTING NUZZLE is offered by this cow, who is possibly a veteran of Buckwheat Festivals past, to her 5-month-old neighbor, a Texas Longhorn calf, shown for the first time by David and Barbara Miller, Kingwood, owners of Mountain Diamond Farm, where they raise registered Texas Longhorns.

Retired School Employees To Meet

The Preston County Association of Retired School Employees will meet Tuesday, Oct. 10, at the Amboy United Methodist Church fellowship hall on the Aurora Pike. To make reservations for the noon meal, those planning to attend may contact Hazel Durst, HC-82, Box 21, Aurora, WV 26705, or phone her at 735-5775. The meeting will follow the meal.

Romney District UM Women To Meet October 12

Romney District United Methodist Women will hold their Fall Meeting on Thursday, October 12, at the First United Methodist Church, Parsons, W.Va. Pastors are welcome.

The theme for the day is "Building Faith Through Outreach." Ruth Simmons from Scott Run Settlement House will be the keynote speaker. Scotts Run Settlement is Romney District's Mission Project for the year. The offering will go to Scotts Run, which provides a child development center. A family development program. A drug/alcohol prevention program for youth, other youth programming, and emergency assistance, and also houses and supports the Meals on Wheels program.

Special awards will be presented to local units. A skit will be presented by the District Mission Team.

All those attending are asked to bring a sack lunch, Heinz and Campbell labels, and items for the Food Pantry. Child care will be provided.

In the afternoon there will be election and installation of officers. The meeting will close with Holy Communion.

and Alma Snyder at Brookside. There daughters, Ginger Lusby of Pasadena and Barbie Lay of Glen Burnie, joined them there Friday evening. On Sunday, a family dinner was held at the Snyder home to celebrate the 25th wedding anniversary of the Donhams. The hosts and their guests were joined by the following: Hancell and Mildred Teets, Ron and Judy Kepple, Grace Knotts, Jeff, Gloria, Andy, and Ben Uphold of Crellin; Rod, Linda, Justin, and Jason Bachman of Fairmont; Harley and Regina Donham of Grafton; David, Sandra, Thomas, and Tim Knotts of Fairmont; Patty, Gretchen, and Eric Egbert of Palestine; Kathy Boleyn and a neighbor's son from Piscataway, N.J.; John, Sue, and Jessica Shillingburg, Alan, Lesa, and Wyatt Snyder, Jack, Barbara, and Fred Snyder, and Justin, Ricky, and Tabby, Loretta Snyder, and Catherine Shuman of Fairmont was an afternoon visitor.

Claude and Jean Winters of Eglon visited Saturday in Clarksburg with their sister-in-law, Joann Winters, and her mother, Goldie Summerville.

There were more than 100 guests for the Sunday celebration for the October 3, 50th wedding anniversary of Stanley and Eloise Harsh which had been planned by their children, Lois Coleman of Ohio, David Harsh of Amboy, Peggy Chappell of Bittinger, and Connie Fint of Aurora and their companions. A family dinner for the children and their families, and the siblings on both sides preceded the open house which was observed at the Aurora fire hall.

Ellis Teets of Silver Lake Park, and brought to the Bonner residence. Mrs. Moon's husband, David, was also present but her other son and family, Bobby Teter, of Oakland, were unable to attend because of illness.

Mrs. Marjorie Kuhlman of Mtn. Lake Park, a sister of Lectie Bonnie, has been transferred to the Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home in Oakland for rehabilitation after fracturing her hip and arm in a fall.

A weekend visitor of Robert and Dorothy Spaid, Aurora, was Mrs. Spaid's mother, Mrs. Mildred Wilt, who returned home to Independent Living at the Goodwill Home with her son, Bernard Wilt, of Grantsville. Mrs. Thelma Simpson of Martin's Ferry, Ohio, is presently visiting in Aurora with her sister and brother-in-law, the Spaids.

Cheryl Stemple of Aurora was a surgical patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital this week.

The Young Adult Class of Maple Spring shared a Sunday carry-in dinner at the home of J. Rogers and Elizabeth Fike in Mtn. Lake Park.

The word of the death of Nellie Myers McGrath of Oakhurst, N.J. on Monday, September 25, was received by her family in Aurora and her brother and sister-in-law, Homer and Marguerite Myers, attended services there, leaving Wednesday for Springfield, Va., and accompanying their son-in-law and daughter, Alan and Mary Teets, to New Jersey. They returned Sunday to Aurora.

OBITUARY

Nellie Myers McGrath, 71, of Oakhurst, N.J., died Monday, September 25, 1995, at her residence.

A daughter of the late Harold S. Myers and Margaret Becker Myers, she was born August 7, 1924 in Aurora.

She was preceded in death by her first husband, Milo Archbold, and by her second husband, Charles McGrath.

She is survived by two daughters, Linda Brockel of Neptune, N.J., and Susan Falls of Beechwood, N.J.; three brothers, Homer Myers and Junior Myers of Aurora, and Jim Myers of Floral City, Fla.; one sister, Jessie Fedorow of Aurora; and six grandchildren.

Services were held Friday, Sept. 29, at the Worden-Hordial Funeral Home. Burial was in a New Jersey cemetery.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

by Marcus Myers

Few people can understand the satisfaction that comes with being part of a Navy fighter squadron and working with multi-million dollar aircraft. But for one Gaithersburg Sailor, being on the cutting edge of naval aviation has thrills and excitement that are hard to match.

"Since I'm from a mainly sea-going job specialty, it's very interesting to see how the air warfare branch of the Navy operates," said Petty Officer 3rd Class Brenton E. Helbig, the 23-year-old son of Peter and Lynda Hinz of Gaithersburg, and grandson of Gene and Barbara Helbig, Deer Park.

As an intelligence specialist with Navy Fighter Squadron 211 (VF-211), Helbig collects classified information on enemies or potential enemies for the pilots that fly the F-14 Tomcat, the Navy's premier carrier-based jet fighter.

Helbig and the rest of the squadron are currently training off the coast of Southern California on board the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier USS Nimitz. As part of the Nimitz Battle Group, VF-211 is in the final stages of training in preparation for a six-month overseas deployment that is scheduled to begin later this fall.

During the upcoming deployment, Helbig's F-14s will be flying combat patrol missions from the Indian Ocean to the Persian Gulf. The Tomcat is one of the world's most sophisticated fighters. An all-weather aircraft capable of flying twice the speed of sound, the F-14 carriers a variety of missiles and a 20mm gatling gun to protect a carrier battle group from hostile aircraft during deployments.

Being part of a unique squadron that supports U.S. interested and policies all around the globe gives the members of VF-211 a sense of pride.

However, Helbig, a 1989 graduate of Richard Montgomery High School, said there are many other exciting aspects of the Navy that are worth experiencing.

"The Navy is very rewarding and, more importantly, a very secure career choice," said Helbig.

Helbig is looking forward to the upcoming deployment with the squadron that will take him halfway around the world.

"This will be the first time I've been out of the United States so I'm very interested in seeing the rest of the world. I also hope to earn the enlisted aviation warfare specialist qualification," said Helbig.

Even though Helbig will be away from friends and family for six months, he feels that the Navy's mission of routinely deploying naval forces overseas is important.

"Deployments maintain the security of the world's water ways and projects the United States' power at sea," said the two-year Navy veteran.

Today, U.S. aircraft carriers and Navy fighter squadrons are on station from the Indian Ocean and Western Pacific to the Persian Gulf and Mediterranean Sea. Carriers like the Nimitz and Sailors like Helbig can respond on short notice to crises around the world.

U.S. Marine Pvt. Tony R. Murray, son of Thomas P. and Daisy M. Murray, Oakland, recently completed basic training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C.

Murray successfully completed 11 weeks of training designed to challenge new Marine recruits both physically and mentally.

Murray and fellow recruits began their training at 5 a.m., by running three miles and performing calisthenics. In addition to the physical conditioning program, Murray spent numerous hours in classroom and field assignments which included learning first aid, uniform regulations, combat water survival, marksmanship, hand-to-hand combat, and assorted weapons training.

Murray and fellow recruits worked as a team to solve a number of tactical problems during the program. They performed close order drill and operated as a Marine small infantry unit in the field.

Murray joins 41,000 men and women who will enter the Marine Corps this year from all over the country.

He is a 1993 graduate of Southern Garrett High School.

Lighthouse Plans Festival Events

The Garrett County Lighthouse, Inc., Board of Directors is preparing to celebrate its first Autumn Glory Festival within the Oakland city limits, according to Debbie Jo Adams-Noroski, executive director.

An open house at Lighthouse's new building is planned on Saturday, Oct. 14, from 8:30 a.m. until noon. In conjunction with the open house, the board will sponsor a sausage gravy and biscuit breakfast, and an Autumn Market.

"We will be selling original Autumn Glory cookies, and unique dried and silk flower baskets," Adams-Noroski said. "And if we don't see our friends at Lighthouse, we will be part of the Autumn Glory parade."

Introducing Tympanette, a hearing aid now available at Allegany Hearing & Speech Associates. This tiny device fits deeply inside your ear canal so that it is virtually invisible. No one will know that you are wearing a hearing aid!

The Tympanette is also extremely comfortable. AHSA's audiologists use state-of-the-art equipment to measure the ear canal and guarantee a perfect fit. The deep placement and customized fit significantly reduce the feedback and hollow sounds frequently associated with larger hearing aids. You'll forget that you're wearing a hearing aid!

NOTICE
OF APPLICATION FOR STRIP MINE PERMIT

Notice is hereby given that BUFFALO COAL COMPANY, P.O. Box 310, Bayard, WV 26707, has submitted an application to the Maryland Bureau of Mines for a surface coal mine operations permit. The proposed operation is to be located near Mountain Lake Park, Maryland.

The proposed operation occupies a 94 acre tract on the north side of Laurel Run, 6.3 miles southwest of Mountain Lake Park, Election District 8, Garrett County; 518,000N / 97,500E. Access to the site will be from Kempton Road, 0.6 mile northeast of Kempton.

Surface of the area to be mined is owned by Western Pocahontas Properties, P.O. Box 2827, Huntington, WV and the mineral is owned by Western Pocahontas Properties, P.O. Box 2827, Huntington, WV. The permit area is within the U.S. Geologic Survey Davis, WV/MD quadrangle. The location of the proposed permit area is indicated on the accompanying vicinity sketch.

The application includes plans to construct 2 ponds to control sediment and stormwater on the mining area. The ponds will be located within the proposed mine permit area. In addition to a surface coal mining permit the construction of the ponds will require a separate small pond approval from the Bureau of Mines.

A copy of the mine permit application, which includes the pond plans for the small pond approval, is available for public review during regular office hours at the Bureau of Mines office and the Soil Conservation District Office at the Garrett County Courthouse, Oakland, Maryland. Questions concerning any aspect of the application may be directed to Robert Dugan, c/o Dugan Associates at (301) 689-1568 or the Maryland Bureau of Mines, Permit Section (301) 689-6405.

A public hearing will not be held on the proposed activity unless requested. Written comments, requests for a public hearing, and requests to be included on the interested persons' list regarding this application, will be received until November 11, 1995, by the Director, Maryland Bureau of Mines, 160 South Water Street, Frostburg, Maryland 21532.

Further notices about this application will be provided only by mail to those persons that submit comments, request a public hearing or request to be included on the list of interested persons.

MORTGAGE ASSIGNEES' SALE OF VALUABLE FEE-SIMPLE DWELLING

147 Grant Street,
Grantsville, Garrett County, Maryland 21536

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a Mortgage from William C. Jones and Nancy Jones, dated April 26, 1994 and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County in Liber 630, folio 225 and duly assigned for the purpose of foreclosure, default having occurred in said Mortgage, the undersigned Assignees will offer for sale at public auction

At the Circuit Court for Garrett County, at the Courthouse Door, Oakland,
On Monday, October 23, 1995 at 11:00 o'clock a.m.

ALL THAT LOT OF GROUND AND THE IMPROVEMENTS THEREON situated in Garrett County, Maryland and described as follows:

BEING KNOWN AND DESIGNATED as Lot 3 of "FOLK'S FIRST ADDITION TO THE TOWN OF GRANTSVILLE," and being more particularly described in the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland in Deed Liber 364 at Folio 325.

The property is improved by a dwelling and is in fee-simple.

The property will be sold in "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any and with no warranty as to the description of the improvements.

TERMS OF SALE: A deposit of $4,100 will be required at time of sale, such deposit to be in cash, certified check, or in other form as the Assignees may determine acceptable, in their sole discretion. Balance to be paid in cash within ten (10) business days of the final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. If payment of the balance does not take place within the specified period stated, in addition to any other legal or equitable remedies available to them, the Assignees will declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. In such event, the defaulting purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of both sales, attorneys' fees and all other charges incurred by the Substitute Trustees. Interest to be paid on unpaid purchase money at the rate pursuant to the deed of trust note from date of sale to the day the funds are received in the office of the Assignees. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason and the property is purchased by someone other than the noteholder, there shall be no abatement of interest caused by the delay. Taxes and water rent to be adjusted to date of sale. Condominium fees and/or Homeowners Association dues, if applicable, shall be adjusted to the date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. All other public charges and assessments payable on an annual basis, including sanitary and/or metropolitan district charges to be adjusted for the current year to date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. The Assignees reserve the right to reject any and all bids, withdraw the property from sale, postpone and advertise the property for sale at a later date. Neither the Assignees nor any other party guarantees or covenants to deliver or to in any way obtain possession of the premises for any purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps and transfer taxes shall be borne by the purchaser. If the Assignees are unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law or equity shall be limited to the refund of the deposit to the purchaser. Upon refund of the deposit, this sale shall be void and of no effect, and the purchase shall have no further claim against the Assignees. The purchaser at the foreclosure sale shall assume the risk of loss immediately after the sale.

Alan D. Levenstein, Carrie M. Ward, Assignees

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a public hearing on October 19, 1995 at 7:30 p.m. in the Planning Commission meeting room (Third Floor, Courthouse, Oakland). The Board will review applications on the following docketed cases:

1) Docket VR-367; an application made by Mr. Timothy J. Storey for a Variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the maximum area allowed for a home occupation sign. The property is located on Green Glade Road (Zoned LR).

2) Docket VR-368; an application made by Mr. Norman Miller for Variances from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the minimum side and rear yard set-back requirements for residences. Specifically, Mr. Miller is requesting Variances to allow construction of additions to his residence which would extend to within 8.26 feet of the side line and to within 4.45 feet of the rear property line. The property is located on Ezra Savage Road (Zoned LR).

3) Docket VR-369; an application made by Mr. Robert Faupel for a Variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance to allow an existing deck to remain at a set-back of 4.1 feet from the side property line instead of the required 5 feet. The property is located on Moors Hollow Drive (Zoned TR).

4) Docket VR-370; an application made by Mr. Hugh Umbel for a Variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the land area requirements for townhouse units. Specifically Mr. Umbel is requesting a land area Variance to allow construction of five townhouse units instead of the allowed four units on his property located on Deep Creek Drive (Zoned TC).

5) Docket VR-371; an application made by Mr. Thomas Jackson for a Variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance to allow construction of a residence which would extend to within 37 feet of the front property line instead of the required 40 feet. The property is located on Lake Forest Drive (Zoned LR).

6) Docket VR-372; an application made by Mr. Hamish Osborne for a variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance to allow construction of an addition to his residence which would extend to within 15 feet of his rear property line instead of the required 40 feet. The property is located on Sorbus Lane (Zoned LR).

Northern GOP Women Convene

The Northern Garrett Republican Women's Club met at Hill Top Inn Sept. 26. Carolyn Ganoe, president, introduced the speaker, Sandy Buckalew, Red Cross executive director, who explained the duties and importance of the Red Cross. She stressed the need for more volunteers and hopes to get the entire county involved in many ways. The office has been moved out of Oakland and is now along U.S. Rt. 219.

A short business meeting followed and plans made for the State Convention, to be held Oct. 28 and 29 at the Wisp. Cora Bowser and Cleda Baker will be delegates.

Members are reminded that the club's annual auction will be Oct. 24 at 7 p.m. Every one is to bring items for the auction. It was noted that member Zeola Robeson is ill at this time.

Present were Carolyn Ganoe, Twila Mae Fike, Mary Durst, Connie and Ferne Beachy, Louise McKenzie, Cora Bowser, Orpha Miller, Jean Friend, Hazel Margraff, Stella Edwards, Laura Turner, and Cleda Baker.

Donates Bonds For Tall Tales

Dr. Gail Herman, coordinator of the Tall Tale Liars Festival, announced this week that First United National Bank & Trust has donated a pair of $50 U.S. Savings bonds to be awarded to the youth and adult winners of the 1995 storytelling competition.

The Festival will be held Saturday, Oct. 14, at St. Paul's United Methodist Church as one of the many events of the 28th Annual Autumn Glory Festival.

Complete information about the event can be found in The Republican's special Autumn Glory publication, Splendour, which is inserted in today's issue of The Republican.

INTRICATE AND DELICATE are among the adjectives that come to mind when describing the pumpkin carvings of Marcette Danner, art teacher at Southern Middle School, whose works once again graced the tables at the Autumn Glory Festival Kickoff Reception, held last night at the Wisp in McHenry. The historic B&O Railroad Station in Oakland was the focal point of this particular creation. Danner is also the coordinator of the annual Heritage Craft Festival, one of the events of Autumn Glory, that will be held Saturday and Sunday at Broad Ford and Southern Middle schools. See schedule below for specific times of that event and the many other festival offerings.

MDOT Outlines Future Local Road Projects

Garrett County is slated to receive $14.5 million worth of safety improvements and resurfacing along U.S. Route 40 Alternate, Interstate 68, and U.S. Route 219. However, before any new projects, such as the construction of Oakland or Accident bypasses, can be initiated, it may be necessary to prove that these projects will benefit economic development.

This and other information was brought to the table during a recent meeting of Maryland Department of Transportation Secretary David L. Winstead, Garrett County Commissioners John Braskey and Wayne Wilt, District IA Delegate George Edwards, District I State Senator John Hafer, and other local and state officials.

After the meeting, Braskey commented that state highway funds will become more scarce in upcoming years. However, he noted that safety improvements to the Keysers Ridge interchange of I-68 may be initiated during the next fiscal year.

Minor "system preservation" projects slated for fiscal year 1996 include drainage, safety, and surface improvements to sections of I-68.

During the meeting, the commissioners restated their hope that Route 219 can be widened in the near future, a project that will require significant prior planning to resolve issues such as the placement of town bypasses and the acquisition of rights-of-way.

Braskey noted in an interview this week that he is pleased with the amount of road work that the state has slated for the county. He added that the Department of Transportation and the county have a "good working relationship."

Bear Damage, Hunting To Be Meeting Topic

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) will host a public information meeting on the subject of black bear damage issues, including bear hunting, on Thursday, Nov. 2, at 6:30 p.m. at Northern High School.

On the table at the meeting will be a set of recommendations recently provided to the DNR by a citizens task force. The task force, which includes local and district legislators as well as other interested parties, met during the past three months and has recommended that the DNR:

- Maintain its current black bear depredation policy with increased emphasis on education and technical support and advice.
- Establish a black bear damage compensation program to reimburse property owners for damage caused

Amendment To Deep Creek Zoning Sought

In response to a request submitted by James Railey Jr. on behalf of Railey Realty, Inc., the Garrett County Planning Commission has recommended that the county board amend the Deep Creek Watershed Zoning Ordinance to remove the six year time restriction on the expansion of "nonconforming uses."

According to Director John Nelson of the Garrett County Office of Planning and Zoning, nonconforming uses are structures which existed prior to the effective date of the zoning ordinance and which do not comply with the ordinance in some way.

When the lake zoning ordinance took effect on July 1, 1975, the owners of the approximately 10 nonconforming uses in the lake watershed were granted a period of 6 years to enlarge their structures if they so desired. This time period ended July 1, 1981.

"Railey contends that by prohibiting expansion of such nonconforming uses, the ordinance actually hampers the ability for existing non-conformities to survive in a competitive business market," Nelson told the Garrett County Board of Commissioners this week.

Local Persons Charged By NRP For Deer Kills

Seven local persons have been charged by the Natural Resources Police (NRP) for their alleged involvement in the shooting of deer out of season. An investigation in Friendsville led to the arrests, which were effected last Thursday. The defendants are accused of killing numerous deer between Sept. 16 and 25, according to a release from the NRP.

Those arrested and the charges against them are as follows: Steve G. Savage, 35, Friendsville, two counts of possession of deer during a closed season and one count of hunting deer at night; Christopher R. Meyers, 20, Friendsville, two counts of possession of deer during closed season; Scott A. Detrick, 19, Friendsville, five counts of possession of deer during a closed season and three counts of spotlighting with a firearm;

Teresa L. Burgess, 21, Oakland, seven counts of possession of deer during closed season and two counts of spotlighting with a firearm; Lucinda L. Detrick, 42, Friendsville, three

Commissioners Vote 2-To-1 To Approve New Development Plan

The Garrett County Board of Commissioners voted two-to-one this week to approve the county planning commission's updated comprehensivedevelopment plan, a lengthy document which will guide construction in the county into the next century.

The new plan is an update to the county's 20-year-old comprehensive development plan, a manual which offers guidelines for the development of transportation, land use, and the construction of public facilities in the county.

The updated plan includes guidelines for the density of new construction in the county and maps out "sensitive areas" - such as steep slopes, flood plains, and areas containing federally endangered species - which the planning commission believes should be protected from over-development.

The plan also recommends that the county board adopt a subdivision ordinance and a sensitive areas ordinance to give these guidelines the force of law.

Absent from the updated plan is a recommendation that the county amend the Deep Creek Lake Watershed Zoning Ordinance to include aesthetic and architectural controls, a provision which was included in the original draft of the updated plan but which was removed during a joint meeting of the board of commissioners and planning commission on Sept. 27.

Garrett County Commissioner John Braskey commented Tuesday that the decision to remove the aesthetic provision was influenced by a letter drafted to the county commissioners by County Attorney Gorman "Mike" Getty. In

Former Southern Teacher, Coach Killed In Mishap

Mike Huddleston, who was on the faculty of Southern High School and served as head wrestling coach and assistant football coach in the 1970s, was killed Tuesday in an industrial accident in Charlotte, N.C.

Tom Woods, athletic director at Southern and a friend of Huddleston, said yesterday that the 44-year-old father of three young children was killed in a roof collapse while he was inspecting a construction site. Woods said that, after leaving Oakland in 1979, Huddleston spent some time as a college professor in St. Cloud, Minn., and then as a teacher in Charlotte before taking a job in private industry. His wife, Lisa, is a teacher in Charlotte.

Huddleston was Southern's wrestling coach from 1976 to '79, and coached the 1979 team to an undefeated season, the last time the Ram team has ever gone undefeated. He was an assistant football coach in the 1977 and '78 seasons.

Woods, who taught with Huddleston at Spencer, W.Va., High School before moving to Garrett County, lamented the loss of his friend. "Mike was a very special person and was really well-liked," he said, adding that Huddleston was an elementary school classmate of Woods' wife, Debbie.

"This is just a nightmare for his wife, Lisa, and their three children," Woods said.

Services for Huddleston will be held Friday at a Beckley, W.Va., funeral home.

Education Board Moves Ahead With Capital Improvement Program Plans

The plans for several construction projects in the local school system were approved by the Garrett County Board of Education at its regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening. With the new bonding procedure now in place, the board has complied with county policy by conducting a public hearing about the plan and receiving input from citizens, and has agreed upon the projects for fiscal year 1997.

The projects included in the first year of the plan are as follows: the completion of the Northern High School additional classrooms (projected completion date is March 1996), the design and initial construction of the Southern Area Elementary School (completion: July 1997), roof repairs at Broad Ford Elementary (completion: Sept. 1996) and Southern Middle School (completion: Sept. 1998), the connecting corridor at Southern High (completion: Dec. 1996), and a lift at Rt. 40 Elementary School (Sept.1996).

Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of Garrett County Schools, explained that the state requires that the board prepare a five-year plan, but only the first year of work has to be formally approved. At the public hearing last week, some parents voiced their concerns about poor air quality at both Southern Middle and Broad Ford Elementary, and had asked if the roofing projects could

Parents Form KAPS Group: "Know And Appreciate Public Schools"

In an effort to promote the positive aspects of the public school system as well as monitor the actions of the elected members of the Garrett County Board of Education, a group of local parents have established a new organization titled KAPS (Know and Appreciate Public Schools). The group meets every third Tuesday of the month from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Garrett Community College Continuing Education Building. The specific room number is posted at the entrance each meeting night.

KAPS is headed by a steering committee, the members of which are currently Scott Hollingsworth, Gloria Salazar, Irene Sigel, and Amy Britton. Others are involved in sub-committees, such as the promotion and legislative committees. Mark Stutzman, a member of the promotion committee, reported that KAPS currently has approximately 50 members. Membership is open to the public, he noted.

The mission statement of KAPS is as follows: "Recognizing that a system of free public education is necessary and is the foundation of a democratic society, KAPS is committed to preserving, protecting, and improving public education in Garrett County. KAPS strives to ensure that each student is educated in an environment developed through the cooperative efforts of the total community. Within this environment, students will be encouraged to respect the views of others, develop critical thinking, and acquire knowledge and skills that will enable them to succeed in an ever-changing and highly advanced technological society."

The purpose of KAPS has been delineated into six statements: a. to educate the general public on the positive aspects of public education; b. to ensure that at least one representative of KAPS is at every public meeting of the education board as well as most public portions of committee meetings that operate under the auspices of the local board; c. to review the proposed curriculum changes before they become county policy and to provide input as needed; d. to offer support to educational employees; e. to monitor actions of the local board of education to ensure that they are compliant with federal and state laws and regulations; f. to be an active participant in the board of education election in 1996.

KAPS members have established policies, procedures, and by-laws for the group, with the plan of re-evaluating its mission in January of next year to determine if KAPS should continue as is, disband, or continue with modifications. The steering committee members are elected at large by the membership, and their responsibilities include attending all meetings of KAPS, coordinating the activities of the group, and recording minutes.

"We are not here to criticize teachers or introduce ideals," Stutzman said. "We are interested in preserving what is good about our local system. We want to develop a rapport with the teachers and administration because we feel we have an excellent school system that should be promoted and preserved.

"We are concerned that the majority of this board of education may not represent the wishes or opinions of many constituents. It is a serious situation when their personal opinions take over and they make decisions that go against what many constituents want," Stutzman said.

Members of KAPS have consistently attended education board meetings since March, although the group did not formally organize until later in the spring. For more information about KAPS, persons may contact Hollingsworth at 334-3942.

Man Convicted Of Assault To Serve Five Yrs.

An Accident man accused of battering his wife was sentenced in Garrett County Circuit Court last week to five years in the Maryland Department of Corrections. Assistant State's Attorney Lisa Welch noted that the sentencing was slightly unusual since the victim in the case declined to testify.

Thomas R. Bowers, 29, was indicted by the Grand Jury in March after he allegedly assaulted and battered Carla Bowers. The incident took place in February, according to reports, but details of the assault were not noted in the court document. Bowers was originally charged with assault with intent to murder and assault and battery, but he was acquitted of the intent to murder count.

Welch said the victim in the case had originally planned to testify against the defendant, but then decided at a later date to decline. In most domestic violence cases, the victim's testimony is needed by the prosecution for conviction, as there are usually no other witnesses to the alleged incident. But Welch explained that the victim, at the time of the attack, had told police what the defendant had done to her. When the police officer showed the woman's statement to the defendant, Bowers reportedly agreed that it was an accurate account of the altercation. This information was used in court, Welch said, with the police officer taking the stand. Welch said she felt this was instrumental in achieving the guilty verdict.

Judge Fred A. Thayer sentenced Bowers to five years, with 224 days for time already served.

In other circuit court activity, a Grantsville man was found guilty by the court of two counts of felony theft. Duane E. Folk, 33, was accused of purchasing equipment in the name of the Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department. Thayer ordered a pre-sentence investigation and continued Folk's bail.

The defendant allegedly bought numerous tools and equipment from April 1992 through September 1993, charging the purchases to the Grantsville fire company. Folk reportedly claimed that the items were being put into the fire truck units, but according to a circuit court spokesperson, testimony indicated that the items did not appear on the trucks until after an investigation was initiated.

Folk had originally been charged with six counts of felony theft, but was acquitted of three counts before the court rendered a verdict. Thayer then declared Folk guilty of two of the remaining three charges, and not guilty of the third.

A sentencing date was not indicated in the court report.

Flu Clinics Slated By GCHD

The Garrett County Health Department has slated two flu clinics for the upcoming week. Influenza shots will be available to local residents at a cost of $7 each at the following locations and times.

The Oakland American Legion Hall will be the site of a flu clinic on Oct. 13 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The Gorman senior meal site (Old Mill Restaurant) will be the location of a clinic on Oct. 19 from 10 a.m to 1 p.m.

Flu clinics will continue in the county into November.

In addition to the influenza shot, visitors to the clinics may also receive the pneumococcal vaccine for a separate cost of $14.

Silver Spring Man Arrested On DWI Charges

A Silver Spring man was arrested last Friday, and charged with DWI/DUI (driving while intoxicated/-driving under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs), failure to drive right of center, and driving with an alcohol concentration of .10 or more.

Dennis Lee Barton, 54, was charged with those offenses after a stop was made by Tfc. J.R. Lemay, Barrack W, McHenry, Maryland State Police. The trooper reportedly observed Barton as he operated his Nissan Pathfinder along the Glendale Road, near the North Glade Road, and saw the vehicle cross the center line three times. He subsequently stopped the vehicle, and noticed an odor of alcohol on Barton's breath. The suspect reportedly failed a field sobriety test, and was arrested on the above charges.

ONE INJURED

A West Virginia woman was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital Sunday afternoon, following a two-vehicle accident on Rt. 135, at the intersection with D Street in Mtn. Lake Park.

State police said 22-year-old Cheryl A. Colombo, Shinnston, was injured when the car she was a passenger in was struck by a vehicle operated by Doris A. Baird, 69, Bridgeville, Pa.

According to the police report, Baird, who was operating a 1990 Ford Tempo on D Street, had stopped for a stop sign, and then attempted to cross the highway. She told the investigating officer she saw a 1995 Saturn, operated by Raymond A. Colombo, 24, Shinnston, traveling east on Rt. 135, but thought she could get across the road before it arrived. The two vehicles collided, causing the Colombo vehicle to travel further down the road, and strike a curb.

Baird and her passenger, Sara A. Alexander, Accident, and Raymond Colombo were reportedly only slightly injured, in the 4:32 p.m. nishap. Cheryl Colombo was treated and released, according to a hospital spokesperson.

Baird was cited for failure to yield right of way.

Silver Spring Man Cited After Mishap On Lake

A Silver Spring man was cited by the Natural Resources Police (NRP) for the negligent operation of a motor boat, and a safety equipment violation (for not having the proper number of personal floatation devices on board), following a two-vessel accident on Deep Creek Lake, Sunday afternoon.

NRP Officer James Clise responded to the 3:50 p.m. accident in the Turkey Neck area of the lake that involved Gary Lee Nolan, 43, who was piloting a 20-foot Supra motor boat, and John Lee Baier, 37, Deer Park, who was operating a 22-foot pontoon boat.

Clise said Nolan was traveling northeast at approximately 15 miles per hour, and was looking behind the vessel as it moved through the water. Baier's boat was sitting in the water with its motor turned off, and the occupants were fishing, when the Supra reportedly struck the pontoon broadside, sending one of its five occupants overboard. Nolan was transporting two other persons on his boat. There were apparently no injuries sustained in the mishap, and Clise stated that alcohol was not a factor.

Also responding to the scene were personnel from the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad, and the Deer Park Volunteer Fire Department.

Sheriff's Office Arrests Noted

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office logged various arrests this week, with charges including assault and battery, burglary, and failure to appear in court.

Leonard J. Wilhelm, 38, Lonaconing, was arrested on Oct. 5 on the charge of battery. Harry E. Garlitz told officers that Wilhelm tried to strangle him with a clothesline, according to the report.

BREAST AND CERVICAL CANCER AWARENESS MONTH PROCLAIMED - The Garrett County Commissioners recently issued a proclamation, declaring October as Breast and Cervical Cancer Awareness Month in Garrett County, recognizing the fact that mammography is the "single best method for detecting breast cancer, and yearly pap tests are the best early detection of cervical cancer." The proclamation stated, in part, that "nearly one in very nine women will develop breast cancer at some time in her life; and early detection can spare as many as one third of those lives....Cervical cancer is slow growing, and can be detected early while it is still treatable, if a women has a yearly pap test..." The commissioners, along with the Garrett County Health Department, encourage all women in the county to become aware that they are at risk, and should check with local physicians, or the health department, about screenings. Above, Rebecca Parks, R.N., left, and Gail Dever, a community outreach worker, accept the proclamation on behalf of the health department, from the commissioners, shown in the back, from left to right, Wayne Wilt, Roger Glotfelty, and John Braskey.

An Oakland woman was arrested on several charges following an apparent family dispute. Elsie M. Lewis, 52, has been charged with burglary, battery, disorderly conduct, trespassing, and harassment. She was arrested on Oct. 5. Further details about the case were not available from the sheriff's office.

Five individuals were arrested on the strength of bench warrants charging them with failure to appear in court. They were Sheila A. McMillen, 43, Mtn. Lake Park; Luther W. Moon Jr., 23, Oakland; Pam E. Baker, 25, Oakland; Michael A. DeWitt, 22, Mt. Union, Pa.; and Steven J. Eddy, 38, Oakland.

Theft Reported

A Mtn. Lake Park man contacted the sheriff's office to report the theft of $328 in cash. Richard A. DeWitt Jr. told officers that the money was located on the dash board of his vehicle on Oct. 6. It was folded inside a black checkbook.

There are no suspects in the case.

PSI Ordered For Frostburg Man On Battery Charge

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered by Garrett County District Court Judge Ralph M. Burnett for a Frostburg (Garrett County address) man found guilty last week in Garrett County District Court of one count of battery.

Jeff W. Faidley, 25, Finzel Road, who pleaded not guilty to that charge, will be sentenced following the completion of the investigation.

Faidley was charged with that offense by Amy S. Valentine, Cumberland, who stated that on Nov. 18, 1994, during a domestic dispute, the defendant grabbed her by the throat, twisted her arm behind her back, and slammed her against his trailer. Valentine further stated that Faidley threw her belongings out of the trailer, and onto the ground, and during the dispute, grabbed her by the leg, and dragged her across the floor.

In other district court news, Judge Timothy Finan, Allegany District Court Judge, presided over several cases in Judge Burnett's absence, including two cases involving not guilty verdicts on charges of battery.

Ricky D. Wilburn, 37, Grantsville, was found not guilty of one count of battery. He had been charged with the offense after a June 12 incident involving his wife, Cindy M. Wilburn. The Maryland State Police had investigated a domestic dispute at their home, and arrested Wilburn after he struck his wife in the face with his hand, bloodying her nose.

Also found not guilty of one count battery, and one count of assault, was Jerry A. Shelton, 46, Oakland, who had been arrested for the offense by Garrett County Sheriff's deputies after a June 26 domestic dispute involving his wife, Sharon L. Shelton. Deputies had arrived at the couple's home, and found Mrs. Shelton with bruises on her face and arm. She told them she had tried to get away from her husband, and locked herself in the bathroom. He then reportedly kicked in the door, and continued to strike her, according to district court records.

One count of battery, filed against Richard T. Thomas, 62, Friendsville, was placed on the stet docket. He had been charged with the offense after an incident earlier this year, when he reportedly struck a student in an inappropriate manner as she exited his bus. Judge Burnett had recused himself from the case.

One count of battery, filed against Marietta R. Felix, 37, Oakland, was also placed on the stet docket. The charge was filed on Dec. 31, 1994, by Alma McRobie, Swanton, following an altercation between the two.

One count of disturbing the peace, filed against Rickey D. McKenzie, 40, Lonaconing (Garrett County address), was placed on the stet docket at the request of the complainant, Paul R. McKenzie. The charge was filed on May 10, after the defendant fired a rifle from his porch.

During a sentence revision hearing for Sharon A. Lowery, 44, Grantsville, the judge granted her probation before judgment on an earlier conviction for petty theft. She had been charged with the offense after she stole four pieces of mail, each containing $5 in U.S. currency, from the post office in Bittinger. An investigation of the incident revealed Lowery had taken the money from the envelopes, and placed the bills in the cash drawer at the post office.

George S. Hershman, 31, Grafton, W.Va., pleaded guilty to possession of a controlled dangerous substance. Judge Burnett sentenced him to 30 days in jail, and suspended all but 48 hours of that sentence. He also fined Hershman $100, and placed him on one year of unsupervised probation. An additional charge of possession of drug paraphernalia was not prosecuted by the state's attorney's office.

The charges against Hershman stemmed from a traffic stop along Interstate 68 by Maryland State Police, as they conducted a drug interdiction in that area. The defendant was initially stopped for speeding, but a check of his vehicle by a K-9 unit revealed a pouch containing cigarette rolling papers, and a baggie containing marijuana, resulting in his arrest.

A malicious destruction of property charge, filed against James L. Burns, 45, Oakland, was not prosecuted by the state's attorney, because the complainant, Nora Burns, exercised her marital privilege, and chose not to testify. The charge was filed on June 29, after the defendant reportedly destroyed some of her clothing, as well as pictures, and items with sentimental value.

Rocky D. Beeman Jr., 24, Kitzmiller, pleaded guilty to one count of malicious destruction of property. He was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $250, and ordered to make $125 restitution to the Garrett County Roads Department. He was also placed on one year of unsupervised probation, and ordered to complete 50 hours of community service.

Beeman was charged with the offense after he and an accomplice were observed by a Natural Resources Police officer on July 2, 1994, while they were shooting at a school bus turn-around sign. The two told the arresting officer that they were taking turns firing their small calibre rifle at the sign, in an attempt to obtain "a tight bullet hole grouping."

Various charges of battery, assault, trespassing, and felony theft, filed, and cross-filed by Guy W. Fazenbaker Sr., 49, Oakland, Guy W. Fazenbaker Jr., 28, Mtn. Lake Park, and Jerry Welch, 22, Oakland, all received "not guilty" verdicts by Judge Finan. The charges stemmed from a dispute the elder Fazenbaker had with Welch, and Guy Jr.

DWI CASES

Several DWI (driving while intoxicated) and DUI (driving under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) cases were heard in recent district court proceedings.

Everett Boyd Weimer, 34, Oakland, pleaded guilty to one count of DWI. He was sentenced by Judge Finan to three years in the Department of Corrections, with all of the sentence suspended except for four months. He was also fined $1,050, and placed on three years of supervised probation for the offense. Conditions of his probation state he must attend Alcoholics Anonymous meetings, as directed by the court. An additional charge of failure to drive right of center was not prosecuted by the state's attorney. Weimer was arrested for the offense on March 25, by Oakland City Police.

Robert Louis Allen Jr., 27, Friendsville, was granted probation before judgment on his plea of guilt to charges of DUI. He was fined $300, and placed on one year of supervised probation. Additional charges of negligent driving, failure to display a driver's license on demand, and failure to drive right of center were not prosecuted. Allen was arrested for DWI on July 8, by Maryland State Police.

Edna Elizabeth Bean, 42, W.Va., was found guilty of DWI in Judge Finan's court. The judge set sentencing for the offense for Dec. 5. Bean was also found guilty of failure to stop at a stop sign, for which she was fined $18.

BUSINESS WOMEN'S WEEK PROCLAIMED - The Board of Garrett County Commissioners recently proclaimed Oct. 15-21 as Business Women's Week in Garrett County. Sponsored by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc. (BPW), the week salutes working women by encouraging and promoting the celebration of the achievements of all business and professional women "as they contribute daily to our economic, civic and cultural purposes." Pictured above, from left to right, Garrett County BPW members present to accept the proclamation were Peggy Jamison, Joanne Harsh, Pat White, Bea Crosco, and Lisa Thayer Welch, from commissioners Roger Glotfelty, Wayne Wilt, and John Braskey.

Our True Colors...

The beauty of the fall season with its vivid display of color is the focal point of the Autumn Glory Festival. The attempt is made each year, with varying degrees of success, to schedule the festival for when the leaves of the maple, oak, hickory, and many other trees are at their peak of brilliance.

The festival also provides an opportunity for us, as people and as residents of this beautiful county, to show our "true colors," as literally thousands of guests come into our midst to enjoy the events of the festival and Mother Nature's incredible display of beauty. It is equivalent to our throwing a huge party, which involves a tremendous amount of work and preparation, and to which literally all are invited. It is hoped that we, as hosts of the party, can also enjoy it.

The benefits of being good hosts for our guests are many, among which is the potential economic benefit to our county, both in the short and long terms. The short-term benefit is the funds that are expended here during the festival, which boost a wide variety of worthy causes, programs, and organizations. The potential long-term benefit is that well-treated guests will look forward to coming back again, and maybe even consider making Garrett County their home, or second home.

Another benefit of being a good host is that doing so demonstrates a real sense of pride. It presents a clear picture that life is good here on the Mountaintop, and that those of us who live here are proud of our county and all it has to offer.

A third benefit is, simply, that it is downright fun to share with visitors all our county has to offer, particularly with those who may be here for the first time. Those of us who have lived here all our lives often take for granted the many great assets of life in Garrett County, and fail to realize that few other areas are as "wealthy" in terms of quality of life. The festival helps bring this reality back into focus.

Let's do our best to show our true colors this weekend, and have a blast doing it.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

For those of you who think that today's youth have lost all sense of responsibility and commitment, take heart. This weekend when the Southern Garrett Marching Band marches by in the 28th Annual Autumn Glory Grand Feature Parade, keep in mind that these 9-12th graders have given up a lot to be there. Due to a scheduling conflict made at the Baltimore level, the Maryland State Championship High School Band Competition was also set this Autumn Glory weekend.

This level of competition is no different than the championships played by our baseball, football, and basketball teams, and anyone having a child who attends and is involved with an extracurricular sport can relate. This band earned the right to compete, but instead chose to remain at home to support our local merchants and community. This is the kids' way of paying tribute to the wonderful support shown at the local level.

Greater deeds may be done this weekend, but the sacrifice the band members have made so that they may be available to take part in the local festivities is great. There will be a lot of very disappointed, yet committed, young people. Hours and hours of practice have been spent to ready the band for this state level competition, yet we the local area will be the fortunate to get a taste of their commitment while watching the Southern Garrett Marching Band in parade and at the Western Maryland Tournament of Bands Saturday, Oct. 14, at 6 p.m. at the Southern Garrett High School football field.

As the mother of a senior, I know too well what has been given, and I commend all of the staff and band students for putting community first. We should all take a lesson.

Sincerely,
Patti Battista
Oakland

To the Editor:

How warped can the political and racially promoted concept of victimization get? The Simpson verdict, and its aftermath, have lifted it to a new level of disingenuous posturing the rhetoric that invites the severing of the few tenuous communal ties remaining between blacks and whites in this tortured nation that can't seem to handle self-imposed guilt of any nature - be it puritanical or black in essence.

The fact is: we are not becoming a divided nation, we are a divided nation. And too many blacks, not all, are inclined to keep it that way. For them, whites will never be able to mollify, let alone erase, their sense of victimization. It has become a mantra that excuses all for the 12 percent of the population that turns this nation on its head and places the blame, and the guilt, for it all where it belongs; on others. And are we blameless? Certainly not.

Are there white racists in America? Of course. Do they control the national agenda even marginally? No! Is America a racist nation? Absolutely not!

Are there black racists in America? Of course. Do they reflect and influence the attitudes and actions of a majority of the black community, and are they, generally speaking, its so-called leaders? Yes! Are these leaders the source and instigators of much of the racism in this country and do they actively promote the concept of victimization while all other minorities tend to prosper? Beyond a reasonable doubt they are, and they do.

The claim of victimization is not only a mantra in the black community, it has become the conduit through which power (liberal support) and government subsidy flow to the ever-lasting detriment of the very fabric of our society,and the black community, resulting in a multiplicity of glaring failures.

As for Simpson, I will simply close with excerpts from a letter of mine printed in the T/N well over a year ago:

...The truly sad fact is that he may have brutally murdered two innocent people for media inspired, narcissistic reasons. There really are people who, once they have bathed in the intense and grossly exaggerated lime-light generated by the mass-media, cannot live normal, or even emeritus and affluent lives, without it. O.J. Simpson, may be one of them.

(due to ACLU inroads)...he has every right to believe he can beat the system and not only come out of this mess whole, but a bigger celebrity than he ever was before - from national to international stardom. More marketable? Only time will tell; but probably so.

...His situation reflects the sad - no, tragic-status of our mortally wounded society today where celebrity is coddled and money is more powerful, and even more important, than truth and honor in the final analysis of why a just outcome in any given situation involving influence, celebrity or (race?) wealthy people, seldom ever prevails.

Respectfully,
Ronald R. Rowan
Kitzmiller

To the Editor:

While millions of people around the world watched the "trial of the century," it would seem few were concerned about the very confines of the jury itself. Does sequestration work in today's society? Of course not. Sequestration only invites familiarity, cohesiveness, and a one-for-all relationship. After a nine-month trial, the jury gave birth to what amounts to be an insult to the victims in the case.

Surely, Ron Goldman and Nicole Simpson deserved more than three hours of deliberation. After all, they lay in a pool of blood for more than 10 hours.

Jerry Stonham
Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

To the Editor:

We've seen the true face of prejudice: it wears the smirk of the O.J. Simpson jury.

The trial and the verdict prostituted the American criminal justice system to open racism and left two innocent victims unavenged.

In closing argument, defense attorney Johnnie Cochran invited the jurors to ignore the evidence, and become fans of a racial idol. He suggested directly to the nine black jurors that no matter what the evidence, if they voted for a conviction, they became part of the conspiracy against a fellow black.

The court, without a shred of defense evidence to substantiate wrong doing, allowed Cochran and company to turn the trial into a racial tract and substitute the police for O.J. Simpson in the criminal box. The stupidity of Mark Furhman and his egregious comments provided no proof that he planted evidence. There never was any such evidence.

A white establishment made Simpson a multi-millionaire, treated him with kid gloves (no pun intended), turning a deaf ear to his years of spousal abuse and gave him one of the longest, most expensive and fairest trials in history. The result was a mountain of evidence which should have been enough to convict him 10 times over.

This jury had a golden opportunity to show that the system works in the hands of black Americans and that its black members, and perhaps the black community as a whole, were ready to stand up for what they have so long said they have been denied: Justice.

Instead, one juror's black power salute to the defendant was magnified into wild, jumping jubilation, universal throughout the Afro-American community, leaving little doubt of widespread pre-judging of the case.

The system didn't work. It was openly perverted, and perhaps it will never be the same again.

Sincerely,
Robert E. Watson

To the Editor:

In your article, "Purchase of Deep Creek Lake Considered by Property Owners," in the October 5 Republican, the lake watershed was equated with tax district 18. This is not the case, and may lead residents living in the watershed to believe they would be taxed to pay for a possible lake purchase. Tax district 18 is defined as property that is "lake affected." Property that adjoins the Pennelec line (waterfront), and property with deeded access tot he lake are clearly in tax district 18. Certain "view lots" are also in district 18. There is no map for this district. The tax district for every property is printed on the county property tax bills, and may also be determined by inspection of the tax records at the courthouse.

The intention of the proposed legislation is that only lake property owners, as defined by district 18, would pay for the proposed lake purchase.

The Deep Creek Lake watershed defines the area covered by the Lake Zoning Ordinance.

Sincerely yours,
T.C. Rissell
Vice President
Deep Creek Lake Property Owners Association

Dear Mr. Rissell,

Thanks for the correction.

Columbus Day Again

Columbus Day is one of my favorites among the year's minor observances. Realizing that as a fact, I am puzzled by it. What draws me this day commemorating exploration? Perhaps my puritan spirit finds it attractive because it is so completely unadorned.

There are a few formal festivities. The Knights of Columbus must parade somewhere or another. Lots of people have a day (though not the day) off, and some merchants have sales around Columbus Day, but that is all. Columbus Day is a feature of the cultural landscape which we drive by annually, and notice little if at all. Our general indifference to this holiday is a metaphor for its significance. Precisely the thing that happened on October 12, 1492 is that someone found something that had been there all along.

Other folks had found the western hemisphere, millennia earlier -- 40 or 50 millennia maybe, but no one is sure just how many. Mongols, perhaps, came across the Bering Strait, when it was an isthmus or even a large landmass, from Siberia into Alaska, describing each place with the name we have given it. Their descendants had created and destroyed civilizations, and created them again by the time Columbus got there. The Vikings, a few centuries before Columbus, had made their way across the north Atlantic to Iceland which they settled and to Greenland which they did not.

My point is that what we call the Americas have been where they are for a very long time and that it took until 1492 for the civilizations of the old world to make the connection. We follow the example of our forbears when we ignore the anniversary marking the discovery of an entire hemisphere which had been ignored for eons.

As significant as Columbus's discovery of America is that he almost didn't discover it. The adventurers who accompanied him as his crew traded their old bravado for mutinous intentions. Had landfall not come on the 12th, Columbus and his confidantes might have been killed, and the ships returned to Europe.

When a meteor fell into the ocean 10-20 miles from their ship, the spectacle of it put fear into the crew. What might have been read as an auspicious omen of some great event, they read as a warning to turn back. One writer has written that Columbus "had great difficulty in restraining the evil-disposed from the excesses they meditated."

I wonder, how many significant events are there which have not happened because someone turned back just a little too soon, because fear prevented someone from staying the course? How often have I been that someone, and how often has it been my heart which fear has overtaken?

Sailing in uncharted waters, literal or figurative, daunts most of us, especially when linked with the notion of falling off the edge of the world like a global version of Niagara Falls. It is not easy figuring out when to throw caution to the wind, and sail on. Thank goodness for us, Christopher Columbus had figured it out.

Columbus made many other mistakes, but his achievement outshown all of them. He found what most people in the world were not looking for. He had to use all his cunning to keep his crew to continue looking for it when their own hopes had expired. And when he returned to Europe with proof of his discovery he was nearly destroyed by those who rushed to exploit what only a short while earlier they had not even believed existed.

This episode of history has all the nuances of a fairy tale. I am drawn to it again and again, each time with more power than the last, as I discern in that adventure patterns we of the western hemisphere repeat.

Senior Citizens' Menus

"Eating Together" sites are now operating two days per week. The menu for the week of Oct. 16-20 is as follows:

Day 1 - Cole slaw, turkey breast on wheat, bowl of cream of potato soup, plums, cookies.

Day 2 - Baked chicken breast, oriental rice, broccoli, muffin (low fat), fruit cocktail.

Milk, Coffee, and tea are served with all meals.

On occasion, a site may opt to make a substitution in the menu. Senior citizens who wish to eat at one of the "Eating Together" sites are asked to call the individual site to check the menu for the day and to make reservations.

Telephone numbers of individual sites are as follows:

Guided Missives

by Benjamin Robb and Mary Sincell McEwen

With the frantic rush of summer and the weighty Splendour issue safely behind us, I have finally succeeded in prodding Mary (and myself) to get in gear and write a column. And no, this won't be about O.J.

You know, my first 16 months here in the Republican news room have not been easy. Surrounded as I am by card-carrying Republicans, I've had to curb any slanderous use of the "R" word and temper any testy references to the Grand Old Party. For example, when I plaintively ask why the Republicans want to cut $270 billion from Medicare, effectively short-sheeting the hospital beds of the senior citizens who built this country, reportedly to finance a tax cut for wealthy Americans, I do so with a smile on my face.

When I plead: Why do the Republicans want to hamstring the programs which provide a safety net for the working poor in spite of the fact that the poverty rate and total number of Americans living in poverty both dropped last year for the first time in 10 years, thanks largely to these same programs, I make sure to add, "But Abe Lincoln was a good president."

When I leap to my feet and shout, "You've got to hand it to my man Bill, the economy grew by 4.1 percent last year, a jump described by the AP as 'the best showing in a decade;' unemployment is at its lowest rate in four years; and fewer Americans are collecting food stamps!" I always make sure to say something nice about a Republican office holder.

This week, for example, I vocally praised local Delegate George Edwards for his pledge not to accept campaign contributions from the tobacco industry. I'm serious - the residents of Maryland District 1A owe Del. Edwards a debt of gratitude for his stance on this important issue.

By adding these post-scripts to my leftward-leaning political quips, I get to say my piece and everybody in the office stays very, very happy.

Yes, it has been far too long since we've gone head to head in this column, but there have been a few bumps in the road - an unexpected third pregnancy for me, for instance, with the babe to be born just 13 months after Alex (we may name this new boy U.R. Kidding R'nt U, or just little Oops McEwen), a small health snag in the form of an appendectomy in the seventh month (ouch), and then, of course, the simple daily strain of sitting within 10 feet of Ben Robb, one of the most irritating and stubborn radicals I have ever had to straighten out. Boy, what a job.

As I have tried to pound into Ben's brain, my political beliefs could make me either a conservative Democrat or a liberal Republican, and I contend that this is a wise position to take, as one is then called upon to weigh each issue carefully and try to look at both sides. But Benjamin, while claiming merely to be a good Democrat, actually just jumps on the U.S.S. Fanatic in the sea of tears for people who like to collect their welfare checks (and they better not be late!) and spend them on bags of pork rinds and some sody pop. Are there people who need and deserve the help of welfare? Of course, there are! But if Ben had his way, things would never change and he would amicably let people, who could feasibly work for their own toadskins, continue to take a big honkin' bite out of his paycheck each week to buy their cartons of cancer sticks and Rot Gut. I don't know the answers to the dilemmas of welfare or medicare or even the black bear, but I do know that I can't just assume that all would be well if everyone would just fork over their hard-earned cash to the "working poor" and give all corporate businesspersons or millionaires a good kick in the upper lip with a steel-tipped toe tap. Some of the elderly he is so concerned about, by the way, have a whole lot more of the green stuff in their coffers than many of us in the "lower middle class," but as usual, Ben is only seeing the ones who truly need the assistance and refuses to accept the fact that some people - young and old - actually take advantage of government programs. Imagine that.

Gosh, it's hard trying to lead Ben down the right pathway. I keep trying, though. And by the by, I voted for Bill, too - and I like Hillary a lot. So much for your bleeding heart complaints about being surrounded by hard-nosed Limbaugh-ites, B.R. The fact is, you're having to deal with moderate thinkers and I think that makes your brain hurt.

Bear Damage

by black bears which exceeds $200.

- Allow for bear population reduction by hunting bears in limited areas where the population has exceeded cultural carrying capacity. (Cultural carrying capacity is defined as a function of the tolerance of humans to the presence of bears, or the maximum number of bears that people will allow to coexist with local human populations.) The hunting program and contributions would fund the black bear damage compensation program.

According to a DNR spokesperson, damage caused by black bears has increased beyond the tolerance levels of many Garrett County Landowners. Reported losses include livestock, trees, grain, hay, and bee hives.

Members of the citizens' task force included District 1 State Senator John Hafer, District 1A Delegate George Edwards, Garrett County Commissioner Roger Glotfelty, Wildlife Advisory Commissioner Bonnie Kelly, and representatives of the Maryland Beekeepers Association, the Maryland Department of Agriculture, the Garrett County Farm Bureau, the Nature Conservancy, Frostburg State University, the Fund for Animals, the Allegany-Garrett Sportsmen Association, as well as local farmers and landowners.

Maryland's current black bear management plan, developed in 1992, includes a provision stating that specific nuisance bear management guidelines will be developed.

Doors at the public meeting will open at 6 p.m. for the review of displays and literature, and the meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m. Citizens are invited to provide comments at the meeting or send written comments until Nov. 20 to Joshua L. Sandt, DNR Wildlife Division Director, 580 Taylor Ave., Annapolis, MD, 21401.

In weeks following the Garrett County meeting, similar public meetings will be held in Timonium, Easton, and Annapolis.

Task Force Arrests Three For Possession

The Oakland-Garrett County Narcotics Task Force arrested three persons this week following the executions of two search and seizure warrants Tuesday. The individuals arrested on various controlled dangerous substance (CDS) charges were Robin Dimick, 36, Oakland; and James and Angie Stewart, 34 and 30 respectively, Swanton.

Dimick's home on Oakland-Sang Run was entered by officers who allegedly found two marijuana plants, seven baggies of suspected marijuana, and various drug paraphernalia. She was charged with manufacturing marijuana, possession with intent to distribute, possession of marijuana and possession of CDS paraphernalia.

Dimick was released after posting $500 bond, according to the report.

The Stewart residence, located on Sand Flat Road, was also entered and items recovered included six baggies of suspected marijuana, two film canisters containing suspected marijuana, and various drug paraphernalia.

The Stewarts were both charged with possession of marijuana, possession with intent to distribute, and possession of CDS paraphernalia.

They were released on $500 bond.

FOREST PRODUCTS WEEK PROCLAIMED - The Board of Garrett County Commissioners recently proclaimed Oct. 15-21 as Forest Products Week in Garrett County, which coincides with the Maryland Forest Association's recognition of the "forest products industry's contributions to the economy, and its continued commitment to forestry and conservation standards, to reforestation of harvested land, and to provision for wildlife habitat, and ecosystem diversity." Pictured above, from left to right, are Karin Miller, Md. Forests Association representative, and Garrett Forestry board member; Ernie Metz, Md. DNR Forest Service; John Forman, Wood Products, Inc., and Garrett Forestry board member; Commissioner Roger Glotfelty; Commissioner Wayne Wilt; Commissioner John Braskey; and Mike Kozler, chairperson of the Garrett County Forestry Board.

Local Quarry Given Surface Mine Permit

The Maryland Department of the Environment (MDE) this week issued a surface mining permit to Maryland Minerals, Inc., Oakland, to mine up to 14.8 acres of land at the old Browning Deep Creek quarry site, located approximately 1,500 feet west of Md. Route 219 in Thayerville.

A public hearing on the permit request drew comments from area property owners as well as from the operators of an adjoining mining operation in mid-August. At the hearing, W.G. "Willy" Hughes, proprietor of Dr. Willy's Seafood restaurant, expressed his concern that mine-related blasting may be taking place approximately 1,000 feet from his property.

Also during the August hearing, representatives of Browning's Deep Creek Lake Quarry, the company which held the lease on the Thayerville quarry until late April, stated that the Browning company was currently operating a limestone mine which is physically connected to Md. Minerals' mine at the Thayerville quarry.

The Browning's spokesmen stated that the two mines are linked by tunnels and expressed their worry that operations at the Md. Minerals site might effect the Browning mine. (Browning's employees enter their mine through a portal not located at Md. Minerals' Thayerville quarry.)

At the public hearing, an attorney for Browning's asked the MDE to consider whether mining operations at the Md. Minerals quarry could effect the safety or physical structure of the adjacent Browning's mine.

However, one month after the hearing, Edmon Larrimore, chief of the Minerals, Oil, and Gas Division of the MDE, wrote, "The surface mining application provides for the beneficial use of the state's mineral resources and protection of the environment." Larrimore recommended that the MDE issue the permit.

"The permit shall be conditioned to provide adequate public safety, environmental control, and timely reclamation," Larrimore added in the September announcement.

The permit will remain in effect for five years.

Oakland attorney Gorman "Mike" Getty, who represented Md. Minerals at the hearing in August, explained at that time that the permit was needed to open a new portal to deep mine limestone at the Thayerville quarry.

"It is anticipated that the removal of the surface materials, the surface mining activity, will take approximately 4 to 6 months," Getty stated at the August hearing. "It may take longer, but only slightly longer than that, in order to remove the existing materials, to maintain the facilities, and to permit them to construct the new portals, the new entries, that will allow them to continue to mine this area as a deep mining operation."

Opening of the new portal will reportedly directly affect only two acres of the 14.8 acre site.

Md. Minerals currently leases the Thayerville quarry, which is owned by Keystone Lime, and began deep mining limestone at the site in late July.

Local Auction Seeks Donations For Cancer Hosp.

Lester Dement, owner of Rosedale Auction located just west of Oakland on Md. Route 39, is currently accepting donated items to benefit St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, a Pittsburgh facility that treats young cancer patients.

All proceeds from the sale of these donated items will be delivered to the hospital. Dement hopes to raise $1,000 for the cause before the end of the year.

The Rosedale Auction begins at 6 p.m. each Friday.

our local government, one would think all this would be hard to top, but apparently not so! Now the commissioners have found the need to replace our voting machines at a cost of "only" 175,000 of our tax dollars!

They say that the "old" machines were purchased back in 1977 and, after all, they're used every couple of years or so. Why we have so many voters pulling the levers in some precincts the machines must be worn out by now!

I have to ask the question: What planet do these people live on? I have a 1980 model automobile sitting out in my driveway that is started and driven almost every day, and we get by, and I'm sure many others do the same to make ends meet and pay our taxes.

Federal budget cuts are coming down the track like a locomotive in the night, and the commissioners have already been told that the state is going to pass many of these cuts along to the local governments.

On the economic front, we just lost another 150 or more coal mining jobs in this area. That means many more families will have to adjust their priorities and tighten their belts to get along.

But we just have to have new voting machines? Amazing!

If I recall correctly, just a few months ago the Board of Education's proposed budget was cut to the extent that certain teachers could not be hired! Where are the priorities?

The bottom line is, the taxpayers must continue to demand the frugal, tight-fisted management of every one of their hard-earned tax dollars. Every single decision made by the commissioners, large or small, costs money; not their money, but ours, and we must hold them to a very high standard in these matters. If they can't stand that, they shouldn't be in office!

To the Editor:

On behalf of the infants, children, youth, and families we served through the Burlington United Methodist Family Services and Auxiliary; Burlington's Board of Trustees, management, and staff; the many other community and church organizations involved; and the thousands of festival patrons and visitors, I wish to take this moment to thank you and your staff for the excellent support and coverage you provided for the 22nd Burlington Old-Fashioned Apple Harvest Festival held last weekend, September 30-October 1.

The 1995 festival established new records. First, nearly 1,000 volunteers worked diligently to make more of Burlington's famous old-fashioned apple butter than ever before, 2,041 gallons. It was all sold. The goal was 2,000 gallons. Last year's record yield was 2,003 gallons. Second, Saturday's attendance greatly surpassed all previous one-day records. Some estimates place the one-day total at nearly 30,000. Sunday's crowd was on par with last year's Sunday attendance of an estimated 20,000. If these numbers are accurate, this means the festival attracted upwards of 50,000 people, another all-time record.

The Burlington Old-Fashioned Apple Harvest Festival is totally a volunteer community and church effort. Neither the festival nor the mainstay delicacy, apple butter, would be possible without the hard working, loving, dedicated volunteers who plan it and make it happen. A huge debt of gratitude is owed to those who volunteer their energies and talents and to those who visit and patronize this popular event. Special thanks are extended to everyone including all of the community organizations, churches, and individuals who made the 1995 festival a huge success.

Again, thank you for your part in supporting the festival, and through it, the infants, children, youth, and families whose lives will be touched in helpful and positive ways for a better life.

Grace and peace,
Rev. I. Lynn Beckman

GVFD RECEIVES MEATY DONATIONS - The Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department recently received significant donations from two local businesses that will be utilized for fund-raising efforts. In the photo above, Grantsville VFD Chief Duane Stein, right, thanks Larry Miller of Lincoln Supply Company for the donation of one-half of a beef. Donating another half of a beef, plus one-half of a hog, to the fire department, was Grantsville Ag Service. The animals were purchased by the local businesses at the 1995 Garrett County Livestock Sale, held each year at the Garrett County Fair.

To the Editor:

The courts have decided the "motor-voter" law is here to stay. Virginia Governor George Allen, joining a handful of fellow Republican governors, challenged the law allowing citizens to register to vote by mail and at government offices such as motor vehicle and social service departments. The argument was that the law would commandeer and conscript state employees under a costly federal mandate and would lead to voter fraud. Conservatives claimed the measure infringes on states' rights.

On October 3, U.S. District Judge Richard Williams rejected the challenge and upheld the law as within the U.S. Congress constitutional authority. He ordered the state to take the necessary action to comply with the law by March 6, to make it easier to register to vote. U.S. district courts in California, Illinois, and Pennsylvania have upheld the 1993 federal law as well as appeals courts in two states. Cases are pending in South Carolina and Michigan.

The opposition to Governor Allen was formidable. Virginia's top-ranking Democrat, Lt. Governor Donald S. Beyer, Jr., charged the challenge ignored a "Virginia mandate" in favor of voter registration measures. Countersuits were filed by the United States and 13 private parties. These included the American Civil Liberties Union, the NAACP, the Richmond Crusade for Voters, the Virginia Coalition for the Homeless, the League of Women Voters, and the American Association of University Women, among others.

To the Editor:

Hospice of Garrett County has been involved with caring for terminally ill individuals and their families since 1982. Our volunteers have traveled from the southern borders to the northern borders of our county. They have served the young (9 years old) to the older (91 years old) this past year.

Volunteer caregivers make dying easier by listening to and caring for the dying persons and his family. Other ways they help is by cleaning, cooking meals, baby-sitting, reading to patients, or whatever the family needs help with. One volunteer fed chickens for a family.

Volunteers take patients to Morgantown for radiation or chemotherapy. One of our volunteers has been taking a patient out to eat once a week. Many hours are spent listening as patients and/or families "pour out their hearts" as they prepare to die. Volunteers sit by the beds of dying patients at home, in the hospital, or nursing home.

Volunteer caregivers are special people who give lots of hugs, back rubs, and tender loving care. On October 21 and 28 there will be a new training class to train volunteer caregivers. More volunteers are needed. I have been a volunteer caregiver for 12 years. It hasn't been easy, but it has been so rewarding. God has helped me in so many ways.

I have made so many new friends -- all over the county. This summer I was invited to the wedding of a granddaughter of a patient I cared for 10 years ago. I cried at that wedding -- cried because of all the memories and the good friendships. A few weeks ago I sat in our hospice room by the bed of a dying mother, listening to her son. He said, "You people in Hospice are all angels. You are all angels."

Won't you join us on October 21 and 28 and take the free training to become a volunteer caregiver and be an "angel" to someone? The rewards are "out of this world" when you know you have made dying a little easier for someone. Call Brenda Butscher, executive director, at 334-5151 for more information on the classes or about Hospice. We need you to help others with "a hand to hold, and a heart to listen."

Man Arrested

U.S. Rt. 50, near Red House.

State police said Crystal G. Roth, 31, was traveling east on Rt. 50, when her vehicle ran off the road, causing her to lose control. The car then struck a ditch, began to skid, and slid back across both lanes of the road, where it struck a tree.

Southern Garrett Rescue Squad transported Roth to the hospital, where she was treated and released following the 3:30 p.m. mishap.

Also responding to the scene were volunteers from Southern Garrett Rescue Squad, and the Gorman fire department.

REAR-END COLLISION

A Swanton woman was injured Wednesday afternoon, when her vehicle struck the rear of another vehicle that was stopped for a school bus near the Deer Park Sportsman's Club.

State police said Nora Boniece, 79, was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital, after her vehicle struck a vehicle operated by 17-year-old Joel Getty, also of Swanton.

Boniece was charged with failure to reduce speed to avoid a collision. Both drivers were reportedly wearing their seatbelts.

The Southern Garrett Rescue Squad, and Deer Park Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the 3:40 p.m. accident.

STRIKES BEAR

No injuries were reported in a Sunday evening accident on Interstate 68, near the Old Morgantown Road, when a vehicle operated by Michael L. Castle Jr., 39, Hidden Valley, Pa., struck a bear as it ambled across the road.

State police said the bear, whose condition was not available, entered the highway and traveled into the path of Castle's vehicle. The vehicle, however, ran off the road, and became disabled following the 9:40 p.m. mishap.

Castle and his two passengers, 14-year-old Conner T. Castle, and 13-year-old Adam M. Castle, were uninjured.

DWI ARRESTS

Two additional DWI arrests were logged at the local state police barrack during the past week.

Terry Eugene Reichenbecher, 41, Accident, was arrested and charged with DWI on Oct. 6, by Tfc. D.W. Broadwater.

Rodney L. Dawson, 33, no address given, was charged with DWI on Oct. 7, by Tfc. G.S. Becker.

WEDDING SET

Melissa D. Kelley and Edward F. Garrison announce their engagement and forthcoming marriage. The bride-elect is the daughter of Robert "Leon" and Delores (Calcamp) Kelley, Leadmine. She is also the granddaughter of Lura Calcamp, Horse Shoe Run, and the late Gus Calcamp, and of the late Paul and Nina Kelley, who lived at Leadmine. She is a 1994 graduate of Tucker County High School, and will be a 1996 graduate of Computer Tech, Fairmont (CTF).

Her finacé is the son of Charles and Patti Garrison, Appolo, Pa. He is a 1992 graduate of Kiski Area High School, in Pennsylvania, and will also be a 1996 graduate of CTF.

An open church ceremony will be observed Saturday, Oct. 14, at Leadmine United Methodist Church at 2 p.m. A reception will follow the ceremony, and will be held at the Slaubaugh Memorial Building, Mt. Grove. All family and friends are invited.

PIONEERS MEET

The Aurora Pioneer 4-H Club met at the home of Betty Fint on Sunday, October 8. Missy Callahan presided at the meeting, and Neil Mersing and Craig Kelley led the pledges. Meghan Durst led the group in singing Three Chartreuse Buzzards.

Those who participated in the Buckwheat Festival gave reports on their activities. The lamb dressing team, composed of Courtney and Becca Fint, Missy Callahan and Jason Roth, won a first place award with "Scarlett O'Hara," and rode in the Friday parade. In tractor driving, Jason Roth placed first, while Joey Fint placed second.

The club made a display for the Aurora Post Office, in celebration of National 4-H Week, which was Oct. 1-7.

Jessica Callahan led a Halloween game titled, "Who Am I?" There were 23 members, plus two new ones, Travis Mersing and Melissa DeWitt, in attendance.

COUSINS FIND EACH OTHER

David and Wilma Mae Teets went Wednesday to Hiram, Ohio, to bring their grandson, Kevin Teets, and his friend, Seku, to Kevin's home for a visit. The boys have become friends at Hiram College, and spent until Sunday with Paul and Karen Teets at Horse Shoe Run.

During conversation, mention of the name Fike was made, with Seku asking, "Is that spelled F-I-K-E?" When the reply by Mr. Teets was in the affirmative, Seku mentioned that his grandmother was a Fike.

As the elder Mr. Teets's mother was a Fike, the discussion continued and it was discovered that Seku, formerly Jason Brooks, is the grandson of Dr. Louis and Eileen (Fike) Loria, and a great-grandson of Otis and Bessie Fike, the latter having lived in the Brookside-Sunnyside area, prior to moving to Morgantown. Both are now deceased and buried in Eglon, which Seku remembers visiting when a small boy.

Kevin and Seku (Jason's Muslim name) are then determined to be distant cousins, good friends who had no realization of this prior to this trip.

FOOD FOR PRESTON SIGNUPS PLANNED

Applications for those eligible for the Food for Preston program, which provides a complete holiday meal, or the ingredients of that dinner, are being held this evening in the Aurora area, from 2 until 7 p.m., at the Aurora U.M. Memorial Building. On October 19, the following Thursday, persons may sign up at the Terra Alta Senior Center, from 2 until 7 p.m. Those who apply must bring proof of income.

The Christmas dinners may be picked up on Dec. 18, at the place where applications were made.

FIKES WIN

At the Preston County Buckwheat Festival, Kimberly and Kaylan Fike continued their winning ways with their dairy animals. Kimberly's summer yearling heifer took first place, and also was named grand champion in the junior division. She also took the grand champion in dairy female, won the senior showmanship competition, and grand champion in overall showmanship, plus won the Good Housekeeping Award. Her sister, Kaylan, placed first with her senior heifer, and won the junior showmanship award.

Both girls were members of the county dairy team, Cream of the Crop, which took first place honors in the Ag Olympics. They are daughters of B.J. and Debbie Fike, Aurora, and also members of the Aurora Pioneer 4-H Club.

PERSONALS

Lela Slaubaugh returned last week to her home at Silver Lake after being a patient both in Garrett County Memorial Hospital, and in Morgantown, where she had a heart catheterization. She has been determined to be suffering from an infection, rather than having had a heart attack, and is recuperating at home.

Mrs. Olive White, Eglon, fell while with her daughter and son-in-law, Winifred and Ralph Gatto, at Bruceton on Sunday, Oct. 1. She was brought to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where she was treated for a fractured leg, and is now receiving therapy in Dennett Road Manor, Oakland.

Darwin Snyder suffered severe back pain, and was hospitalized in Parkersburg, then taken to the home of his sister, Esther Knotts, before returning last week to his home in Horse Shoe Run. He left Sunday to go to Cleveland where he will undergo back surgery on Tuesday. He is a patient in the Lutheran Orthopedic Medical Center.

Mrs. Gladys Snyder has been a patient in Ruby Memorial Hospital, undergoing tests. She remains a patient there at this writing. She was transferred there from Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Hazel Blamble, Stemple Ridge, is a patient in Garrett Memorial Hospital, where she is reportedly quite ill.

Kirk and Anita Lantz and family, Aurora, were weekend guests of her sisters, Shirleen and Paul Hinche and sons; and Marilyn Bachman and daughters, all of Westminster.

Clara Schockley, Silver Spring, was a Buckwheat Festival weekend guest of her sister and family, the Joe Fints, in Aurora, and expects also to be visiting them during Autumn Glory. The Fints, Joe, Stacy, Courtney, Rebecca, and Joey, visited Sunday at Old Fields with Joe's parents, Glenn and Ilene Fint. The Fint children and their families were all gathered there: Robert Fint, Hawaii; Linda Carol and Jamie Roberson, Durham, N.C.; Carl, Nancy and Clay Winters, Manassas, Va.; and Chuck and Suzzane Winters, and friend, Brian, Blacksburg, Va.

A birthday dinner for all church members of Maple Spring followed the Sunday, Oct. 8, worship. A gospel sing-along, with music by Pete Michaels and Orville Kight, provided the afternoon's entertainment.

Ressie Conrad, Nina Layman, Iris Myers, and Wilda Stemple of the Aurora Rebekah Lodge, visited Monday at Elkins with the five remaining residents of the IOOF home there.

Jim and Carol Myers of Herndon, Va., were weekend visitors with his parents, Homer and Marguerite Myers, at Aurora.

Jessie Winters, Eglon, received word last week that her brother-in-law, James Moore, had undergone surgery and was doing well at his Newark, Ohio, home.

Word was received here of the Oct. 9 death of Lola Pennington Fike of Ypsilanti, MI. Arrangements were tentative, but there will be viewing and services this week at Eglon. She was a daughter of the late Claude and Eva (Helmick) Pennington, who lived in Eglon, and was also preceded in death by her husband, Melvin Fike.

MOUNTAINEERS DECORATE PUMPKINS

The activity of the evening for the Oct. 9 meeting of the Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club was to decorate pumpkins, gourds or squash, whatever they had available.

Winners were: funniest, Ashley Bachtel; cutest, Craig Rembold; prettiest, Leah Strawser; best costume, Tracy Teets; weirdest, Adam Bachtel; most original, Mark Bachtel; and best of show, Dana Feather.

Devotions on the theme, "Autumn Leaves," were presented by the activity committee, composed of Sarah Snyder, Becky Snyder, and Craig Rembold. Mark Bachtel led the pledges.

Meat tickets and enrollment cards were turned in. Members reported that 15 members and 10 adults helped in the kitchen on Friday during the Buckwheat Festival; that there were 16 exhibitors in Memorial North who won nine blue ribbons, five red ribbons, and eight green ribbons; and there were six exhibitors in the livestock barn. Christopher Mullenax had two Best of Show entries, one in photography and one in miscellaneous crafts. Sarah Snyder received first place on her entry in the Buckwheat Flour Recipe Contest. Adam and Mark Bachtel, and Craig and Shawn Rembold placed fifth in the lamb dressing competition with "Minnie Pearl."

On November 10, at 7 p.m., the Eglon Mountaineer club achievement program will be held at the Maple Spring Church. All members, including new ones, and their families are invited to attend, and are asked to bring ribbons and past year. There will be a dessert bar for refreshments, for which each family is asked to contribute a finger food. On the following Sunday, Nov. 12, the Preston County Officers' Training and Achievement Day will be held. The Tri-County Leaders' Conference will be held Oct. 28 at Camp Pioneer, near Beverly, in Randolph County.

An executive meeting was held on October 7 at the Eglon Memorial Building, where plans for the upcoming year were developed.

HOMEMAKERS MEET

"Halloween" was the theme of the Oct. 3 meeting of the Eglon Homemakers. Members arrived "dressed up" for the occasion. Fine ladies, Red Riding Hood, Sleeping Beauty, a logger, the Homemaker of the Century, and a honeybee gathered at the meeting. Roll call was answered by naming the character each represented.

Devotions by Rebecca Teets began with Psalm 19, continued with two poems, Creation, read by Jean Winters, and October, read by Mary Rembold, then concluded with prayer.

In a communication from the Ronald McDonald House in Morgantown, it was mentioned that the Stemple Ridge Ladies Aid has now contributed more than $1,000 in goods. The local homemakers have also made contribution to this cause.

The club purchased two meat tickets per member from the Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club, and individual members were encouraged to purchase more. Both the local club, and the county organization benefit from this purchase.

"Exploring Ethical Leadership" was addressed by Jean Winters, who stressed the need for this when balloting takes place in local, county, state, or national levels.

A Halloween "Pin the Spider on the Pumpkin" game, decorating various vegetables as "critters," a ghost story, and more completed the meeting which concluded with refreshments served by Linda Lewis, and a trip to Ruth Teets's home. Mary Rembold and Linda Lewis provided the recreation.

Attending were Nina Layman, Rebecca Teets, Avenell Parsons, Linda Lewis, Sandra Hauser, Mary Rembold, Jean Winters, and junior members, Marissa Bachtel.

Preston County History Society Slates Meeting

The Preston County Historical Society will hold its semi-annual meeting Saturday, Oct. 28, at the Salem Church of the Brethren. The noon lasagna lunch will be served only to those members and guests whose reservations are received by October 21. Persons should send $6/person to Society Treasurer, Mrs. June Thomas, 102 Aurora, Av., Terra Alta, WV 26764.

The meeting room will be open at 11 a.m. for viewing the church's permanent historical display. To reach the church, persons should proceed 2.8 miles north of Bruceton Mills on Rt. 26; turn left on Rt. 26/8 for one-half mile; take another left turn on to 26/7 for another half-mile; and take a right turn on to Rt. 26/12 and proceed a half-mile to the church.

Details of the meeting and directions are highlighted in the society's newsletter, "Now and Long Ago," which was mailed to members this week.

The program will begin following lunch. Society Historian Janice Cale Sisler will talk about the Early Salem Community; included will be a demonstration of the "Love Feast," a ritual of the church and an area event for many years.

Society President I.T. "Bud" White extends a welcome to the public to attend a part of all of the meeting.

Food For Preston Signups Scheduled Throughout County

Signups for the 1995 Food for Preston program have been scheduled for areas throughout Preston County.

"Food for Preston provides a holiday food basket for needy Prestonians at Christmas," said Shirley Young, a representative for the program. "Applicants are asked to bring proof of their income when they come to sign up. Applications will be approved or denied at that time."

Signups are scheduled at the following locations: Rowlesburg Senior Center, 2-7 p.m., Oct. 11; Aurora United Methodist Church, 2-7 p.m., Oct. 12; Tunnelton United Methodist Church, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Oct. 14; Terra Alta Senior Center, 2-7 p.m., Oct. 19; Newburg United Methodist Church, 2-7 p.m., Oct. 20; Masontown Senior Center, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Oct. 21; Preston High School, 4-8 p.m., Nov. 1, and again from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Nov. 4; and Mill Place Restaurant, Bruceton Mills, 2-7 p.m., Nov. 7.

The food will be distributed on Monday, Dec. 18, to those who qualify for the program.

DELANO'S

This is a feature of The Republican to better acquaint our readers with various area business establishments.

Delano's Furniture

Delano's Furniture, owned by Preston County natives Delano and Chuck Fultz, has been doing business at the same location in the Terra Alta, W.Va., area since 1971.

Always known for their low key, no fuss store front with low overhead that transfers over to low prices for quality furniture, Delano's recently expanded the business with a 6,000 square foot carpet warehouse and storage buildings.

The new carpet warehouse opened in April of this year with the largest in-stock variety of vinyl and carpet in the area, according to Chuck Fultz. He explains that they buy factory direct, and in addition to all name brands of vinyl and carpet, they offer hardwood floors, area rugs, and anything for floors "from A to Z." To provide quick delivery at the lowest prices, Delano's operates their own trucks which pick up merchandise directly from the factory. The company also offers delivery, which takes place in Garrett County on Saturdays.

The store boasts of over $250,000 of factory direct carpet, vinyl and furniture inventory in stock. "This is mid- to high-end furniture, no junk," said Fultz. "It's all first quality goods, no seconds, all name brands, which we sell up to 50% off the manufacturers retail." Another popular item in the store is bedding, which is also purchased factory direct from the Carolinas.

Last November the storage buildings opened beside the large floor covering building. The self storage buildings come in 5x10 ft., 10x10 ft., 10x15 ft., 10x20 ft., 10x25 ft., and 10x30 ft., with prices ranging from $25 per month for the 5x10 ft. to $90 per month for the 10x30 ft. storage building.

Hours at the store, which is located along Route 7 east of Terra Alta, are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday and Saturday, and 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Friday. Carpet estimates are usually done in the evening. Delano's Furniture can be reached at 304-789-6966.

COVE

The first meeting of the school year of the Accident Head Start Parent Group will be this Monday, October 16, at the Head Start Center, at 1 p.m.

The women of Zion Lutheran Church, Accident, will sponsor a fall bazaar Saturday, Oct. 21, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Lunch will be served the entire time. Arts and crafts, including comforters, woven rugs, holiday items, baked goods, homemade soup, and homemade sauerkraut will be available for sale. Proceeds will benefit Lutheran World Relief, and local projects. Parking is available behind the church. Handicapped accessible entrances are located in front of the building off Route 219. The public is invited.

Pamela Schmidt and Kara Alt, both students at West Virginia University, Morgantown, W.Va., the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Alt and son, Travis, Romney, W.Va., and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Alt, Sr., Petersburg, W.Va., attended the worship service and Sunday school session at Rush Baptist Church on Sunday where Kara helped with a puppet show that was presented when grandparents were honored during the service. The entire group then went to Morgantown for dinner. The next meeting of the youth group at the church will be Sunday, Oct. 22, following the Sunday school, and worship service. All youth in the area are invited to attend, and participate in the practice for the next puppet show. Those attending should bring a packed lunch to eat at noon. The youth plan to have a fall festival at the church Sunday, Oct. 29. Those attending should dress "silly" for that activity. If transportation is available, the group will go hiking at Cooper's Rock, W.Va., on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 12. Anyone willing to provide transportation may contact Mrs. John (Darlene) Schmidt at 746-8732, or a member of the youth group.

Carroll Hanft and daughters, Addison, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. John Sherwood and son, Mt. Nebo, W.Va., and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hanft were among those attending the meeting of the Garrett County Horsemen's Association at Grantsville on Saturday evening. Officers re-elected were: President, Mrs. Nevin Hutzel; Vice President, Mrs. Eugene Durst; Secretary, Mrs. Walter Hanft; and Treasurer. Mrs. Berman Butler was elected to serve as food chairman, and new members on the board of directors are Mrs. Chris Bagley, John Doyle, and Cecil Schaefer. Association members will meet at Friend's Stockyard on Wednesday, Oct. 25, to ready the barn for the fall horse sale to be held Friday, Oct. 27. Tack will be sold beginning at 6 p.m., with horses and ponies to follow.

A lingerie party and bridal shower were held Sunday at the Royal Oaks Inn, McHenry, in honor of Danielle Sherwood. A number of friends and relatives were in attendance. She will become the bride of Rob Moats this Saturday, Oct. 14, at the Lakeside Assembly of God Church, near Oakland. A bachelor party was held in honor of Rob on Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Fearer.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Harman for a week's vacation are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Holtschneider, Guthrie, Okla. Additional weekend guests were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Harshbarger and family, Severn. Mr. and Mrs. George Holtschneider, Manassas, Va., were also Sunday visitors and another visitor during the weekend was Mrs. Tom Glotfelty, Bittinger. All the ladies attended the baby shower on Sunday at the Accident fire hall given by Rose Piper and Debbie Stemple, honoring Mrs. Gerald (Brenda) Harman. Many others from the area were also in attendance for the shower.

Thursday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Long were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gatterman. To celebrate their 16th wedding anniversary that was Saturday, Oct. 7, Mr. and Mrs. Long and daughter, Beth, were at Blackwater Falls in West Virginia, and had dinner at a restaurant there.

Mrs. Ben Williams visited with her mother, Mrs. Betty Craig, Elizabeth, Pa., during the weekend. Mrs. Craig was a recent hospital patient, and has returned to her home. Mrs. Williams also visited with a daughter, Emily Sabol, Irwin, Pa.

Donna McClintock has moved into her new house in this community. She lived with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett McClintock, while her house was being constructed, and readied for occupancy. The Accident Lutheran Parish members from Grace Lutheran Church, Friendsville, St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Accident, and St. John's Lutheran Church, ELCA, had a hayride, and wiener and marshmallow roast at the McClintock home on Sunday.

A Saturday evening visitor of Mrs. Garnet Ringer was Mrs. Dorothy Bernard, Swanton. Mrs. Danny Friend, McHenry, and Mrs. Ringer were Sunday afternoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Hoffman and daughter, Midland. Mrs. Ringer and granddaughter, Mrs. Friend, were in Cumberland to meet the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ringer upon their arrival there after spending a week touring the New England states. They were sightseeing at Bar Harbor and Kennebunkport, Me., Boston and Plymouth Rock, Mass., Hartford, Conn., and other places of interest. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ringer and Mrs. Charly Ahern visited Mrs. Garnet Ringer earlier this week.

Spending a vacation here with a daughter, Mrs. Dolores Gloeckl is Mrs. Mabel McGuire, Staten Island, N.Y. Other relatives coming to honor Mrs. McGuire Saturday evening at Point View Restaurant, Deep Creek Lake, for her 90th birthday anniversary were Mr. and Mrs. Keith Gloeckl and nephew, Jimmy Griffenstet, Palm Harbor, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cook and Thomas Cook, Long Island, N.Y.; Mrs. Patricia Cook-Rosenberg and Rob Rosenberg, Manhattan, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Murphy, Anna Marie Murphy, Mrs. Patrick Murphy and daughter, Bridget, Staten Island, N.Y.; Carolyn Cook, and John Spotts, Walnutport, Pa. Kevin Gloeckl and Mr. and Mrs. Troy Margroff and daughters, Rachel and Haley Margroff, also attended the celebration for their grandmother. Members of the group were sightseeing in Garrett County, and several of them visited with Mrs. Esther Margroff one day.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bender and Mr. and Mrs. Markel Maust spent Sunday at Canaan Valley in West Virginia.

Thursday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Simmers were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Keller, Camp Florida Resort, Lake Placid, Fla., and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Simmers, Rising Sun. The two couples came together in the Kellers' motor coach and

Rams Blank Huskies, 20-0, To Maintain Unbeaten Streak

While there have certainly been more exciting Southern-Northern football games over the years, last Friday night's match-up on the Huskies' gridiron had several of the usual characteristics of the annual clash, including the one that says simply comparing scores is not a good predictor of the game's outcome.

Despite having three key players on the sidelines with injury, and despite coming into the game with a 1-3 record against Southern's 4-0 mark, the Huskies played particularly well defensively and held the Rams to just six points in the second half. The Rams' defense, however, played at its usual level and did not allow a point while the offense managed to generate more than enough to win, 20-0. The Southern defense has not allowed a point in its last eight quarters of play.

Howard Crosco opened the scoring for the Rams when he crashed through the Northern defense on a nine-yard touchdown run late in the first quarter, and he also ran successfully for the conversion to give Southern an 8-0 lead.

Southern	8	6	6	0–20

S--Howard Crosco 9 run (Crosco run)
S--Aaron Newcomb 3 run (pass failed)
S--Dave Stephens 19 pass from Andy Woods (run failed)

Aaron Newcomb's three-yard touchdown run in the second quarter gave the Rams a 14-0 lead at the half, as Andy Woods' pass for the conversion was no good.

The final points of the game were recorded in the third quarter when Woods found senior tight end Dave Stephens wide open and fired a 19-yard scoring strike to him. The run for the conversion was stopped short.

Newcomb led the Rams in rushing with 78 yards on 19 carries, while Crosco was close behind with 73 yards on 16 attempts. Zach Leverenz paced the Huskies' ground attack with 60 yards on 13 carries. The Rams held a 256-196 edge in total offense.

Leading tacklers for the Rams were Danny Compitello and Seth Tressler, while Brandon Baumgardner recorded 15 tackles for the Huskies and Chad Montgomery had nine.

It was generally known before the game that running back/linebacker Cody Brenneman would be missing from the Northern lineup, but few knew that also out with injury would be one of the area's top running backs, Brian Heslop, and center/defensive lineman Doug Sines.

Brenneman is most likely finished for the season because of a neck injury, while Heslop sustained a deep thigh bruise in practice and Sines was out with a bruised forearm.

"You just have to play with the cards you're dealt," stated Northern Coach Tom Vent. "We were really pleased with our kids' effort, though. If we had played with the same emotional level in our other four games, we would be 4-1 right now instead of 1-4. I think Southern is the only team that would have beaten us.

"But, if we play with the same emotion the rest of the season, we can be 6-4," he said, "or we could be 1-9. It's basically up to the kids."

Southern Coach Tom Woods was pleased that his team pulled out the win, but was disappointed in the lack of emotion and preparedness for the game.

"Our game-day preparation was just not satisfactory," he said, "but we really were not disappointed with the effort of the kids. Northern executed extremely well and played with all the emotion that we knew they would. Tom (Vent) and his staff did its usual great job in preparing his team."

Woods said that the similarity in the two teams lent itself to a rather low-scoring game. "We had possession of the ball for 18 and a half minutes of the first half's 24 minutes, and we only scored twice," he said. "That's a credit to their defense. Fortunately, our defense played very well, too."

Woods noted the efforts of several individuals. "Offensively, we thought Nathan Rickman played very well, and that both Aaron Newcomb and Howard Crosco ran very well," he said. "Defensively we were impressed with Shawn Strawser, Justin Steyer, and Shawn Durst."

RAMS TO FACE LIONS

The Rams will again be a heavy favorite this Friday when they travel to Parsons to play Tucker County. The Mountain Lions are 2-4 on the season, with wins over Northern and Tygarts Valley.

But Woods is nervous about the Lions, who have literally scrapped their I-formation offense and gone to a single-wing format which is almost never used by anyone. The switch by Coach Bill Haddox nearly resulted in an upset of powerful Grafton last week, as the Lions were edged in overtime, 13-12.

"This really complicates things for us," Woods said, explaining that, in the single-wing offense, the ball is snapped on every down to junior wing-back Bill Shahan (6-0, 183), who may run with the ball, pass it, or hand it to the quarterback or another back.

"They use what is called the spinner series, plus a lot of motion and reverses," Woods said. "It makes it extremely difficult to prepare your defense, because you basically have to try to prepare them to defend something that almost no one does these days."

Other offensive players for the Lions that have impressed Woods and his staff are senior slot back Daniel Helmick (5-8, 148) and big linemen Chad Humphrey (5-10, 276) and Ben Goodden (6-0, 279).

Defensively, the Lions are just as diverse as on offense. "They have used a 6-2, a 5-2, a 5-3, and a 4-4 this year," Woods said, "so once again, Coach Haddox keeps everyone guessing." He added that the Ram offense will go into the game with a limited number of plays until they see what kind of defensive formations the Lions use. "Then we can add to our offensive game plan as we go along," he said.

Woods said the primary importance of the game, besides keeping an undefeated record, is that with a win the Rams will clinch the Potomac Valley Conference title once again.

"One of the tough things about carrying an undefeated record is that every team you face, no matter what their abilities are, plays with a higher level of emotion against you," Woods said. "It is a golden opportunity to knock off a top team and really make a name for yourself."

Woods is also concerned that Tucker will be working hard to avenge last year's 60-20 thrashing by Southern that knocked the Lions out of the top spot in West Virginia. "It's also a tough place to play," he added.

Expected back in the line-up this week is lineman Dale Schoch, who has been out with a knee injury. Senior slot Andy Ross is listed as "doubtful" for Friday night because of an in-

Husky Jayvees Flattened By Allegany, 40-6

After dropping a 14-0 decision to Southern on Saturday (see separate story), the Northern High School junior varsity football team was hammered Monday afternoon by the host Allegany jayvees, 40-6.

A one-yard touchdown run by Derick Park followed by a two-point conversion carry by Nick Gates put Allegany up 8-0 early in the first half. Mike Thomas, who completed eight of 11 passes, then connected with Chris Appel on a 34-yard scoring strike, and Gates's run for the extra two points put the Campers up 16-0.

A five-yard touchdown run by Brad Lease, plus a tackle in the end zone by Mike Stottlemyer for a safety gave Alco a 26-0 halftime lead.

A 50-yard scoring pass from Thomas to Gates in the third quarter, and a 35-yard touchdown run by Lee Gilmore in the fourth period, plus a successful two-point run by Park concluded the Campers' scoring.

No information was received on Northern's touchdown, which was recorded in the fourth quarter.

Jets Roll Over Vikings, 27-12 In Youth League

The Oakland Jets rolled to a 27-12 victory over the Parsons Vikings this week in Mountain Top Youth Football League action at the Southern High field.

The Jets wasted little time in scoring, as running back Josh Bosley took the handoff on the first play of the game and broke several tackles in a 65-yard touchdown run. Bosley also kicked the extra point and the Jets were on top 8-0.

After forcing the Vikings to punt, the Jets again took over possession of the ball on their own 14-yard line. The Jets marched 86 yards in only six plays, with quarterback Justin Liller reaching paydirt from five yards out. The PAT was no good and the Jets led 14-0.

The Jets' next possession was just as impressive, as they drove the ball 54 yards in only five plays, with Bosley capping the drive on a five-yard blast. The PAT failed and the Jets led 20-0 at the half.

A nine-play, 82-yard scoring drive by the Jets was capped by a six-yard TD pass from Liller to Bosley on the first play of the fourth quarter. Jordan Uphold ran for the one-point conversion and the Jets were on top 27-0. The Jets then began to substitute freely for the remainder of the game. The Vikings scored twice in the fourth quarter on runs by Jim Arnold.

Offensive line coach for the Jets, Rex Archer, stated, "We thought our linemen did an excellent job of controlling the line of scrimmage on both sides of the ball. Our line continues to work very hard in practice and their efforts are paying dividends as evidenced by the fact that both of our running backs had over 100 yards rushing." Bosley had 15 yards on eight carries and Uphold had 122 yards on eight attempts.

The Jets will be back in action this weekend as they square off against the Oakland Raiders in the final regular season game of the year. Game time is set for 3:30 at the Southern field. The Jet-Raider contest will be preceded by a 1:30 contest between the Northern Steelers and the Parsons Vikings.

Ram Jayvees Blank Huskies

The junior varsity football team of Southern High School recorded its first victory in three starts this season by shutting out cross-county rival Northern on Saturday, 14-0, in Oakland.

Tommy Gank scored a pair of touchdowns and finished with 108 yards rushing on 17 carries to lead the Southern offense.

Gank put the first points on the board midway through the first quarter when he scored a touchdown on a three-yard run. The run for the two-point conversion failed.

Gank and the Ram offense struck again early in the second period, this time with a 13-yard scoring run, and quarterback Chad Warnick ran successfully for the two extra points.

The second half was all defense, as no additional points were yielded by either team.

Warnick was four-for-five in passing for 37 yards, as the Rams finished with 260 yards in total offense.

Scott Beitzel picked off a pair of Scott Sisler passes for the Rams, while Josh Helbig and Andy Seib each grabbed one.

Leading the Northern offense were Sisler and running back Jim Green, while Jesse Deniker recorded 13 tackles to pace the defense.

The Southern High freshman team will host the Tucker County freshmen this evening at 7 p.m. and the Ram jayvees will entertain the Tucker County junior varsity on Monday, with that kickoff also slated for 7 p.m.

PLENTY OF CHEERING could be heard throughout the Cove last Friday night, where squads from Northern and Southern high schools were leading the shouting to help propel their respective teams on to victory. Pictured above are the varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders of Southern, and below are the varsity cheerleaders of Northern. While the Northern fans undoubtedly won for loudness, the Southern Rams won on the field, 20-0, and kept their record perfect for the season.

ALL BROKEN UP was this particular pass from Southern High School quarterback Andy Woods to tight end Dave Stephens (#42), as Northern's Zach Leverenz (#22) knocks the ball away at the last minute. Just a few plays later, however, a wide-open Stephens did complete a 19-yard Woods pass for a touchdown. Below, Northern's Andy Brenneman finds some running room before Southern's Howard Crosco (#25) closes in for the tackle. Also identifiable is Scot Schroyer of Southern (#84). The Rams recorded a 20-0 shutout of the Huskies to up their record to 5-0, while the Huskies fell to 1-4.

HUSKIES TO MEET INDIANS

The Northern Huskies will once again be facing a tough opponent this week when they travel to meet the Indians of Berkeley Springs, a program that has not historically produced outstanding football teams, but this year is sporting a 5-1 record.

"The only team they have lost to is Westmar, and they really out-played them, too," Coach Vent said.

The Indians run from a wing-T formation on offense, and feature a number of good athletes, apparently as a result of a successful youth league program in the area.

"They have an excellent youth league that they have been playing in for several years now, and it is really making a difference in their high school program," Vent said.

One of their best athletes is wing-back Josh Smith, who is also an outstanding kicker, capable of 40-yard field goals.

The Huskies will also be facing a 5-10, 220-pound fullback (Hoyt), who has been a major force on offense.

The offensive and defensive lines of the Indians are, on average, smaller than the Huskies', but Vent was quick to state, "It's not the size of the dog in the fight, but the size of the fight in the dog that makes the difference."

Vent added, "Three of our four losses have come to undefeated teams (Beall, Westmar, and Southern), and the only loss for Berkeley Springs is one they should have won. So we know we are going to have to play with intensity once again this week if we hope to win."

Reserved Seats Available For Fort Hill Game

Tom Woods, athletic director and head football coach of Southern High School, announced this week that approximately 90 reserved seats, located in the center of the bleachers at the Southern athletic field, are available for the Southern-Fort Hill game, scheduled for Friday, Oct. 20.

Woods said that the spots are the reserved seats that were not sold for the regular season. Tickets for the seats will go on sale this Friday, Oct. 13, in the school office on a first-come, first-served basis for $5 each.

He added that only holders of the reserved seating tickets will be permitted in this section that night. The reserved seating area is situated beside and between the 40-yard lines of the field.

"This is a great way to secure a good reserved seat and not have to worry about coming to the field so early that night," Woods said, adding that the game will most likely draw the largest crowd ever to attend an athletic event at the Southern field.

Rams Win FSU Cross Country Title

THE RUNNIN' RAMS of Southern High School's boys' cross country team, pictured above during a training run, recorded a major accomplishment on Saturday by winning the Frostburg State University Invitational. The Rams, coached by Carl Booth, defeated 17 other high school teams of all sizes from Maryland, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania to up their season record to an amazing 51-0. The two-time defending state champions will be the favorite in their next competition, the WMIL Championships, to be held at Northern High School on Oct. 21.

"Our greatest win ever" is how Southern High School boys' cross country coach Carl Booth described his team's victory Saturday in the Frostburg State University Invitational, held at Rocky Gap State Park, as the undefeated, defending state champion Rams captured first place in that event, defeating 17 other teams from Maryland, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania.

"This is a bigger accomplishment than winning the state title the past two years," Booth said, "because this win was against some real heavyweights." Southern is a 1A size program, the smallest among high schools, and there were 2A, 3A, and even 4A schools that competed in the FSU Invitational. The Rams amassed 75 team points to edge one such larger school, Richard Montgomery, by six points (81).

The victory also upped the Rams' perfect regular-season record to an unprecedented 51-0.

Linganore High School was third with 93 points, followed by Loudoun Valley, 176; Gov. Thomas Johnson, 180; Broad Run, 198; Allegany, 216; Magruder, 225; Park View, 242; James Wood, 261; Handley, 268; Strasburg, 272; Frankfort, 273; Boonsboro, 311; Musselman, 411; Keyser, 439; Bedford, 443; and Westmar, 555.

Leading the Rams, as he had done all season, was senior Todd Howard, who placed third among the 225 finishers with a time of 17 minutes, 7.63 seconds. Linganore's Jonathan Hayes won the event with a blistering time of 16:44.23, while Michael Taye of Richard Montgomery High School was second in 16:48.02.

Howard also defeated Allegany's Justin Taylor for the first time, as Taylor finished in fourth place with a time of 17:16.15.

The next fastest Southern runner was sophomore Daniel Sincell, usually the fourth-place runner among the Rams, who placed 10th with a time of 17:52.96.

Seniors Kevin Andrews and Nathan McBee were the next Southern finishers, taking 16th and 21st places, respectively, while sophomore Mike Bittinger placed 28th. Adam Chorpenning finished 61st, Matt Sincell was 65th, Sean Conroy placed 94th, Justin Hershman was 98th, Charlie Wesley finished 108th, freshman Casey McBee was 123rd, Todd Gibson finished 130th, John Ortiz was 157th, Beau Gibson placed 163rd, and Nick Glotfelty finished 177th. Only the top five finishers places are added to determine the team score.

"I told the kids that this was the birth of a real legend, and that they are all part of it," Booth said. "I have never been any higher in my life than right now. And one funny thing about it, we really didn't have a particularly good run as a team. The film shows that we were pretty sluggish, with the exception of Todd (Howard) and Dan Sincell."

Booth, who has guided the Rams to two straight state titles and has said that he tentatively plans to retire after this school year, said he "has never been prouder" of a group of young people.

"I'd put these kids up against anyone in anything, not just running," he said. "They are excellent students and just an outstanding group of young men who are going to go on to be real leaders in our society. I couldn't be any prouder."

Meanwhile, the Southern girls' team, coached by Louis Newcomb, also produced a strong showing at the FSU meet by finishing seventh among 19 teams, again with many of those opponents representing much larger schools.

The Rams finished with 160 team points to place behind winner Linganore with 59, Boonsboro with 99, Broad Run with 104, Richard Montgomery with 133, Magruder with 145, and Loudoun Valley with 146.

Placing behind the Rams were: Handley, 222; Frankfort, 225; Keyser, 226; Strasburg, 257; Allegany, 289; James Wood, 304; Park View, 380; Bedford, 398; and Gov. Thomas Johnson, Mount Savage, Musselman, and Westmar, all with incomplete scores.

The top finisher for Southern was junior Lauren Newcomb, who placed 14 with a time of 22:18.02. Meghan Dabney, also a junior, was second for the Rams as she finished 26th in 22:53.10. Senior Andrea Devens placed 32nd in 23:13.90, followed by freshman Amy Snyder in 23:16.37, Julie Caruso in 57th, Katelyn McBee and Keri Strubin, 70th and 71st; Christy Hoalcraft, 78th; Jennifer Pariseau, 82nd; Rachel Robinette, 99th; Jody Bowser, 109th, Erin McClive, 113th, Mariah McBee, 115th, Erika Durst, 124th, Nikki Frazee, 125th, Katie Helbig, 133rd, and Natalie Carlson, 134th.

Taking first and second places in the girls' race were Kristen Ritter and Cassy Crouse, both of Linganore, with respective times of 20:19.61 and 20:28.95.

Both Southern teams also recorded a win Tuesday afternoon at home without having to compete, as Preston County failed to show up for a scheduled meet.

The season record for the Southern girls is now 47-8.

The Rams will not compete again until Saturday, Oct. 21, in the WMIL Championships, to be held at Northern High School.

Ram Booters Fall To Salisbury Before Nearly Upsetting Spartans

The varsity soccer team of Southern High School saw its record fall to 3-6 this past week with a 5-0 defeat by visiting Salisbury last Thursday evening and a heart-breaking 4-3 loss to the Spartans of Bishop Walsh High School on Tuesday, also on the Rams' field.

Jeremy Hoover scored a pair of goals and recorded an assist last Thursday for the Salisbury Elks, who are 8-1-1 on the season and currently ranked second in the area standings.

Jason Benning scored first for the Elks off a feed by Hoover 11 minutes into the first half. Hoover then made it 2-0 about six minutes later with a goal off an assist by Dan McKenzie.

Benning then assisted on a goal by McKenzie eight minutes into the second half, Hoover scored on a penalty kick just one minute later, and Davey Short concluded the scoring with a goal off an assist by McKenzie with about eight minutes left in the match.

Justin Helbig recorded 21 saves in 38 shots on goal by the Elks, while R.C. Deer stopped 10 shots by the Rams. Southern finished with 19 shots on goal, while the Elks had a 9-2 advantage in corner kicks.

The Southern junior varsity held the Elk jayvees to a scoreless tie in the preliminary game.

Tuesday's match with Bishop Walsh saw the lead change sides three times, with the Spartans (7-3-2) recording two goals in the final seven and one-half minutes to win the contest.

The Rams took the first lead when Steve Goralski fired a shot past the BW keeper off an assist by Joey DiSimone 14 minutes into the game.

The Spartans tied the score with a goal by Joe Rowan off a feed by Seth Williams with 18 minutes remaining, and then took their first lead with just 27 seconds left in the half when Williams put a shot past Ram keeper Andrew Granke off an assist by Rowan.

The Rams came back to tie the score at 2-2 when Dan Nelson crossed to Goralski, who put it in the net 16 minutes into the second half. They took a 3-2 lead 10 minutes later with a goal by John Andrews off a direct free-kick assist by his brother, Kevin, from about 30 yards out.

Bishop Walsh tied the game at 3-3 with seven and one-half minutes left when Adrian Haskins scored an unassisted goal, and then won the match with less than two minutes remaining when Williams bounced a shot off the cross bar and off a Southern defender right in front of Adam Wolfe, who tapped it into the net past Granke.

The Rams out-shot the Spartans by a 34-32 margin and led in corner shots, 4-1. Granke finished with a dozen saves for the Rams and Price stopped 17 shots for BW.

"What do I say to this team at practice tomorrow?" asked Southern Coach Tom Woods immediately following the game. "It was one of the best games we've ever played. We outshot them and out-played them most of the way, but we still lost. I was proud of our kids' effort."

The Southern junior varsity played to a scoreless tie in the preliminary game, with Chris Ewing having an outstanding game in the goal for the Rams by recording 19 saves.

The Rams have three remaining regular-season games, all of which are at home. They will host Westmar next Tuesday, with the junior varsity game slated to kick off at 6 p.m. and the varsity at 7:30 p.m.

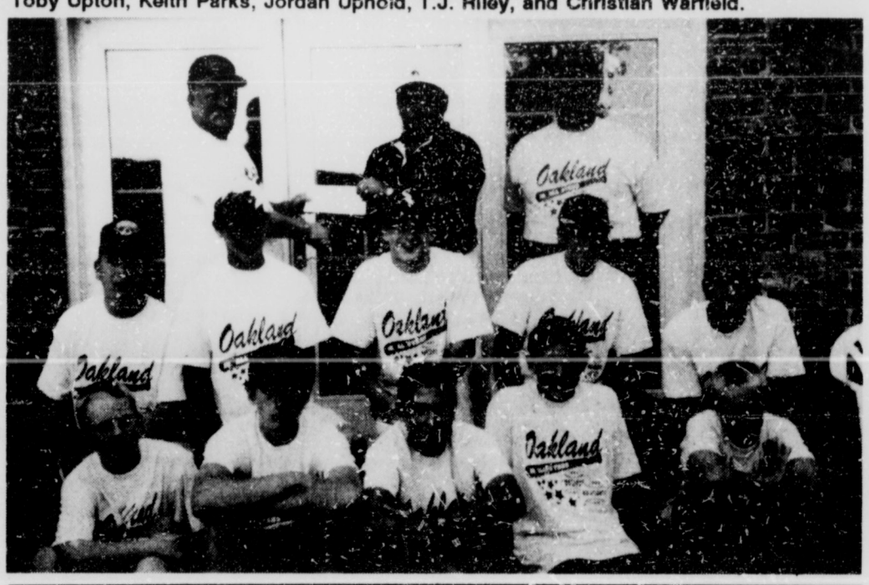
TEAM RECEIVES MORE HONORS - The members of the Oakland Little League's Junior All-Star team which won the 1995 Maryland State Championship, the Mid-Atlantic Championship, and placed fourth in the Eastern Regional Championships, were recipients of still more recognition during a recent picnic at the home of Butch and Amy Nemith, Fingerboard Road. Each of the players was presented a Maryland House of Delegates Resolution by Delegate George Edwards noting their achievements. Delegate Edwards is pictured above congratulating the boys. Another presentation made at the picnic was a check by the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club to help the team purchase special jackets. Below, club president Mike McHenry, pictured back row, center, presents the check to Coach Dave Duckett. Standing at right rear is Craig Bosley, team manager. Players in the photo include, from left, front row: Nathaniel Panther, Jason Hinebaugh, Todd Tasker, Josh Bosley, and Justin Lilier; and second row: Toby Upton, Keith Parks, Jordan Uphold, T.J. Riley, and Christian Warfield.



Little League Concession Stand Is Vandalized

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office is currently investigating an incident of vandalism at the Oakland Little League Field Concession Stand on Dennett Road.

Elizabeth Shifflett contacted the police last week and reported that someone had broken windows at the stand and had damaged doors to both the concession area as well as the equipment room. Nothing was stolen from the building, but the cost to repair the damage has been estimated at $500.

The crime took place sometime between Sept. 20-26. Persons with information about this incident are urged to contact the sheriff's office at 334-1911.

Huskies Whip Hyndman, 3-1, In Volleyball

The varsity girls' volleyball team of Northern High School recorded a 3-1 victory over visiting Hyndman last night, giving the Huskies a 6-3 mark on the season.

Chelsea Frickey and Leslie Buckel led the Huskies with 12 and 11 service points, respectively, while Mindy McCarty had nine kills and Nikki Elliott provided six kills.

The Huskies won the first game, 15-8, dropped the second one by the same score, and then won the next two, 15-5 and 15-10.

Danielle Pennell had 10 service points for Hyndman.

The Northern junior varsity continued its unbeaten streak by winning the second match, 15-13, 11-15, and 15-9. Kerri Sines led the Huskies with 10 service points, while Jenny stephens had nine and Amy Hinebaugh, eight. Tesse Emerick had nine points for the Hornets.

The victory gave the Northern jayvees a 9-0 record.

The Huskies will travel to Oldtown on Monday.

Lakers Defeat Potomac State And Frederick

The women's volleyball team of Garrett Community College upped its season record to 14-4 last night by defeating visiting Frederick Community College and Potomac State College.

The match against Frederick was a Maryland JUCO contest and was won by the Lakers in three straight games, 15-8, 16-14, and 15-6.

Crystal Wagner recorded 20 service points in 21 serves with two aces, while Amanda Tikey was 32-for-36 in attacks with 11 kills. Tikey also had 13 service points with four aces. Lynn Wiles and Becky DeWitt each went 11-for-11 in serving and Nikki Meyers recorded a 17-for-26 effort in attacks with 10 kills.

The Lakers then topped Potomac State, 15-13, 9-15, and 15-8, with Meyers recording 10 points and going 47-for-53 in attacks with 20 kills. Tikey had 18 service points, including five aces, and was 31-for-33 in attacks with nine kills.

Lynn Wiles had a 15-for-15 night at the service line with one ace, while Klarissa Wiles was eight-for-eight in attacks with five kills.

The Lakers, who are 5-1 in JUCO play, will compete again this Friday at home against the New Kensington Campus of Penn State.

Garrett Women Lose In Semis; Top Westmoreland

The Garrett Community College women's volleyball team earned a spot in the semi-finals of the Catonsville Volleyball Tournament on Saturday before being eliminated from the event by nationally ranked Delaware Tech, 15-6 and 15-5.

Garrett topped Prince George's CC in an opening round, 15-4 and 15-11, behind a 12-point, three-ace performance by Amanda Tikey. Lynn Wiles finished with 11 points, Annetta Yoder recorded 10, Nikki Meyers went 19-for-19 in attacks with 11 kills. Tikey was also 12-for-15 in attacks with three kills.

The Lakers then defeated Anne Arundel CC, 15-11 and 15-10, as Meyers went 10-for-10 in serves with a pair of aces and was 24-for-27 in attacks with a dozen kills. Becky DeWitt finished with 11 points and was 43-for-57 in sets with 20 assists, while Tikey recorded 10 points and was 20-for-25 in attacks with nine kills.

The Lakers then traveled to Westmoreland CC in Pennsylvania on Monday and rolled over their hosts, 15-8, 15-1, and 15-5.

DeWitt and Lynn Wiles each finished with 11 service points, while Klarissa Wiles recorded eight. Tikey went 25-for-29 in attacks with 12 kills, Meyers was 24-for-26, also with 12 kills, and DeWitt recorded 51 sets in 69 attempts with 25 assists.

The results upped the Lakers' season mark to 12-4, which they put on the line last night against visiting Frederick at Potomac State College (see separate story).

Rams Record 3-1 Net Win Over Hyndman

A 15-point serving effort by Sindy Niner paced the Southern Rams over host Oldtown in volleyball last night, as the Rams rallied from a 1-0 deficit to win, 3-1.

Southern was edged in the first game, 15-13, and then won the next three, 15-3, 15-9, and 15-7.

Allison White and Jenny Panther each recorded 13 service points for the Rams, while Lisa Billard and Mandy Jones led Oldtown with nine points each.

The Southern junior varsity was also victorious, recording a 15-8, 14-16, 15-3 win. Rachel Lane scored 14 service points for Southern, and Christy Lewis led Oldtown with five points.

The Rams are slated to host Mt. Savage on Monday and then play at Westmar on Wednesday.

Noted Fly Tyer Will Speak To Trout Unlimited

Joe Messinger Jr., a nationally known fly tyer from Morgantown, W.Va., will present a program and demonstration at the October 18 meeting of the Youghiogheny Chapter of Trout Unlimited.

Messinger's father, Joe Messinger Sr., was one of the most famous fly tyers in the world during the period from 1930 to 1950. He was the originator of such world famous patterns as the Messinger Bucktail Frog and the Irresistible. These patterns were notable not just for their originality, but for the new tying techniques which were used in their construction.

"Joe Messinger Jr., has not only kept his father's patterns and methods alive, but is a superb fly tyer of other patterns as well," stated a chapter spokesman.

The program will consist of a slide show featuring Joe Messinger Sr., and a demonstration of the tying techniques that he developed. The meeting will be held in the Commissioners' meeting room at the Garret County Courthouse on October 18 at 7 p.m. All interested parties are invited to attend.

WINNING IS A FAMILY AFFAIR for the Greg Tressler family of Oakland. This was proven last Saturday night at the Elkins Motor Speedway in Elkins, W.Va., when father Greg Tressler won his heat race then went on to win the 22-car U.M.P. Modified feature. Son Nicholas, a five-year-old kindergarten student at Dennett Road Elementary School, received a trophy for winning his first bicycle race at the Elkins track in the 4-6 Year Old Division. Son Jay, age 12 and a fifth grade student at Broad Ford Elementary School, received a trophy for his second win in the 12-14 Year Old Division of bike racing at the track. The boys are the sons of Greg and Leslee Tressler, and the race car is sponsored by Automotive Machine. Photo by Craig Phillips.

Approve Plan

the letter, Getty stated that aesthetics-based restrictions on the materials, color, and general appearance of structures may not be enforceable by the county.

Garrett County Commissioner Wayne Wilt cast the sole dissenting vote against the adoption of the plan on Tuesday and later expressed his view that the development plan overly restricts land owners. He also stated that since the plan will be reviewed every six years, it may be made even more limiting in the future.

"I feel like it's too much big government telling us what to do," Wilt commented. "We don't have control of our own destiny any more . . . I just feel that all property owners can do anymore is pay their taxes and live in their houses. They don't have the control over their property they should have.

"I've really never been in favor of this," he added.

Commissioners Braskey and Roger Glotfelty voted to approve the updated plan, which was drafted in response to the Maryland Economic Growth, Resource Protection, and Planning Act of 1992, a law which mandates that every county modify its development plan by 1997 to include guidelines for protecting sensitive areas and directing building growth.

If the county had not approved an updated development plan as prescribed by this law, Nelson commented Tuesday, the state would have stepped in to draft a plan for the county.

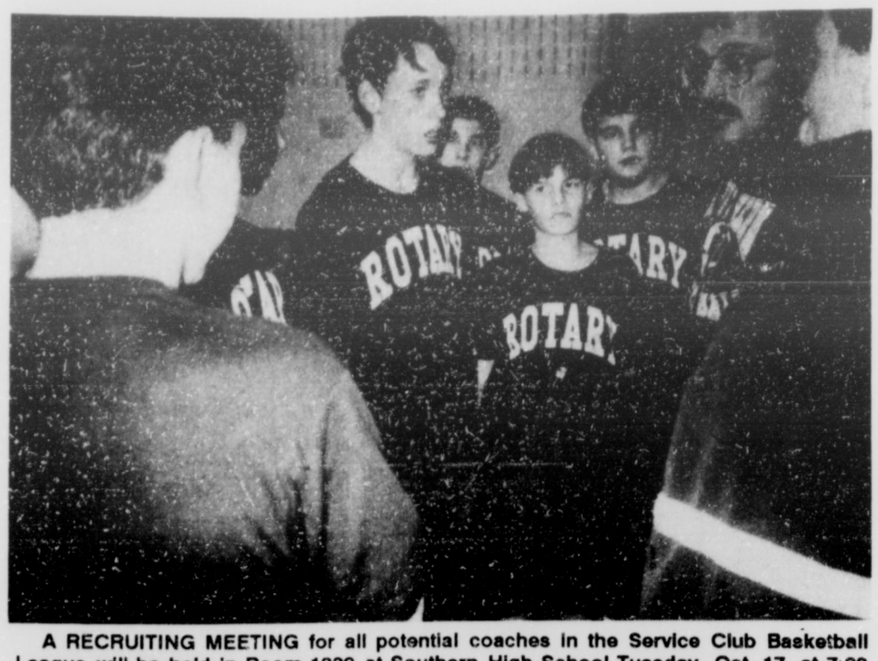
Nelson also remarked that the commissioners' approval of an updated plan will enable the county to remain eligible in the future for state funding for capital projects.

The updated development plan, as approved this week, also contains a passage on Deep Creek Lake which was not included in the original draft presented last month. This passage, which concerns the future ownership of the lake, was added following the planning commission and county board's Sept. 27 joint meeting.

Braskey explained this week that the county will continue to support the existing agreement between the Pennsylvania Electric Company (Penelec), which owns the lake bed and surrounding buffer strip, and the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR), which is contracted by the company to manage lake recreation.

However, the newly added passage states, in part, that it may be desirable for the county to secure the buffer strip in some form of public ownership if Penelec were to decide to sell it.

"If Penelec does express its intention to sell the buffer strip," the new passage states, "Garrett County officials should establish an advisory committee consisting of property owners in Garrett County to study how the ownership and management of the buffer strip might be transferred to a public entity."



A RECRUITING MEETING for all potential coaches in the Service Club Basketball League will be held in Room 1239 at Southern High School Tuesday, Oct. 17, at 7:30 p.m. Last year the SCBL sponsored a league for seventh and eighth grade youth that met three days each week from November through February. Forty-eight boys and girls participated on four teams sponsored by the Elks, Lions, Knights of Pythias, and Rotary service clubs in Oakland. The league has received a grant from the Garrett County Health Department and is planning to expand to include youth in grades five and six. Anyone interested in being involved as a coach or referee is asked to attend the meeting and/or telephone Dave Bender at 334-4390. Above is an action photo from last year, with Coach Oren Yoder giving instruction to the Rotary team.

The electric razor and the disposable razor blade have all but replaced the shaving mug, soap, brush and straight razor used in the early part of the century.

Shaving mugs were especially popular from about 1860 to 1900. Many types were made, including occupational mugs depicting men at work or emblems of the work.

Those are the most expensive type collected today. Some sell for thousands of dollars. Each was made for a special customer at the barber shop, and many also had the owner's name as part of the decoration.

There are also plain mugs made of porcelain, silver plate or silver plate with glass liner.

Some mugs were made in odd shapes. The scuttle mug looked a little like a coal scuttle. It had an extra protruding pouch that held the brush.

Many old barber items — from straight razors to old wrapped blades to chairs and signs — are seen in today's antique shops.

Q. The mark on my silver pitcher reads: "Meriden Britannia, Pat. June 8, 1858, Double Wall Pitcher." Could it be that old?

A. The Meriden Britannia Co., was founded in Meriden, Conn., in 1852. The company made britannia hollowwares, plated silver hollowware, flatware and German silver items. Meriden Britannia became part of the International Silver Co. in 1898.

The patent date refers to the style of the pitcher. Your pitcher might be newer.

Q. My great-grandmother told me her four-poster bed was a Mallard bed. I thought she meant it was made by Prudent Mallard of New Orleans. Now that I've inherited it, I find that it's marked "C. Lee." Who was C. Lee?

A. Mallard beds were indeed named for Prudent Mallard, a New Orleans cabinetmaker. When beds marked "C. Lee" were found, people assumed Lee worked for Mallard. Charles Lee was a Manchester, Mass., furniture maker from 1856 to 1868. Lee made four-poster beds and sold them to Southern furniture dealers.

Dollars & Sense

Establishing a living trust can help minimize your taxes, ensure that your estate is managed effectively, and distribute your assets according to your wishes. Living trusts also can help you avoid probate -- the time-consuming and often costly process of validating a will.

A trust is a legal entity that is established to hold assets for your benefit, or for the benefit of others determined by you. A trust is managed by one or more trustees who are legally responsible for ensuring that the trust operates according to your wishes.

One significant advantage of trusts is that beneficiaries are able to receive income from the trust, but you maintain control over how funds are distributed.

A living trust is established between living persons, for instance, between parent and child, as opposed to a trust that is established by your will. You can fund living trusts with securities, other property, or money available for investment.

There are two types of living trusts: a revocable trust and an irrevocable trust. With a revocable living trust, you retain control of your assets while you are alive. "Revocable" means you can change beneficiaries, modify the terms of the trust, and even terminate or revoke the trust and get back your property. You can name yourself as a trustee, or appoint someone else as the trust's administrator.

After you die, the property in the trust is distributed directly to the beneficiaries without going through probate. As a result, estate settlement costs are likely to be reduced and your beneficiaries will have quick access to the trust's funds. Keep in mind, however, that revocable trusts offer no federal estate tax advantage. Because you retain control over the trust, the assets in the trust are included in your estate for federal estate tax purposes and also may be subject to state death taxes.

As the name implies, you may not change, modify or revoke an irrevocable trust, regardless of how your personal financial circumstances might change. You also cannot name yourself as trustee. For giving up control, you get a tax benefit. Funds put in this type of trust not only help reduce your current taxable income, but also generally are not subject to estate taxes because the trust owns the assets.

More Americans will live well into their 80s and beyond than at any time in the history of the Homo Sapiens Sapiens species. (Yes, we think we're so smart, we use the Latin word for intelligence twice in our name.)

Peg Krach, associate professor of Purdue University's School of Nursing, and her colleagues, did a study on healthy aging in people 85 and over. They included 34 women and 16 men; the oldest was 97. The mean age was 89.

"(We found that) no one thing contributes to healthy aging," Krach said. "Several things are involved."

Among the factors shown to correlate to health aging are:

1. Level of activity, such as participating in churches or organizations, or being aware of political issues.

2. Ability to adapt to changing situations and rebound from difficult situations.

3. How one sees herself or himself physically and mentally.

4. Frequency of contact with friends and family.

One finding surprised Krach: Her subjects took half as many prescribed medications as other studies on aging have reported. Their use of over-the-counter medications was also very low.

Some of the people in the study had health problems such as arthritis, hypertension and heart trouble. But Krach indicates they accepted these problems gracefully.

This last part is especially important: Many people are conditioned to focus on their health problems. This is particularly true among older folks who sometimes seem to be unable to find anything else to talk about. While it's important to respect your physical condition and treat your problems, making them the focus of your life means shutting out everything else that helps make life worth living.

MEDICARE costs are expected to zoom when the baby boomers come to retirement age around the year 2020. That's one reason you're getting this legislative push to "reform" Medicare by all those baby boomers in government who are afraid they won't be able to afford it when it's their turn to use it.

SMART TRAVEL — Small charcoal-activated heating pads — the type used by outdoorsmen — would be a valuable safety addition to winter car gear. A shake of the packet activates the heat, which lasts 12 hours independent of batteries.

I carry them for muscle aches or arthritis pain when traveling abroad. Helena K., St. Johns, Newfoundland

BATHTUB CLEANING — Because of my mother's health, it's hard for her to kneel down and scrub the bathtub.

She keeps a clean sponge mop handy and scrubs from a standing position. It's not only handy, but she can also mop up any water spots from the tub and surrounding tile. Loretta G., Paterson, N.J.

CEILING FAN — Recently, I noticed my ceiling fan was making noise. I got the stepladder and finally checked the blades on the living-room fan. Wow! Three blades were looser than Methuselah's teeth, and the same was true of the other two fans in the house.

This could be dangerous, so mark your calendar to check your fans annually. If the blades are removed — let's say for painting the room — be sure to tighten the screws again! Jim F., Saratoga, Calif.

DECORATE WITH PLANTS

If you are in to decorating or redecorating your home, office, or "space" and can't decide on furniture or decor for a sunless corner, why not choose a plant? Rooms with low sunlight sometimes need the brightening, living effect of plants to fill a void. You can't fill the space with just any plant, though. Sun loving foliage or flowering plants will not survive in sunless spots, so you have to know which plants to choose and which to avoid.

Plants with bright, colorful leaves, such as the croton or polka dot plant as a rule generally need sunlight as well as flowering plants such as African Violets and garendias.

Low light plants are low maintenance. Since they require no direct sunlight to dry out the soil, they can be watered less frequently, although they benefit from a daily misting and liquid plant food once a month during the spring and summer.

Some names of plants that require low light are dwarf palm, arrowhead plant, Chinese evergreen, spathiphyllum, snake plant, kentia palm, cast iron plant, prayer plant, table fern, birds nest fern, philodendron, corn plant and dragon plant. Purchase plants from a reputable greenhouse or plant grower and check plants for signs of insects or disease. If possible, isolate plant from other plants in your home for two to three weeks to be certain you don't bring insects into your home.

Choose a container suitable for the plant. Check to be sure the plant requires lots of root room or if it likes to be compact. Many houseplant books are available at bookstores or libraries or you can contact the Extension Service for information. Many plain containers can be painted to match your decorator ideas or you can purchase a variety of containers available on the market in several shapes, sizes, and colors.

Plants will give your room a more pleasing feeling and it may make you feel healthy knowing the plants are living in your space taking in carbon dioxide and giving off oxygen.

Additionally, charges of exceeding the maximum speed limit, negligent driving, and failure to display her driver's license on demand, were not prosecuted by the state's attorney. The defendant was charged with DWI on July 8, by state police.

Andre Marie Cinalli, 20, Fairmont, W.Va., was granted probation before judgment on her plea of guilt to DUI. She was fined $200, and placed on one year of supervised probation. Conditions of that probation state she must abstain from consuming alcohol until she is 21 years old. Cinalli was charged with the offense on July 9, by state police.

Carlene June Sunseri, 57, Pittsburgh, pleaded guilty to DWI. She was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $350, and placed on one year of supervised probation. She was also ordered to attend DWI school in Pennsylvania. The defendant was arrested for DWI on July 10, by Maryland State Police.

Michael Wayne Winner, 41, Frostburg, was convicted of one count of DUI. He was fined $500, sentenced to 60 days in jail, with all of the sentence suspended except 10 days, and placed on 18 months of supervised probation. Additional charges of exceeding the maximum speed limit, and negligent driving were not prosecuted. Winner was charged with the offense on June 15, by state police.

A bench warrant was issued for the arrest of Luther William Moon Jr., 23, Md., on a charge of violation of probation, stemming from an earlier DWI conviction. A new $2,000 cash bond was issued. He was charged with DWI on April 14, by state police.

A bench warrant was also issued for the arrest of Timothy Allen Whitacre, 34, Md., for violation of probation. A new $1,000 bond was issued. His arrest for the offense was on Oct. 30, 1993.

Randall Charles Harvey, 37, W.Va., failed to appear in court for his DWI hearing. A bench warrant was issued for his arrest, and a $200 bond set. He was arrested for DWI by Garrett County Sheriff's deputies on April 9.

Like the "meaty" flavor of portobello mushrooms? One fan grills 'em and serves them on hamburger buns with mustard-herb mayonnaise, lettuce and tomato.

Marinate swordfish overnight in a little oil and a lot of minced garlic, rosemary and basil. Grill or broil, then top with a salad of chopped tomatoes, olives, arugula, onion and capers, with just a splash of balsamic vinegar.

Twice-baked potatoes are twice as good. After the first baking, scoop out potatoes, leaving a thin shell. Mash with cream cheese for richness, shredded smoked cheese for flavor, plus a little milk. Bake again for 20 to 25 minutes at 425 degrees.

Easiest-ever shortcake--the large biscuits you find in grocer's refrigerator case. Brush tops with cream and sprinkle with a little sugar, then bake as directed. Serve whipped cream and the most lucious fruit of the season.

Easiest-ever dinner with family or friends--bring 'em to NORTHERN'S FIELD WAS ALIVE WITH MUSIC and marching last Saturday as nine area high school bands took part in Northern's Tournament of Bands Marching Spectacular. Pictured are marchers of the Elizabeth Forward High School Marching Band from Pennsylvania as they perform their rendition of Chattanooga Choo Choo. The top scoring band of the evening was Central Cambria from Ebensburg, Pa., in Group II, followed closely by the Keyser (W.Va.) Golden Tornado Marching Band, which competed in Group IV. Southern Garrett marchers took second place in Group II, and the hosting Northern band performed in exhibition. The weather was agreeable, clear and brisk, as the full-capacity crowd enjoyed a true "marching spectacular." Another band competition will be held locally this Saturday, as Southern hosts the Western Maryland Tournament of Bands at the school's athletic field, beginning at 6 p.m.

McDONALD'S SUPPORTS NHSG BAND - For the second straight year, the local McDonald's restaurants have created a special fund-raising program for participating area high school bands, and the Northern Garrett High School Band received a check for $500 Saturday night during Northern's field show invitational by virtue of participating in that program. Each participating band receives 1,000 punch cards good at local McDonald's, and the cards are distributed to friends, family, and fellow students, who use the cards throughout the school year for Extra Value Meals. With the completion of each card, the participating band receives $1. On hand to witness the presentation of the check to the Northern Band were the drum majors of the various bands that participated in the invitational. Pictured from left above are: Jennifer Barnard, Southern Garrett High School; Autumn Houdersheldt, Frankfort High School; Meghan Brand, Westmar High School; John Knipple, manager of the McDonald's at Keyser's Ridge; Randy Buckel, McDonald's of Bel Air manager; Camilla Rawe, Northern Garrett High School Band Booster president; Carrie Snyder, Allegany High School; Larissa Harrison, Keyser High School; and Mindy Frazee, Northern Garrett High School.

Amendment

"In consideration of the ordinance's original intent to allow expansion of nonconforming uses, Railey contends that the six year time frame within which nonconforming uses could have expanded should be removed from the ordinance," Nelson added.

Nelson went on to report that the planning commission has recommended by a unanimous vote that the six year time restriction be removed.

The board of commissioners will accept public comment on this proposal for one week before deciding the issue.

If approved, the expansion of nonconforming uses will still be limited by provisions of the ordinance which state that "Such enlargement shall not exceed 35 percent of the floor area of a nonconforming structure; and such enlargement shall not exceed 20 percent of the land area actually occupied by a non-structural nonconforming use."

be put on hold and air quality corrections could be addressed. Some discussion was held Tuesday about the issue, with Michael Sines, maintenance supervisor, explaining the problems at the 20-year-old schools.

"These schools were not designed to have walls separating the classrooms," Sines said. "They were to have 'open-space' rooms. But it was only a few weeks after the schools opened that walls began to go up."

Sines explained that the added walls have stifled the air flow in both schools and have virtually stopped proper air exchange. The parents at the public hearing told board members that their children are suffering from more colds and other illnesses after being in the schools, and they suspect that the poor air quality is the reason. Sines agreed that the possibility of this exists, but also contended that more studies should be done before any major decisions are made.

"My solution right now would be to take down the walls that have been constructed," Sines said. This suggestion was rejected by board members and administration personnel, as the walls "are there for a reason," said Al Coviello, assistant superintendent. Sines said he knew it was not a realistic solution, but stressed the point that the board does not have "reliably researched information" yet on what kind of system or correction would be best for the schools. The roofing repairs, however, are direly needed, Sines said, with the situation only to deteriorate with time.

"If we go with replacing the air conditioning units in place of roofing, I do not believe we will have the time to adequately address the air quality problem," Ryscavage said. Board members agreed that studies into the situation at the schools should be initiated, but that the roofing will take precedence.

The five-year plan includes roofing repairs at Northern Middle and Grantsville Elementary in FY '98. Also in that year, the design of the auxiliary gymnasium at Northern will be done, as weil as the designs for the main gym and the library and stage support at Southern. In FY 2000, the roof at Friendsville Elementary is to be repaired.

In a related discussion, the board voted to initiate three other projects. The members agreed to begin a re-districting plan for elementary school students in the southern end of the county, to determine a method for naming the new elementary school, and to study the situation of approximately 150 Garrett County students who attend Allegany County schools at the expense of the local board.

Several other issues discussed at the board meeting will receive coverage in a future issue of The Republican.

WITH A RENAISSANCE FLAIR, the field commanders of Central Cambria Marching Band accepted the first place trophy for Group II in the Northern High School Tournament of Bands Marching Spectacular, which took place Saturday. Central Cambria presented a show of Renaissance dances from the year 1612 and was the high-scoring band of the evening, accumulating 88.3 points. Southern Garrett took second in Group II with 79.55 points, the local group's highest score of the season to date. Northern band member and leader Amy Wagner is pictured above right as she delivers the first place trophy to Central Cambria. Shown below as she accepts the second place trophy is Southern's drum major Jennifer Barnard. Eli Theriot, a Northern tuba player and band leader, is shown at right, and Scot Sines, Southern's percussion captain, is pictured at left as he stands at attention, watching the presentation. Nine bands competed in the show, including those mentioned as well as Shade Central (Cairnbrook, Pa.), Bedford (Pa.), Frankfort (Ridgeley, W.Va.), Westmar (Lonaconing), Allegany (Cumberland), and Keyser (W.Va.).

Sure times are tough. And cutting your advertising budget may seem like a good way to deal with the economic crunch you're experiencing.

But there's one important thing you should keep in mind: The 'hide-your-head-in-the-sand' approach only succeeds in hiding your business from customers and potential customers...until you're soon forgotten! (And wouldn't your competition love that!)

The fact is, when you cut your newspaper advertising budget thinking you'll save money, you end up cutting your best opportunity to:

- Generate customer traffic
- Improve customer awareness
- Increase sales
- And most importantly...MAKE MONEY!

Newspaper advertising helps keep your business going, no matter what the economy.

took Ernest with them on Friday to the Springs (Pa.) Folk Festival. On Saturday, Ernest gave them a guided tour of Cumberland, and the mountains of western Maryland, including Candyland, and Yoder's Market, Grantsville.

Rachel Schmidt attended a party on Saturday to honor Drew Truman, who was honored at his home for his fifth birthday anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hanft were Thursday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Higson, Cumberland. Guests of the Hanfts from Friday until Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. John Sherwood and son, Mt. Nebo, W.Va. They all spent Friday afternoon at the Springs Folk Festival and had supper with Mr. and Mrs. Higson, Cumberland, and all visited with the Ted Higson family. The birthday anniversary of Mrs. Sherwood occurred that day, Oct. 6. The Sherwoods and Hanfts were in Cumberland Saturday morning to board the special MARC train, the "Mountain Glades Special," that traveled to Terra Alta, W.Va., as part of the Maryland Railfest 1995. During the layover in Oakland, they were met by John's mother, Mrs. Lawrence Sherwood, Keyser, W.Va., who treated them to lunch before they reboarded the train for the return trip to Cumberland. Kristen and Amanda Hanft, Addison, Pa., joined the Sherwoods and Hanfts for dinner at the Hanft home on Sunday.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Reichenbecher for a week were Thelma Pifer and Faye Hetz, Wadsworth, Ohio. The four of them visited with Mrs. Freda Moser on Wednesday at the Goodwill Mennonite Nursing Home, Grantsville, and were Thursday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Warner, Fort Hill, Pa. They were supper guests of Mrs. Gertrude Glass. Clarence Glass, Accident, and Mrs. Gertrude Glass were Tuesday supper guests of the Reichenbechers, with their guests from Ohio. Saturday evening visitors of Mrs. Glass were Mr. and Mrs. Clark Kolb, Accident.

Rev. and Mrs. Oren Bender were Sunday evening visitors of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Omar Maust, Salisbury, Pa., where a number of others gathered for an old-fashioned hymn sing.

At the election meeting on Sunday evening at St. John's Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, of Branch 588 of the Aid Association for Lutherans, officers re-elected for the local branch were: President, Kevin Margroff; Vice President, James Margroff; and Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Beulah Thomas. Kevin Margroff led the educational program titled "Together Against Crime."

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bender attended the Springs School reunion on Sunday at the Springs Mennonite Church. Evening visitors of the Benders were Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Brenneman, and daughters, Accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Randy Smith and family attended the football game on Saturday at Northern High School where the Northern Mad Dogs won over the Ridgeley Hawks in the peewee game.

A Tuesday afternoon visitor of Ralph Georg was Francis Dutrow, Frederick. A guest from Wednesday until Friday was John Georg, Annandale, Va. Ralph was a visitor of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Richter, Deer Park, this past Tuesday.

Saturday luncheon guests of Mrs. Alfreda Friend were Mrs. Bryan Anderson, and daughter, Sissonville, W.Va.; Mrs. Scott Bittinger and daughter, Horse Shoe Run, W.Va.; and Mrs. William Robinson, Friendsville. Sunday dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robinson and son, Jeremy.

Saturday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Deniker were Juanita Blank, Micko Blank, Cumberland, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Deniker and family, and Robbie Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bender and family were Monday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Art Maust, Grantsville. Mrs. Bender and son, Jeremy, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Maust again on Tuesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bender and family and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bender and family were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Brenneman, Accident.

A weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bittinger was Mrs. Dorothy Woods, Hagerstown. Additional Sunday visitors were Keith Friend, McHenry, and Mr. and Mrs. Duane Patton and son. Keith was a visitor again on Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Bittinger and granddaughter, Barbara, were shoppers in Cumberland on Friday, and on Monday.

Mrs. Judy Travis, Oakland, Mrs. Vivian Diehl, Grantsville, and their mother, Mrs. Betty Richter, were shoppers on Saturday at Morgantown, W.Va., and at Greensburg, Pa.

Monday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hockman were Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hockman. Dean also visited several other times. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hockman visited with Mr. and Mrs. Ron Hockman.

ZIPPY AND ZEFFER are the selected names of these "pumpkinhead" characters who are presently included in the fall decor at the Deer Park Town Center, and who plan to remain guests of the town through the Autumn Glory Festival this week. Rumor has it that they may even stay through Halloween. Seated above with one of the two smiling visitors is Misty Uphole. (She's the one on the right.)

Habitat For Humanity Seeks New Applications

Dick Staufenberger, president of Garrett County Habitat for Humanity, noted at a recent Habitat board meeting that the affiliate is seeking new applications for housing in 1996.

"We've just finished our 28th house in Garrett County and are working on the 29th right now," said Staufenberger. "We plan to build two more next year, but we have to hear from the people who need them. It would be a nice fantasy, but I can't believe our work here is finished."

He noted, however, that the mere act of applying for Habitat housing doesn't guarantee anyone a home. In the first place, applicants must have a certain level of income and live in substandard housing to be considered. In addition, a family must fulfill an obligation of three hundred hours of what Habitat calls, "sweat equity," a requirement to provide labor on other people's houses before work can begin on their house, and they must completed another 200 hours of sweat equity after moving into their new home.

Finally, since Habitat operates on the principle of "A hand up, not a handout," applicants must show that they are responsible and capable of meeting the obligations of home ownership, such as mortgage payments, insurance, taxes, utilities, and general maintenance and upkeep.

Applying for Habitat housing is a lengthy process, Staufenberger, concedes, but he said that help in completing the application is always available for anyone who needs it.

Staufenberger said that interested persons should contact Barbara Briggs at 334-9431, ext. 113, for further information about the application process.

Garrett Memorial Supports National Mammography Day

by Dana Winters

The first National Mammography Day in American history was proclaimed on Oct. 19, 1993. Today, the objective continues to be to encourage millions of American women, (especially underserved populations and older women, who are at high risk for breast cancer) to receive, sign up for, or make a commitment to get a screening mammogram. As an incentive, many accredited radiology centers will offer special mammogram programs during October.

"This year, more than 46,000 women will die from breast cancer. Early detection could save as many as one-third of them. Mammography plays an important role in saving lives because it can find a breast cancer tumor as early as two years before it can be felt. Far too many women die because they did not find their breast cancer soon enough. We hope that National Mammography Day will encourage millions of women to follow mammography guidelines and give themselves the gift of life," said Michael Reed, RT(R), director of radiology services at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Garrett Memorial joins the National Breast Cancer Awareness Month Board of Sponsors, urging women to ask their health care providers about the appropriate timing of their first mammogram. Experts agree that regular screening mammograms are the most effective means of finding breast cancer early and are most important for all women over age 50.

According to the American Cancer Society, the benefits of regularly-scheduled mammograms should be supplemented by these simple measures: consult a health care provider for regular clinical breast examinations; and perform breast self-examinations monthly.

For more information about radiology centers that will be offering special mammogram programs during October, call one of the following toll-free: American Cancer Society, 1-800-ACS-2345; The Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation, 1-800-I'M AWARE; National Alliance of Breast Cancer Organizations - NABCO, 1-800-719-9154; Y-ME National Breast Cancer Organization, 1-800-221-2141.

Walkers Raise Funds For Local Cancer Society

A total of 40 persons took part in the American Cancer Society's annual Making Strides Against Cancer fund-raising event held recently at Deep Creek Lake State Park.

Amidst the rain, local individuals and teams representing the Deep Creek Lake Lions Club, Deep Creek Lioness Club, Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club, Silver Tree Inn restaurant, Survivors group, and Woodmen of the World Lodge 45, Friendsville, raised $5,000 to date to benefit the Garrett County American Cancer Society (ACS).

The team with the most club members represented was Woodmen of the World. This group also raised the most money - $1,204, and Mary Frantz of the Woodmen of the World Team raised the most of any individual team member - $439.

The team collecting the most funds per walker was the Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club. The most money raised by an individual was $305, raised by 8 year old Andrew Roth.

The winner of the grand prize, a print depicting Swallow Falls, was Barbara Flinn, Oakland.

Funds raised at this event will be used by the local unit to provide public and professional education in the community as well as support and limited financial assistance to cancer patients, an event spokesperson stated. Funds raised will also go to support ongoing research programs.

Last year 6,927 youths and 4,118 adults in Garrett County were reached with ACS programs. The group also provided education to 106 health professionals and assisted 18 local cancer patients. Furthermore, two women were visited through the ACS Reach to Recovery program, the spokesperson commented.

Helping to organize the event were 1995 Chairperson Elaine McDonald, ACS Board of Directors and volunteers, Deep Creek Lake State Park staff members, volunteer coordinator Carson Hummel, and Cathy Clocker, as well as several local corporate sponsors.

For information about any of the American Cancer Society's programs, persons may call 722-2145 or (800) ACS-2345.

FUND-RAISERS HONORED AT MAKING STRIDES EVENT - Woodmen of the World Friendsville Lodge 45 raised the most money of any team participating in a recent walk-a-thon organized by the local chapter of the American Cancer Society. The Woodmen team, pictured above, raised $1,204. W.O.W. team members included Helen Holiday, Mary Frantz, Margaret Hinebaugh, Ervin Lowdermilk, Julia Sines, Burt and Linda Lytle, Mary Lytle, and Greg Lytle. The team raising the most funds per team member was the Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club. Pictured below, event Chairperson Elaine McDonald thanks Lions team representatives Paul Shockey, left, and Porter Welch, center.

Autumn Glory Square Dance Set For SMS

The Mountaintop Promenaders square dance club will host the annual Autumn Glory Festival Dance on Sunday, Oct. 15, from 2 to 5 p.m. at Southern Middle School.

David Struthard will serve as dance caller for the event and cueing will be performed by Howard Harris. Betty Anderson of Betty and I Fashions will offer selection of square dance clothing for sale.

The club recently celebrated its 25th anniversary at Will O' the Wisp. Barbara and Arnold Feather and Jo Ashby were among the club's first graduating class of 29 couples in 1970. Doyle and Louise Biser and Dale and Janet Sisler graduated in 1972, and Al Schwinabart was the first caller. The first annual Autumn Glory Festival Dance was held the first year of the club in 1970.

The Promenaders meet the second and fourth Monday evenings of each month at Dennett Road Elementary School. Pete Bray, Cumberland, is the club caller.

Interested couples may call the Bisers at 334-9724 or Jim and Donna Carney at (304) 789-6752.

Money for the beef raffle tickets was collected. The club plans to take a tour of the Garrett County jail on October 24 at 7 p.m. We discussed the float for the Autumn Glory Parade and cut out decorations for the float. Levi Green did a demonstration on a bird feeder he had made and received a birthday gift from the club.

WFWM Notes Fall Classical Music Schedule

A new array of classical programming is planned from WFWM, public radio from Frostburg State University, featuring an international flavor. Classical music is broadcast daily on WFWM, 91.7 FM, and all day Sunday. "These new additions to our classical programming represent a great celebration of music, both international and American. We hope our listeners agree that these live broadcasts are a significant boost in our offerings," said station director Rene Atkinson.

Tuesday at 1 p.m., listeners may hear Deutsche Welle. "This rich and diverse German offering serves up performances in baroque places, like the Potsdam Music Festival in Sansouci Palace, while others focus on a particular subject, such as the Early Music Days in Herne, specializing on little-known Italian masters," Atkinson said. These live-recorded broadcasts are full-length concerts with conversations with performers and host Rick Fuller.

The Montreal Symphony Orchestra returns to WFWM Thursdays at 1 p.m. Founded in 1934 by a group of devoted music lovers, with the backing of the Quebec government, the Montreal is a major cultural organization in a city know for enlightenment and erudition. "Since 1997, when Charles Dutoit was appointed musical director, the symphony has emerged as an ensemble with a particularly French clarity, elegance and flair, and one that ranks in the top tier of North American orchestras," Atkinson said. Both of these fine series are produced by the WFMT Fine Arts Network.

The Detroit Symphony makes its WFWM debut Sundays at 6 p.m. Known for its somewhat adventuresome approach to classical music, the performances are hosted by Dick Cavett. Music Director Neeme Jarvi joined the symphony in 1990. One of the world's most sought-after conductors, Jarvi is a native of Tallin, Estonia. After a distinguished career in the former Soviet Union, he migrated to the United States in 1980 and was immediately in demand as a guest conductor, working with numerous American and European symphonies, including the London Symphony, Orchestra of Amsterdam and the Orchestra de Paris.

WFWM is the tri-state area's only source for classical music programming, which is aired daily 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. and all day Sunday. WFWM can be found at 91.7 FM in Frostburg and 96.3 FM in the Deep Creek Lake/Oakland region. For more information on programming from the region's only public radio station, persons may call 301-687-4143.

DWI-Related Collisions Up In Garrett Co.

A report issued this week by Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, notes Garrett County saw an increase in DWI- (driving while intoxicated) related collisions in the third quarter of 1995 in Garrett County, compared to the same period the previous year.

Between July and September, 17 DWI-related collisions were recorded, two of which resulted in fatalities in 1995, as opposed to 16 in 1994, according to the report. Two of the 16 accidents in 1994 resulted in fatalities. Additionally, DWI arrests increased 8 percent, from 38 in 1994, to 41 in 1995.

Five fataiities have been attributed to DWI violations so far in 1995, according to the report, the most since 1991, when there were five deaths during the entire calendar year.

National School Bus Safety Week Is Proclaimed

The Garrett County Board of Educations, Transportation Department announced today that the week of October 15-21 is National School Bus Safety Week. "We call on the citizens of the state and county to exercise constant courtesy and caution when near school buses," said Edward Bach, specialist in transportation.

In Garrett County there are approximately 80 school buses that transport more than 5,000 student to a from school each day and travel almost one million miles a year. "We want to inform the citizens of our state and county about our pupil transportation program. We are also asking for their cooperation in helping us to maintain or even improve our safety record. Our Garrett County school bus drivers are doing a great job, but they need the cooperation of other motorists," added Bach.

One of the greatest hazards, Bach said, comes from motorists who do not observe the school buses lighting system. Garrett County uses and eight-light school bus warning system. These lights are located on the front and rear of the bus near the top at the School Bus sign. The lamps are used to warn other traffic about what the school bus is doing. When the bus is approaching a loading or unloading area, the yellow lights will be activated. Red lights will flash when the bus is stopped to load or unload students, and a stop arm will extend from the side of the bus, Bach explained.

This system was adopted a few years ago because it more closely follows other traffic regulations. The alternately flashing yellow lights mean caution to other motorists, because the bus is preparing to stop. The flashing red lights and stop arm mean stop. Motorist are required to stop at least 20 feet from a stopped school bus that is displaying flashing red lights and stop arm.

Bach said there is also another loading procedure that is used on heavily traveled state routes. This procedure is called an off-road loading/unloading zone, and is only utilized on state routes where there is a paved eight-foot shoulder, and where the bus can get completely off of the traveled portion of the highway. With this procedure the driver picks up or discharges children that live only on that side of the highway. The only lights that are displayed during this procedure are the turn signals. "This allows the motoring traffic to continue to flow; however, please remember, any time you are approaching a school bus to exercise caution, Bach said."

One of the most common driver complaints, according to Bach, is that other motorists frequently violate the school bus stop law. "Motorists are required to stop for a stopped school buses that are displaying flashing red lights," he said. "Sometimes the drivers are not fully alert and pass a stopped school bus. This is a very dangerous situation for the children, especially the younger ones who may not be watching traffic as closely as they should." It is a misdemeanor to drive past a stopped school bus when the red lights are flashing.

50 YEAR HIGH SCHOOL REUNION - Members of the Oakland High School graduating class of 1945 held their 50 year class reunion recently at Will 'O the Wisp restaurant, Deep Creek Lake. King Attends Annual Summit In Bermuda

Ed King, an associate broker for A&A Realty/-Better Homes And Gardens, along with his wife, Jean, attended the Better Homes and Gardens Real Estate Service Medallion Club Summit in Bermuda, this week.

Summit is an exclusive annual conference reserved for the top salespeople in the Better Homes and Gardens network. Those attending are either the top dollar-volume, or transaction-sides producers in their companies.

"Only our best sales associates are recognized at Summit," said Better Homes and Gardens Real Estate Service President Allen Sabbag. "This exclusive honor indicates how committed they are to the real estate profession, and the unbeatable customer service they provide."

"Ed and Jean (who is also a licensee) work together as a highly-effective real estate team," said Karen Spiker, broker of A&A Realty/Better Homes and Gardens. "Although the Summit recognition was in Ed's name, he is first to recognize their success as a team effort, as well as a result of a supportive group of associates and staff within A&A Realty." The Kings have been with A&A Realty as full-time realtors since 1985, and both have been very active in the local board of realtors, as well as having participated in the state association level.

Other agents from A&A Realty who qualified for the Summit, but were unable to attend, were Kevin Liller, associate broker, and Steve Ritchie, and Lisa Goodfellow, marketing associates.

GCC Offering Basic Calligraphy

A Basic Calligraphy course is being offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College. This course will be held at the Oakland Center of GCC beginning October 17. Sessions are scheduled to be held each Tuesday from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. for six sessions.

After learning this art of beautiful handwriting, students may use their skills for poster lettering, writing notes, or addressing cards and invitations.

Students will need a basic calligraphy pen set to use during instruction. For more information, persons may call (301) 334-8304.

New Reading Program Begins At Friendsville Elem.

Fourth and fifth grade students at Friendsville Elementary School are currently participating in a new reading program, titled "Accelerated Reader," which allows each student take a computerized reading comprehension test, upon completion of each book they read. Plans are currently underway to include first, second, and third graders in the program by Christmas.

According to Bonnie L. Termin, librarian at the school, three students in each grade who earn the most points, and read the most books during the week, are recognized. All students who earn 100 percent on a test receive a certificate. Each month, special certificates and prizes are awarded to the top three students for points earned, and books read.

For the month of September, the top point getters were fifth grader Molly Wolf, and fourth grader Laci Slagle. Each received a free lunch at Twila's Old Mill Restaurant, compliments of the restaurant's owners. Second place point winners were Amanda Frantz and Matthew Quinn, who each received a $2 check. Third place in points were Samantha Smith, and Annie Winter, who each received a $1 check.

The top book readers during the month were: fifth grade, Molly Wolf, Amanda Frantz, and Samantha Smith; and fourth grade, Laci Slagle, Matthew Quinn, and Annie Winter. Molly and Laci each received a $2 check, Amanda and Matthew, a $1 check, and Samantha and Annie, a 50-cent check, which can be used to help make purchases during the Fall Book Fair.

All participants in the "Accelerated Reader" program" earn points, according to Termin, and can "spend" the points they "earn" from reading books, at the school's Reading Store. One recent donation to the store was a quantity of pencils, provided by Dr. Yant of the Dental Health Group. More donations are sought by the store's organizers. Those interested in donating items to the store may call the school at 746-5100.

Financial Aid Planning - Student Assets

In the Federal formula, any financial asset held in the student's name is assessed 35% as the students contribution to the expected family contribution (EFC). An example of improper planning would be:

Parent A saves $10,000. in his child's name for college and has $3,500. of assets added to his family contribution. Parent B saves $10,000. in his own name and has about $600. added to his family contribution. The maximum assessment is only about 6% of parental assets. This is a serious inequity within the federal formula. Both family A & B sacrificed in the same manner, but family A is penalized by being uninformed.

National Forest Products Week Proclaimed For October 15-21

"National Forest Products Week, October 15 through October 21, celebrates the beauty and value of forest products and honors the professionals who keep our nation's renewable resource in ample supply," according to the Maryland Forests Association.

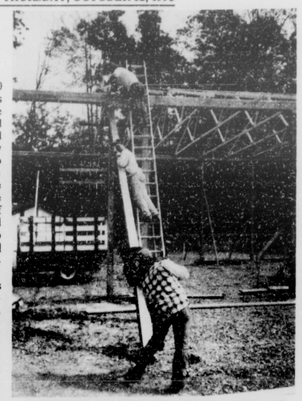
The Association, headquartered in Grantsville, is joining Maryland and the rest of the country in recognizing trees and forests as one of America's most important, abundant resources, and the forest products industry as "an economic force" in this community and state.

The Maryland Forests Association is a nonprofit citizen's organization dedicated to promoting the maintenance of a healthy and productive forest land base to enhance the economic, environmental, and social well-being of all who live in the state. Its 500+ members include forest landowners, natural resource professionals, forest products operators and companies, and other citizens concerned about Maryland's trees and forests.

"With more than 5,000 wood and paper products available today, chances are that you ate some wood today, wore it, and brushed your teeth with it. Every thing from baby food to rayon, and from toothpaste to football helmets is made from trees. Chemists have unlocked the secrets of converting tree fibers and paper-pulping residues into a wealth of products," said Pete Miller, MFA president.

"Most forest products companies are small, family-owned businesses, with their heritage and traditions rooted in the forest. They are a part of a national forest products industry that directly employs some 1.5 million people with an annual payroll of around $31 billion. Their future depends on healthy forests.

"This year's theme is 'Sustainable Forestry: A Commitment to the Future.' Sustainable forestry means ensuring that future generations have the same abundant forests that we enjoy today, while also obtaining necessary forest products. Forest products companies have made the commitment to meet specific forestry and conservation standards. They have pledged to reforest harvested land promptly, provide for wildlife habitat, improve water quality and ecosystem diversity, and protect special ecological areas. At this time of year, when the fall colors reach their glorious peak, it is nice to know that the health of our forests is in good hands," said Miller.



A 3,000-FOOT STORAGE BUILDING is currently under construction at Deep Creek Lake Recreation Area, thanks to the efforts of a state-sponsored program, "Helping Our State Today (HOST), which provides an opportunity for unemployed, skilled workers to demonstrate their skills. Below, members of the HOST crew, pictured from top to bottom, Harry Tusing, crew leader, James Hedrick, Colby Rinehart, Hank Page, and Mark Redinger, are shown as they work in the early days of construction.

In Maryland, the forest products industry ranks as the fifth largest industry, employing over 15,000 people (source, Dept. of Economic and Employment Development, 1993). It is the largest industry in western Maryland and the second largest industry, after agriculture, in eastern Maryland. Most of the harvesting of wood products and primary processing occurs in the rural areas, while the secondary industry, manufacturing of finished products, occurs in the central regions. The number of companies or businesses in the primary category includes: 396 logging/pulpwood companies, 165 sawmills, 12 veneer log brokers, and 37 tree chipping companies (source, MD DNR Forest Service, 1995). The secondary category includes hundreds of firms involved in the manufacturing of the many wood products used in the home.

To learn more about the forest products industry in Maryland, persons may contact the Maryland Forests Association at 301/895-5369. For national information contact the American Forest & Paper Association (AF&PA) at 202/463-2700.

Western Maryland AHEC Announces Personnel Changes

The Western Maryland Area Health Education Center (AHEC) has undergone some personnel changes this fall according to Executive Director Donald Spencer. The AHEC is an organization in the Maryland Statewide Medical Education and Training System working to improve health care through health personnel education in Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties.

Joining the staff as director of program development is Daniel Iser with 19 years experience in chemical dependency and mental health program administration. He most recently served as executive director of the Pennsylvania Association of County Drug and Alcohol Administrators in Harrisburg, Pa.

Iser has a wide variety of experience in managing both hospital and community and hospital-based behavioral health services. His career includes serving as program manager for the psychiatric treatment program at Carlisle Hospital in Pennsylvania; serving as the program director for the department of addictions at Homewood Hospital in Baltimore; and working as a prevention services coordinator for the District 19 Alcohol and Drug Abuse Services in Petersburg, Va.

Iser is a native of Cumberland having begun his career in behavioral health in 1979 as an alcoholism program director for Sacred Heart Hospital. He earned his master of science degree as a community resources specialist in addictions from the University of Arizona, his bachelor of science degree in psychology from Frostburg State University and an associate of arts degree from Allegany Community College.

Another AHEC personnel change involves Suzanna Dotson who was named to the newly formed position of coordinator for community education. She will be responsible for distributing information about Western Maryland AHEC programs to the public as well as acting as a liaison to all hospitals, regional health centers and community health education systems for the purpose of general information exchange.

Having joined the AHEC staff six years ago, Dotson has served primarily as a health careers education specialist through the Eastern Alleghenies Health Careers Opportunity Program (HCOP). In that role she implemented a variety of health career recruitment activities with regional high school students, provided health career counseling and information and developed community education materials.

Dotson also has contributed to the development of AHEC publications and news releases in the past.

She earned her bachelor of science degree in psychology, Spanish and secondary education from Frostburg State College. She went on to earn her master's of education degree in curriculum and instruction from Frostburg State University. Most recently she received a master's of social work (MSW) degree from the University of Maryland at Baltimore having been a member of the first class of students participating in the MSW Outreach Program. Through this program she completed field placements at the Joseph D. Brandenburg Center and Memorial Hospital and Medical Center of Cumberland, Inc.

Nasal Spray Approved for Osteoporosis

Osteoporosis (porous bones) is caused by an imbalance between bone loss and new bone formation. Factors that cause the bones to become more porous and subject to breaking include genetics, estrogen deficiency in women (menopause), disease, and a sedentary life-style. Prevention of osteoporosis generally includes daily exercise, estrogen for postmenopausal women, and an adequate daily intake of calcium. Supplements of vitamin D may help some individuals. Medicines approved to prevent further bone loss in the treatment of established osteoporosis include estrogen and calcitonin.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) recently gave approval to a nasal spray form of calcitonin salmon. According to a recent FDA report, two studies of daily use of the calcitonin nasal spray showed an increase in the mass of bones located in the spine of persons with osteoporosis. Bone mass for bones located in the arm and hip (common fracture in older person) did not increase. Calcitonin nasal spray is approved for postmenopausal women, beginning 5 years after menopause. The report indicates that the company manufacturing the medicine has agreed to conduct additional tests to evaluate its long-term effects.

A COMMUNITY SERVICE AWARD was recently presented to Grantsville Post 189, American Legion, State of Maryland, by the Maryland Salem Children's Trust. According to Suzanne Lipscomb, representing Salem, the members of the American Legion have "shown care and concern" for the children of Salem in many different ways over the years, "from financial contributions enabling Salem to complete special projects, to keeping the flag poles supplied with new flags." Pictured above accepting the award from Ms. Lipscomb is Ernie Poland, of Post 189. Salem is a non-profit organization that provides housing, therapy, a family environment, and educational services to children in need.

WFWM 91.7 FM Radio Receives License Renewal

Frostburg State University's WFWM, western Maryland's only public and community radio station, recently received licensing renewal from the Federal Communications Commission. The renewal is for the next seven years.

The station, which features alternative music for the tri-state area, can be found on the FM dial at 91.7 in Frostburg and 96.3 in Oakland. Programs include a blend of locally originated classical, jazz, and Celtic/folk music, among other unique opportunities.

According to station manager Rene Atkinson, the FCC renewal reinforces WFWM's commitment to offer diverse programming.

"We are very pleased to have been given this opportunity to continue bringing an important alternative listening source to the residents of the tri-state area."

The FCC licensing process involves a year of application, filing reports, and soliciting listeners' comments. Atkinson noted remarks of overwhelming support.

"The station is very pleased by the number of letters sent on behalf of WFWM by its growing listenership throughout the area," he added.

To find out more about WFWM and its programming, persons may contact the station on the FSU campus at (301) 687-4143.

Eastern Star Meets, Honors Master Masons

Oakland Chapter 67, Order of the Eastern Star, met, Oct. 3, at the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple.

Worthy Patron Delmar Sliger called the meeting to order, and led all in reciting the Pledge of Allegiance, followed by the singing of the national anthem.

Elizabeth Daniels, Worthy Matron, offered a reading titled, "The Invisible Bond." She then greeted Wilda Hile, Deputy Grand Lecturer of Maryland; Betty Foy, Grand Representative to South Dakota; and Brothers holding Masonic honors, Reaford Purbaugh, Delmar Sliger, and Ted Raynovich, all officers and members of the Oakland chapter.

Signs and passes were reviewed under the direction of Delmar Sliger, Worthy Patron, and Thelma Henshaw, Coductress.

A cornbread and bean supper is planned at the Masonic Temple from 4:30 until 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 25. A cash donation will be accepted at the door.

Daniels closed the meeting with a reading, titled "Anxious."

The next meeting will be Tuesday, Oct. 17. A visit from the members of the Past Matrons and Past Patrons Association of Western Maryland is planned.

ELCA Women Meet At Zion

Women of the ELCA Zion Lutheran Church, Jennings, held their monthly meeting in the church on October 3.

The study theme, " A Word in Due Season," was led by Leota Baker. Devotions closed with the hymn, "O For a Thousand Tongues to Sing."

Ruthella Resh presided over the business meeting.

The Bulletin of Reports of the synodical women's convention was received. A thank-you note was received from The Lutheran Home in Kane, Pa., for a package of wash cloths and clothing sent from Zion's unit.

A package of sweaters and jackets was sent to Our Savior's Lutheran Church in Box Eider, Montana, for distribution on the Rocky Boy Indian Reservation.

The quarterly offering was sent to the American Bible Society for the Bible-A-Month ministry.

A get-well card was signed for Mrs. Frances Durst, who was a patient at the Memorial Hospital, Cumberland.

The annual ingathering of thankofferings will be observed in November.

Following adjournment, treats in the Halloween motif were served by Judy Stanton. An ELCA mug was given to Leota Baker. The next meeting is scheduled for November 7.

Alcohol Issues To Be Theme Of Events At FSU

The Substance Abuse Facts and Education (SAFE) Office of Frostburg State University (FSU) will sponsor several events and speakers during the week of October 16-20, National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week.

"The purpose of this week is to create awareness of alcohol problems on campuses," commented Don Swogger, FSU alcohol/drug education coordinator. "We especially want to break some myths about drinking on campus. The most prevalent one is that 'everybody drinks, everybody gets wasted.' In fact, there is a substantial student population that does not drink at all and a population that drinks responsibly.

"We have a student organization on campus called BURG whose purpose is alcohol awareness education. During this week, BURG members will be working especially hard to educate other students about alcohol issues."

In the week preceding Alcohol Awareness Week, BURG students will sponsor a jail and bail fundraiser to illustrate the possible results of drinking and driving. During the week of Oct. 9-12, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day, participating university faculty and staff members will be "arrested" and taken to "jail" at the Lane Center. Prisoners must then raise a $10 bail by calling friends and colleagues.

In addition to calling attention to a the issue of drunk driving, this event will also help to raise funds for BURG members to attend an upcoming national meeting about alcohol awareness.

Two nationally known speakers will be featured at FSU during alcohol awareness week.

Comedian Wendi Fox will perform on Tuesday, Oct. 17, at 7 p.m. in the multi-use room of the Lane Center.

"Fox uses humor to share her thoughts, experiences, and personal opinions about being raised in an alcoholic environment," an event spokesperson stated. "Her show attempts to validate the feelings and thoughts of those in similar situations."

Fox has traveled as a stand-up comic for six years and has been featured at colleges and clubs and on radio and TV.

Motivational speaker Bobby Petrocelli will present a program on Wednesday, Oct. 18, at 7 p.m. in the multi-use room.

"A personal tragedy caused by a drunk driver radically changed Petrocelli's life. Now he is a nationally recognized speaker who uses his own experience to help others overcome tragedies," the spokesperson stated.

For more information about these programs, persons may call 687-4761. Interested persons may request accommodations for the disabled through the FSU Office of Student Support Services/Disabled Student Services, at 687-4481; TDD 687-7955.

Jeannie Frantz, William Lucas Jr. Are Married In Double-Ring Ceremony

Jeannie Louise Frantz and William Lee Lucas Jr., were married on June 24 in a double-ring ceremony at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, with Rev. James Remley officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Robert and Kathern Frantz Sr., of Eglon, W.Va. The groom is the son of William and Marcia Lucas Sr., Kitzmiller.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore an ivory gown of French satin with a V-neckline. The fitted bodice was encrusted with head-beaded Milano lace extending onto the full skirt. The long satin sleeves were accented with lace and bow details, and the full skirt flowed to a semi-cathedral train topped with a bow and rosette, accented with lace cut-outs and bows. Satin roses and pearl sprays accented the barrette veil, flower and pearl strands accented the shoulder length bridal illusion.

Jennifer Schwer, friend of the bride, served as maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Stephanie Radford, friend of the bride; Missy Frantz, cousin of the bride; and Traci Arnold, friend of the bride. Rene Frantz, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl.

The groom wore a black tuxedo with an ivory-colored shirt, black accessories, and an ivory boutonniere.

Aaron Lucas, brother of the groom, served as best man.

Groomsmen were Stacey Hauser, friend of the groom; Danny Davidson, cousin of the groom; and Robbie Frantz, brother of the bride, Brandon Lucas, son of the bride and groom, served as ringbearer.

Erin and Lori Frantz, both cousins of the bride, handed out programs and attended the guest book.

Cindy Carr played the organ before and during the ceremony. Endless Love was played before the couple took their wedding vows.

Neil Stoner videotaped the ceremony and reception, and Bonnie Harvey was the photographer.

A buffet and dance reception followed at the Oakland fire hall. The reception was catered by Dottie McKnight, Keyser, W.Va. The room was decorated in the wedding's color scheme with balloons, bells, and other decorations.

Greg Bolyard, D.J., announced the arrival of the bridal party and provided the music for entertainment and dancing. The best man offered a toast to the couple before dinner.

The wedding cake, baked and decorated by Liane Preston, featured three tiers with a fountain, and one-tier heart-shaped side cakes with the couple's names on them.

A rehearsal dinner was held at Pizza Hut the night before the wedding.

The bride is a 1991 graduate of East Preston High School. The groom is a 1990 graduate of Southern High School and is currently employed by Larry Wagner Trucking.

After a honeymoon to Ocean City, the couple established residence in Blaine, W.Va.

Laymans To Note 60th Anniversary

Sheridan and Nina Layman, Rt. 1, Aurora, will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary on Oct. 23.

They were married in Bayard, W.Va., on Oct. 23, 1935, by the late Rev. Hatfield.

The Laymans are the parents of two sons, Charles Layman, Tallahassee, Fla., and David Layman, Eglon, W.Va. They also have four grandsons, and one great-grandson.

A card shower, hosted by the couple's children, is planned to celebrate the occasion.

Miss Oester Marries Mr. Yoder In June Double-Ring Ceremony

Shelly Marie Oester and Jamey Lynn Yoder were married on June 17 in a double-ring ceremony at Cherry Glade Mennonite Church.

Rev. Alan Birkby officiated during the ceremony, Michelle Harman served as pianist, and vocalists Cindy and Wayne Tiemersma performed for those in attendance.

The bride is the daughter of Sherman and Sandy Oester, Accident, and the groom is the son of James M. and Kay Yoder, Grantsville.

The bride is a graduate of Northern High School and International Beauty School and is currently pursuing a license in cosmetology in Maryland.

The groom is also a graduate of NHS and is currently employed as a cook at Pizzeria Uno, Deep Creek Lake.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in a satin gown which featured a v-neckline. The satin princess bodice was enhanced with hand-beaded Schiffli embroidery and sequins. The gown, designed with a Basque waistline, was accented with a bow at the back. The pouf sleeves were accentuated with hand-beaded lace cuffs and bows with hanging pearls. The scalloped cathedral train featured an English net inset accented with beaded medallions and bows with sequins. The fingertip veil was trimmed in satin and fell from a crown of pearls, sequins, and rhinestones. The bride also wore white lace bridal boots.

The bride's cascading bouquet consisted of white roses, miniature mauve and burgundy roses, and mauve baby's breath. It was accented with strings of pearls, greenery, and lace.

Serving as matron of honor was Trina Rounds, Grantsville, friend of the bride. Bridesmaids were Sherri Oester, Accident, sister of the bride; Kathy Yoder, Grantsville, sister of the groom; Danielle Sines, Friendsville, friend of the bride; and Rhonda Opel, Grantsville, friend of the bride. All wore dresses of mauve frosted Bengaline with pouf, elbow-length sleeves, high-low hemlines, and cut-out crisscross backs. They carried lace fans containing burgundy carnations and mauve and white roses accented with pearls, ribbons, and greenery.

The flower girl, Chelsie Rodeheaver, Friendsville, friend of the bride, wore a white satin and lace dress decorated with mauve and burgundy satin ribbons and miniature roses. She carried a white lace basket containing pink and red rose petals.

The groom wore a white tuxedo with tails. His boutonniere consisted of a single white rose surrounded by miniature roses and baby's breath.

Best man was Brett Newman, Grantsville, friend of the groom. Groomsmen were Brian Yoder, Grantsville, brother of the groom, and Accident residents Chris Elliott and Chip Bradshaw and Grantsville resident Alan Sebold all friends of the groom. All wore dolphin-grey tuxedos with tails and mauve ties and cummerbunds. Their boutonnieres were made of mauve and burgundy roses.

Ryan Rodeheaver, Friendsville, friend of the groom, served as ring bearer. He wore a grey suit and carried satin pillow which was hand-embroidered by Thelma Lancaster.

All flower arrangements were made by Kelly Rodeheaver. Flowers on the altar were dedicated in memory of Carl Miller, grandfather of the bride, and Fern Yoder, great-aunt of the groom.

Hair stylist for the bride and her attendants was Jill Gillaspie, Mt. Storm, W.Va. Guest book attendant was Stephanie Yoder, cousin of the groom, Warren, Ohio. Wedding bulletins were distributed by Stephen Yoder, Warren, Ohio, cousin of the groom, and Jim Linn, Cumberland, cousin of the bride.

A reception was held in the church fellowship hall following the ceremony. The wedding cake, consisting of three tiers and two side cakes, was baked by Thelma Lancaster. The photographer was Maynard Yoder.

Out-of-state guests traveled from Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, Virginia, Indiana, South Carolina, West Virginia, and Missouri to attend the wedding.

Prior to the wedding, a rehearsal dinner was hosted by the couple's parents at Pizzeria Uno.

Following the honeymoon, the couple made their home in Accident.

Open House Observance Planned For Friends' Golden Anniversary

Franklin and Wilma Friend, Terra Alta, W.Va. will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house, from 1-4 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 28, at the Terra Alta fire hall. The event is being hosted by the couple's children.

The Friends were married Jan. 1, 1946, in Oakland, by the Rev. Pickens. They are the parents of four children, Arletta, deceased; Charles (Buzzy), Kingwood; Inetta, Summersville, S.C.; and Jim, Buckhannon, W.Va. They also have six grandchildren, four great-grandsons, and two step-grandchildren.

Mrs. Friend is the daughter of the late William Achel and Martha (Feather) Fortney. She was last employed at Hopemont State Hospital. Mr. Friend is the son of the late Orville and Maggie Friend. He retired from Columbia Gas Transmission Corp., with 25 years of service. They are members of Faith United Methodist Church, Cranesville.

Because the couple resides in Florida during the winter months, the family is celebrating their parents' anniversary early. A few announcements were mailed out of state, but the family is extending an invitation to all friends and acquaintances to share in this special day.

Green, Friend Exchange Vows In September Wedding Ceremony

Tennis Mae Green and Otis John Friend were married Sept. 9 at the Skelton Freewill Baptist Church, Skelton, W.Va. The Rev. Roger Tolliver, son-in-law of the groom, performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage, and escorted to the altar by her son, Gary Mills, the bride wore a white satin sheath gown with a fitted bodice, high neckline, long sleeves trimmed in lace, pearls and sequins, and a keyhole back closure with dangling pearls. The semi-cathedral train also featured pearls and sequins.

Lorrain Tolliver, daughter of the groom, served as matron of honor, and another daughter, Sandy Loughry, was the bridesmaid. Amber Rose Tolliver, granddaughter of the groom, was the flower girl.

Brian Tolliver, grandson of the groom, served as best man. The groomsman was Gary Friend, son of the groom. John Friend, son of the groom, and R.D. Tolliver, grandson of the groom, were the ushers. Ring bearer was Greg Smith.

The bride was assisted in the dressing room by her daughter-in-law, Jean Mills.

The wedding cake, baked and decorated by the groom's granddaughter, Kristina Tolliver, featured three tiers, with beads and roses.

Trina Tolliver, granddaughter-in-law of the groom, attended the guest book.

Mrs. Friend was guest of honor at a bridal shower, hosted by Doris Kincaid.

The couple honeymooned in Niagara Falls, Canada, and now reside in Crellin.

"THE LIBRARY'S ROLE IN THE COMMUNITY" was the theme for the Third Annual Staff Day at the Ruth Enlow Library, conducted recently at the library. Speakers for the event included Rivkah Sass, and Trudi Hahn, from the Maryland State Department of Education, Division of Library Services and Development; Don Storck from Garrett Community College; Karen Ray from the Garrett County Board of Education; and Claudia Coughlin, president of the Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library. Above, Hahn is pictured as she discusses automation with the library's staff members.

DRYING FOODS

For thousands of years, people have dried many foods to preserve them for leaner times. Preserving seasonal foods by drying is still useful and convenient and it has the added advantage of conserving storage space as well as giving you peace of mind in knowing where and how your food was processed.

Drying preserves food because a sufficient amount of moisture is removed from a food material to prevent its decay. Water content may vary from five to 25 percent. Drying does not sterilize the food but prevents enzymes from continuing to ripen. Neither bulk nor energy are affected by the drying process. As fruit dries, the taste will seem sweeter because the natural sugar in it becomes concentrated. For most foods, the nutritional value retained is about the same as freezing. Drying has a lower heat exposure than canning and therefore destroys fewer vitamins. With public concern about preservatives and additives used in commercial production, you know what is in the food you dry for yourself.

Drying can take place in an oven, dehydrator or in the sun. Times, temperatures and results for different foods will vary with each type of drying procedure. Most fruits, vegetables and herbs can be dried with satisfactory results, however, some will yield a poor dried product. Dehydrators specifically made for drying foods at home may be commercial or home-made. Other than the initial cost, it is very economical to run and yields excellent, predictable results. Consult the Extension Service or Consumer Reports magazine for a safe design.

Whichever method you use, you are assured of a more nutritious product if you work from harvest to completion in a steadfast manner. The quality of the product can be no better than that of the raw material from which it is made. Selection of fresh fruits and vegetables are critical when desiring a quality product.

For more information on drying foods, contact the Garrett County Cooperative Extension Service, at 202 South Third Street, Oakland MD 21550, (301) 334-1990.

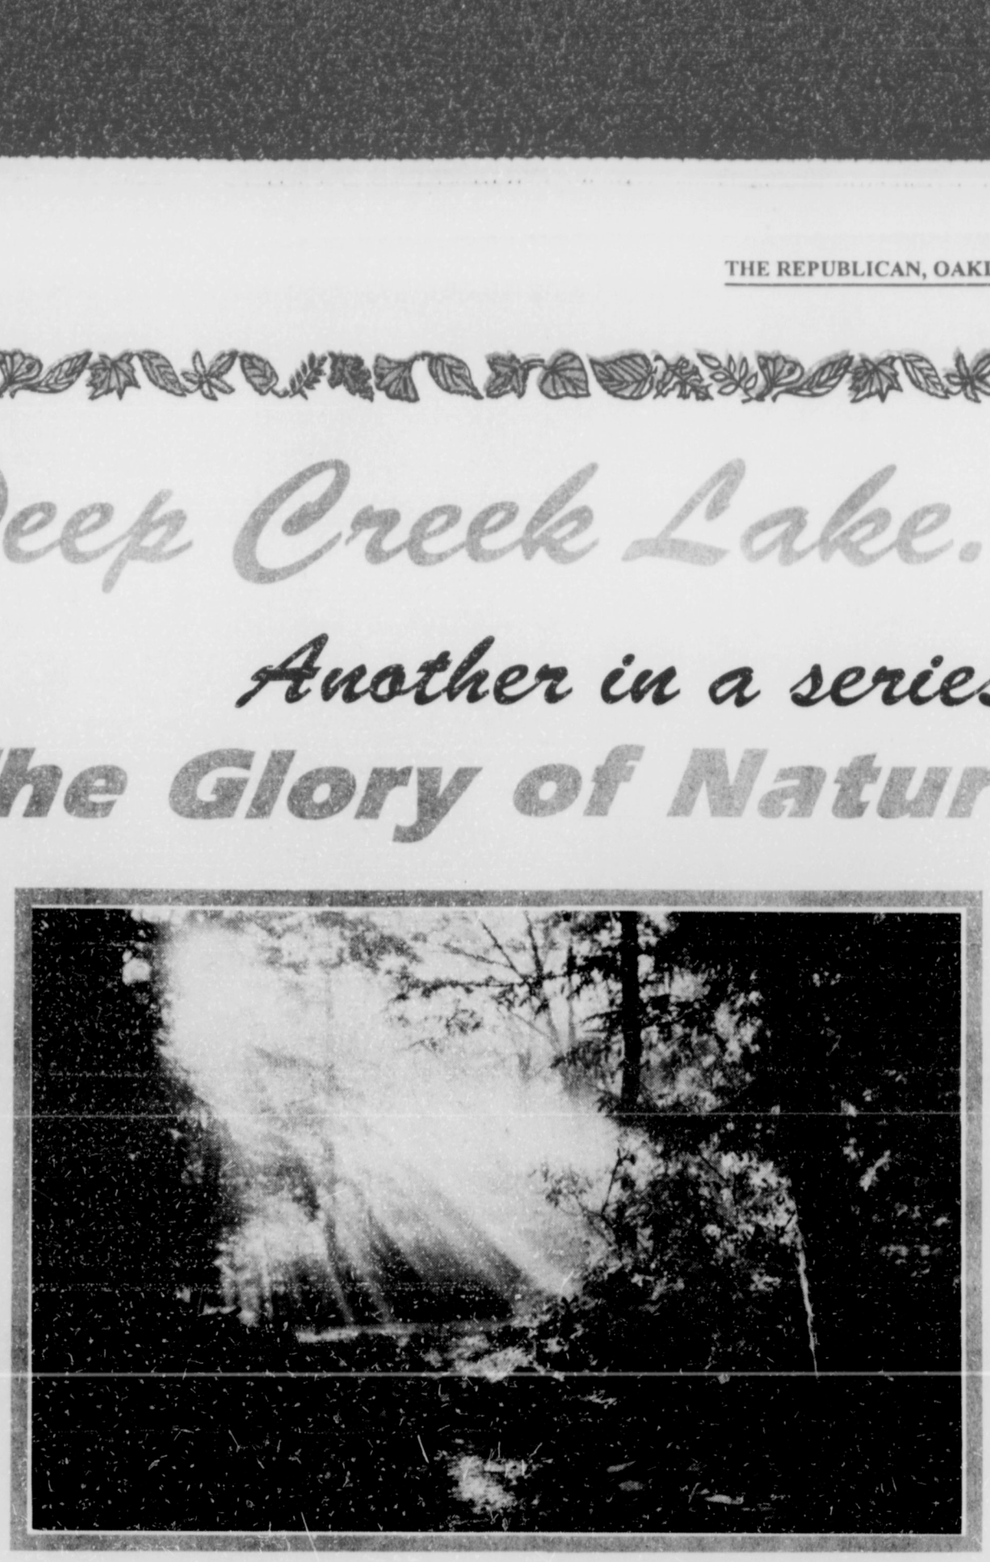
I Love Deep Creek Lake...

Another in a series by Ed King

The Glory of Nature

I have waited to write about the natural beauty of this unique mountaintop resort until the traffic of summer was over. The natural beauty of our rivers & streams, the forests, the view-sheds, the wildlife, and the lakes are here throughout the year. The four seasons are continually changing and refreshing the way Nature presents herself. However, during the rush of summer activity many visitors come and go and miss almost entirely Garrett County's most precious assets. What this County has is very, very special and as the years continue to chip away at nature's frontiers, more and more effort on the part of humankind must be made to appreciate all its beauty.

I try to imagine what Meshack Browning, who hunted and trapped in this area in the early 1800's, must have seen when he stood atop "Cat Rocks" where Glendale Bridge now crosses Deep Creek. The canyon below was accurately called "the narrows," and because of the short distance to the opposite side of the water, this site was chosen in 1924 for the building of the Glendale Bridge. However, when Meshack stood there, there was no road. There was just the pristine beauty created by millions of years of work by Mother Nature. The water cascading through the narrows was clear and pure. The timber was virgin, and wildlife was abundant.



"That all men live as one with nature; and peace reign everywhere."
An Indian Prayer

Then I reflect back to a summer weekend in 1940 with my Father. We launched our boat at the now-long-gone landmark "Stone Tavern" located at the Rt. 219 Bridge. We had loaded our boat with a pup tent, food, a Boy Scout cooking kit, and dry clothing. Away we went in search of the ideal camping spot for a memorable father/son outing. Arriving at a point where today the Deep Creek Lake State Park is located, we secured our 14 ft. fishing boat between two logs that had fallen over into the lake - a natural dock. The hemlock forest was so dense that entry into it to find a place to pitch our tent was almost impossible.

Tranquility was our only conscious observation. During our two-day adventure, we saw only about eight boats. There was no State Park Road, no cars, and no one else camping. We observed a deer swim across the lake. After kindling our fire, we fueled it with pine knots from a rotten white pine log loaded with resin, which burned quite well. We fished and were blessed with a catch of yellow perch which were part of our menu. That weekend holds special memories for me, not only for the quality time with my Father but also because of the marvelous gifts of nature to which I had been exposed.

"In all things of nature there is something of the marvelous." Aristotle

Yes, things have changed. The philosophical argument will go on forever as to whether man has ruined nature, or have the secrets of nature been made available for more of us to appreciate? I believe the secrets are still here but that we must slow down and look a little harder to see them. Even during the summer weekends when there is traffic, and hubbub, and commotion, Mother Nature is putting on an almost unbelievable show. A year or two ago, friends called to tell me of a phenomenon they had witnessed. As darkness fell over North Glade Cove, a thin layer of fog settled about four feet off the water surface. From their dock, they could bend down and look beneath the fog layer. By standing, they could look out overtop this beautiful white layer of fog and still see the silhouette of the mountains in the background. In the early morning hours, hardy souls are audience to several of nature's special effects. The sight of tranquil waters always takes the blue ribbon. In fact, I have seen photographs taken against the mirror-finish lake surface where it is difficult to tell which is the real thing and which is the reflection. Add to this vision the rays of the morning sun filtering down through tree limbs and a warm mist rising from the water, and you have a treat well worth the reward for early-riser's.

"The whole secret of the study of nature lies in learning how to use one's eyes."
George Sand

Tranquility is everywhere, yet sound is also everywhere. One must learn to use one's ears as well as one's eyes. The songs of birds come to mind immediately - from the tiny wren to the majestic blue jay, to the raucous crow. Then there is the percussion group which includes the hammering of a variety of woodpeckers, with the beautiful pileated woodpecker creating the loudest beat. During the mating season, one can hear the drumming of the ruffed grouse. The trained ear can hear hundreds of nature's creatures in the trees making their own unique sounds. Autumn once again brings special sounds to our ears. I love to hear the chipmunks and squirrels noisily chattering as they go about gathering acorns and shredding pine cones for their winter food source. Probably the most audible concert that nature orchestrates toward late summer and early fall is that of the crickets and cicadas when they begin to sing at dusk each evening. These performances are very relaxing to the soul if one just takes a moment to sit and really listen. Springtime brings the sound of the tiny tree frogs with yet another slightly different concert. The sounds of nature are very subtle, but they are everywhere.

"...let heaven and nature sing."
from the hymn "Joy to the World"

The heavens above Deep Creek Lake also radiate the beauty of nature. The quality of air here high in the mountains is unmatched in the towns and metropolitan centers from which many of us come. You see, not only is our air clean but we really are closer to the heavens at this elevation of approximately 3,000 ft. This may seem insignificant when one considers that we are light years away from the stars. At lesser elevations, however, our factories and cities produce smog and suspended air particles. In Garrett County, the elevation puts us above most of this interference making star watching spectacular on a dark, clear night. Even the more-serious amateur astrologers can enjoy many hours of satisfying observing. But for plain & simple enjoyment, I find that watching the stars from a chaise lounge on the dock or from our deck is very rewarding.

"God's little lanterns twinkling on & off in the sky..."
from a song by Jimmy Buffet

What is your favorite - the moon rising or a sunset? Perhaps it depends on your vantage point. For instance, if you have an eastern exposure looking toward Meadow Mountain beyond the Deep Creek Lake State Park, or toward Thousand Acre's Little Snaggy Mountain, the actual rising of the moon will last approximately one hour. Act I silhouettes the tops of the mountains. Act II is the appearance of the giant orange ball rolling across the skyline. And, finally, Act III is the light of the silvery moon reflecting across the waters of the lake. No intermissions, just a slow, continuous transformation from one stage to the next.

Deep Creek Lake sunsets rank with the most dramatic to be seen anywhere. There are no two alike - some are seen filtered through the trees, some are highlighted by cirrus clouds which continue to radiate the refracted colors long after the sun is over the horizon, and some blaze like a fireball on the skyline. Also very beautiful is the sight of a brilliant red sunset reflecting off the wake of a small fishing boat. Viewed from higher vantage points, as the wake separates, the red ribbons stretch out across the lake twisting and curling as they go.

"What nature delivers to us is never stale, because what nature creates has eternity in it."
Isaac Bashevis Singer

Many may say that nature is too tranquil and unexciting or not wild enough. Nature offers plenty of excitement, and it's not all that difficult to find here around Deep Creek Lake.

This Spring, I witnessed a piece of the ecological food chain unfold before my eyes. A medium-sized hawk was hunting for its dinner, which happened to be a fat little red squirrel. The hawk made its first pass while the squirrel was on the ground. Just as the hawk approached ground-zero, the squirrel hopped over to the trunk of a tree. The hawk stopped on the ground and instantly started up the tree after the squirrel. I had seen this situation played out on television's Discovery Channel several years ago; but here it was right in the center of the State Park unfolding before my very eyes. The hawk used his feet to climb where there were limbs and his wings to continue upward where there were none. The squirrel was climbing as fast as it could while also going in circles around the tree trunk to escape the predator. This observation of nature at work was both wild and exciting. What about the squirrel? This time he got away.

Because of the abundant food supply, this is a good time to witness these encounters. There has been ample food for two summers - especially acorns - and thanks to a mild winter last year. Because of the substantial food supply, we have more chipmunks, squirrels, etc., and, in turn, more food for the hawks. By the way, nothing is more majestic than a large red-shouldered hawk making a pass at his prey.

Seen less frequently is the black bear. But on those occasions when one is sighted, it is a real adrenalin rush. While mountain biking on Meadow Mountain in September, I came upon an adult bear walking along the bike trail. A friend of mine had spotted a cub bear climbing a tree out in front of her while mountain biking recently in the same vicinity. These moments are special and not at all uncommon.

In fact, the seven-mile mountain biking trail across Meadow Mountain will most likely reveal a sighting on every ride of at least one of the following: squirrel, deer, red fox, and many species of birds including wild turkey, grouse, the pileated woodpecker and, on rare occasions, a bald eagle or an osprey. The only sighting you are likely to miss is people. When riding away from the shoreline and the ring of homes adjacent to the lake, people are seldom seen and the wild secrets of nature abound.

"We need the tonic of wildness; we can never have enough of nature."
Henry David Thoreau

This week as we celebrate the glory that is Autumn, let us focus on the wonder of nature. Garrett County's cup runneth over, and this season of the year is testimony to the blessing we residents have of being able to share the glory with others. I do not want to describe for you the beauty of a farm pond reflecting the autumn colors of the trees encircling it. Rather, I would have you experience it for yourself this weekend and create the memory in your mind. That memory will last until you are able to re-visit the infinite wonders of nature available for you to see and hear in this far-western county of Maryland. These beautiful secrets are as free as the air we breathe.

"The goal of life is living in agreement with nature." Zeno

Living on the Leftovers

They don't have much – Granny and Gramps. A little "retirement cottage" with a guest room for visiting grandchildren, though they own it free and clear. A modest savings account for a rainy day – it took some doing to add to it month by month. Memories, the kind that grow warmer and deeper with every passing year. Affection – it reaches to them across the miles from more than a score of loving hearts. And Faith, the firm, courageous, ever-celebrating faith that has made life to Granny and Gramps a confident walk with God.

No, they don't have much as many people count riches. But they do have certain treasures that can never be lost, stolen or foreclosed. Priceless things whose value reaches beyond time into eternity.

They're living on the leftovers of a life of giving.

SOME FREE ADVICE ABOUT "FREE ADVICE"

Very often instead of consulting a physician about an ailment people will discuss it with a well-meaning friend, neighbor of relative. This can sometimes lead to serious harm. Because the same symptoms could apply to a great many different problems.

Our "Free Advice" is not to take unnecessary chances with your health or the health of your family. Your pharmacy is an expert on illness and he can prescribe the specific medicine needed to help.

Early diagnosis and treatment of most any illness, even a bad cold, can mean quicker recovery at a relatively lesser cost.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

CHANGING THE LEOPARD'S SPOTS

October 15, 1995

Background Scripture:
Acts 9:1-31
Devotional Reading:
Matthew 4:17-22

Last week one evening I watched an episode of "Under Suspicion," a current television series. In this particular episode there was a priest who was suspect in a murder case, largely because, before becoming a priest, he had been convicted of manslaughter.

At one point, the detective asks her superior officer if he believes that people can change and he cynically replies that, in his experience, criminals do not change. At the end the priest is proven innocent and the detective is confronted with the evidence that, here at least, was one person who could and did change–for the better.

This story captured my interest because it is a very timely concern. Lots of people today share the conviction that people don't change for the better. In the Sunday newspaper was an article about a social worker who said that ex-convicts are caught on the horns of a dilemma. When prospective employers ask them whether they have a police record, if they respond truthfully, they are not likely to get the job. If they lie and are found out, they will be dismissed. Yet, if ex-cons are ever to "go straight," they need to be able to get jobs.

THE "BAD GUYS"

The problem is that many of us think that people either cannot change for the good, or are not likely to do so. I will acknowledge that there are many who do not change, but may that not be because our society reinforces their belief that they are condemned to be criminals. If they try to make something of their lives we may refuse to give them the chance to be the better selves that God created them to be.

Perhaps that is the problem right there: maybe we do not believe that God created them to be anything more than what they have been. Lots of people believe that the world can be divided into the "good guys" and the "bad guys" and that both are born to be the way they are.

If that were true, then Paul's conversion on the Damascus road could not have taken place. For, up to that moment, Saul was clearly one of the "bad guys." He had not only been a guilty bystander at the tragic murder of Stephen, he had become the early church's greatest nemesis, "breathing threats and murder against the disciples of the Lord" and zealously dragging bound Christians off to Jerusalem to face persecution.

THE SAME BUT DIFFERENT

We cannot blame the early Christians for being frightened of this man. Instructed by the Lord to go to Saul and heal him, Ananias had good reason to protest: "Lord, I have heard from many about this man, how much evil he has done to the saints in Jerusalem..." (9:13). And, after the converted Saul has become Paul and begins preaching in the synagogues of Damascus, we can understand why the Christians there ask, "Is not this the man who made havoc in Jerusalem of those who called on his (Jesus') name?" (8:21).

The answer to these protests is both "yes" and "no." Yes, this is the same man, but no it is not. Yes, this man was a zealous persecutor of Christians, but he has changed from a persecutor to an apostle. Why? Because the Lord has created him for another purpose. As God said to Ananias, "Go, for he is a chosen instrument of mine to carry my name before the Gentiles and kings and the sons of Israel" (9:15).

Each of us God has created as a chosen instrument, when we permit him to do so, he can change us to accomplish that purpose. The leopard cannot change his spots, but God can!

COVER STORY

Struggle for peace basis for CBS film

BY AMY HIBBERT

Bruce Greenwood

Dazzle has the ingredients of a soap opera: exotic names and locations, lust, sex, greed, power – and a little bit of real love.

CBS' Dazzle is the newest version of this familiar theme. Debuting Sunday, Oct. 15, and ending Tuesday, Oct. 17, the film stars Lisa Hartman Black as Jazz Kilkullen, a photographer who struggles to save her family's land from being sold, keep her career afloat and find a lasting relationship.

"When you get to know Jazz in the beginning," Black says, "you see that she has a lot of different interesting photo assignments. She's quite successful in what she does."

Viewers soon discover this career woman is a daughter of a wealthy rancher, Mike Kilkullen (Cliff Robertson).

"I like the fact (Jazz) has so much money and is going to inherit this property, and yet she's a professional woman," Black comments. "She works and takes care of herself and is her own person."

The family's ranch is one of the last undeveloped pieces of land in California, and many greedy and seedy developers attempt to convince the family to sell.

When tragedy strikes the Kilkullen family, Jazz must face these people on her own.

"She's got to take on something different than she's ever dealt with," Black adds.

Jazz also must deal with her greedy half-sisters, Fernanda (Lisa Eilbacher) and Valerie (Kim Johnston Ulrich), and their mother, Lydie (Dixie Carter), who want her to sell the land.

Yet, while she is dealing with the ranch, Jazz manages to find love twice, first with Gabe (Jeffrey Meek), a photojournalist, and later with Casey (Bruce Greenwood), a foreman on the Kilkullen ranch.

"(Casey) is Mr. Right and (Jazz) just doesn't see it," Black says. "She goes through a relationship she thinks is the one and then she finds out Casey is really the Rock of Gibraltar and that's where she belongs."

Unfortunately, the story of Jazz's love life is overshadowed by troubles back on the ranch. Since such a short time is spent exploring her relationships, it is difficult for viewers to feel any connection with either couple.

This absence of character definition also prevents viewers from really empathizing with Jazz at the moment when she finally admits her love for Casey.

The film boasts a cast of big names. But, the talents of some of the actors are wasted. Carter and Robertson deliver convincing performances, but their characters are not well enough defined to make an impact on the audience.

And what little is seen of Linda Evans as Sylvie, Jazz's mother, is not enough for Evans to develop a credible character.

On the other hand, Black and Eilbacher have solid foundations to build on, giving their characters life and personality.

Aside from the well-known actors in the movie, the scenery should attract viewers as well.

"It's beautifully shot," Black says. "You see some beautiful properties and our cinematographer is so creative. It's pleasing to the eye."

Eileen Brennan, who starred as Capt. Doreen Lewis in the movie Private Benjamin, reprised her role in the TV series.

Before Andy Griffith became sheriff on The Andy Griffith Show, he had originally studied to be a preacher.

The theme song to Bonanza originally had lyrics that were sung only once – on the premiere and by the cast.

Mary Gross, a regular on Saturday Night Live from 1981 to 1985, is the brother of Michael Gross (Family Ties).

SATURDAY

Saturdays on Fox, John Walsh, an advocate for missing children and victims, is host of America's Most Wanted, a series profiling dangerous criminals.

SUNDAY

CABLE

Monday on Lifetime, Rick Moranis (left) plays an FBI agent who helps an informant (Steve Martin) in the witness protection program in My Blue Heaven.

IN FOCUS

Genie Francis (General Hospital) stars in Terror in the Shadows, premiering Monday, Oct. 16, on NBC.

Francis plays Sarah, the wife of Alex Williams (Leigh J. McCloskey). They live a peaceful life until they learn Christine (Marcy Walker), a dangerous woman from Alex's past, has escaped from a mental hospital.

As Alex tells Sarah about Christine killing his first wife and their adopted baby, Christine hides in their basement plotting her revenge.

IN FOCUS

The name of the game is murder and Corbin Bernsen sets the stakes in Tails You Live, Heads You're Dead.

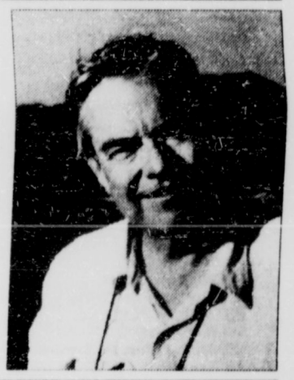
Airing Wednesday, Oct. 18, the USA Network movie stars Bernsen as a psychopathic killer who has an unusual way of choosing his victims – with a game of dice.

Ted McGinley plays a husband and father who becomes the next intended victim in the murderer's game.

Tim Matheson, who directed the film, also stars.

IN FOCUS



Bill Kurtis travels to the Galapagos Islands in the sixth season premiere of The New Explorers Wednesday, Oct. 18, on PBS (check local listings).

In the episode "What Darwin Never Saw," Kurtis meets Peter and Rosemary Grant, evolutionary biologists who have devoted two decades to studying Darwin's finches.

This family of small birds does not differ between species or from island to island except in one outstanding feature: their beaks.

Discovery profiles greatest showman on Earth

BY SUZANNE GILL

Phineas Taylor Barnum never said, "There's a sucker born every minute." Instead, he called himself "the prince of humbugs."

The Discovery Channel turns the spotlight on the master showman, practical joker, crusading politician, teetotaler and family man in P.T. Barnum – America's Greatest Showman, debuting Sunday, Oct. 15.

The lively three-hour production recalls how Barnum made, lost and remade a fortune long before he owned the circus that still bears his name.

Barnum originated the theater matinee and instituted the first national beauty pageant. He frequently deceived the public as to the origins of his "human curiosities" but made it possible for many of them to lead surprisingly happy lives.

Barnum emerges as a mass of contradictions: an egotist who accepted setbacks as God's will; an opponent of slavery who made a public joke of a group of Indian chiefs. He sponsored the Swedish singer Jenny Lind on a triumphant American tour, yet claimed to have Darwin's living "missing link" on display in his museum.

The inspiration for the film was the private Meserve-Kunhardt collection of 19th-century photographs, owned by producers Peter and Philip B. Kunhardt III and their family.

Karl Malden provides the voice of Barnum, with Robbie Benson as dwarf Tom Thumb. Cliff Robertson narrates.

"I think of him as a highly energetic, creative man," Philip Kunhardt says, "who really wanted to make a difference in this country. ... He believed that all human beings belonged to one family. I think he tried to put that vision into practice in his career."

The life and times of Phineas Taylor Barnum are recalled in P.T. Barnum – America's Greatest Showman Sunday on The Discovery Channel.

TV PIPELINE

BY TAYLOR MICHAELS

Q: What can you tell us about actress Christine Lahti? –Sylva E. Mularchyk, Santa Maria, Calif.

A: The new Chicago Hope regular has said that if a new role doesn't rattle her nerves at least a little, it's not for her – and her gutsiness is reflected in the diverse parts she has tackled, including the recent Disney Channel fantasy called The Four Diamonds.

She has a long list of theatrical credits including a Broadway stint as the title character in The Heidi Chronicles.

Her awards include an Obie Award for Jules Feiffer's Little Murders; a Theater World Award for David Mamet's The Woods; and a Golden Globe Award for No Place Like Home.

Film credits include And Justice for All, Crazy From the Heart, The Fear Inside and Leaving Normal.

The 45-year-old Detroit native lives in Los Angeles with her husband, director Thomas Schlamme, and their children.

Q: On some of the earlier episodes of Full House, Jesse's last name was Cochran. Later it was Katsopolis. Can you clarify? –A.M. of Oregon.

A: According to The Complete Directory to Prime Time Network TV Shows, Jesse and his parents changed their last names during the fall of 1990, after a visit from Jesse's Greek grandparents, "apparently in tribute to their roots." John Stamos, who played Jesse, told me last year he thinks persons of Greek ancestry should be more visible on television.

Q: This is really driving me crazy! Do you recall a show titled Eischied? I think it may have starred Raymond Burr as an investigator and the locale was Boston. –Mrs. S.R. Steele, Green Bay, Wisc.

A: It seems you may be confusing Eischied with Burr's Ironside and the Boston-set Spenser: For Hire. Eischied was a 1979-80 NBC police drama starring Joe Don Baker as a New York chief of detectives. While the original run lasted only about four months, NBC ran reruns of the show in the summer of 1983.

Q: Is actress Betty White from Texas? –L. Roach, Tyler, Texas.

A: The actress was born Jan. 17, 1922, in Oak Park, Ill.

Curtis triumphs in TNT's moving Heidi Chronicles

BY JOHN CROOK

Jamie Lee Curtis wanted to play the title role in The Heidi Chronicles even after she knew many people would think she was playing infamous Hollywood madam Heidi Fleiss.

The TV adaptation of Wendy Wasserstein's prize-winning play premieres Sunday, Oct. 15, on TNT. But Curtis says she realized the possible confusion early on, when two tourists interrupted her during filming and mistook the subject matter from the title.

"They said, 'Oh, you look a lot like her!' And I said, 'Thank you very much! This is a scene where Heidi Fleiss is in college and she's just getting the idea to start turning tricks. So that's what she's doing on this street corner.' And they went, 'Oh.' "

That only whetted Curtis' commitment to Wasserstein's comedy-drama, which "drops in" at pivotal points in a young woman's life to observe her dealings with women, as well as the two men in her life: best friend Peter Patrone (Tom Hulce, Amadeus) and romantic interest Scoop Rosenbaum (Peter Friedman).

Emmy-winning director Paul Bogart (Broadway Bound), who worked closely with Wasserstein while she was adapting her Broadway script, confirms that Curtis fought and fought hard for this role.

"She loved the script from the beginning," he says. "And she politicked in order to get it. She beat the bushes, because she wanted to play it. And I think that any actress, or actor, who wants to play a part that much deserves to get it.

"On the other hand, Jamie really had a deep understanding of the story and the character. ... It wasn't like some actor who wants to play Hamlet and just doesn't have the qualifications."

As for the director, who adds some inspired visual touches (Watch the punch cup!), he didn't hesitate when Wasserstein invited him to direct.

"It was the best material I had read – I mean, you read (the play) and you know it is so full, it's so rich. It's got so many things going on in it, and it's so fair," he exclaims. "It's a very evenhanded story about women and the men in their lives."

Julie White (Grace Under Fire), who plays the militant Fran in the TV movie but played other roles in Broadway and regional productions of the play, concurs with Bogart.

"When I first started playing Jill, the housewife, and Lisa, who marries Scoop and takes him away from Heidi, I thought, 'Oh, dear, I play the women that Wendy doesn't like,' " White recalls. "And then I got into playing them and realized that she had written them with such ... compassion for them, and how sympathetic and likable they were."

State Jobless Rate Steady; County's Lower

As seasonal activity began winding down, Maryland's labor market made its normal downward adjustments in August. Employment and the labor force declined statewide as workers ended their summer employment and withdrew from the job market. These movements helped to maintain the statewide unemployment rate at 5.0 percent in August.

Nationally, downsizing in the labor force caused the unemployment rate to decline from 5.9 percent in July to 5.6 percent in August.

"Although Maryland's labor force and employment levels reflected normal declines during August, both factors were at a record high for the month," said acting Secretary of Labor, Licensing and Regulation (DLLR) Jonathan R. Seeman. "We are encouraged that the seasonal change in labor market conditions did not cause the unemployment rate to rise."

Employment reductions are common in August, as summer draws to a close and employers begin trimming their seasonal work forces. During August, the number of employed people declined by 15,600 to 2,638,565. The withdrawal of seasonal workers from the labor force offset this decline, leaving 140,157 people unemployed.

Seasonal layoffs lowered employment in a number of industries during August. Staggered layoffs in education and cuts in summer maintenance and recreation programs were responsible for fewer jobs in both the services and government sectors. The decline in services was extended even further by seasonal losses in agricultural services, amusements and hotels. The impact of these job declines was offset by hiring in heavy and special trade contracting, health services, food stores, general merchandise and apparel stores.

Garrett County's jobless rate decreased in August to 8.0% from July's rate of 8.6%. The August 1994 rate for the county was 8.7%.

Unemployment in the Western Maryland region, reacting to movement in Washington County's labor market, increased to 7.1 percent in August, up from 6.9 percent in July. In Washington County, the only county in the region to report an increase in unemployment, temporary layoffs in manufacturing and reductions in local governments were contributing factors.

Statewide, unemployment rates in August ranged from a low of 2.7 percent in Talbot County to a high of 8.3 percent in Baltimore City.

Glimpse of The Past . . .

A CONSTRUCTION PROJECT of major proportions was underway off G Street in Mtn. Lake Park in 1899, as the 5,000-seat amphitheatre that served the town for over 40 years got underway that year. The structure, which also featured a stage that would seat 450, was dedicated in 1900 and was used for concerts, lectures, and various Chautauqua programs through 1941. President Taft was among the speakers at the amphitheatre. The reverse-rafter roof of the structure was supported by chestnut posts spaced around the perimeter, allowing for no center posts to obstruct the view of the stage. It was built by J.H. Cilley, and the construction exceeded the $6,000 budget by $1,860.22, according to information in the book Once Upon a Mountaintop, written by Mary Love. Because no group or individual assumed responsibility for the maintenance of the enormous facility, it became a fire hazard and was razed in 1946. This photo is on loan by Martha Kahl and is published courtesy of the Garrett County Historical Society and The Republican.

Crellin PTA To Serve Autumn Glory Dinners

The Crellin PTA (parent-teacher association) will serve "home-style" turkey dinners at the Crellin Elementary School during the Autumn Glory Festival. Dinners will be served on Friday, Oct. 13, from 4-7 p.m., and Saturday, Oct. 14, from 3-7 p.m.

The menu will include turkey, dressing, mashed potatoes, gravy, green beans, sauerkraut, apple and cranberry sauce, homemade rolls, pumpkin pie, and iced tea or coffee.

Carry-out orders will be available for $6 each, but children carry-outs will not be available.

The cost will be $6 for adults, and $3 for children under 12.

Area Christian Women To Meet On Wednesday

The Oakland Area Christian Women's Club invites all area women to attend a lunch at the Will O' the Wisp Restaurant on Wednesday, Oct. 18, from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

The theme for October is "Family Tree" and Nancy Rieck of Oakland will be showing how to preserve "Precious Memories." The music guest will be Vivian Thayer, also of Oakland. "A Solid Root System" will be the topic of guest speaker, Dorothy Benedettie, of Charleroi, Pa.

Reservations may be made by contacting Penney Hughes at 387-7488 no lather than Monday, Oct. 16. Nursery care is provided at no charge.

The cost of the lunch is $7.50. Reservations not kept must be honored.

Highland Arts Scheduled Noted

The very first public performance of the Highland Arts Unlimited (HAU) Season of 1995-96 will be on Monday, Oct. 16, at the Church McKee Arts Center of Potomac State College, Keyser, W.Va., when Alkahest Productions presents the musical, Shenandoah. Persons may purchase tickets at the door for $15 for adults and $8 for students.

Shenandoah will be followed by Adam & Eve & Herbert, a comedy from the Repertory Theater of America on November 16. On December 12, the Madrigal Singers of Clarksburg will entertain the audience.

David Burgess well-known guitarist who has concertized throughout Europe and North America, will perform January 16 for middle schools and present a public performance.

February 1 will bring the West Virginians, a group of singers and dancers who will do a workshop for show choirs early in the day and present a public performance in the evening.

The Tamburitzans, a group of more than 40 dancers, will perform March 25.

The final offering of the season is the WVU Percussion Ensemble on April 9. This will be a program of three parts: complete percussion ensemble, steel drums, and African instruments and rhythms.

Individual and family memberships to HAU may be purchased and provide substantial savings over the price of tickets purchased for each of the individual events. Several different membership levels are available, beginning at $30 for individuals and $60 for families. Depending upon the membership level chosen, a portion of the price may be tax deductible.

Funding for programs comes from memberships, Potomac State College, Vera I. Heinz Foundation, National Endowment for the Arts and West Virginia Commission on the Arts.

Zion Lutheran Women Slate Fall Bazaar

The women of Zion Lutheran Church, Accident, will sponsor a fall bazaar on Saturday, Oct. 21, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Arts and crafts, comforters, woven rugs, holiday items, baked goods, homemade soup and sauerkraut will be among the items for sale. Food will be served throughout the day.

Proceeds from the bazaar will benefit the Lutheran World Relief and local projects.

Parking will be available behind the church. Handicapped-accessible entrances are located in the front. The public is invited.

Pancake Breakfast Set At Deep Creek Recreation Area

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR), State Forest and Park Service, has announced that an "all-you-can-eat" pancake and sausage breakfast will be held on Sunday, Oct. 15, at the Deep Creek Lake Recreation Area. The meal will be served from 9 a.m. until noon.

The cost will be $2 for children under 12 and $4 for adults.

Family hay rides and the third annual Pumpkin Chuck will take place later that day at the recreation area. For more information, persons may contact the park office at 387-5563.

Bloodmobile Visits B&L

The Red Cross Bloodmobile traveled, Oct. 3, to Bausch & Lomb, to conduct a blood drive. Forty-five units of blood were collected, including a unit from a first-time donor, Larry Kimble, McCoole. According to a spokesperson for the blood drive, the goal for this drive was 40 units.

The following persons received "gallon" pins during the visit. Cindy Terrant received a one-gallon pin; Paula DeWitt, two gallons; and Larry Geer, six gallons.

Volunteers assisting Lois Elnoff, bloodmobile coordinator, were Shonna DeWitt, and Elizabeth Huxford.

The next scheduled Garrett County bloodmobile will be Oct. 20, at the Friendsville fire hall.

FCE To Conduct Annual Christmas Workshop, Oct. 17

The Garrett County Family and Community Education (FCE), formerly known as the Garrett County Homemakers, will conduct their annual Christmas Workshop on Tuesday, Oct. 17, at the Bloomington United Methodist Church.

Hosted by the Bloomington FCE Club, the program will begin with registration at 9:30 a.m., followed at 10 a.m. by the welcome announcements, show and tell, singing, and the presentation of door prizes. Lunch will be served at noon.

Four hands-on activities will begin at 1 p.m., and a nominal fee will be charged to cover the cost of needed materials. The afternoon's crafts include: Christmas card box, silver wreath, bow-making, and poinsettias. FCE members will demonstrate other crafts, as well, during the workshop.

Participants are asked to bring a covered dish, place setting, a canned good for the House of Hope, and a cleaning article to be given to Community Action.

Registration fee is $2, and guests are welcome. Activities will be completed by 2:30 p.m. For more information, persons may call the Cooperative Extension Service at 334-1990.

Open Air Burning Regs. Noted By DNR

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Forest Service, in cooperation with the Garrett County Health Department, has issued a reminder to landowners about open air burning regulations that are in effect in Garrett County.

"Now that fall has arrived, many landowners are in the process of cleaning up their yards and are interested in burning the leaves and debris," a DNR spokesperson said.

Many landowners do not burn safely, resulting in wildfires, the spokesperson said. In 1994, debris burners caused a total of 10 fires in Garrett County. Local debris burning in Garrett County thus far in 1995 has been responsible for 20 fires, or 40% of the wildfires in the county, according to a DNR release.

In order to prevent wildfires from occurring and causing destruction to private homes and woodlands, the state of Maryland has established the open air burning regulations. These regulations apply to activities in woodlands and within 200 feet of woodlands, or activities adjacent to or within an area where flammable materials could ignite and carry fire to woodlands.

The regulations are:

1. A natural or constructed fire break at least 10 feet wide must completely surround the material to be burned.

2. Adequate personnel and equipment must be present to prevent the fire from escaping.

3. At least one responsible person must remain at the burning site until the last spark is out.

4. Permissible burning hours, where a DNR Forest Service permit isn't required, are between 5 p.m. - 1 a.m., Daylight Savings Time(DST). When the time changes at the end of October, the burning times will change to between 4:00 p.m. and midnight, Eastern Standard Time (EST).

5. Open air burning, under regulations 1 - 4, requires a burning permit from the Garrett County Health Department, 334-8980. The office, located in the Garrett County Courthouse, is open Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Open air burning prior to 5 p.m. D.S.T. or 4 p.m. E.S.T. requires a burning permit from DNR Forest Service, in addition to the permit from the health department.

6. Prior to all open air burning, the landowner should contact the Garrett County Office of Emergency Management at their non-emergency number, 334-1929, and let officials know where the burning is being conducted and who is responsible. This prevents the unnecessary alerting of the volunteer fire companies.

7. Burning on windy days should be avoided. High winds are one of the leading causes of debris fires escaping control and becoming wildfires.

Persons who cause open air burning not in accordance with these regulations are subject to citations and fines ranging from $50 to $250.

"Fire is a useful tool, but wildfire threatens our forest resource, water quality, timber, wildlife habitat, and recreational uses of the forest," the spokesperson said. For additional information, persons may call the DNR Forest Service at 334-3296 or the health department.

CATHOLIC DAUGHTERS DAY IS SUNDAY - In recognition of National Catholic Daughters of the Americas Day, slated for Sunday, Oct. 15, the Garrett County Board of Commissioners recently issued a proclamation which stated, in part, that the organization has strived throughout its 92 year history to promote "justice, equality, and the advancement of human rights." The commissioners' proclamation went on to officially declare this Sunday to be Catholic Daughters of the Americas Day in Garrett County. Pictured left to right at the proclamation ceremony are Commissioner Wayne Wilt; Thelma Skipper, treasurer of the local Catholic Daughters chapter; Fr. Richard Spencer; chapter Regent Paula Redinger; and Commissioner John Braskey.

Omission Noted

Among the volunteers working at the recent visit of the American Red Cross Bloodmobile to Oakland on Sept 29 was Helen Schrager, who assisted in the canteen. Ms. Schrager's name was inadvertently omitted from the story about the visit that appeared in last week's issue of The Republican.

Turkey Dinners To Benefit Kurtz Chapel Bldg. Fund

Autumn Glory turkey dinners will be served at the Loch Lynn Restaurant on Saturday, Oct. 14, from 3-7 p.m., and proceeds will benefit the Kurtz Chapel Building Fund.

The menu includes fresh roasted turkey with stuffing, mashed potatoes and gravy, green beans or sauerkraut, homemade bread, pumpkin pie with whipped cream, coffee, or a soft drink. Donations for the meals will be $7 for adults, and $3.50 for children, and carry-outs will be available.

Junior Women's Civic Club Meets, Inducts Member

The Junior Woman's Civic Club (JWCC) met October 5 at the home of Kathleen Seaman for the club's monthly meeting followed by a Discovery Toys Party.

Inducted into the club as a new member was Elizabeth Huxford. Guests attending the meeting were Julie Kelley, Penney McLaughlin, and Joelle Simmons.

During the business meeting donations checks were written for the American Red Cross, Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault Resource Center Shelter Fund, Friendsville Elementary School Fall Festival, Northern Wrestling Team, Southern Girls Basketball Team, and Southern Middle School for use towards the purchase of an amplifier. The club received a final report concerning the success of the Pizza Shack during the Garrett County Fair.

Also discussed were preparations for the annual spaghetti dinner to benefit Garrett County Hospice, scheduled to be held on November 11 from 4 until 8 p.m. at the Oakland fire hall. Advance tickets for the dinner, and 50/50 raffle tickets are currently on sale, and may be purchased from any JWCC member or by calling Pam Holloway, Hospice chairman, at 387-5844.

The door prize, a gift basket of gourmet coffees and a mug, was won by Marta Schroyer.

The next meeting is scheduled for November 2, and will be an evening of crafts. Any person interested in attending the meeting may contact Lori Yant, membership chairman, at 387-9614.

Tour Of Forests Set For Sunday

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR), State Forest & Park Service, will hold a five-hour caravan tour of scenic areas of Potomac and Garrett state forests on Sunday, October 15. Interested persons should call for reservation by October 13 and meet at the Southern High School parking lot at 7 p.m.

For more information and reservations, persons may call 301-334-2038.

MAKING A RETURN VISIT to the Cumberland Airport today are these two four-engine World War II bombers as part of a salute to area veterans in this 50th anniversary year of the end of WWII. On display will be the B-24J Liberator "All American," the only flying and restored B-24 in the world, and the Boeing B-17G Flying Fortress named "Nine-O-Nine," named after a plane belonging to the 91st B.G. 8th A.F., Bassingbourn, England, that flew 140 combat missions without a single abort or crew fatality. The aircraft will arrive at the Cumberland Airport this afternoon at approximately 3 p.m. and will be available for touring until their departure on Saturday at 2 p.m. Donations of $7 for adults and $3 for children are being asked for tours, which will be conducted until 6:30 p.m. this evening, from 8:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Friday, and from 8:30 a.m. until their departure on Saturday. One lucky person will be given the opportunity to fly on one of the planes from Cumberland to the Morgantown, W.Va., Airport on Saturday, as a drawing will be held at noon that day from names of adult donors who sign up for the privilege. A condition of this offer is that the winner must arrange for his or her own return transportation. The planes will also fly over Oakland enroute to Morgantown on Saturday. Those who are unable to tour the aircraft in Cumberland may be able to do so in Morgantown late Saturday or during the day Sunday. The planes were restored and are maintained by the Collings Foundation. Helping to organize the area visits is Irving Day, a Deep Creek Lake resident who served as a B-24 crewmember during the war and was also a prisoner of war in Nazi Germany. Day "earnestly requests" that, as a salute to WWII veterans on this 50th anniversary and as a part of the Autumn Glory celebration, local persons display the American flag during the festival.

Records Mgmt. For Small Business Offered At GCC

A class, designed to help small business owners learn how to manage their records, is planned for Oct. 18 and 25, from 6:30 until 9:45 p.m., on the McHenry campus of Garrett Community College (GCC).

"Understanding record keeping techniques is essential for those operating a small business," said Melissa DeWitt, instructor for the class. "This class focuses on how to set up the basic required records, including inventory and personnel records, receipts and disbursements, and federal, state, and local tax forms."

Space for the class is limited, and those interested in registering are asked to do so as soon as possible. For more information, persons may call Sandy Major or Julie Yoder at the GCC Small Business Development Center at 387-3080.

Fall Revival Planned At Grace Church

Grace Bible Church will host a Fall Revival, from Oct. 15-20, at 7 p.m. each evening. Gardiner Gentry, "The Prophecy Preacher," will be the speaker.

Special music is planned each evening, and featured performers include Heaven's Mountain Band, and The Lewis Family. A nursery for pre-schoolers will be available.

The church is located at 710 Dung Hill Road, five and one-half miles south of Grantsville, and one mile off Rt. 495.

For more information, persons may call Pastor Larry "Butch" Glotfelty, at 746-8635.

"Be Fire Safe" Program Offered In Local Schools

Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty, McHenry, is participating in the Coldwell Banker "Be Fire Safe! It Starts At Home" week running simultaneously with National Fire Prevention Week, October 8 through 14, and continuing until October 19th.

Coldwell Banker sales associates are providing homeowners with fire-safety tips to protect their family and property from fire. This year, representatives of the Gorman, Oakland, Grantsville, and Friendsville volunteer fire departments will visit with over 600 pre-kindergarten, kindergarten, and first graders at seven different elementary schools in Garrett County. Faculty at Red House, Crellin, Loch Lynn, Grantsville, Dennett Road, Swan Meadow, and Friendsville elementary schools elected to take advantage of the opportunity.

Firemen will instruct the children in basic fire safety and give them literature to take home to their parents. "But what the kids enjoy the most is the chance to learn up close about the fire trucks and firemen's gear," said Ann Smith, Coldwell Banker sales associate, and coordinator of the local "Be Fire Safe! It Starts at Home" program. "We'll also give them coloring sheets and fire safety stickers to put on their notebooks.

"With National Fire Prevention Week upon us, it's important for people of all ages to be fire safe and learn to use a fire extinguisher, check that smoke detectors are in good working order, and make sure flammable materials are stored properly," said Smith.

This is the fourth year Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty has participated in National Fire Prevention Week activities.

"BE FIRE SAFE" was the message of Oakland Volunteer Fire Department Chief Phil Rook this past week, as he and other local emergency service personnel went into elementary schools to talk to students during Fire Prevention Week, currently underway. The educational program is sponsored locally by Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty, McHenry, and is aimed at over 600 pre-kindergarten, kindergarten, and first grade students in seven local elementary schools. In the photo above, Chief Rook speaks to students at Loch Lynn Elementary School, and below, Crellin Elementary students get an opportunity to be photographed atop and beside the Oakland VFD's ladder truck. The youngsters received basic fire safety instruction, as well as coloring sheets and fire safety stickers for their notebooks. See story.

Children's Book Illustrator To Speak At FSU

The Center for the Study and Dissemination of Children's Literature at Frostburg State University will feature a presentation by illustrator Ralph Masiello on October 16 at 7:30 p.m. in Room 142 of the Lane Center.

Masiello (affectionately known by fans as "The Icky Bug Man") has illustrated six successful alphabet and counting books. He has produced numerous works of art in various forms which have won him rave reviews from both teaching organizations and the public. He is twice the recipient of the Society of Illustrators Certificate of Merit, and his works have been purchased by collectors and exhibited in many fine galleries along with the Los Angeles and New York Art Expositions.

In addition to his presentation on campus, Masiello will be sharing his books and his artwork with local elementary students. His evening presentation is open to the public.

For more information, persons may call (301) 687-4420.

Radio Operators To Participate In Festival Events

Members and associate members of the Garrett County Amateur Radio Emergency Services Club will be on hand during the Autumn Glory Festival, according to a spokesperson for the organization, to assist with communications, and traffic control during the Firemen's Parade this evening, and again on Saturday during the Grand Feature Parade.

Also on Saturday, the club's communications trailer will be located at Naylor's True Value Hardware Store in downtown Oakland. The public is invited to stop by, before and after the parade.

Flower Baskets Available For Sale At Lighthouse

Baskets filled with gold, red, and orange silk flowers, as well as red, green, and white silk flowers, are currently being sold at the Garrett County Lighthouse.

Designed to provide Lighthouse's consumers with an outlet for creativity, artistic expression, and relaxation, the hand-crafted flower baskets will be sold as a holiday fundraiser.

"Working with dried and silk flowers helps the consumers build personal strengths, which can offset the debilitating effects of mental illness," said Debbie jo Adams-Noroski, executive director. "This will be the first time our flower baskets are offered for sale in Garrett County. We hope the purchasers will see the beauty in the unique designs, and that the flowers will brighten their homes and businesses."

Garrett Co. Farm Bureau Schedules Annual Banquet

The annual Garrett County Farm Bureau Banquet will be held Friday, October 20, at 7 p.m., at the Bittinger fire hall with special guest speaker William Knill, president of Maryland Farm Bureau. Banquet reservations are due today, and the cost is $3.00 per person.

Knill, who lives in Mount Airy, has a 90 cow beef herd from which calves are sold in the fall. He has been a Carroll County Farm Bureau member since 1963, serving on various county committees, as vice president for two years, and county president for three years. He was a member of the Maryland Farm Bureau board of directors for seven years, Maryland Farm Bureau vice president for one year, and president for three years. He has cooperated with the local elementary school and hosted farm visits for the school children for over 20 years, including the FFA Chapter "Food For America" program.

Garrett County Farm Bureau President Gary Fratz reminds members that 1996 dues should be paid. He says it has been a busy year for Farm Bureau. The organization has dealt with such issues as: private property rights, over-regulation, mandatory nutrient management, special environmental taxes on fertilizer/pesticides, tributary strategy issues and several other local, state and national topics. Garrett County Farm Bureau has participated in the Black Bear Citizens Task Force which is formulating recommendations for black bear nuisance management.

GCC Ag Club Begins Year With Picnic

The newly formed Agricultural Club at Garrett Community College began the academic year with a picnic to thank supporters of the Agricultural Management program, now entering its third year of operation.

According to instructor Willie Lantz, the program relies heavily on the support of local farms to provide hands-on experiences for the students, and to date over 35 farmers or agribusiness persons have helped to make the program a success. All of the supporters who attended the picnic received a certificate of appreciation and special recognition was given to Robert and Randy Lacy for being the 1994-95 outstanding Agricultural Management Supporters.

Following the dinner, Dr. Ron Scibel, director of the Institute of Applied Agriculture at the University of Maryland, remarked on the success of GCC's Agricultural Management program which now has 15 students enrolled. Lantz then updated the group on progress to date and discussed plans for future activities.

Members of the 1995-96 Advisory Committee for the program are Alice Bender, Dr. David Rawe, W. Brooks Hamilton, Howard Kepple, Jim Simms, Gary Weimer, Randy Lacy, Dr. James Fearer, Robert Frazee, Rex Hoalcraft, Charles DeBerry, Randal Bolyard, and Larry Sebold.

Mushroom Classes Set In Keedysville On November 11

The Maryland Cooperative Extension Service in cooperation with faculty from the University of Maryland at College Park is announcing an upcoming program, "Mushroom Production Workshop." Producing specialty products such as shiitake and oyster mushrooms for market can be very lucrative. Demand for these and other specialty mushrooms is currently on the increase with Americans seeking more ways to diversify their diet, lower fat and cholesterol intake, and explore new tastes. Adding specialty mushrooms to a producers market mix can help to ensure continued profitability for a producer currently selling produce or they can provide for an opportunity to start a new venture. The workshop will explore methods for growing mushrooms for market in this intensive one-day workshop.

This program focuses on methods for producing specialty mushrooms that are easily utilized at the producer's home or farm with little special equipment. Both classroom and hands-on demonstrations are planned. Topics will include: Shiitake culture, Cooking with shiitake mushrooms, Handling spawn, Inoculating logs, Oyster mushroom culture, as well as an introduction to other mushrooms such as Ganoderma, Hericium, and Patty Straw. A discussion on harvesting, post-harvest handling and marketing will conclude the program.

This workshop will be held at the Western Maryland Research and Education Center (WMREC), 18330 Keedysville Road, Keedysville, MD on Saturday, November 11. Doors will open at 8:30 a.m. for registration, coffee and donuts. The program is scheduled to run from 9:00 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. Preregistration is required. There is a fee of $40 per registrant which includes all break beverages and snacks, lunch, and all program materials. For registration of additional information, those interested should call Steve Bogash, Enterprise consultant at (301) 432-4492.

Ag News With Beth

by Beth Massey, Extension Agent
Preston County Cooperative Extension Service

ARE YOU PREPARED FOR THE LADY BEETLES?

Lady beetles or bug convention will be upcoming. In the fall of the year, we receive many calls at the extension office about lady beetles congregating on the sides of houses and inevitably finding their way into homes.

The culprit is not our native lady beetle which are solitary individuals. These are the Asian cousin and tend to overwinter in large groups. The only other difference between the two is the Asian version appears more orange than red like the native beetle.

The lady beetles seem to prefer setting up housekeeping in or around white or light colored houses in wooded areas on the west or southwest sides on sunny days. Indoors they cluster in the corners of ceilings, often in groups of 1,000 or more.

The beetles are not poisonous or otherwise harmful to humans, pets, or property. They do not reproduce indoors, however, their presence indoors may be a major nuisance. In the spring and summer months, the presence of lady beetles is very beneficial. They are a great help in controlling aphids which can destroy many crops including: trees, shrubs, garden, and other agricultural crops.

Because lady beetles are so beneficial, we do not recommend destroying them. Caulking around cracks near windows, doors, utility pipes, and siding may assist in keeping them out of the home. Special attention around lights is suggested since the beetle tends to be attracted to light. Vacuuming or sweeping up those that do get inside is suggested as well as releasing them well away from the home. They may return the favor next summer by eating harmful aphids on your plants.

In most cases, the lady beetles will be on their way in a few days or weeks.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

-- Farm Family Health Screening will be held again this year through the Agriculture Care and Education Program at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. All those involved actively in agriculture, including forestry, are eligible. Those who participated last year, however, are not eligible this year. Dates are Sunday, November 4, at the Terra Alta Ambulance Building, and Saturday, Nov. 18, at the Aurora Methodist Church building. Both will be from 8 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. The cost to participants will be $20 and covers screenings and a follow-up visit to help evaluate the test results.

-- If you have Black Walnuts to sell, there is a market for them located at the Central WV Farmers' Market in Weston. They are paying at least $10 per hundred pounds. For more information, interested persons should contact the market at (304) 269-2667 or give me a call at the Preston County Extension Office at (304) 329-1391.

NEW BIRD CONTROL METHOD

Blueberry and cherry growers will have a new product available this spring to help reduce birds eating the fruit. A new product called Bird Shield is making the fruit taste bad to the birds, but good to the consumer. Bird Shield is made from a compound similar to that found in Concord grapes, a fruit that birds will not eat. The spray on repellent reduced bird damage to two percent in field trials on cherries and blueberries. Also, cherry production was increased from an average of 125 pounds per tree in the untreated orchard to 295 pounds per tree in the treated orchard. Bird Shield will be ready for the 1996 season, but will be in short supply.

Another bird control product called Irri-Tape will be on the market. Irri-Tape is a 2-inch wide, double-thick strip of iridescent foil with a holographically printed pattern that resembles the eyes of an owl, the natural enemy of most small birds. The tape's visual, sound and physical threats frighten pest birds. Light reflects the colors of the spectrum from the tape's surface and creates a 3-D illusion. Wind catches the material and produces a fierce metallic rattle. This product can be used around plants and in open buildings and barns.

MARYLAND FORESTS

by Patrice Jastrzembski

The Maryland Forest Association is pleased to present for publication in this newspaper, the first in a series of articles entitled Maryland Forests.

In the months to follow we hope to share with you information about forestry in the state of Maryland. Reading about trees, forests, and forestry may not immediately appeal to all of you - but it should!

The forests of Maryland effect our daily lives. The air that we breathe, the water that we drink, the wildlife we enjoy, and the wood and paper products we use, are impacted - for better or for worse - by the health of our forests.

Forests are very complex. They are much more than a group of trees. Through our series of articles, we hope to enlighten readers about the complexity of a forest ecosystem, the importance of good forest management, and the necessity of a strong forest industry in the state of Maryland.

Look for upcoming articles on such topics as forests as a renewable resource, conservation vs. preservation, tree pests and diseases, the forest industry in Maryland, and the science of forest management.

Maryland Forests is sponsored by a statewide, nonprofit citizen's organization called The Maryland Forests Association (MFA). The distribution of articles to newspapers across the state is the latest in a number of successful accomplishments by MFA.

Over the years MFA has been very effective in carrying out its mission, which is: "to promote the maintenance of a healthy and productive forest land base to enhance the economic, environmental, and social well-being of all who live in the state".

The Maryland Forests Association is proud that its membership includes individuals of diverse backgrounds and many professions. MFA continually strives to represent the total forestry community of the state.

Current members include forest landowners, natural resources professionals, hunting clubs and recreational groups, logging and trucking companies, forest products companies, forestry equipment dealers, sawmills, students, and individuals just like you.

The Maryland Forests Association serves as an advocate for its members on issues relating to trees, forests, and forestry. MFA maintains a close liaison with state agencies, businesses, and conservation groups, participating in meetings and serving on committees.

MFA wants to ensure that the perspectives and concerns of the forest landowner, professional forester, and forest industry, are heard and understood by those who make decisions that effect our state's forests. MFA often presents testimony to local and state officials and legislature on issues relating to forests and forestry.

Tours of woodlots, forestlands and sawmills; educational seminars; and environmental programs for the general public, educators, and public officials are often conducted by MFA members. Professional training for foresters, loggers, and truckers is also supported.

Please help the Maryland Forests Association realize its mission by continuing to read the Maryland Forests articles in this paper. The more each of us understands forest issues, the better off our forests will be for all citizens of Maryland now and in the future.

Patrice Jastrzembski writes Maryland Forests for the Maryland Forests Association. For more information contact: MFA, P.O. Box 599, Grantsville, MD 21536, telephone (301)895-5369.

Butter consumption was up again in 1994, for the third year in a row, reaching a level of 4.2 pounds per capita or 1.1 billion pounds in total. This represents an increase in total butter sold of 6% over the previous year.

Mettiki, B&L To Back Red Cross Event

The Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross announced this week that Mettiki Coal Corporation and Bausch & Lomb, Inc., will be the principal sponsors of the chapter's USO Canteen Party slated for Saturday, Nov. 11 at Southern High School in commemoration of the anniversary of World War II.

"We are extremely pleased to have these two prominent companies join with the American Red Cross for this special Veterans Day celebration," commented Sandi Buckalew, executive director of the county Red Cross chapter.

The Canteen Party is designed to bring together veterans and their families to reminisce while raising money to benefit local fire and disaster victims and military families in need.

Advance tickets for the event are priced at $10 and can be purchased at H&H Hardware, Grantsville; Twila's Restaurant, Friendsville; Naylor's Hardware Store and Flinn's Family Store, Oakland; Reel Video, Deep Creek Lake; G&W Lumber, Accident; or at the Red Cross Chapter House, 21339A Garrett Highway, at Traders' Landing. Tickets may also be purchased at the door for $12.

The Red Cross collected 13.4 million units of blood and recruited more than 70,000 of its enrolled registered nurses to serve with the military during WWII, a chapter spokesperson stated. Thousands of other Red Cross volunteers provided military welfare services or operated recreation clubs and "clubmobiles" both behind the lines and at the front.

The chapter spokesperson also commented that General Dwight D. Eisenhower, then Supreme Allied Commander, made the following statement to Congress in June of 1945: "The Red Cross with its clubs for recreation, its coffee and doughnuts in the forward areas, its readiness to meet the needs of the well and help minister wounded - even more important, the devotion and warmhearted sympathy of the Red Cross girl! It has often seemed to be the friendly hand of this nation, reaching across the sea to sustain its fighting men."

GCC Offering Business Plan, Finances Course

A class for those interested in developing a business plan, and learning the essentials of finance necessary to run a small business, is being offered at the McHenry campus of Garrett Community College (GCC). Taught by Jeffrey Bell, the class will meet for four consecutive Mondays, from Oct. 16 through Nov. 6, from 6:30 until 9:45 p.m. each evening.

"Whether you're starting a business or expanding an ongoing venture, a business plan will help you use your resources most effectively to achieve success," said a spokesperson for the class. "It is also required by financial institutions for loans. A business plan helps in working out cash flow problems, budgeting resources, and planning for growth."

Space for the class is limited, and those interested are asked to register as soon as possible, by calling Sandy Major or Julie Yoder at the GCC Small Business Development Center, at 387-3080.

Sponsors Named For Tall Tale Liars' Festival

Dr. Gail Herman, coordinator of the annual Tall Tale Liars' Festival, slated for this Saturday, announced this week the various sponsors of prizes for the festival.

First United National Bank and Trust has donated two $50 savings bonds for the winners of the student and adult divisions. Jan Florist has donated a fall dried flower arrangement for the second place winner in the adult division, while the second-place finisher among the student tellers will be awarded a computer writing and publishing program donated by TCI Computer Systems.

The Book Mark'et has donated books to be awarded to the third place winners, as well as several honorable mention prizes.

Other businesses that have donated prizes for the student storytellers include: Oakland Tropical World, V&S Variety, Englander's Pharmacy, and Robert's First Base Sports Card Shop. Dr. Herman has also donated a storytelling tape and a free workshop or performance.

Honorable mention prizes for the adult storytellers have been donated by Not Just Quilts, Hillman's Towne Restaurant, The Art Garret, Presentations, and Denny's Restaurant.

Among the student storytellers already registered for the festival, which will be held at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland beginning at 9 a.m., are: Paul Liller, Molly McGowan, Seth and Jordan Feather, Mika Myers, and Joel Kolbe. Adult tellers, who will begin spinning their tales at about 10:15 a.m., will include Katie Ross, Molly Copes, Jeanne L. Walton, Charles McIntyre, Dick Good, Norm Maisel, Joan Whetsell, Bill Durst, Nancy Feather, and Howard Payne. Cindy and Bill Kolbe will serve as emcees.

Listeners/spectators are welcome to attend the festival, according to Dr. Herman.

FIRST UNITED SUPPORTS FESTIVAL - First United National Bank & Trust demonstrated its support of the annual Tall Tale Storytelling Festival, slated for this Saturday as part of the Autumn Glory festivities, by donating two $50 U.S. Savings Bonds that will be awarded to the top teller in the adult and youth divisions. Graciously accepting the donation in the above photo from Judi Pownall of First United, left, is Dr. Gail Herman, coordinator of the festival. See story.

Gianna Jessen To Speak At Lane Center

Gianna Jessen, a teenager from San Clemente, Calif., will appear at a Pastor Appreciation Banquet at Frostburg State University's Lane Center to tell the story of her "birth." Miss Jessen was reportedly aborted by her mother but survived the saline abortion attempt.

According to a release from the Maryland Right To Life, Allegany and Garrett Chapters, medical records conflict as to how far along Gianna's mother was in her pregnancy when the abortion took place - 24, 26, or 30 weeks. She was delivered alive, weighing two pounds. A nurse took the baby and kept her alive in an incubator until she was strong enough to be released.

Miss Jessen was diagnosed with cerebral palsy and has undergone four major operations. She now walks with a slight limp, but is otherwise a "bright energetic teenager," stated JoAnn Fletcher, president of the local Right To Life chapter.

She will appear at the Lane Center on Friday, Nov. 10, at 6 p.m. She will speak about her life story and will sing songs she has composed, which have been recorded on an album.

Gianna's mother, Diana DePaul, will accompany her daughter. The former chairperson of Crusade for Life in North San Diego, Calif., who adopted Miss Jessen 10 years ago, has led her daughter through physical therapy that has had positive results. DePaul also home-schools Gianna while she travels.

Miss Jessen recently traveled to Spain to speak and sing. She is invited to churches and pro-life meetings throughout the United States each year. Her biography, Gianna . . . Aborted and Lived to Tell About It, was published by Focus on the Family this year.

"We are so excited to be bringing Gianna Jessen to speak in this area," Fletcher said. "She is a remarkable and courageous young woman."

Tickets to Miss Jessen's appearance may be purchased locally at Buckel's Market, Grantsville, or Lamplighter Christian Books, Oakland. The ticket also entitles the holder to a full-course meal. This event is being co-sponsored by the Allegany and Garrett counties Right to Life chapters.

Joyce Thomas To Present Gospel Video

Joyce Thomas, daughter of Brenda Thomas and Carroll Thomas, both of Oakland, has been invited to travel to Nashville, Tenn., to present a contemporary gospel video, and sound demonstration for Nashville Record Label Association, Inc.

Ms. Thomas will make her presentation on Oct. 21. Her sound demonstration will be available to independent, and major recording labels, booking agents, producers, and publishers. Her music video presentation will be submitted for television play, and may appear for the TNN Showcase, if requested by Nashville Record Label Association, Inc.

Ms. Thomas plans to present a selection from Ray Boltz, titled I Pledge Allegiance to the Lamb.

Halloween Social Slated At Park

The Friends of New Germany will sponsor a Halloween Social at New Germany State Park on Saturday, Oct. 28. The Social will be held at the Lakehouse from 5 to 7 p.m. and is open to the public.

Prizes will be awarded in several categories. The haunted house will be open again this year. Refreshments will be availabie throughout the evening. Costume judging will be at 5:30 p.m. sharp.

For further information, persons may call 301-895-5453.

Rabies Case Number 14 Is Noted By GCHD

The Garrett County Health Department recently reported the 14th confirmed case of rabies in the county for this year. The incident involved a raccoon.

The animal was found dead in the back yard of a Glendale Road residence on the morning of Oct. 2, according to the report. A dog was near the animal and was barking.

The raccoon was submitted to the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene laboratory for testing and was confirmed positive for rabies on Oct. 3. The dog was currently vaccinated against the disease and was given a booster vaccine. The pet will be observed for 90 days.

Breakfast Set

The Mt. Zion United Methodist Church will hold an "all-you-can-eat" buckwheat cake and sausage breakfast on Oct. 21 from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. Baked items will be available.

Mt. Zion is located six miles west of Frostburg on National Pike.

League To Host Info Brunch

The League of Women Voters of Garrett County will host the second Information Brunch at the Mary Browning Senior Center in the Community Action Building, Oakland. The brunch will be held on Saturday, Oct. 21, at 10 a.m.

Bob Stephens, director of the Office of Children, Youth, and Families, will present a report on the Children's Summit held last spring at Garrett Community College.

Stephens will discuss the importance of children, how they are being served, and if they should be a high priority of government.

For reservations or more information, persons may contact Virginia M. Grove, president of the league, at 334-8269.

GRANTSVILLE

The Mars Hill Homemakers met Tuesday. Attending were: Anna Bell Folk, Karen Durst, Robyn Brenneman, Dorothy Wilburn, Norma Bowser, Clara Wiley, Ruth Stanton, Betty Jo Wiley, Anna Sturtz, Esther Stanton, and Mary Kamp.

The club celebrated Ruth Stanton's birthday. The room and tables were decorated with streamers, balloons, pumpkins, flowers, and candles. A decorated chocolate chip cookie centered the table. A gift and cards were given to Ruth.

The members told about their trip to the craft store at Country Charm and meal at Glisans. Crafts will be done at the Nov. 14 meeting. Robyn Brenneman will bring soup next month, and each member should bring a sandwich. Norma Bowser will be in charge of the games and Anna Belle Folk will bring gifts.

The club planned its Christmas dinner for Tuesday, Dec. 12, at 11 a.m. Santa will appear and give gifts.

Game prizes were won by Robyn, Mary, Norma, Karen, and Ruth.

PERSONAL

Recent dinner guests of Mrs. Alvin Bowser were: Mr. and Mrs. Bash Cross, Cumberland; Ed Solomon and Fran Barncord, Corriganville; Kathryn Nixon and Mary Kamp, Grantsville; and Donna, Melody, and Brian Lichliter, Salisbury, Pa.

OF APPLICATION FOR STRIP MINE PERMIT

Notice is hereby given that BUFFALO COAL COMPANY, P.O. Box 310, Bayard, WV 26707, has submitted an application to the Maryland Bureau of Mines for a surface coal mine operations permit. The proposed operation is to be located near Mountain Lake Park, Maryland.

The proposed operation occupies a 94 acre tract on the north side of Laurel Run, 6.3 miles southwest of Mountain Lake Park, Election District 8, Garrett County; 518,000N / 97,500E. Access to the site will be from Kempton Road, 0.6 mile northeast of Kempton.

Surface of the area to be mined is owned by Western Pocahontas Properties, P.O. Box 2827, Huntington, WV and the mineral is owned by Western Pocahontas Properties, P.O. Box 2827, Huntington, WV. The permit area is within the U.S. Geologic Survey Davis, WV/MD quadrangle. The location of the proposed permit area is indicated on the accompanying vicinity sketch.

The application includes plans to construct 2 ponds to control sediment and stormwater on the mining area. The ponds will be located within the proposed mine permit area. In addition to a surface coal mining permit the construction of the ponds will require a separate small pond approval from the Bureau of Mines.

A copy of the mine permit application, which includes the pond plans for the small pond approval, is available for public review during regular office hours at the Bureau of Mines office and the Soil Conservation District Office at the Garrett County Courthouse, Oakland, Maryland. Questions concerning any aspect of the application may be directed to Robert Dugan, c/o Dugan Associates at (301) 689-1568 or the Maryland Bureau of Mines, Permit Section (301) 689-6405.

A public hearing will not be held on the proposed activity unless requested. Written comments, requests for a public hearing, and requests to be included on the interested persons' list regarding this application, will be received until November 11, 1995, by the Director, Maryland Bureau of Mines, 160 South Water Street, Frostburg, Maryland 21532.

Further notices about this application will be provided only by mail to those persons that submit comments, request a public hearing or request to be included on the list of interested persons.

Defendants

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to secure the foreclosure of all rights of redemption in the following property, situate in Election District No. 6, Garrett County, Maryland, sold by the Collector of Taxes for Garrett County and State of Maryland to JAMES P. TASKER and DONNA L. TASKER, his wife.

1.51 acres more or less, situate in Election District No. 6, Garrett County, Maryland, and being the same as described in a deed from Franklin W. Peters, Wendell Beitzel and Ruth Beitzel, to Ganesh S. Prahbu and Ramola G. Prahbu, his wife dated July 16, 1985 and recorded in Liber No. 459, folio 761, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The Complaint states, among other things, that the amounts for redemption have not been paid, although more than six months and one day from the date of sale has expired.

IT IS THEREUPON, this 18th day of September, 1995, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, ORDERED that notice be given by the insertion of a copy of this Order in some newspaper having a general circulation in Garrett County, once a week for four successive weeks before the 13th day of October, 1995, warning all persons interested in the said property to be and appear in this Court by the 20th day of November, 1995, and redeem the property and answer the Complaint, or thereafter a Judgment will be rendered foreclosing all rights of redemption in the property and vesting in the Plaintiffs a title, free and clear of all encumbrances.

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a Mortgage from William C. Jones and Nancy Jones, dated April 26, 1994 and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County in Liber 630, folio 225 and duly assigned for the purpose of foreclosure, default having occurred in said Mortgage, the undersigned Assignees will offer for sale at public auction

At the Circuit Court for Garrett County, at the Courthouse Door, Oakland,
On Monday, October 23, 1995 at 11:00 o'clock a.m.

ALL THAT LOT OF GROUND AND THE IMPROVEMENTS THEREON situated in Garrett County, Maryland and described as follows:

BEING KNOWN AND DESIGNATED as Lot 3 of "FOLK'S FIRST ADDITION TO THE TOWN OF GRANTSVILLE," and being more particularly described in the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland in Deed Liber 364 at Folio 325.

The property is improved by a dwelling and is in fee-simple.

The property will be sold in "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any and with no warranty as to the description of the improvements.

TERMS OF SALE: A deposit of $4,100 will be required at time of sale, such deposit to be in cash, certified check, or in other form as the Assignees may determine acceptable, in their sole discretion. Balance to be paid in cash within ten (10) business days of the final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. If payment of the balance does not take place within the specified period stated, in addition to any other legal or equitable remedies available to them, the Assignees will declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. In such event, the defaulting purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of both sales, attorneys' fees and all other charges incurred by the Substitute Trustees. Interest to be paid on unpaid purchase money at the rate pursuant to the deed of trust note from date of sale to the day the funds are received in the office of the Assignees. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason and the property is purchased by someone other than the noteholder, there shall be no abatement of interest caused by the delay. Taxes and water rent to be adjusted to date of sale. Condominium fees and/or Homeowners Association dues, if applicable, shall be adjusted to the date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. All other public charges and assessments payable on an annual basis, including sanitary and/or metropolitan district charges to be adjusted for the current year to date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. The Assignees reserve the right to reject any and all bids, withdraw the property from sale, postpone and advertise the property for sale at a later date. Neither the Assignees nor any other party guarantees or covenants to deliver or to in any way obtain possession of the premises for any purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps and transfer taxes shall be borne by the purchaser. If the Assignees are unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law or equity shall be limited to the refund of the deposit to the purchaser. Upon refund of the deposit, this sale shall be void and of no effect, and the purchase shall have no further claim against the Assignees. The purchaser at the foreclosure sale shall assume the risk of loss immediately after the sale.

STANDING TIMBER FOR SALE

CONTRACT: SR-04-96
Margroff Place

The Maryland State Forest & Park Service is offering for sale the following pulpwood on 80 acres of Compartment 14 of Savage River State Forest. This sale is estimated to cut 1,840 cords of Red Pine pulpwood. These plantations have suffered insect attacks which have resulted in much of the volume in dead or dying trees.

Timber is located about two miles east of Accident, MD on Compartment #14 (Margroff Place). Timber is offered for sale subject to the following conditions:

1. Timber will not be shown.
2. Contract/Bid Forms will be available at the showing or from the Savage River State Forest Headquarters, 349 Headquarters Lane, Grantsville, MD 21536 or phone 301-895-5759.
3. A Security Bond in the amount of ten percent of bid submitted must be posted upon submission of the bid to the Maryland State Forest & Park Service.
4. The operator must be a registered forest product operator in Maryland and hold a certificate of Erosion and Sediment Control (Green/Gold Card) training to be awarded successful bidding.
5. A Performance Bond in the amount of ten percent of bid submitted must be posted upon acceptance of the contract by the State of Maryland. The Security Bond may be applied to cover the Performance Bond.
6. All volumes noted in this offering are estimates. Parties bidding on this timber should determine such volumes to their own satisfaction. No adjustments on the basis of volumes will be made with buyers.
7. Bidder may pay 50% of bid price on acceptance of contract, with the remaining 50% payable within 90 calendar days from bid acceptance. If buyer selects this option, the delayed payment must be covered by a payment surety bond in form acceptable to the State.
8. Bids will be received until 1:00 p.m. on Monday, October 23, 1995.

A Tradition of Excellence for 18 years.

Since our company was founded in 1977, the name A&A Realty has been synonymous with professional integrity and outstanding service. Providing quality real estate service is our chosen profession and we are committed to maintaining our reputation and high ethical standards at all times.

Our mission is to provide superior, comprehensive real estate services to the resort area surrounding Deep Creek Lake and all of Garrett County, as well as nearby Preston County, West Virginia.

Oakland Office

232 E. Alder St., Oakland, MD 21550

Because There is a Difference in Real Estate Companies

We share many ideals with Better Homes and Gardens Real Estate Service, including:

· A determination to exceed customer expectations by providing better service than anyone else.

· A commitment to comprehensive, ongoing sales associate training.

· A strategic, systematic approach to the real estate business that streamlines the services we provide - and helps assure success for our customers.

This means that you can turn to your trusted friends at A&A Realty/Better Homes and Gardens for knowledge and guidance in virtually every aspect of property ownership.
